TRAVELLERS' AID SOCIETY

(FOR GIRLS AND WOMEN.)

6, BAKER STREET, LONDON, W.

The object of this Society is to guard respectable young women, as they move from place to place in search of employment, from the dangers to which all young girls are exposed who have no natural guardians to protect them.

If a three days' notice is given to the Society's Secretary, at the Office, young women can be met on their arrival in London or at almost any of the large provincial towns.

It has moreover workers in all quarters of the world, who are most ready and willing to befriend any girls who apply to them, and who will also meet girls, if sufficient notice is given through the Society's Secretary.

Ladies are especially begged to tell country girls about the Society so that they may apply to the Secretary before going to any town in search of employment and thus ensure getting into safe and good hands on their arrival.

Young country women are urgently warned against taking situations without previously making enquiry as to their respectability from some reliable, independent source. If they are unable themselves to obtain the necessary information, the Secretary will gladly seek it for them.

Young country women are also most earnestly warned not to go to London or other large towns without being in communication with some special and trustworthy person who will most thoroughly look after them on their arrival;

Report of the Year 1924.

THE year 1924 has not been marked by any sensational development in the work of the T.A.S., but rather by quiet, continuous, untiring service for those needing help when travelling. At busy seasons the work may go on uninterruptedly for 24 hours of consecutive day and night. Those who have inadvertently missed their last trains come to 6, Baker Street for a night's rest, while others travelling through night by excursion or otherwise have to be met in the very early hours of the morning, our workers turning out in the cold, misty air to make their way to the station in the semi-darkness. London is the centre to which railway and steamship lines converge from all parts of the country and from every quarter of the globe, consequently the opportunities for this kind of social service are greater here than anywhere else. In no other city or town or port are so many requests received by kindred organisations to meet girls travelling alone. Scores are often arranged for in one day, and by helping in the accurate planning of their journeys we are preventing mishaps which might at any time lead to misfortune. The work could be extended indefinitely if the necessary funds were forthcoming; but we are careful to keep strictly within the limits of the income entrusted to us. By dint of great economy we have been able to close the year with a small balance in hand and with no outstanding debts to hamper the work in 1925. In the case of the Southampton Branch it may be noted that the grants from the Central Office have been greater than ever before. Southampton is increasing in importance and is likely to develop still more in the near future. We therefore felt it imperative to strengthen our position there. We have authorised the engagement of a lady for a few hours each day, who shall devote her time to propaganda work and collecting funds. She has made a good beginning and we hope to see a great improvement before long in the amount raised locally. There is no doubt that it is much needed there and is highly appreciated by the officials of the Docks and Railway Stations.

In Scotland the work has developed without any financial assistance from Headquarters. The Scottish Committee transferred its control from Edinburgh to Glasgow, where a Travellers' Hostel has greatly added to the efficiency of the work. Details are given in a report sent from Scotland and printed a few pages further on.

The Liverpool Branch has been most active, and we constantly receive grateful testimony to the efficiency of the local agents to whom the work is entrusted.

The Bristol and Irish Branches are also doing good work, as will be seen from their reports.

In this survey of the year's work we must not omit to mention the excellent work of the Society's voluntary representatives, whose names are exhibited on placards in their local railway stations. This arrangement enables girls to go to them at any time for advice regarding their journeys and obviates any risk of moral danger.

This brief review of the year's work will suffice to indicate that the Society is active and useful and is making steady progress. The pages following will illustrate in greater detail our methods and their results. It was pleasant to receive from one whom we had helped the following acknowledgment: "I wish everyone knew of the T.A.S. It is a boon and a blessing to lonely or ailing travellers."

IN MEMORIAM.

In the early part of the year we lost Mrs. A. Crawley Boevey, who had been associated with the Committee for a number of years, first as a representative of the Y.W.C.A., and later as a non-representative member and Vice-President. She was always actively helpful and is greatly missed.

Miss Farquhar has very kindly consented to fill her place as Vice-President. We are fortunate in having secured her co-operation and are most grateful to her for having consented to take office.

Another member of the Committee, Miss Helen Milman, met her death by drowning when she was away from home on holiday. The tragic circumstances of her end made it peculiarly sad. A most useful life was thus cut short and the Society lost a very sympathetic helper.

Again, Miss Craig's death, after a few months' illness, has deprived the Committee of one whose long association and personal interest were a very great assistance.

These are losses which we greatly regret.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT.

For the successful organisation of a Bridge Tournament to help the funds we are greatly indebted to Lady Hanbury-Williams. It would not have been possible to carry on without withdrawing from our Reserve Fund but for her timely help.

We also beg to offer our thanks to H.R.H. Princess Helena Victoria for her gracious patronage on the occasion.

We cannot here name each member of the Tournament Committee, but we hope they will accept our grateful acknowledgment of their valuable help at a time of pressing need.

We would also record appreciation of our generous treatment by the management of Claridge's, where the tournament was held.

To all who contributed to its success we offer our very sincere thanks. More than £120 were received by the Treasurer for the funds of our Society as a result of the Tournament.

LEGACY.

A legacy of £100, bequeathed by Mr. J. W. Buck, enabled us to replace £75 which had been withdrawn from deposit a few weeks before.

WEMBLEY.

Our report for the year 1924 in London will not be complete without mention of the great British Empire Exhibition. After careful consideration it was decided not to build a kiosk in the grounds, nor to hire a room in one erected by some other Society. The cost would have been excessive, and we felt that it was doubtful whether the result would have justified the outlay. We were enabled to exhibit our placards free of charge, both in the Exhibition buildings and in the railway stations near by, and these seem to have been sufficient for all practical purposes. The transit from Wembley to Baker Street takes only a few minutes by train, and anxious "travellers" found their way to the office without difficulty. Our Society was also helpful to some of the young women brought from distant Colonies to help in their own Pavilion. They were met on landing at Liverpool, shown something of the wonders there; then met again in London and taken to their Hostel. The next morning they were taken to do some necessary shopping before they settled down to their duties in the Exhibition. Their wonder and delight at everything they saw made it a real pleasure to look after them.

LOCAL WORKERS.

The ladies whose names are on the placards in the railway stations are highly valued. Without their aid our work would be much less effective. They send up their own reports, but, naturally, these are often incomplete. A letter received at the office recalled the following incident:—

"A little while ago I arrived in W—— with nowhere to stay. I saw your paper in the station waiting-room and went to see the lady whose name I read ——. I stayed with her about ten days, until I found another situation, and I would like to say how well Mrs. —— looked after me and how comfortable I was. I would like to thank the Travellers' Aid Society for their good work and will always recommend it. My home being in the North I was stranded in W——, but thanks to Mrs. ——, I was quite all right and shall be pleased to go and stay with that lady again."

Total .. .. .	5,289

The total for last year was 5,166.

The above figures are a sufficient indication of the value of the daily work, viz., meeting girls at one station, taking them across London to another station, and there helping them to take their tickets, find their trains, select suitable travelling companions and so on. It is not one class alone which benefits by our organisation. We meet children from Orphanages and Asylums at holiday time and see them off to their distant homes.

