My dear Daisy

Unless it has got into your press, you will be surprised to learn that I am going to be married.

You will I think remember
Helen Craggs in the WSPU.
She married Dr. McCombie
but he died in 1936.

My dear Esmeline used to say to me "The greatest Compliment a man can pay to his dead wife is to marry again"

So I feel I have her blessing in advance.

We are having the ceremony at Caxton Hall registry office on Thursday July 14 at 11.30.
It will be as quiet an affair as the press will allow.

I write this letter from the house of Isabel Seymour whom I think you will also remember. I bought with me the last 3 of your delicious peaches for her & her brother & sister.
With love
Your affectionate
Fred.
