AUX LECTRICES DE NOS ASSOCIATIONS NATIONALES

Pour la troisième fois, la Fédération Internationale des Femmes Diplômées des Universités présente les listes d'ouvrages recommandés chaque année par certaines des Associations nationales qui la composent. Ces listes, établies dans 24 pages, signalent des livres parus de 1932 à 1936; elles diffèrent entre elles car la méthode à appliquer pour la sélection fut laissée à l'initiative de chaque Association. Une seule règle fut imposée: ne pas excéder vingt titres par an—on verra qu'il y eut des infractions—; un conseil fut donné et suivi; éviter les ouvrages de propagande nationale et ceux dont la tendance politique ne cadrerait pas avec l'esprit de parfaite camaraderie internationale qui caractérise notre Fédération.

On pourra s'étonner de la disproportion numérique entre certaines listes: 110 titres de livres pour l'Australie, 98 pour le Danemark, 97 pour la Suisse, pays trilingue il est vrai, 94 pour la Grande-Bretagne, 93 pour la Palestine, 69 pour la France, 15 pour les Etats-Unis, ce pays de forte production en édition. Mais c'est précisément l'ampleur de la production qui rend le choix difficile; dans notre précédente brochure, nos collègues américaines avaient présenté des ouvrages relatifs aux diverses régions de leur immense territoire; cette fois, elles ont eu la coquetterie de nous indiquer simplement un choix—combien limité—de livres sur les Etats-Unis, écrits uniquement par des étrangers. Les amateurs de littérature américaine, et ils sont nombreux, déploreront cette lacune temporaire.

D'autre part, l'Amérique du Nord est très honorablement représentée par la liste bilingue du Canada, et l'Amérique du Sud offre, pour la première fois, la contribution de la jeune Association brésilienne.

L'Association Palestinienne, également une de nos benjamines, a composé une liste dont nous soulignons l'intérêt et l'originalité, car elle comprend des ouvrages en allemand, en anglais, en arabe, en hébreu, en yiddish, sortis des nouvelles presses de Jérusalem et de Tel-Aviv, comme des maisons d'édition d'Amérique et d'Europe; elle contient, sur les sujets les plus divers mais se rapportant à la Palestine, un choix de livres appelé à rendre service aux voyageurs cultivés et, d'une façon générale, à tous les esprits curieux de ce qui touche à la Palestine ancienne et moderne.

Signalons également, comme une nouveauté, la forte proportion d'ouvrages en langue hollandaise indiqués par la liste sud-africaine. Comme précédemment, la liste néo-zélandaise est presque entièrement consacrée à l'histoire, à la géographie, à la science et à la littérature locales.

L'Association australienne nous a envoyé une très complète bibliographie de tous les ouvrages récemment parus sur l'Aus-

INTRODUCTION

(Adapted from the French of M.-L. Puech).

This list of recommended books has been compiled, like the two lists previously published, from annual selections made by the Associations of University Women of the countries represented. The selections cover the period 1932-1936.

It will be noticed that there is considerable diversity among the lists both as regards quantity and kind. Although twenty titles were suggested as the maximum for each year, some Associations went over the limit while others kept well within it. This accounts for the striking disproportion between, for instance, Australia, with its 110 titles, and the United States with a bare 15. And those 15 not books by American authors but books about the United States written by foreigners! This is the very extreme of national modesty, an extreme which must be deplored by many readers who appreciate American literature. Further North, the North American continent is well represented by the bilingual list provided by Canada, and South America is represented, for the first time, by a list from the new Association formed in Brazil.

The choice made by the Palestine Association is of particular interest. It includes works in German, English, Arabic, Hebrew and Yiddish, printed by the new presses of Jerusalem and Tel Aviv, and offers a variety of information as to the conditions prevailing in that troubled and fascinating country and the spirit of its diverse inhabitants.

The South African list is remarkable for a new feature—a large proportion of works in the Dutch language. The New Zealand list, as in former years, is devoted almost entirely to local history, geography, science and literature. The large Australian list provides a fairly complete bibliography of recent books about Australia, published either in that country or in Great Britain. The value of this list, not only to our own members but to librarians of all countries, makes criticism of its neglect of the prescribed limit of titles impossible. And the same must be said of the Danish list which constitutes an admirable general bibliography of works of many different kinds recently published in Denmark.

The fullest lists, over-passing the prescribed limit, have been sent in by Australia (110), Denmark (98), Switzerland (97), Great Britain (94), Palestine (93), and France (69).

Besides these enumerations, such lists as the Belgian, the Austrian, the Czechoslovakian, the Hungarian and even the French, must appear rather thin at first sight. But it must be remembered that the basis of selection was left entirely to the taste of the Associations, the only proviso being that mere nationalistic propaganda should be excluded. There is, therefore, a special interest in observing the variety in the kind of choice made, which reflects not only differences of national preference but differences in the personal predilections of the members responsible in different years for making the selections.

