Interview with Rev. C. Fleming Williams, Rector, Road Congregational Church.

Mr Fleming Williams is the well known proprietor Alderman of the L.C.C.

He is a man of striking presence: moderately tall, and of very broad and massive build. His face is distinctly handsome, and when he smiles the expression pleasant, though in repose he looks rather heavy and worried (but he was suffering from neuralgia). He has a splendid, massive head with light, curly hair, rather long behind and thinning on the top; with light beard and whiskers beginning to turn grey. Altogether he ~~is a man who~~ would strike one in any company as a man of mark.

He speaks (to my thinking) in a deep and beautiful voice; never for a moment does he hesitate for a word, and his talk, aided by the voice and the easy and expressive gesture, is often wonderfully eloquent. There is perhaps

Character of population.

something a little theatrical about him: at all events I could not help feeling that (as the stage carpenter said to Dickens) "it was a great loss to the world when you took to religion."

Mr Williams has been in London for 25 years, and at this Church for 12.

A non-con. minister in London and especially a congregational minister has no well defined district: his congregation is drawn from all quarters not by sermons or doctrinal doctrines but by the personality of a man. "I must say," as Wesley said, "the world is my parish." Still undoubtedly the bulk of my people are drawn from the locality. They are entirely lower middle class - people in the city & civil servants, teachers etc. Many of them of course are comfortably off, but the majority are struggling to keep up a position which they cannot afford. In all the suburbs of London, but especially perhaps in the belt north of Dalston this class swarms and their pinched lines are infinitely more pathetic than those of the so-called poor.

The only genuine poverty in Mr W's District is The Island, which lies immediately behind his church: its inhabitants are entirely "of the type embroiled by perpetual dependence on casual employment." In Mr W's opinion it is hopeless to think of making men of those who are only casually employed; "put a casual man into a permanent coat; give him a uniform or a badge, any token that he is something more than a casual, and there will be a complete change in his moral character".

None paid but Mr Williams. The 12 Deacons act as District visitors, and there are a large number of voluntary workers in connection with the numerous organisations under the Church.

HOURS OF DIVINE SERVICE.

Lord's Day.

Morning at Eleven. Evening at Seven.

The Lord's Supper, at which unfermented wine is used, is observed on the first Lord's Day in each month, at the close of the Morning and Evening Service alternately. Baptismal Service once in three months, January, April, July and October.

Week Day.

Wednesday Evenings at Eight o'clock.

The first part of this service is a Church Prayer Meeting, followed by the Pastor's address. A Prayer Meeting is also held on the third Sunday of each month, after the Evening Service.

The Pastor will be pleased to meet any friends wishing for an interview with him at the close of any of the Services, and also on Wednesdays from 7 till 8 p.m.

Church Members and seat holders are earnestly requested to report at once cases of illness and change of residence to the Church Secretary or one of the Deacons.

Sittings.

For the convenience of families and others in regular attendance, Sittings are allotted, which are reserved until the commencement of each Service; in other respects all seats are free.

Persons desiring Sittings are requested to apply to Mr. Fitzhenry at the conclusion of the Wednesday Evening Service.

Social Agencies

The average congregation is from 400 to 1000, but it varies considerably according to what is going on. The most popular service is the Question Service held once a month on Sunday evening, when Mr W. answers any question which reaches him before he goes into the pulpit. Questions are of all kinds, religious, ethical, political, social, exegetical. To all, with the exception of the last, he gives an extempore answer.

President and "appears when necessary" but leaves the working of them entirely to others. He takes a close interest and more prominent part in the Christian Social Reform League, a Society of 84 members, of which he is president, which during the past year has taken an active part in various political and social problems including Popular Education, Armenia, Temperance Work, Vestry Election, Water Famine etc, and has given Lectures, Concerts, and Entertainments almost every Saturday evening.

Sunday School with just over 300 children.

Mr. W. has no time for visiting, nor is there any visiting of the members of the Congregation, but the Deaconesses do a good deal of visiting among the poor of the District.

