Earl's

Albeit this is no letter writing day, yet I will scribble a line just to say that your two notes this morning receiv'd, reliev'd some fears we were beginning to entertain for your health. Our amiable and excellent Hoar's left us on Wednesday - we all regretted that our little mansion was not elastic, that we might let it at an occasion to have detain'd you with them but then I shou'd wish to let it back to its native little ones again when guests of a different character presented themselves.

I desired Mr. Hoar to subscribe to your Latin Leighton.

I said I did not know what it would be, but I thought about a guinea. — So he gave me five with his own name and those of his sons.
I also beg to be permitted to contribute five Pounds to the good work — or rather L^s 15 — for as Mr. A gave me 5 Guineas, the bill I have sent for him will be five shillings deficient.

You are very good to spare a little time for the two Chapters, in the hurry of departure — when you ^{mean} ^{return} try if you can give any guess about what time, humorously speaking, you think there is a probability, journeys, boyages, and visits included, I may reasonably look to receive, the two closing Chapters, the one a complete non-existent — Why I ask this, is, not from any undue impetence but because I think in about a fortnight I may try hard to send the first for Chapters to the Press — if I have a prospect not very remote of the two last — I grow rather more solicitous about the completion, as my health has been very inefficient ever since, and my complaints rather increase.

I do love and honour the Archbp. — would all were such May it please God to bless and preserve you by Land and by Water. — be often talk of you and always with equal pleasure and esteem.

Patty (who is also poorly) desires me to thank you in behalf of the redundant babe, and the grateful Mother, for your bountiful gift.

Assure M^r. La Touche of my most affectionate esteem and attachment, and say something kind for me to Miss Ferguson, for whom I feel a great kindness — Yours very Dear Sir very faithfully and sincerely