The only constant quality is the high level of culture guaranteed by our Associations.

There is a special interest in noting how certain common tendencies are present in these lists, no matter what part of the world they come from. Naturally and inevitably they reflect some of the difficulties of political, social and economic post-war conditions. And it is perhaps equally natural that in these times of instability many writers should turn to the solid earth, finding escape or refreshment in the land and the men and women who labour on the land. Thus we have here studies of the troubles and pleasures of peasants in Canada, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Finland, France, Holland, Hungary, Norway, Palestine, Sweden

It is not surprising that selections made by women "intellectuals" should sometimes give a prominent place to women authors and to the part played by women in modern life. This tendency is evident in the Norwegian and Swedish lists as well as in the excellent list provided by Finland, the country which was the first to recognise the right of women to be citizens. The Scandinavian countries, as well as some others, appear to be seriously concerned with the study of child psychology, a subject often cropping up in these lists.

We must also recognise, with appreciation, the enumeration of books on characteristic national arts, such as have been sent in by Hungary, Ireland, Norway, Sweden and Yugoslavia, especially those on music.

And it is pleasant to see, in addition to the general tendencies indicated, a certain number of highly individual works, almost "sports," which have found a place here. Such, for example, is the treatise on fishing in Canada written by a learned professor of Architecture, the book about housekeeping and cookery in Denmark, and Mrs. Virginia Woolf's biography of the dog, Flush, who has been celebrated lately in the theatre and the cinema.

It is very much to be regretted that, as a consequence of the internal political situation of their countries, the Associations in German, Italy and Portugal have been put out of action, thus depriving us of very important bibliographic contributions which we should have liked to publish in these pages.

To all who have this list in their hands we should like to offer a word of advice: Don't run through it as if it were just an ordinary catalogue. Remember that each title has been placed here for a good reason. It is true that there are 1,226 volumes on the list, but our Federation has 60,630 members and many thousand more books than these have been published in their countries. You may be sorry that you have too scanty a leisure to read so many books specially selected for you. You may be even more sorry that a number of these books are in languages which you cannot read. Why not ask the publishers of your country to have some of them translated? Finally, may we ask you to give a copy of the list to your friends, to your libraries, to your clubs and associations, and so testify to your appreciation of this token of intellectual co-operation which we have the honour to offer to you.

BELGIUM

Art

- MÉMORIAL CINQ SIÈCLES D'ART.—(Dietrich et Cie., Bruxelles. 2 vols., 23 by 16, 250 planches en héliogravure, 450 fr. b.) Oeuvre touffue, d'un choix judicieux.
- VANZYPE (GUSTAVE).—Henri Leys. (Nouvelle Société d'Editions, Bruxelles, 1934. 105 pp.) Collection des Peintres et Sculpteurs belges. Une oeuvre touffue, une langue agréable et précise, des illustrations abondantes et soignées.
- WARICHEZ (CHANOINE J.).—La Cathédrale de Tournai, Première partie: architecture et sculpture romanes. (Nouvelle Société d'Editions, Bruxelles, 1934.) Un magnifique volume comportant à côté d'une étude historique, de nombreux documents photographiques dont la plupart n'ont jamais été reproduits.

Biography and History

- DE BOOM (GHISLAINE).—Marguerite d'Autriche-Savoie et la Pré-Renaissance, avec une préface de M. Henri Pirenne. (E. Droz, Paris; Van Campenhout, Bruxelles, 1935. 1 vol., in-8, 4 planches, 278 pp., 45 fr. b.) Manière de petit chef-d'oeuvre d'un auteur familiarisé depuis 10 ans avec son sujet. Oeuvre de bibliographie et de mémorialiste avec infiniment de goût et de compétence. Mlle. De Boom suit pas à pas la vie agitée de la "gente Margot qu'eust deux marys et encore fut pucelle."
- PIRENNE (HENRI).—Histoire de Belgique. Tome 7. (de 1830 à 1914). (Lamertin, Bruxelles, 1932. 400 pp., 55 fr. b.)
- TASSIER (SUZANNE).—Histoire de la Belgique sous l'occupation française en 1792 et 1793. (Van Campenhout, Bruxelles, 1933. 382 pp.) Grâce à une analyse minutieuse des faits, puisant à des sources non encore utilisées, l'auteur réussit à exposer d'une façon approfondie ces dix-huit mois du passé de notre pays.