Little or no relief is given in the District but a good deal is done in the work at Hoxton, as to which see infra.

The work of the Church at Hoxton.

General influence of religion

Though recognizing the untold harm that is done by thoughtless giving Mr W. thinks it impossible to have any fixed rules: "it is entirely a question of personality: the whole thing depends on the character of the giver." "A gift to the most worthless and undeserving if given in the right spirit may be the means of reclaiming them." "Poverty is due to want of self respect, self reverence and can only be removed or alleviated by a moral change."

A Mission work is carried on at The Christian Institute, Hoxton Market to which we shall hear more from the Superintendent there.

Not 5 p.c. of the working classes run so to churches: but it is a mistake to say that they are not touched by religion: "they have an irrepressible faith in the value of a religious environment." Since the death of Bradlaugh, who kept alive an interest in Christian dogmatism, they are totally untouched by domestic discussion: nor

Do they take any interest in scholastic discussion, but they are being touched more and more by "purely moral sensitivities", and they all recognize the value of a religious training for their children; and yet as adults they hold entirely aloof from all religious observance. For this attitude there are two reasons; in the first place their conception of ethical obligation is much more stringent than that of other classes, they are much more exacting in expecting a religious man to make his life square with his opinions. They like their club with its pot of beer, its game of cards or billiards, and its bet on to-morrow's race; yet they look on these things as inconsistent with the religious life; and are profoundly unwilling to put up with the restraint which would deprive them of these things; and in every walk-shop that man is not a hero who defies religious restraints and is reckless in his life and conversation. [Yet when it comes to choosing leaders to fight their industrial battles they have to fall back on the religious man: "they trust but fear him."] Among the middle classes there is a social feeling that almost compels a man to put himself in connection with some Christian community, but with the working classes the feeling is all the other way. The second obstacle to the practice of religious observance is the question of expense: in any democratic or free church at all events such man has to assess himself for an amount which the working classes can little afford, and his instincts drive him into the democratic rather than the aristocratic (Episcopalian) or unipolitic (Roman) churches.

Among adults at all events the principles of the reformation and of protestantism are deeply rooted and in spite of his tremendous social activity - ("he is hiding the Pious behind the benevolent friend") - the ~~the~~ representative of authority, the High Church parson, will never do much with them: but with the children it is a different matter: the habits of religious thought and feeling contracted in childhood are almost ineffaceable, and the hold which the school of authority is obtaining ~~of~~ over the children is very great; and there is a real danger that they may grow into masses of unreasonable prejudice, prejudice-ridden like the inhabitants of Spain and Italy.

But though the idea of imposing an authoritative religion on the people is at the root of all the High Church activities, most of them are excellent men, much better than their creed. but with their asceticism, their fasting, their hours of solitary retreat for prayer, they live in a continual state of self-hypnotism.

As to all these social activities - "I would not stop one of them" - without them the lives of the poor would indeed be hopeless. They keep thousands from the pit of moral degradation; but what we want is "a more intelligent grasp of their real significance". There is too much tendency to dwell on their ecclesiastical ~~then~~ rather than their moral side.

There is a great deal of liking to bring people to the Churches. Ask: "Who are the worst offenders". CW: "Those that have the most Money: we can't do it: I don't know that we are any more virtuous." It is a distinct disadvantage to a Church to be wealthy: a wealthy Church is like a wealthy man "blinded in its sympathies." Quite apart from matters of doctrine this is why the democratic churches appeal more to the artisan and poorer classes than the Episcopal Church. They are self-sustaining churches composed almost entirely of people who are near enough to the poor to have a sympathetic understanding of their struggles. ["Nothing is more stupid than the denunciation of the middle class, snuff, suburbanism and so on: in the Church is the pick and strength of national life"]

The cooperation between the free and evangelical churches is cordial and complete: instead of cursing and denouncing one another as they ~~was~~ <sup>did</sup> 20 years ago they are now all working together, and forming as they do 2/3rd of the religious communities their power in the future must be enormous. But cooperation between the schools of freedom and authority is impossible:

Cooperation.