We meet many children from the Cripples' Home and Hospital. Some of them have been taken down by train and handed over to their parents.

Blind girls at school or engaged in business would be unable to go on journeys but for the assistance of their T.A.S. “guide.”

Intending emigrants are met and conducted to the Hostel where they meet the Matron, who will be responsible for them on their voyage to the Colony which is to become their second home.

Country girls coming to situations in London may see our placards in the village railway station and write to us of their own accord, asking for the needed advice and help.

Parents of school-girls and young boys (many of them country clergymen)—sometimes even wealthy parents—are also glad to avail themselves of the proffered “aid.”

The sliding scale of our tariff of charges makes it just and right that we should help any young people, whatever their social status may be. The poor pay little or nothing and those able to afford it contribute more than it costs to meet their children, thus helping to support the work. It is as important to meet young people in other places as it is to meet them in London, and we are glad to report that a chain of similar protective agencies encircles the world. The T.A.S. Local Workers, to whose voluntary help we have already alluded, cover a good part of the ground, and our own T.A.S. Branches, which are controlled by local Committees employing paid agents, are also important and valuable links in the chain. But these have to be supplemented by others and we are able to ask the help of those Societies represented on our Committee which have foreign Associates; also the Amies de la Jeune Fille so well organised throughout the Continent of Europe. By the co-operation of all these Societies the work is practically carried on all over the world and no girl need leave home for a distant land without knowing she will find some friend not far away to whom she can turn for advice in case of need.

STRAY CASES.

The emergency beds provided for the use of girls stranded at the railway stations through no fault of their own, have been in great demand during 1924. Only those who are engaged in such work would believe how many there are who would otherwise be homeless for just one night. The classes represented are very diverse, as a cursory glance at our records shows. A few taken almost at random include the following:—National school mistress, factory girl, holiday maker (a lady), school-girl, young country girl, Scottish woman and a Russian from Riga, mother and four children emigrating from Dundee to New Zealand, hotel servants, etc.

A.—A young girl from Northumberland going to a situation in Broadway, Worcester, was sent to London with instructions suitable for reaching Ealing Broadway instead. The station master sent her to T.A.S. Her employers were communicated with and she was able to go on to them with as little delay as possible.

B.—A lady, who had come up to London to see her sister off from St. Pancras en route for Australia, had her purse stolen. She came to us and was able to give proof of the truth of her story. Consequently, we lent her the few shillings necessary for her fare home to the South of England. It was promptly repaid.

C.—Another story of a bag being stolen with a large amount of money in it proved to be true. In this case the woman's husband was in a large way of business in a Northern town and a Magistrate there. She had written to him as soon as she missed her bag, so that, when we telephoned, he was prepared to send the money as soon as he knew where his wife was staying. He did this at once and she went home the same evening.

At the time of the strike, which took place just as the children were returning to school after their holidays, our beds were useful to no fewer than nine girls.

D.—A young girl waited for three hours at Paddington Station expecting her aunt to meet her. She was sent to us and we communicated with her aunt, who fetched her the next morning. She was most grateful to the T.A.S. The girl had written to tell her aunt that she was coming, but had forgotten to say on what day she would be travelling.

E.—A Swedish woman and little girl came from Canada to go to Gothenburg via Grimsby. She arrived at Euston from Liverpool and ought to have made her way to King's Cross and travel from there to Grimsby. But she remained at Euston, little dreaming that London had so many stations. When she was found by the officials of the railway company she had missed the connection with the Gothenburg boat and was sent to us that we might deal with the case. The shipping company, whose officials had failed to give her proper instructions, recognised their responsibility, and arranged for her to proceed at once by another route.

F.—A young woman, sent back from Germany to her home in Scotland, came to us saying she was without any money for her fare and that her friends could not be asked for it on account of serious illness in the house. While we were pondering she took out a packet which contained a present given her by a lady as she was setting out on the homeward journey. When she opened it, to her joy she found £4, which enabled her to go home without further delay.

G.—A cook from North Wales came to spend a holiday in London and spent her money without leaving enough for her fare back. When she found that we could not pay her fare, she explained that a week's wages were due to her. We telegraphed to her mistress and the money was promptly sent.

H.—Came to London to consult a specialist at the Throat Hospital. She was very poor, and enquiry proved that she was honest and had a home to go to if she could get back. In this case she was helped with the fare and wrote gratefully afterwards, adding, "Whatever should I have done had it not been for your splendid Society and your great kindness to me. I shall never be able to thank you enough."

I.—A young girl 15 years old was brought to us by a lady and gentleman who had travelled with her. She expected her brother-in-law to meet her, but he was not at the station. They had waited some time for him and could wait no longer, but they would not leave her alone at the station. Acting on advice given them they brought her to our care. Before long her brother came to fetch her. He had been delayed for an hour on his way to the station. On arrival there the station officials told him what had happened and he was very thankful to find her in safe keeping.

J.—A young woman from Northern Europe, bound for Australia, and speaking very little English, was sent to our care from Victoria Station. She was taken to a Home for Foreigners, helped with her luggage, taken to Australia House for an interview, and back to the Home. She was most grateful and felt she would have been in great difficulty if the station officials had not sent her to the T.A.S.

K.—A Welsh girl ran away from her situation in a Nursing Home, wanting to be sent home to South Wales. She was taken back to her mistress to remain till the end of the month on trial. The mistress was much displeased with her but was glad to have her back.

L.—A Danish girl arrived from Scotland to visit friends in London and left their address behind. She knew the name of the Square and drove there, but was unable to find her friends. She drove on to two Homes of which she had heard, but both were full. At the second the Superintendent took pity on her, for the fare was mounting. She let her discharge the cabman and then rang up the T.A.S. to ask if she could be taken in. We were glad to receive her and to help her the next day to trace her friends. She was greatly comforted when she saw the portrait of Queen Alexandra, our Patron, hanging in the office. She said it was like home to see the portrait of their "dear Princess" hanging there.

M.—A curious mistake occurred in July, when a lady in Essex was expecting a servant, and the one whom she sent to meet her returned with the wrong girl. The girl whom she expected arrived soon after and she telephoned to us to take charge of the one who had been brought to her by mistake. We had to keep her for the night and communicate with the mistress to whom she should have gone, before seeing her off to her new situation. They had waited for her at the station the previous evening for several hours and were much relieved to find that she had been well cared for in the meantime.

N.—A little girl from the North, going to a Convent School, was missed by a friend who should have met her at the station. By waiting about for the friend she was too late to go on that night and was sent to our care. We telegraphed to her relatives and to the School to relieve anxiety about her and kept her for the night. After arranging for her to be met on arrival, she was seen off to her school, and we have since received a grateful letter from the Sister at the Convent.

The above accounts of only a few of the "Stray Cases" which we have relieved during the year 1924 may well be closed by quotations from a grateful letter received from a young woman whose sister had run away from home and had been restored by the T.A.S. When sending money for the journey back home her sister had sent more than was necessary; hence the allusion to money returned.

"I am sure I thank you awfully, and I cannot explain how I feel towards you for the kindness you showed towards my sister. I can assure you it was such a load taken from my mind when I knew her whereabouts. I am sure I did not expect any money back, although I can find plenty to do with it."

