Alphabetical index for coding occupations	1

The Revised index

1 This second edition of volume 2 of the Standard Occupational Classification incorporates changes to the job title index published in the 1990 version. The original index contained some 22,400 entries. This volume includes 2,084 changes, 918 additions, 436 deletions and 730 amendments to index entries, to deal with new job titles, changes in usage and some deletion of redundant titles. It now has just over 22,900 entries.

2 The notes on using the index to code occupation titles have been simplified to make them easier to use.

3 The layout of the index has been changed to present full textual description of occupations, rather than the complex indexing system used in the original volume.

Introduction to the Standard Occupational Classification

1 The Standard Occupational Classification manual comprises three volumes.

Volume 1 The structure of the classification with descriptions of the unit groups, it outlines SOC principles and concepts.

Volume 2 The coding index with the alphabetical list of job titles and notes on coding.

Volume 3 The derivation of the social classification and related topics.

The structure of the classification remains as published in volume 1. Only volume 2 has been revised to incorporate changes to the job title index and simplification of the notes on coding.

2 The index in the 1990 edition of SOC volume 2 followed the principles and layout style which were first adopted in the Classification of Occupations 1960 to improve the efficiency of clerical coding. The main principle is listing job titles in reverse word order, for example, 'Pest control inspector' will be found as 699 Inspector, control, pest.

This locates related titles in a single list and with a default code for cases where one code covers many variations. The index is compiled in this way so that the user only needs to search in one place. The principles underlying the index have been retained but the layout has been simplified. The new layout is easier to produce and use in computer look-up files. Although in printed form it may not be so easy on the eye as the layout in the original volume, it is presented in two columns per page instead of three, and in a slightly larger print size. The change in presentation, while still serving users of the published volume will assist the move towards automated occupation coding systems.

The revision process and effect of changes

1 Staff in the Occupation Information Unit have gathered information on new occupation titles from advertisements for job vacancies and scrutinised queries from all sources to identify changes to update the index. The two main sources are queries from allocating occupation codes for, the 1991 Census of Population, and

Deaths registration records.

2 The updating process has been conservative, one limitation being the structure of the classification itself. By concentrating on queries raised by users of the index there has been no large scale removal of little used or redundant entries.

3 All but a few of the amendments are very minor changes such as corrections to spelling, adding a plural ending to a word, changing a qualifying term from one category to another. About twenty index amendments are expected to make small changes to the numbers of persons coded to occupation unit groups.

4 The Occupation Information Unit holds a database of a one half per cent sample of records from the 1991 Census of Population which includes the write-in answers to the occupation question. Information held in this database has provided some evidence to indicate that the effects of changes are small. It has not been possible to assess the effects of inserting the new job titles to the index but a modest reduction in coding variability may be expected.

5 The quality of occupation statements, which varies between different data sets, affects coding outcomes. It must be stressed that the extent of the effects of the changes to the index will depend on the source of data being coded and profile of the population covered. For these reasons any estimates of the effects of the changes have not been included here but an explanation, based on the sample of 1991 Census of Population data, will be available in an OPCS Occupation Support Service User Guide.

Electronic version of the index

1 With the publication of this second edition the Occupation Information Unit is offering to supply the job title index as a computer file. This file cannot be used by itself as a means of coding occupation data, nor is this possible by simply combining an index file with word searching software. A set of logical rules must be applied. One means of doing so is provided in the Computer Assisted Standard Occupational Coding (CASOC) package<sup>1</sup>.

2 Users interested in a file of the job titles in the index are asked to request further information. Please see the detachable page inside the back cover, complete the Request for Information and send this form to the Occupation Information Unit. On receipt of the forms OIU staff will contact users to discuss their requirements.

Keeping in touch

1 The use of job titles changes over time and new titles are introduced. The Occupation Information Unit seeks to increase its knowledge of jobs, their titles and tasks. SOC users are invited to forward information which will help in the compilation of the job title index and feed into the work for the revision of the classification for SOC 2000.

