Dear Miss Ford,

Your previous letter did not go astray - but I was travelling about in Austria & as I had no safe address had told my sister to hold up my correspondence till my return - and I only got it when I turned up in London. So please forgive delay - which was unavoidable.

I have nothing settled for November as yet, so if you will fix any date that suits you, I will book it. As regards subject - I should like to speak on something like "The need for Imagination in women - or The Lack of Imagination in women."

If you dont care for that another subject I am keen on at present is the Psychology of the Crowd - I have spoken on it once or twice lately & people have always been interested (and annoyed) by my views. Or if you wd prefer I can of course speak on something connected with the theatre

Yours sincerely
Cecily Hamilton