"Dear Madam, I want you to excuse pencil, as I am writing you at my dinner hour, so cannot get to any ink. I am pleased to tell you that ——— arrived home quite safe and how pleased we all were, as I have had such a lot of trouble since my mother died. I have been left with an adopted daughter to keep as my husband deserted me four years ago, and I am only 27 years, but in spite of my trouble I try to hold my head up, also look after my father, home and family as far as possible, so you see I have my work cut out. I am sure it upset me very much about my sister, but now I am more content.

"Now I must thank you once more for all your kindness towards my sister, but I cannot thank you enough. I am sure I was simply giving way as I received your telegram. I think I have said all this time, thanking you all again."

PRESS NOTICES.

We are greatly indebted to the Press for their kindness as in former years in giving publicity to our work. In no less than 23 London and 27 provincial papers very kind notices of our Society have appeared.

SPECIAL THANKS.

Once again we acknowledge the continued kindness of:—

Mr. A. J. Smith in auditing the accounts;

Mr. J. A. Fraser, in giving most valuable assistance as Hon. Solicitor;

Mr. F. L. Lucas, in giving £2 2s. to be expended on books of reference for office use;

Miss M. de Q. Quincey, in collecting subscriptions in Chislehurst.

Our very grateful thanks are offered to each for the help they have rendered in 1924.

FINANCE.

The balance at the bank at the close of the year shows an increase over the amount which stood to the Society's credit on January 1st. For this satisfactory result we are indebted to Lady Hanbury-Williams, who organised a Bridge Tournament in aid of the funds, and to the legacy bequeathed by Mr. J. W. Buck, to which allusion has already been made and for which we again express our gratitude. But for this help we should have been obliged to withdraw from the Reserve Fund, which is intended to provide for emergency outlay and not for the regular current expenses. We are most thankful for the help thus received, as well as to the many subscribers and donors who year by year continue to provide the means for carrying on our useful work. In common with most other charitable funds, we have suffered from the depression left by the war and the conditions under which we are living in the effort to restore prosperity. It is not that customary contributions have been withdrawn, but, in the natural course of events, we lose many every year by death, and it is when we try to get other subscribers to take their place that the difficulty presents itself. We are convinced that if the nature and the scope of our work were fully understood there would be no doubt about our getting the modest income for which we ask. The work speaks for itself in these pages. We are able to tell of thousands of young lives that would have been exposed to moral danger when travelling, but for the T.A.S. Even those accustomed to travelling may find themselves in a difficult position through no fault of their own, and it will be readily understood that the difficulty is much greater for a girl who is young, has never travelled before, and is not aware of the imprudence of confiding in strangers. Happily we are able to speak warmly of the care taken by the Officials of the Railway and Steamboat Companies of any young women travelling alone, and we look upon our work at the stations and docks as supplementing theirs. A Company cannot arrange for the safety of a passenger beyond the limits of their own control. Our help, therefore, is required in the wider sphere and includes the linking up of the various stages of a long journey. It also ensures a safe lodging by the recommendation of our local workers, who are acquainted with suitable places in their own neighbourhood. It prevents many a girl from being enticed to a bad situation through tempting offers made in advertisements. The emergency beds, always at the disposal of a girl of apparently good character who may have missed her last train or have been missed by the friends who should have met her, are a unique benefit. There are many Hostels for young women, their doors open wide to any who can give satisfactory evidence of respectability and ability to pay. There are many Shelters opening doors of hope to those who have not withstood temptation; but we have made provision for others. Some are too young to go to Hotels; some have not the means; none are provided with references and they would be of small value when the hour is late and a night's lodging is required. In such circumstances, and when there is no reasonable cause for doubting the respectability of the young woman, she is always welcomed, and a comfortable, clean bedroom and a light breakfast provided. To have bedrooms always ready for use necessitates a staff of helpers by day and night. For eleven years the management of this department has been in the hands of Miss Manning, as House Superintendent, and it was with much regret that we accepted her resignation in the autumn, for family reasons. The daily work of meeting girls at the stations necessitates a numerous staff, some regular, some occasional workers; for each girl met requires individual attention. It is for this most important international work that we ask for more liberal support. It encourages forethought and caution and is, therefore, a work the influence of which is far reaching and can never be measured by statistics, however satisfactory these may be. If "Evil is wrought by want of Thought," then any propaganda which makes young people think is helping to guard them from evil influence. We claim for our work that it prevents harm by meeting young people on their journeys, and again by providing a safe lodging when they are stranded. It prevents their going to situations where the surroundings are immoral by (1) recommending good registry offices; and (2) enquiring into the respectability of situations before they are accepted. It also prevents their going to unsuitable lodgings by recommending Hostels where they will be under good influence when away from home. Added to this is the propaganda work in Railway Stations and on Steamers, by means of handbills and cards, all of which contain warning against possible danger. We are entering the 40th year of work, and we look back with satisfaction on each year's record. At the same time we look forward to years of increasing usefulness if only the public support is as generous as the work deserves.

Any contribution, great or small, will be thankfully received by the President (The Lady Frances Balfour), the Hon. Treasurer (Capt. E. T. S. Dugdale), or by the Secretary (Miss Jessie Gordon), or can be paid direct to the account of the Travellers' Aid Society at their Bankers, Barclay's Bank, Ltd., 122, Baker Street, London, W.1.

Signed on behalf of the Committee,

FRANCES BALFOUR,

BEDFORD.—Several women and girls have called and been lodged here at the Hostel through reading the notice hung in waiting-rooms at these Stations.

BISHOP'S STORTFORD.—I have only had one case during the year. A maid servant from — went in a motor van with a man she had only known a month, and he dropped her at Stortford too late for her to get back to her situation that night. I arranged for her to go to a Home here for the night, the Sister was very good to the girl and saw her off for — next morning.

BOGNOR.—Station master and porters send girls to me, and I have had an unusually busy summer, especially in August. On two occasions, late at night, the police have brought girls who have lost their trains and nowhere to stay as in the season Bognor is absolutely crammed. I have managed to take them in and send them home after an early breakfast.

Cutting from a Bognor paper:—

"The members of the Mothers' Union were addressed by Miss Starkey, of Bognor, at their quarterly meeting on January 31st. In the course of her address, which was thoroughly enjoyed by us all, she dwelt on the work of the Travellers' Aid Society, showing by instances which had come under her personal knowledge how useful its work is for young women and girls. Miss Starkey is the Bognor representative."

BROUGHTY FERRY.—Two girls and a mother and little boy left the town for U.S.A. Arrangements were made for the girls to be met in Glasgow and the others in Liverpool.

BURNESIDÉ.—Our Local Worker writes: "Last July a young girl from my Bible Class went to Canada, and I had arranged for her to be met and lodged at Southampton the night before. I have received most grateful letters from her about the comfort and kindness she received on her journey and also at the Lodge at Southampton."

CHORLTON-CUM-HARDY.—No requests from travellers; but in May a young woman came for advice.