Local Government.

Police.

14
"they stand for opposed conceptions of the writings".

"I am proud of our public bodies in Hackney; the quality of the men is good: the moderators are able men". "The administrative atmosphere is very clean."

"The Board of Guardians are kindly, just and faithful". "They are men of large experience".

"I am much pleased with our Police. They have largely stopped solicitation in the streets and put-down brothels."

As to their relation with the Publicans: "If you had only archangels in the second formation they would be taking bribes". The Police are human like the rest of us and under the present system this is inevitable. "I have seen them being treated again and again, but I haven't the heart to report them". The only remedy is a Municipal control.

Drink

Drink is undoubtedly the cause of endless misery and destitution but to speak of it as the only or even the chief cause of poverty is absurd: on the whole it is on the increase: individuals are taking more: drunkards are probably on the increase: but the total consumption among the general population is certainly less. Its removal or comparative removal from every occasion of festal life, the marriage, the christening, the funeral, has been a great gain.

The artisan now drinks in his club ~~room~~ rather than in the public house and drinks less than he would in the public house; which is now chiefly given up to women, lower class labourers, loafers and prostitutes.

The Dards of Hope are telling enormously: "I would sooner see all other temperance work destroyed than the Dard of Hope."

Temperance statistics are hopeless unreliable for London: "all that the foreigner and the visitor drinks is put down to you and me"

Prostitution.

Drift.

16
Hackney Station is now the chief centre of prostitution, but open spaces like Hackney Downs swarm with young women who are not professional prostitutes and do not solicit, but who are utterly promiscuous in their attentions to the other sex.

"Drift is such a relative question: of course among the poor a great deal that is spent in beer might with advantage be spent in other ways, some of it perhaps saved; but there is no greater folly than to live an unnecessarily pinched existence: the best investment a father can make is in the bone, the sinew, and the brain of his children."

To go back to the question of drink even if you could at a stroke prevent the consumption of drink, though at first a large amount of money would be released for better purposes yet the ultimate and rapid result would be a fall in wages, possibly to the amount that had been saved from drink consumption: yet one hopes that this might be prevented by a better

Housing and Sanitation.

Improvement in London.

47
social opinion produced by greater sobriety" i.e.
where the working man now insists on a minimum wage which will provide for drink, he might under better conditions insist on a wage which would cover the luxuries which replaced drink.

The Island ought to come down, also the courts at the back of Dalston Police Station ("I shudder to think of them") but on the whole the housing and sanitation of Hackney is wonderful good. Hackney Wick and Clapton Park are relics of the days before the Building Act: now no building would not be allowed in such spots.
In Upper Clapton the houses are generally splendidly built, and among the local builders there is only one notorious scoundrel, "a man whose house you could walk right through with a heavy pair of boots"

The improvement in London in 24 years has been enormous: "the old drunken, sordid, sodden life is disappearing". The growing love

The man and his aim

of athletics, and especially of the cycle has been the greatest boon, not only to health but to true thrift. Nothing is better for a lad than to have to save for a cricket-bat or a cycle; it is all so much money taken from the public house.

Mr Williams has all the appearance of a genius and I believe him to be one. (This report of the interview is quite hopeless inadequate and he ought to be seen again: no written report can reproduce him). He is a man at whom the London press, being mostly Tory, delights in picking, and one goes to him to some extent with a preconceived opinion that he is a bit of a charlatan: no doubt he is by nature emotional, sentimental, impractical, possibly a bit of an actor, though I believe him on the whole to be a thoroughly * genuine man. Owing probably to his emotional nature his opinions are at times inconsistent and self-contradictory; but that the man has a brain of tremendous power I do not doubt.

