Dear Mrs Fawcett

Thank you for your kind invitation for Dec. 30th. I hope very much to be able to come.

I want at this time to be allowed to express once again the affectionate regard which I must always have for you & your work. The women's movement in England is what it is because you have lived & Englishwomen are going still to be among the world's pioneers. Many things dear to us go under in war-time but the spirit of the women's movement will keep alive, I believe, & help to make a settlement in which all these things & more may emerge - Anyhow that's what we live for - And, dear Mrs Fawcett, if I do not always speak the same language as you, I think it is only language - You said I was "a good fighter" - One aspect of fighting I repudiate - I never intend to injure or hurt anyone, whatever I may do -

Yours affectionately