Section 1 General notes

1.1 Indexing word

Occupation titles are arranged alphabetically under indexing words. The indexing word is the word which describes the job being done. Sometimes an occupation title is just a single word which links exactly to an index entry and therefore is simple to code, for example,

384 Actor
242 Solicitor

1.2 Non-indexing words

There are some descriptions for very general occupation titles that are not regarded as indexing words because they give no indication of the work being performed. These non-indexing words are:

Boy
Girl
Hand
Lad
Man
Woman
Workman
Worker

In such cases, the titles are indexed in natural word order, for example,

Barge hand is indexed under Barge
Farm worker is indexed under Farm
Social worker is indexed under Social

1.3 Reverse word order

The entries in the index generally appear in reverse word order, for example,

'Billiard table cushion maker' will be found under

824 Maker, cushion, table, billiard

There are a few exceptions to this, such as:

347 Teacher, Alexander technique
581 Mincer, sausage meat

1.4 Qualifying terms

Although some occupation titles can be coded solely from the indexing word, in most cases the title is made specific by words which are called qualifying terms. There are different types of qualifying terms.

1.4.1 Occupation qualifying terms

Terms shown separated from the indexing word by a comma are called occupation qualifying terms and must appear in the title being coded. For example, the index entry

392 Adviser, careers

should only be used where this is the title given.

Occupation qualifying terms are indexed in reverse word order, for example the occupation title 'medical laboratory scientific officer' is indexed as:

201 Officer, scientific, laboratory, medical

1.4.2 Industry and additional qualifying terms

These type of qualifying terms can be more freely interpreted than the strict observance of occupation qualifying terms. They may be used where they are part of the job title, or where they can be inferred from it, or they may have been provided in answer to a question other than one asking for details of a person's occupation. Some examples are shown in the notes which follow.

1.4.2a Industry qualifying terms

Industry qualifiers are shown within brackets and in italics and can take the form of an industry or branch of industry in which the person works. The abbreviation 'mfr' is used to cover manufacturing, making, building and repairing.

An example of the use of an industry qualifying term is the occupation description 'Tractor driver on a farm', which can be coded from the entry

901 Driver, tractor (agriculture)

It should be noted that the industry term food products mfr does not include flour confectionery mfr or sugar confectionery mfr.

1.4.2b Additional qualifying terms

Sometimes the qualifying term is more easily stated in terms of the type of material worked with; the machinery used or the process involved. These additional qualifying terms enable a number of specific terms to be summarised in a more general word and are shown in the index within brackets. Two examples of additional qualifiers are:

Occupation 'Steel drawer' which can be coded from the index entry

831 Drawer (metal)

by connecting steel to metal

Occupation 'Gold leaf cutter' can be coded from the index entry

518 Cutter, leaf (precious metals)

because the word 'Gold' can be inferred from precious metals.

Additional qualifying terms can also, in a few cases, take the form of professional qualifications to differentiate between occupations. Two examples are:

Occupation 'Cost Accountant' has the following entries:

- 410 Accountant, cost
- 251 Accountant, cost (qualified)

Occupation 'Thermal Engineer' has the following entries:

- 532 Engineer, thermal
- 219 Engineer, thermal (professional)

1.5 Default codes

Where a code number appears against an indexing word it is called a default code. This means that the code applies to all occupation titles which include the indexing word but which cannot be coded from any of the occupation qualifying term entries or any industrial or additional qualifying term entries. The following examples explain the default convention.

Occupation 'Gaming Cashier' can be coded from the default because 'gaming' is not in the list of occupation qualifying terms and none of the additional or industry qualifying terms relate to 'gaming'.

411 Cashier

For occupation 'School laboratory technician', the default index entry

300 Technician, laboratory

can be used since none of the entries for laboratory technician include the word 'school'. In the same way, occupation 'Sales office manager' can be coded from

139 Manager, office

because sales is not in the list of entries which include 'office manager' and so the default entry would be used. Note that the order of the words is significant. The index entries for

Manager, sales

must not be used for 'Sales office manager'.