She had come to Chorlton expecting to find friends with whom she wished to spend the week-end. They, however, were away from home and the house shut up. She was going to a new situation on the Monday and had only enough money for very cheap lodgings. She felt very anxious about what she must do, then, remembering the Travellers' Aid placard she had often seen in Railway Stations, she went to the Chorlton-cum-Hardy Station to see if a placard happened to be there. She found my name, so came to see me. I directed her to the Women Strangers' Hostel in Manchester and asked her to let me know if she could not be taken there, but I heard nothing further from her so suppose she found lodgings there.

COLCHESTER.—A G.F.S. girl was stranded on her way to Cambridge. She was given a night's lodging and breakfast. She was very grateful and wrote thanking us after she arrived home.

COLWYN BAY.—I have only one case to report that I can remember, and that is of a young girl having lost her purse in a tram and not having any money to pay her fare to Liverpool. I lent her the money and saw her safely on the train. The purse was found and sent to the police station a few days later and the money for the girl's fare was refunded to me.

CORSHAM.—One maidservant who was in difficulties was brought to me by a porter and I was able to put her case before the Vicar, who helped her.

DERBY (Mid. Ry.).—I had one lady to see me enquiring where she could get a good room and advice in London. I sent her to Headquarters. Met one schoolgirl.

DOVER.—Several people have been met at the Station (Marina) and seen off by boat. Several enquiries regarding rooms and accommodation for the night.

DROXFORD.—There has been no case here, but I have been able to recommend the Society to others, who have found it of great service to them, specially in crossing London.

DUNDEE.—Four girls having left the town for various reasons were met by arrangement by the Travellers' Aid Worker on their arrival. Two in Canada, one in France, one in London. A girl from Ireland was met on her arrival in Dundee by the Local Worker.

EDINBURGH.—One girl from Golspie going to Peebles was met at Edinburgh. The North train was very late and the traveller missed her connection. The Local Worker took her to the Scotch Girls' Friendly Society Club for a few hours and then saw her into the next train for Peebles.

FALMOUTH.—Two women, who came to Falmouth seeking work, came to us and were put up at the Lodge.

GLOUCESTER.—I am sending you a list of the work I have been called upon to do. Met one young girl three times and one girl once, that is for the T.A.S. and for the G.F.S., one member travelling from Ross to Weston for holiday and on her way back, and had many enquiries for lodgings. I have one at the present time—a lady who came to me on Christmas Day asking if I could help her to some work and inexpensive lodgings. I sent her to a lady who told her of a lady in Cheltenham who was wanting a lady cook for a few weeks. I trust she will take it, but I do not know yet, but there are so many in the same way that no one can tell if they are speaking the truth or not, but I try to help if possible.

GREENOCK.—Greenock has been very active during 1924. There has been an increase in the number of girls met as they changed from boat to train. Some of them required lodgings for the night. Miss Watson reports that never before have there been so many respectable women stranded. During July alone there were eight, all thoroughly respectable people, and it was with difficulty Miss Watson was able to find lodgings for them all.

HARROW (Met.).—Four cases have been helped during the past year, all coming to my house late or in the middle of the night wanting a night's lodging. There is a room where they can be taken in. Three stayed one night and one three days. All expenses were paid.

HEREFORD.—Met a girl at Hereford Station and put her in right train; sent three to Y.W.C.A. for a bed for the night during the year.

HORSHAM.—A girl called asking for loan of money for ticket to London, having lost, coming from Brighton, her purse containing ticket and money. She stated the station master had sent her. It was suggested her mother should be wired to for money, but telegram was returned, address unknown. Girl was detained while enquiries were made at Horsham Railway Station. No one had sent the girl here and no one passed barrier without ticket. Police communicated with. Girl detained at Police Station, then given a bed at the Rescue Home for one night and sent to London next morning, ticket taken by the police.

KING'S LYNN.—We have only two cases this year. One for whom a room was recommended in August. The other, in October, was a young girl sent home from a training home, and finding no one to meet her at the station was much upset. After waiting two hours she was brought to our house. She thought her mother might possibly be visiting a sick brother at the Hospital, so we directed her there while her packets were left here. She returned, saying her brother had gone home. We gave her a meal and directed her to the village to which place her mother had removed. It was only two and a half miles away, and though we offered to keep her heavy parcels until she could call again she preferred to take them with her. We gave her a stamped postcard and were glad to hear next day that her mother had met her on the road. She was very thankful for the kindness received.

LLANDUDNO.—Re stranded (or casual) girls. Last week, after much deliberation, a small Committee had been formed to look into this matter, as here I have over 10 cases (mostly undesirable) and there is up to now no Refuge or Shelter or other Hostel available in Llandudno.

The Committee is representative of G.F.S., Y.W.C.A., C.A.W.G., South Wales Association for Friendless Girls, and another; and I am hoping something will be done at last.

MILFORD HAVEN.—The calls on me for assistance through the T.A.S. have been few this year. A lady passed via New York to Los Angeles and wrote saying she was thankful for the kindly help afforded her by the lady from 465, Lexington Avenue, also at Los Angeles, when she changed for Long Beach. A boy and his mother who had never been in London were passed to Bloomsbury Hospital and back again to Paddington. When arriving at Milford she expressed much thankfulness to the T.A.S. lady who had given her such efficient help. My work for 1924 has been small, though I am always very pleased to act when called upon, for I am convinced this Society is doing a splendid work.

NEWBURY.—I have only had one application, a young girl, who was travelling from the North and had broken her journey at Newbury. I put her up here and saw that she went off by the first train next morning.

PENZANCE.—Lodgings found for six ladies enquiring for suitable ones. Two ladies put up for the night.

PETERBOROUGH.—A rather large number of women of all descriptions call at my house to enquire where they can spend the night on account of their being stranded, or strangers wishing to spend a few days in the town.

PLYMOUTH.—Two from Australia by "Jervis Bay" met and sent on to Paddington; one from Truro met and sent on to Bristol. Another from Truro met and sent on to Blackwater. Another from Truro met and sent on to Teignmouth. A girl from Barbadoes met and came to our Hostel for one night and sent on to Salcombe, Devon. A mother and son met from Truro and son sent on to Bristol. The mother came to Plymouth to spend a few hours on her return alone to Truro. She was much upset at having parted from her son.

SHENFIELD.—I met a little "Cub" and put him in his other train, Shenfield being a junction. In August a woman came and asked for her fare back to Brightlingsea in exchange for her jersey coat! My husband doubted her, but took her to the station and bought her ticket and we heard no more, though she promised to send the money. I can do nothing with the coat, we wondered if she had stolen it.

SOUTHEND.—The Worker found 135 persons stranded on the Stations, having lost the last train (and often their tickets) and had to find them lodgings for the night, and in many cases advance the fare home. One young girl on Christmas Eve got into the wrong train at Fenchurch Street and was brought down to Southend instead of Tilbury. When she reached here the last train to Tilbury had gone, so it was impossible to send her on. She had no money for extra fare or lodging, so she was taken to St. Monica's Home for the night and sent home on Christmas morning.

STROUD.—One woman called in July to ask about rooms to go to for a week. I was able to give her one or two addresses.

