Aug. 23. 1890.

Dear Mrs. Fawcett

I believe I have been careless enough not to thank you for your kind note of July 27th. It is most kind of you to give the picture to the College, & I should most gladly have come to see it only that I had left London for good on the 22nd for the west coast of Wales. I shall hope to see it next term.

I have just procured Philippa's kind though rather unwilling consent, that a Bootmakers' Cooperative Association should call their special (lady's) boot
the "Fawcett boot" after her!
the Association is connected with the Oxford House, so the University connection is thought to give them a claim.

Yours very sincerely
Herbert Gladstone
