My dear Mr. Hubbard
I feel I ought to have written you before but could not bring myself to do so. I now can only thank you for your very kind letter, I cannot tell you

Dear Friend I thought it was of you in the midst of your great sorrow to find time to break the sad news to me. & I thank you most
sincerely for having done so.

I fear you will have much to attend

to. so please do not think of writing ~~me~~ me just at present. I will be patient until you are quite
able to give me
the particulars

you so kindly promised

I fear your trip will not be terribly
pleasant & oh how we all wish you
here.

With this dispirited note

I am
Yours sincerely
J. H. [unclear]