Another example of use of a default code is the entry

958 Cleaner

There are several entries with additional or industrial qualifying terms, but if none of them apply or if only the general description 'Cleaner' is given, then the default code must be used.

1.6 Compound words

Compound words such as 'Postmaster', where the second part of the word could be used as an occupation title, are indexed under the second part of the word. Therefore, Postmaster is indexed under

131 Master, post

and Gamekeeper is indexed under

902 Keeper, game

Some very common terms have also been indexed in their natural word order, for example, Stockbroker under letter S and Coastguard under letter C.

1.7 Use of 'and', 'in', 'of', 'to'

Some occupation titles may be qualified by a clause following the indexing word, for example,

240 Clerk of the court

Titles like these are indexed in their alphabetical position at the end of the relevant indexing word, for example,

362 Inspector of taxes

is in the clause entries at the end of the Inspector list.

1.8 Use of 'nos' - not otherwise specified

The abbreviation nos is used to denote that the entry relates to the precise occupation title without further qualifying terms. For example, occupation mechanical engineer with no further information could be coded from,

840 Engineer, mechanical nos

1.9 Abbreviations

It is common for some occupation titles to be abbreviated and these abbreviations are indexed at the beginning of each relevant letter, for example, for Member of Parliament is in the list of abbreviations at the beginning of letter M,

100 MP

610 WPC

for Woman Police Constable is at the beginning of letter W

Grades or qualifications are included also as abbreviations, for example,

524 T2B (telecommunications)

1.10 CNC, NC

The abbreviations CNC and NC are qualifying terms which stand for computer numerically controlled, and numerically controlled. They are most often used with titles such as Press Setter, and Machine Setter.

1.11 Assistant, Chief, Deputy etc

Occupation titles prefixed by words such as 'assistant', 'chief', 'head', 'deputy', 'under', 'departmental', 'apprentice' are normally coded as though the prefix words were not present. For example, occupation 'Deputy accounts manager' is coded from

139 Manager, accounts

Occupation 'Assistant Funeral Director' is coded from

690 Director, funeral

There are a few exceptions where the coding is altered by such a qualifying word and in those instances the complete title is indexed. For example, the occupation 'assistant secretary' is coded from the list headed by

127 Secretary, assistant

but not from its default Secretary.

1.11.1

As well as prefixing a title, assistant can also be a title in its own right. For example, with the occupation 'Manager's assistant', assistant is the description of the work done and is therefore the indexing word and is coded from

430 Assistant, manager's

Similarly, 'Funeral director's assistant' is coded from

699 Assistant, director's, funeral

1.12 Large establishments

Some of the titles in the index refer to large establishments and these are defined as companies and organisations who employ 500 or more persons.

1.13 M, F

Some codes are prefixed by M or F to denote the employment statuses Manager and Foreman respectively and are used only for the coding of employment status. Employment status is needed to derive the social classifications. Volume 3 of the Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) explains the derivation of the social classifications.

Section 2 Coding conventions

2.1 Conversion to occupation title

Occupation information is not always given as an occupation title and sometimes the description has to be converted before it can be found in the index. Verbs or parts of verbs are normally converted to nouns except in the following instances:

Engineering
Banking
Catering
Building
Printing

For example, Engineering is not converted to Engineer and Banking is not converted to Banker but an occupation description such as 'packing' can be converted to 'Packer'.

2.2 Armed Forces

The most common terms for forces personnel are included in the index, for example,

Sergeant
Corporal
Commander etc.

Where the specific term is not given, for members of the UK armed forces, if officer rank is known, code to 150, otherwise code to 600.

Members of foreign and Commonwealth armed forces are coded to 151 if officers, otherwise to 601.

2.3 Diplomatic personnel

Members of foreign or Commonwealth diplomatic staffs are coded 100.