TRURO.—I have not been asked to help anyone this end since the last Report, except to arrange for several passing through London. I should like to thank the T.A.S. very much for their kind help to me personally when sending children and girls to their destination.

WEYMOUTH.—There has been less work than usual this year, only about 12. I have put several up for the night, and one Associate stopped on her way home from Leamington to Guernsey to see the Lodge; she had tea and supper and then I took her to the boat. I have made enquiries as to situations for girls, one a governess and the other a nurse.

WICKHAM MARKET.—I have had occasion to apply only once to the Society last year. It was the case of an old lady in poor health who was very grateful for the kind help she received in passing through London.

WIMBLEDON.—Gave shelter for one or more nights to people stranded on February 20th, 27th, March 22nd, April 30th, May 9th, June 10th, August 11th, August 14th and October 10th.

WIMBORNE.—Lady in Wimborne had a daughter arriving at Liverpool from Malta with three children. The Secretary sent someone to the boat to meet them and kindly saw them in the train, for which they were deeply grateful.

WORTHING.—Arranged for invalid girl to be met at Portsmouth and taken to boat for Ryde.

Took little invalid girl from Home in Worthing to Eastbourne. Arranged for girl to be met at Victoria and taken across London. Arranged for girl nearly blind to be met at Victoria.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—I am glad to say there has been less work than usual in aiding young girls. The few I have had needing help have been girls coming into the town to look for work, with nowhere to go until they find it and with only a shilling or so in their pockets. I have been able to see these safe, and in some cases helped them to find work the next day.

The women at the station waiting-rooms are a great help in sending girls to me and they take a real interest in looking out for them for me.

ANTWERP.—Our Society (Union Belge des Amies de la Jeune Fille) has been called upon to render service to young English girls, but, alas! only twice. One girl came through Antwerp and was fetched by our Agent at the Harwich Station and taken to the train which leaves for Paris.

CALAIS.—We have on several occasions been called upon to meet travellers on behalf of your Society. I may say that this Society (the St. Barnabas Hostels) will gladly render any similar service in the future.

LILLE.—I was able to be of help to one girl who left Lille to return to the North of England.

MADRAS.—Throughout the year our Guest House has gradually become more widely known for accommodating solitary travellers or whole families, and on a monthly average 42 guests have stayed in it for periods varying from a few hours to several weeks. A good deal of Travellers' Aid work has been done, including the giving of advice to people who wanted to travel between South India and different parts of the world, meeting those coming by boats and trains and giving various kinds of help to young women stranded in Madras on account of floods, or for some other reason. Special help was given to a young Englishwoman who was partially paralysed and unable to support herself. She was housed for four months. Attempts were made to help her to earn a little; medical advice was sought for her, and most generously given at the General Hospital, and she was finally sent to her relatives in North India with the aid of the Masons and the ex-Services Association.

NEW ORLEANS T.A.S.—This Society has had an unusual number of young girls coming to the City seeking employment and an unusual number of immigrants en route to California.

ROME (Union Christiana, Rome).—We beg to inform you that we would willingly receive the girl and she may find here meals and sympathy. However, it would be almost impossible to find her a bed. We do our best to find some rooms or even a floor for poor girls and travellers, but by the existing laws it is impossible to send away the present lodgers and nobody is able to find an abode in Rome. So the girl will find a "welcome," but, unfortunately, not the means to have a good rest.

SYDNEY (Central Methodist Mission).—Received two girls from the State of Victoria. Arranged for two girls to go to the State of Victoria; arranged for one girl to go to South Australia; arranged for one girl to go to Western Australia. Then there is the business connected with the enclosed confidential enquiry.

SYDNEY (Y.W.C.A.).—We have a Travellers' Aid Secretary who meets all the English boats and is very often called upon to render service to travellers.

UTRECHT.—This time I can give two cases where I have been called upon to render service to English women wanting to come to Holland. Both ladies intended to spend some time in this country, the one with friends and the other in our Home. Addresses were given and the traveller's recommended to the Station workers.

VICTORIA.—We meet all overseas boats now and have three paid workers.

SOUTHAMPTON BRANCH.

During the year which ended on December 31 there has been a very distinct development both of the protective and financial work of the Southampton Branch of the Travellers' Aid Society.

The appointment in April of Miss Fletcher as Permanent Secretary, to collect subscriptions, get up entertainment and spread information as to the work of the Society, has proved of immense advantage to the Branch. The Annual Meeting which she arranged was well attended and a great success, as was the Bridge Tournament held in S. Barnabas Hall in November.

The election of a Standing Entertainment Committee, some members of which are drawn from the Local Committee, is likely to benefit the work in the future very greatly.

Miss Fletcher has considerably increased the number of annual subscribers, but she still needs many more; the sums contributed are small in proportion to the amount of time and work involved in collecting them.

If every subscriber whose name appears on the list presented with this Report would find even one more, or obtain even one more donation, our funds would be increased satisfactorily.

Miss Pearce, who had tendered her resignation of the office of Hon. Treasurer in 1923, very kindly carried on the work until March, when Mrs. Spicer undertook it, an appointment which has been of great benefit to the Branch.

The thanks of the Committee are due to Miss Smith, of the Y.W.C.A., and to Miss Shuff, of the G.F.S., for all their aid, and especially to Miss Smith for all the kind help which she gave during the Agent's absence through illness in January, 1924.

The work of our Agent, Mr. G. E. Fisher, still increases as the Docks become more and more crowded, but an Auxiliary Agent has been appointed, Mr. Welch, who will undertake night duty if required, when women and girls have to be taken on board the cross-channel steamers.

Our Agent reports a decrease in the number of young girls arriving alone and requiring assistance from Havre and Cherbourg compared with that of previous years, but he has attended 1,068 ships on arrival and departure, met 366 persons by appointment, an increase of 74 compared with 1923, and assisted 292 women and girls without any previous arrangement.

This point deserves special notice—meetings without an appointment are a feature of our work.

He has given advice and cards bearing addresses of hostels at various ports to 685 women travelling alone, and has placed appeals to stewardesses and steamer bills on 274 ships, i.e., on 15 more vessels than during 1923.

Appointments for meeting women and girls have been made with us by the American Travellers' Aid, a most efficient Society, who have been very kind and courteous towards those whom we have recommended to their care; also by the American Red Cross, the Catholic Women's League, the Society for the Overseas Settlement of British Women, and others.

A considerable number of blind people have been met and sent on to their destinations.

During the early part of the year we were involved in much correspondence concerning the transmigrants at Altantic Park, Eastleigh, but the Societies who wrote to us about them have at last been convinced that they are under the care of the Shipping Companies entirely.

Miss F. J. Mitchell, who had been Hon. Secretary since 1922, resigned in December, and her place was taken by Miss Foster-Palmer, whose election was warmly welcomed by those interested in the welfare of the Branch.

Once more the Committee appeal for a greater, more widely known effort to support this most useful work, which does not in any way overlap that of any other Society, and for a substantial increase in the number of subscribers.

