

Dear Sir

AL/3275

Having means of conveying this in a safe to Paris, I trouble you to let one of your people call at Trentel and hurry March Bookeller, and enquire for a ^{new} book of Madame Becker of Strasbourg intended for me but directed to be at the disposal of Mr. Huber of Hertville Germany. As soon as you get it you will have the goodness to forward it by Coach. I am rather anxious to see ^{it} for though a present from the Author

A volume, as before to the Works of Madame de Stael, a reply to me for my attack on the false views of religion of that very distinguished but very erroneous woman —

I look out now for every part, as it brings the (el mental) most interesting of all specimens of literature — a New Paper —

I am very sincerely
Yours

H. Mac
