November 3rd., 1913.

Dear Lady St. Davids,

I heard from Mrs. Fawcett some little time back that you were contemplating special Suffrage work in the East End of London, and this will be of great interest to my Society as we have been for some time concentrating trained workers efforts on working class populations. Our work in the East End has been particularly encouraging, and I should be so glad to give outlines of the schemes already in working order and those which have been proposed for future use if I might have an interview with you for this purpose. In this way we should avoid overlapping, and might be mutually helpful to each other.

I am obliged to go to Newcastle this week for the Council Meeting there, but I hope to be back in London next week, and would arrange a day and time to suit your convenience if it is possible for you to spare time to call here.

Yours truly,

P.S.