At a meeting of the Travellers' Aid Society held on Tuesday, February 17th, 1925, at 22, Portland Terrace, Southampton, the Chairman, the Hon. Mrs. Eliot Yorke, proposed a hearty vote of thanks, which was carried unanimously by the Committee, to the retiring Secretary, Miss Mitchell.

Mrs. Eliot Yorke said how much the Society had benefited by the most valuable and able assistance rendered by Miss Mitchell, and how thoroughly her work had been appreciated.

Mrs. Eliot Yorke said how very grateful they all were to Miss Mitchell for the amount of time and energy she had so unsparingly given to the work.

Miss Fletcher wished also to record her most grateful thanks for all the help and time Miss Mitchell had expended on her behalf.

(Signed) ANNIE E. YORKE

(Honble. Mrs. Eliot Yorke),

LIVERPOOL BRANCH.

It is with a feeling of joyous satisfaction that we can chronicle 25 years' work of sympathetic and chivalrous achievement, for we feel it has been well worth while. We quote the Prince of Wales—"There's no better thing in life when you come to analyse it, than helping someone else."

With regard to the past year, it may be said that in spite of the falling off in emigration, the number of cases have kept up very well during 1924. Our statistics show:—

Appointed Meetings .. .. .	533
Unappointed Meetings .. .. .	3,267
Arranged Meetings .. .. .	8
Investigations .. .. .	11
Dealt with at Office .. .. .	66

Several parties have again been handled this year for the Society of Overseas Settlement of British Women, and the work has been a great pleasure. It has met with deep appreciation and a practical proof of gratitude in the shape of a donation of £10. We heard through our London Office that Miss Franklin, Secretary of the S.O.S.B.W., has spoken most highly of the work done by us, which is most encouraging.

We much regret that Mrs. Stanley Cohen has left the district. We shall miss her very valuable help. We also regret the resignation of Mrs. Barrow, representing the G.F.S. We are glad to welcome Mrs. Upton in her place. The Committee are pleased to welcome the following new Members:—The Rev. T. R. Dann, Secretary of the Free Church Federation;

Mrs. Evan Morris, of the Women's Auxiliary Free Church Federation; Mrs. J. S. Grant and Mrs. Robson.

The Society's grateful thanks are due to Mr. R. S. Hoare for kindly auditing the accounts, and to Mr. W. S. Vaughan we are deeply indebted for help and advice in financial matters. Sincere thanks for co-operation are due to the Jewish Guardians, Women Patrols, Salvation Army, Personal Service Bureau, the Police Force and the Officials on the Landing Stage and at the Railway Stations. We also thank the Y.W.C.A., Mildmay, the G.F.S., the Hostel of Hope, the House of Help, St. Joseph's, Everton Crescent, and Miss Bradford, of 62, St. Anne's Street, who so kindly open their doors at all hours to admit those whom we find in distress. We wish to record our thanks to the Misses Simpson, who for so many years have allowed us to use their premises on the Landing Stage as our Headquarters there. We are most grateful to them and to their staff for all they do for us.

In July last, Miss Bott resigned the post of Secretary, which she had held for one year. Her leaving caused great regret to all who knew her self-sacrificing work. Mrs. Broadhurst was appointed Secretary. We are fortunate in still retaining the experienced services of Mr. McBurney, who last year completed 25 years of valuable work for the Society.

In April last there was a Flower Day Collection kindly organised by Mrs. Helsby, which resulted in the addition of £92 12s. 4d. to our funds. Our thanks are due to all who so kindly helped us on that occasion.

A Model Market was held by very kind permission of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Rowe, in their garden at "Alscott." It was organised by the Lady Thurlow. The wonderful sum of £118 1s. 0d. was realised. We thank the Rev. W. H. Creer, of St. Ann's Church, for the loan of tables, etc., the Seamen's Orphanage for the band, and the ladies who took charge of the stalls, not forgetting the Lady Palmist, Mrs. Kenny.

The Dance held in November at the Yamen Café with Mrs. Robson and Mrs. Broadhurst as hostesses, was voted most enjoyable. They were pleased to realise the amount of £18 16s.

A letter from Mrs. Ernest Taylor, Chairman of the Catholic Women's League, to which the Association Catholique Internationale de Protection de la Jeune Fille is affiliated, expresses appreciation of the Society's help. She writes: "I wonder if many people in Liverpool know the splendid state of affairs that exists on the Landing Stage? I mean the wonderful co-operation of all creeds—Church of England, Jewish, Catholic, and others in helping our various travellers on sailing days. This hand-in-hand work on the Landing Stage has often struck me as being charity in excelsis, and perhaps if the general public realised all that is being done for all nations and all creeds, the Travellers' Aid Society would receive a much larger financial support than it does. As Chairman of the Catholic Women's League in Liverpool, I am grateful for this Society's invaluable assistance to our travellers."

The following are a few cases which have been helped by the Society:—

morning. He had come to make his home with an aunt who had failed to meet him. The Worker could not wire to her, it being Sunday, so she telephoned to the police at Cardiff to communicate with the aunt, who lived a distance out of the town. The following day the aunt wired to say she could not afford to make the journey and asked for the child to be seen off on a certain train. The Worker kept the child with her all Sunday and saw him safely on his journey to Cardiff. A letter of gratitude was received.

A telephone message from Miss Simpson, from the Landing Stage, came late one evening to ask our help with regard to a young girl, aged 15, who was stranded. The Worker immediately went down to see what could be done for her. The girl told her a long story. Her mother was dead and she lived with her father and three brothers outside Dublin, to whom she wished to return. She had been on a visit to friends in Seaforth. A man arranged to come to the Landing Stage to pay her passage, the reason being that he owed her father some money. The Worker was inclined to believe her story at first, but, on questioning her, decided that her story was not true, which proved to be the case. She was really running away from her home in Seaforth. The Worker had booked her ticket but got the money returned; she also intimated her father of the girl's whereabouts. In the meantime she was taken to a Home, where her father claimed her the next day.

A young girl arrived at Falkner Street in great distress, having lost her purse which contained all her money. She had come from Belfast and was en route to Wales to visit a relation. She was taken to Mildmay Hostel. Meanwhile, a telegram was sent to her relations to wire her fare, which was sent immediately. The girl was exceedingly grateful for what had been done for her.

Two young Irish girls were sent to Falkner Street from the Landing Stage late one night. They had come to Liverpool to get work a week previously but were unsuccessful and had spent all their money. Their landlady had turned them out that evening. They were taken to the Catholic Hostel, 62, St. Anne Street, for the night. The following day their relations in Ireland wired money for their return fare home.

We received a telephone message from one of the Stations to ask us to go to a young girl's assistance. She had come from Ireland and had been noticed sitting in the waiting-room for some hours. She appeared rather strange in her manner. The Worker found she intended to go to America, but on examining her passport discovered it had not been viséd. She took the girl to the American Consulate where she was told she would have to get her visa in Ireland. The girl seemed dazed and not at all in a fit state to journey to Ireland immediately. She was taken to a Convent for a few days to rest, after which she was seen off to Dublin to obtain her visa. We communicated with a co-Society to meet the girl on her arrival. A few days afterwards word was received to the effect that the girl was seriously ill and was in hospital.

SCOTTISH BRANCH.

