

Dearest Lilla & Tom

Tell Dr. Drury that I have been able to give her lovely & precious message the hard labour & many grateful hearts. Mrs. S. B. thanks her husband for his message. They would not alone have the writing paper. They are so kind to letting me have my door open & look across & see they are the same to the lady Sted you about whose husband is a doctor. I don't put names or anything on initials. Lily says "Be sure & stick to it." any other thought is denied contempt. They have caught two people for letters so be careful - who does the watch belong to. There are 130 for sessions. Some may not get here until April - know not knowing. Miss Brackenbury is going out tomorrow & she is going to get greetings added to the house. also she will be able to get things perhaps. There is the Mutineers who are being sent to other prisons. They are afraid of a hungry strike starting. They did not send my tea yesterday. They ought to ask for the Thermo when they buy the tea.

Good friend I buy for the patterns.
I should like some or no potter seal.

(326)

Fawcett Library
27 Wilfred Street
London S.W.1.