My dear Kelly - I feel quite ashamed not to have acknowledged before this the receipt of your "Cambridge Letter", that interested me so much, I could not stop from reading it, though I was fully aware, I had to thank you for it.

What chiefly interested me, was the account of Jane Harrison's life and work at Cambridge, besides - of course - the fact of the splendid advance of our common Alma Mater in its great kind of bringing to the front the intellectual work of women. Now I have to thank you for another valuable gift, i.e. the announcement of it, for your card has forestalled its arrival. I shall of course read it with all the interest & confidence to take in English Culture, and all its productions.

So thank you very much for it in advance.
I cannot write more at present, it always meaning a great exertion to me. But please to believe me always Yours very gratefully Alicia von Cotta.