The Scottish Branch of the Travellers' Aid Society regrets exceedingly to report the resignation of the Hon. Secretary, Mrs. Cook, who has done the work for many years, so patiently and well.

The Committee in Edinburgh were unable to provide a successor; therefore, at a meeting held on 3rd March, it was unanimously agreed to ask the Glasgow Committee to undertake the work for Scotland, thus transferring the Headquarters of the Society from Edinburgh to Glasgow. The Glasgow Migration and Travellers' Aid Committee, under the Y.W.C.A. work, agreed to accept the responsibility, and at a meeting held on 30th April, 1924, the transference was completed, and since then the Travellers' Aid Society in Scotland has been recognised as part of the Y.W.C.A. work. Four members of the Scottish Branch represent Edinburgh on the Committee formed in April, and at the suggestion of Miss Gordon, London, the Girl Guides and Girls' Guildry were invited to send representatives. So the Glasgow Migration and Travellers' Aid Committee is now representative of a number of Women's Societies, namely, The Church of Scotland Woman's Guild, Scotch Girls' Friendly Society, Girls' Guildry, and Girl Guides. The "Overseas Welcome" is also represented by Mrs. Hunter Boyd.

In Glasgow there has been an increase in the number of requests from travellers during 1924. Thirty-five have been met at the various Stations. Many of them have been going overseas, and the Travellers' Hostel opened by the Glasgow Y.W.C.A. has proved a benefit to the Travellers' Aid Worker, as well as the travellers.

It may be of interest to some to know that since the Hostel was opened at the end of April, 1924, until the end of December, 507 travellers have lived for one night or longer in the house.

There are always a great many girls asking to be met on their arrival in Canada and other countries, and the Secretary is glad to write on their behalf, and make arrangements for them to be met by the Travellers' Aid Worker at the Port they may be going to.

Letters are often received by the Secretary, telling her of the kindness of the Workers at the various Ports overseas.

A. SKELLY.

BRISTOL BRANCH.

This Branch has dealt with nine cases during the current year. They were all cases referring to young girls going to domestic situations, pupils proceeding to or from boarding schools, or older women travelling to or from convalescent homes.

All the individuals concerned were glad to have the help of the Station Visitor in assisting them in changing trains, etc., and to receive a cheery welcome and "send-off" on their way.

Two cases specially demonstrate the necessity and usefulness of the Society.

(a) A young girl was being transferred from a "Home" to a special "Training Institution." In this case it was required that the Station Visitor should accompany the girl from Bristol to her destination, and to hand her over to the safe custody of the responsible authorities. This piece of work involved six to seven hours' time.

(b) This was a case of a young girl going to her first situation, necessitating a change of trains at Bristol.

The Station Visitor failed to find the girl in the train specified, but fortunately remained at the station to await the arrival of another train, about 30 minutes later. In this, the girl was found, she having just missed the earlier train. The later train, however, did not arrive in time for the girl to go on to her destination that night, and she was naturally greatly distressed.

The Station Visitor saw her safely lodged and cared for for the night, at one of the Y.W.C.A. hostels, and accompanied her to the station in the morning.

The mistress was informed, by telegram, of the alteration in the time of the girl's arrival, and the various people interested in this case were spared much anxiety by the action of the organisation's representative.

No Avonmouth boat cases have been notified to the Society this year. Mrs. Annie Allen, of the Church Army Social Centre, Avonmouth, has kindly offered to help at the docks whenever necessary.

M. T. WORSLEY,

Local President.

IRISH BRANCH.

Owing to the serious illness of the Secretary of the Irish Branch of the T.A.S., we are unable to print any statistics of the work done in 1924, but Miss Nolan, Hon. Treasurer, has kindly sent the following for publication.

We have 44 "Blue Triangle" placards at the chief railway stations in the Irish Free State and Northern Ireland, and T.A.S. "Warnings" at the Dublin stations. These notices are very necessary, as during the past year numbers of young country girls have come to Dublin seeking employment, arriving friendless and ignorant of the dangers of the city. They would often find themselves stranded and homeless if it were not for the help offered through the notices of the various agencies.

Good work is done by the ladies at the Y.W.C.A., Kingstown, by meeting girls at the steamers. One girl who was helped had never seen the sea before.

At the large port of Queenstown we have a placard which must be often read, for hundreds of emigrants pass through that station.

SUGGESTIONS FOR LOCAL WORKERS

whose Names are on the Placards at the Stations.

"1. The Local Workers should acquaint themselves with cheap lodgings in their towns or villages to which respectable girls can be safely sent; also with the different Homes and Refuges (in the case of large towns), where destitute or doubtful cases will be admitted without delay. The Local Worker in towns must be prepared for all emergencies, and for this reason should arrange during any temporary absence from home that no girl may be sent away from her house without her needs being attended to. It is well also for her to have a knowledge of registry-offices and employment agencies in the town, in order that she may be able, when necessary, to put the young woman into the way of obtaining employment as quickly as possible. In villages girls arriving in a friendless condition at the stations are likely to be very few, and could therefore be more easily dealt with; but there also it is important to make arrangements in case of any absence from home, lest some opportunity of giving help be lost. There may be other cases where no material help is wanted, but only a little friendly advice or word of warning. Say, for instance, where a girl has left her home against her parents' wishes, or in consequence of some quarrel, and can perhaps be persuaded to return to her friends; or perhaps she may have got into bad company or other dangers, and a little friendly interest may draw her back.

"2. A knowledge of the Travellers' Aid Society should be spread as much as possible in the neighbourhood, so that girls going to London and other large towns may let the Worker know of their intention, and she can then communicate either with the Travellers' Aid Society's Local Worker at the place to which the girl is going, or with the Secretary of the Travellers' Aid Society, at 6, Baker Street, London, W.

"3. The Local Worker should visit the station frequently to see that the placard is in its place, and let the Secretary know if it has been removed or if it requires renewal. She should also interest the station master, waiting-room women, and other officials in the work, that they may send her all young girls in need of help or advice. The waiting-room women might direct the attention of young women waiting about the room to the placard, and speak to any who appear to be without friends.

"4. The Local Worker should be prepared to meet at the station and care for any girl, when asked to do so by a member of the Travellers' Aid Society.

"5. A report should be sent in half-yearly to the Travellers' Aid Society's Secretary, giving an account of any girls who have applied to the Local Worker for assistance, &c.

"6. When a girl applies to a Local Worker and the case cannot be dealt with without spending money, if possible full inquiries should be made of friends and relatives before any outlay is made. We have found the quickest way to obtain the desired information is to telegraph or write to the Inspector at the Police Station of the place from which the girl professes to have come. The friends should be made to undertake to refund any expenditure made on the girl's behalf, whenever they are in a position to do so. The Committee are willing to repay a Local Worker any sum she may expend for a girl, if their consent to the expenditure is obtained beforehand from the Secretary, in London. In cases where it is absolutely necessary to expend money before obtaining the Committee's sanction, the Local Worker may send full details to the Secretary afterwards, when, if the Committee approve of the steps taken, they will refund the money.

