THE GENEVA INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS, 1930

in co-operation with the
BUREAU INTERNATIONAL D'ÉDUCATION

JULY 27—AUGUST 2

“Education for World Citizenship”

A Lecture Course for Teachers

THE INSTITUTE

The Geneva Institute of International Relations is governed by a Joint Committee of the League of Nations Union and the League of Nations Association (U.S.A.), together with members of the League of Nations Secretariat and International Labour Office. Its annual Summer Lecture Course is held in the League of Nations Council Chamber.

The Geneva Institute of International Relations

Advisory Academic Board in Great Britain :

Mr. P. J. NOEL BAKER, M.A., M.P., Professor ERNEST BARKER, D.Litt., Mr. J. R. M. BUTLER, M.V.O., C.B.E., M.A., Mr. G. LOWES DICKINSON, M.A., and the Master of Balliol, Mr. A. D. LINDSAY, C.B.E., M.A.

British Organising Committee :

The arrangements for members of the Institute from Great Britain are in the hands of a sub-committee of the League of Nations Union, consisting of Dr. MAXWELL GARNETT, Mr. C. W. JUDD, Miss A. H. TYNAN, and Mr. FREDERICK WHELEN.

The 1930 Session :

The Provisional Programme of Lectures for the 1930 Session is given below. Care has been taken to secure for each subject a recognised expert, and it is expected that the lectures will in each case be followed by discussion which should constitute an important part of the work of the Institute.

Lectures delivered at previous sessions of the Institute are published in Problems of Peace (Oxford University Press) and provide a useful background to the work of this year's session.

The Geneva Institute of International Relations is open to all English-speaking students of international affairs, but attendance at the lectures at the Bureau International d'Education is restricted to teachers or those about to teach.

Geneva is an excellent centre for lake and mountain excursions.