2.4 Polytechnic

To reflect changes in the educational system, the word polytechnic has been deleted from the revised index. If an occupation includes polytechnic use the index entry for university, for example,

'Polytechnic lecturer' is coded from

230 Lecturer, university

Section 3 Index entries which refer to notes

3.1 Apprentice/Graduate apprentice/Management trainee/Trainee

All persons in training for an occupation or profession should be coded to the relevant occupation or profession for which they are training.

In cases where it is not possible to determine the occupation or profession for which they are in training, the following conventions apply:

Unspecified apprentices code 599

Student apprentice } code 219
Graduate apprentice }

Management trainees code 199

3.2 Foreman

The following terms may be regarded as synonymous with Foreman:

Boss
Charge hand
Chargeman
Gaffer
Ganger
Headman
Overlooker
Overseer
Supervisor<sup>1</sup>

and also assistant foreman, assistant supervisor, etc.

All these terms are indexed in their own right but to aid coding also refer to the index entries for Foreman.

Descriptions for foreman which also include a specific occupation, for example foreman carpenter, are not indexed in the foreman entries but would be coded from the occupation specified. So foreman carpenter is coded from,

570 Carpenter

No index entries have been made for foreman over particular groups of workers, for example 'foreman of labourers'. This title is coded from the Labourer entries.

3.3 Manager

Persons managing a professional activity, such as the manager of a firm of training consultants, are coded to their appropriate professions.

'Works Superintendent' may be regarded as synonymous with 'Manager'.

3.4 Director/Company Director

Directors with specific titles, for example, sales director are coded as shown in the index. Unspecified directors, company directors are coded as follows,

(a) if another occupation is stated or professional qualifications are known they are coded to the appropriate occupation or profession

(b) if any industry information is available they are coded from the Manager entries with the appropriate industry

(c) if no other information is available they are coded to 199, or, if it is known they are a director of a large establishment to 101.

3.5 Chairman

Apart from the industry of glass blowing, where chairman is a specific job title, a chairman is regarded as a company chairman and coded as a Company Director (see note above)

3.6 President/Vice president

Persons describing their occupation as a 'Company president' or 'Vice president' are coded to 101.

3.7 Engineer

The job title engineer presents difficulty in coding because it is commonly used in a variety of circumstances. The index includes various specific engineers. If the title to be coded is prefixed by such terms as advisory, chief, chartered, consultant, design, development, research, senior, it can be assumed that the person is a professional engineer. In cases of doubt the person is regarded as non-professional.

Persons who state 'engineer' or 'mechanical engineer' without any indication of professional status are coded to 840. There are however, a few industries in which these terms are commonly used in a specific sense and these exceptions are shown in the Engineer, nos entries.

3.8 Journeyman

The word 'journeyman' is ignored when it is used with another occupation title. For example, Bookbinder journeyman is coded from,

562 Bookbinder

3.9 Leading hand

If another occupation is stated, code to that occupation. For example, 'Leading hand precision engineer' is coded from

517 Engineer, precision

When no other occupation is stated refer to the Leading hand index entries under L.

3.10 Teacher/Tutor

Teachers of recreational subjects at evening institutes and similar establishments, and private tutors of music and dancing, are coded to 239.

<sup>1</sup> The term 'Supervisor' is not always a synonym for Foreman. For example when used in the context of supervising children as with the occupation 'Playground supervisor'.

Dear SOC User

SOC job title index in electronic format

Since publication of the first edition of SOC volume 2 in 1990, the Occupation Information Unit (OIU) has received several enquiries from users keen to obtain the job title index in electronic format.

The OIU holds the updated index in electronic format as a PC database. This electronic format does not function as a coding package but if you are interested in purchasing the index in this format on diskette(s) please complete the slip below and send it to the Occupation Information Unit. With information on your intended use of the index. OIU staff will advise on whether or not the electronic format will serve your purpose.