"7. It is most important that the Local Worker should at once communicate any change of address to the Secretary of the T.A.S., at 6, Baker Street, W. (who will have the placards corrected), and give her as long a notice as possible, should she find herself unable to continue the work of the Travellers' Aid Society.

"The above suggestions are, of course, only for general guidance. As mentioned before, the work of the Local Worker will probably amount to almost nothing, except in very large towns."

TRAVELLERS' AID SOCIETY

(FOR GIRLS AND YOUNG WOMEN)

6, BAKER STREET, LONDON, W.

TERMS FOR MEETING TRAVELLERS

(IT IS PARTICULARLY REQUESTED THAT, WHENEVER POSSIBLE, at least THREE DAYS' NOTICE BE GIVEN BEFORE TRAVELLERS ARE TO BE MET.)

(1) Any Respectable Young Woman of the wage-earning class:—Fee of one shilling for the first meeting (and sixpence for each subsequent meeting on the same journey) besides cost of postage, telegrams (if any) and station-visitor's travelling.

(2) Young Ladies:—Fee of five shillings for the first meeting (and two shillings and sixpence for each subsequent meeting on the same journey) besides cost of postage, telegrams (if any) and station-visitor's travelling.

(3) "Girls' Friendly Society" Members of the wage-earning class:—As No. 1. Fee, cost of postage, telegrams (if any) and station-visitor's travelling in London are charged to the Central Council of the Girls' Friendly Society. Any further expenses are charged to the lady who introduces the traveller.

(4) Other G.F.S. Members:—Fee of five shillings for the first meeting (and two shillings and sixpence for each subsequent meeting on the same journey) besides cost of postage, telegrams (if any) and station-visitor's travelling.

(5) For meeting other than those mentioned above and for any case which occupies an exceptional amount of time, instead of the ordinary fee, a fee of eightpence or one shilling an hour, according to circumstances, is charged as well as cost of postage, telegrams (if any) and station-visitor's travelling.

Where two or more relatives or friends travel together, half-fees are charged for each member of the party after the first.

BYE-LAWS FOR THE CONDUCT OF BUSINESS.

I. That the name of the Society shall be "THE TRAVELLERS' AID SOCIETY," under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A. The Society shall be on a distinctly religious and Christian basis, but shall not be under the control of the United Central Council of the Y.W.C.A., and the various Societies connected with the Travellers' Aid Society shall not be considered under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A.

IIA. The General Committee shall consist of the President, the Hon. Treasurers, the Hon. Secretaries and the Trustees (all ex-officio); representatives of Societies interested in the welfare of young women (whose co-operation has been invited or accepted by the Travellers' Aid Society); and such hon. and independent members as may be elected from time to time. The Y.W.C.A. shall have a right to fourteen members, and other societies to two or more members each.

IIB. There shall be three Trustees of the Travellers' Aid Society, and the property and funds of the Society, when invested, shall be invested in the names of not less than two of them, and when any vacancy arises in the office of a Trustee by death, resignation, or other cause, it shall be filled up at the next meeting of the General Committee. The Trustees shall from time to time pay over the capital and income arising from the property of, or belonging to, the Society to or permit the same to be received by, the General Committee for the time being as such Committee may direct; and the direction of the General Committee for the time being shall be a sufficient authority to the Trustees for making such payments.

III. The Executive Committee shall consist of:—

- (a) The President, Hon. Treasurers, and two or more Hon. Secretaries and the Trustees (ex-officio);
- (b) Members elected by the General Committee from their number, viz., seven representatives of the Y.W.C.A., one or more representing each other co-operating Society, and one or more of the independent members.

In the event of any member of the Executive Committee not being able to attend, her place may be taken by her co-representative.

IV. The General and Executive Committees shall be elected annually at the first General Committee Meeting of the year.

V. The General Committee, at their first meeting, shall elect three members of the Executive to act as Vice-Presidents; they shall, in the absence of the President, act for her in cases of emergency.

VI. All representative members shall be nominated by their own Societies, and approved by the General Committee, and should any representative member retire during the year the Society represented shall be invited to nominate another member for approval at the next General Committee Meeting.

VII. The General Committee shall meet quarterly on the third Friday (subject to alteration) of January, April, July, and October, and the Executive Committee on the third Friday of all other months, except August and September.

VIII. The Meetings of the General and Executive Committees shall be opened with the collect, "Prevent us, O Lord," and the Lord's Prayer, read from the Chair.

IX. Five members shall form a quorum for the General and Executive Committees, but, in the event of the required number not attending, the meeting shall be held as an ad interim Committee for the transaction of necessary business. The transactions at each Executive Committee Meeting shall come up for confirmation at the succeeding General Committee and no pecuniary liability shall be incurred without the consent of the General Committee.

X. At each Committee Meeting a member of the Committee shall be appointed to visit the office once a week during the month following, to assist the Secretary with advice, etc.; this member to write her name and a short report in the Office Visitors' Book after every visit.

XI. In case of equality of votes on any question, the President, or member in the Chair, shall have a second or casting vote.

XII. No alteration shall be made in the organisation and methods of work of the Travellers' Aid Society, unless carried by a majority of two-thirds at a General Committee Meeting, and without being previously considered by the Executive Committee.

XIII. Notices of meetings of the General Committee shall be sent out, with the Agenda, a fortnight previous to the meeting; those of the Executive Committee one week previous to the meeting.

XIV. No subjects except those mentioned on the Agenda shall form part of the business at the Committee Meetings unless voted urgent by a majority present and with the consent of the Chair.

XV. In any case of difficulty the Secretary may, at short notice, and with the consent of the President, a Vice-President, or the Member of Committee on duty, call a special meeting of the Executive Committee; but no business shall be transacted except that for which the meeting has been called.

XVI. On all Sub-Committees appointed by the General or the Executive Committee the Y.W.C.A. shall have a right to two members.

XVII. The Head Office can, as a general rule, accept no responsibility for the financial side of the activities of any Branch.

XVIII. A report of Travellers' Aid Society work shall be issued annually, and shall include the sketch of the origin of the Society, already approved by the Committee, and printed in the Report for 1889, as follows:—

In the year 1885, two separate organisations were started, each having for its object the protection of respectable country girls at the moment of their arrival in London or other towns. One of these organisations consisted of a body of ladies who, at the instance of Miss Hubbard, editor of "Work and Leisure," temporarily engaged two station visitors and drew up a provisional prospectus, entitled, "The Female Passengers' Aid Society"; amongst these ladies was The Lady Frances Balfour, afterwards President of the Travellers' Aid Society. The other was a Department of the Young Women's Christian Association, which, with the concurrence of the railway authorities, did a considerable work in putting up placards and visiting the stations. In the autumn of the same year representatives of different societies for the protection of girls, invited by the Y.W.C.A., met in Exeter Hall, to consider the best means of attaining the desired object. These meetings resulted in the formation of the Travellers' Aid Society, under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A., which was the only one of all the Associations represented, able, by its constitution, to develop and organise a united and more extended scheme of work. On December 1st, 1885, therefore, the Travellers' Aid Society really began its labours, the London Young Women's Christian Association undertaking to supply funds until it had gained the confidence of the public.