Criticism and Essays

- CHARLIER (GUSTAVE).—De Ronsard à Victor Hugo. (Revue de l'Université, 50 Av. Nations, Bruxelles, 1932. 336 pp., 45 fr. b.) Problèmes d'Histoire littéraire.
- DELCOURT (MARIE).—Eschyle. (Rieder, Paris. 1 vol. in-8, Fr. fr. 15.) Ecrit avec virilité.
- DE RIDDER-BARZIN (Mme.).—Le Pessimisme de Thomas Hardy. (Revue de l'Université, 50 Av. Nations, Bruxelles, 1932. 25 fr. b.)
- D'YDEWALLE (CHARLES).—Vienne et le destin des Habsbourg. 1 vol. (Nouvelle Société d'Editions, Bruxelles, 1934. in-16, 175 pp.) On trouve dans cet ouvrage des silhouettes du passé, des anecdotes des portraits de contemporains, des pages sur la situation politique et morale de l'Autriche d'aujourd'hui.

Drama and Poetry

VANDERBORGHT (PAUL).—Plaine—Poèmes du Nord. ("Labor," Paris, Bruxelles, 1932. 215 pp., 18 fr. b.)

Economics and Politics

POULET (ROBERT).—La Révolution est à droite. (Denoël et Steele, 1934. 222 pp.) Comment dans le monde contemporain, s'en tenir aux notions conventionnelles de droite et de gauche? Ne peut-il pas y avoir à droite plus de dynamisme, plus d'organisation nouvelle, bref, plus de force révolutionnaire vraie?

Fiction

ELSSCHOT.—Tsijs. (P. N. van Kampen en Zoon, éditeurs, Amsterdam, 1934.) L'auteur cynique de "Het Huwelijck," "Lijmen," a enfin désarmé. Le livre est construit sur quelques motifs simples détachés de la vie quotidienne. De la clarté, de la bonté généreuse, parfois du lyrisme, une teinte d'ironie.

GEVERS (MARIE).—Le voyage de Frère Jean. (Plon, Paris, 1935. In-12, Fr. fr. 10.) L'âme féminine aurait-elle vraiment une affinité pour ce genre spécial: le roman? Par cette oeuvre saine et forte, Marie Gevers ne trahit pas la brillante lignée des romancières.

GLESENER (EDMOND).—L'Ombre des Sapins. (Renaissance du Livre, Paris, 1934.) Oeuvre remarquable. Oeuvre de maturité. Jamais Edmond Glesener ne nous a donné à ce point la mesure de son talent.

LEY (MADELEINE).—La Nuit de la St. Sylvain. (Calmann Lévy, Paris, 1935. Fr. fr. 30.) Délicieux conte pour enfants richement illustré d'images par Edy Legrand.

NEEL DOFF.—Une journée ouvrière. (bd. Au sans Pareil, Paris.) Description poignante des souffrances des humbles. Mme. Neel Doff se révèle dans cette oeuvre, une âme d'apôtre doublée d'un grand talent descriptif.

STIJN (STREUVELS).—Poucette. (Editions Rieder, Paris, 1934.) Traduction du néerlandais par Mme. Betty Colin. C'est l'histoire de l'enfance de Poucette, c'est aussi la découverte du secret qui illumine l'âme de tous les enfants.

TOUSSEUL (JEAN).—Les Oiseaux de Passage. (Edition de Belgique, 1934.) Un isolé qui nous livre le fruit de sa solitude. Voici la preuve qu'un isolé peut être un écrivain éminemment social, profondément humain.

Medicine

BIGWOOD (E. J.).—L'Alimentation rationnelle et des besoins énergétiques d'une population ouvrière. (Editeurs: Institut de Sociologie Solvay, Bruxelles, 1934.) Mise au point excellente. Jamais ce sujet n'avait été traité de façon aussi précise par un chercheur aussi consciencieux.

BONZON.—Vagabondages philosophiques et sentimentaux en marge de la chirurgie. (Les Editions de Belgique, Bruxelles, 1934.) Toutes les teintes de la rêverie et de la fantaisie au travers desquelles transparait à chaque ligne un sens profond de l'humain.

DALCQ (ALBERT).—L'Organisation de l'oeuf chez les Chordés. (Gauthier-Villars, Paris, 1935. 322 pp., Fr. fr. 65.) Etude d'embryologie causale excellemment mise au point par une analyse précise des données les plus récentes, un aperçu de l'historique de toute la question et une critique qui en confronte les différentes théories. Le style sobre est d'une élégance rare dans l'exposé de questions aussi ardues.

DAUTREBANDE.—Les Gaz Toxiques. (Masson, Paris, 1933.) Devant les menaces de guerre qui s'accroissent à l'horizon, jamais un livre ne sera à ce point venu à son heure. Voici enfin une étude compétente, pratique et approfondie de cette question.

LA BARRE (JEAN).—Diabète et insulïnémie. (Masson, éditeur, Paris, 1933. 1 vol., 284 pp.) Avec beaucoup de sagacité et de sens critique, M. La Barre fait l'exposé de nos connaissances actuelles dans ce domaine. L'auteur s'appuie sur une bibliographie abondante et sur les expériences qu'il a poursuivies lui-même sur ce sujet.

Philosophy

DUPREEL (E.).—Traité de Morale. (Revue de l'Université, 50 Av. Nations, Bruxelles, 1932. 700 pp., 80 fr. b.)

FONTES (AMANDO).—Os Corumbas. (Schmidt Editora, Rio de Janeiro, 1933. $7.00 (mil. 7,000).) Roman descriptif du nord-est du Brésil, Sergipe. Cette oeuvre fut couronnée en 1933 par l'Association Felipe de Oliveira.

PEREIRA (LUCIA MIGUEL).—Em Surdina. (Ariel Editora Ltda., Rio de Janeiro, 1933. In-8, 367 pp., $7.00 (mil. 7,000).) Roman de société. L'auteur qui s'est fait remarquer par un précédent roman Maria Luiza, est plus spécialement connu comme critique littéraire.

DO REGO (JOSE LINS).—Menino de Engenho. Doidinho. (Ariel Editora Ltda., Rio de Janeiro, 1933. In-8, $5.00 (mil. 5,000) et $6.00 (mil. 6,000).) Deux romans, l'un est l'histoire d'un jeune garçon jusqu'à l'âge scolaire dans la campagne brésilienne où se cultive et se fabrique le sucre, l'autre traite de sa vie de collègue.

REIS (MANOEL).—A Gaivota. (Typ. do Journal do Comercio, Rio de Janeiro, 1933. In-4, 163 pp.) Contes, illustrations de Francisconi.

Law

LUTZ (BERTHA).—A nacionalidade da mulher casada. (Publié par la Fédération brésilienne pour le Progrès féminin, 1933.) L'auteur indique plusieurs articles qu'il conviendrait d'introduire dans la loi brésilienne, ainsi que des suggestions pour une entente internationale à ce sujet.

Psychology

UNITED STATES

Books about the United States compiled by the American Association of University Women

- BRAUNSCHVIG (MARCEL).—La Vie Américaine et ses leçons. (Paris, 1931.) Informative and intelligent book about America for French readers.
- CAZAMIAN (MADELEINE L.).—L'Autre Amérique. (Paris, 1931.) Intelligent and sympathetic presentation of American life and institutions by one who has spent much time in the United States.
- DYBOSKI.—Stany Zjednoczone Ameryki Polnocnej. (1930.) Has value as intelligent criticism.
- FISCHER (WALTHER).—Die englische Literatur der Vereinigten Staaten. (1929.) First German survey of development of American literature.
- LINATI (CARLO).—Scrittori Anglo-Americani d'oggi. (1932.) Interesting interpretations of English and American novelists.
- LLONA (VICTOR, Ed.).—Les Romanciers Américains. (1931.) Intended to give French readers a brief introduction to American novels and short stories. On the whole, commendable.
- MICHAUD (REGIS).—Ce qu'il faut connaître de l'âme américaine. (1929.) Result of residence in the United States for twenty years; a valuable effort to interpret American culture to the French.
- MOESCHLIN (FELIX).—Amerika vom Auto aus. (Zurich, Eugen Rentsch.) A Swiss view of America as gained on an automobile tour, in which certain prejudices disappear, certain economic defects appear.
- MOLLON (CHARLES).—Les Collèges et le Progrès du Libéralisme dans la Nouvelle Angleterre. (1929.) A vigorous and careful study of the intellectual and religious backgrounds of the American Revolution by a French scholar who has spent several years at Dartmouth and has had first-hand acquaintance with materials in the libraries of Dartmouth and Harvard.
- PAUUX (RENÉ).—Découverte des Américains. (1930.) Account of a rapid transcontinental trip over the United States.
- REINHARDT (WALTER).—George Washington: Die Geschichte einer Staatengründung. (1931.) First biography of George Washington by German author in his native tongue. Well-written and deserving of wide reading. Winner of Strassburger award.

SIEGFRIED (ANDRÉ).—Les Etats-Unis d'Aujourd'hui. (1927.)
Brilliant and authentic study of American civilization. In English as "America Comes of Age."

UHER (JAN).—Základy Americké Vychovy. (Prague, Cin Publishing Co., 1930.) "The Foundations of the American Education System." The author very fairly evaluates American educational tendencies, the close relation between school and life, etc. A rather valuable book.

VICUNA (PEDRO F.).—Los Estados Unidos. (Paris, "Le Livre Libre," 1932.) An important if conventional history of the United States with particular value in interpreting our international development.

HANDBUCH DER AMERIKAKUNDE. (1931.) Survey by eight experts of the principal interest and problems of contemporary America. Some errors occur but attitude is generally unbiassed and fair.