Theologically he has drifted away from his old moorings; preaching originally "salvation of the blood of Jesus" he is now evidently one of the broadest of the broad school in the free churches:
 "membership of our Church is open to all who profess love to Jesus Christ and a desire to follow in his foot-steps. We ask no inquisitorial questions as to theological belief, recognizing as we do that religion is of the heart and not of the intellect - a life not a philosophy." "In our Church we attempt to exhibit the spirit of unselfishness to make ourselves useful."
 It is this spirit which has led Mr W. to the S.C.C. and to his interest in social and political movements: "my greatest aim has been to show that without a church, without a chapel, without a bible I could still, through the lessons taught by our social and political activities, lead people to the Highest; that we call God."

Interview with Mr J Bruce Wallace, of the Brotherhood Church - Southgate N.E., N.
22 Sept 1897

This church was Congregationalist & still rests on that foundation - It has an endowment of about £50 a year with an equal sum available for Charitable distribution - It had formerly a large congregation of well to do people, but these left the neighborhood & the congregation fell to pieces & finally <sup>5 or 6 years ago</sup> the post of minister was offered to Mr Bruce Wallace to do what he could with it - There was a considerable debt, & the buildings, consisting of Church, Lecture hall & school, were out of repair - He took it up as a Brotherhood Church & drawing no stipend lived as he could, earning a little money by teaching & writing - He has paid off the old debt, but having to spend £800 on the building they are now in debt again - The collections, however, now being in surplus to pay outgoings & interest - He now draws his stipend of 20/- a week being obliged to do so because of losses on the attempted establishment of a Co-operative store -

There is an organist who gives his services & even care taking & cleaning are partly done by volunteers

The church, which has galleries, can seat exactly 1000 - the lecture hall 350.

The school accommodates 100 with a separate class room for 30 more - all the buildings are together

The services are as shown on printed programme annexed - Attendance on Sunday morning about 100 - on Sunday evening 300 or more and the conference has a varying audience of from 100 upwards - An interesting subject & popular 'operas' may on occasion fill the place - Tom Mann for instance did - & Rev Hardy draws a large number

I suppose the morning services are like other Congregational services - doctrine being little insisted on - In the afternoon there is a short religious introduction - Prayers read & hymn & singing or if may be after this the audience come in for the "conference" which is the object of the meeting.

NO CLASS DISTINCTION.

AT Brotherhood Church all the seats are free. Come and sit where you like. You will be equally welcome whether rich or poor. The minister does not accept any salary from the congregation. The organist gives his services gratuitously. Even the work of cleaning and care-taking, including attending to the fires, is done mostly by unpaid volunteers—for love.

Inevitable incidental expenses, such as ground-rent, heating, lighting, printing, interest on renovation debt, and gradual extinction of the debt, can be raised, it is believed, without heavily burdening any, by means of voluntary contributions dropped into the collection boxes.

 Entrance Fee 6d. Subscription 1d. a week.

YOUNG WOMEN'S GUILD.

Hon. Secretaries : Miss F. M. Saul and Miss Wasserberger.
 Musical Drill ; Classes for Elocution, Painting, Nursing and Dressmaking; Reading Circle. Subscription 2d.
 monthly.

N.B.—Young people are welcome to join the Guilds for recreation even although they do not attend the Sunday Services or the Sunday School.

The conference is looked to for recruiting the church & the three Guilds - Boys - Young men & Young women - for binding the congregation together. But the Guilds also attract as one will bring in another to them - any one being free to come whether they attend the Sunday Services or not. The propaganda is brotherhood not dogma - the object a worthy life rather than "salvation" -

The greater proportion are young people. They do not come by families - individuals are attracted. Those they live with may go elsewhere or no where. They are not of the poorest but lower middle class - largely shop assistants or artisans.

New people continually come - only a small proportion join regularly. The growth has been very slow - disappointingly slow. The road to the religious feelings of the people has not yet been found. The Salvation Army succeeds in it to some extent

The Roman Catholics (I suggested the admitted) did succeed. The priests had spiritual powers & wielded an authority which the Anglican high church clergy in vain assumed.

Our churches are supposed to side with the rich - to go to church is to be a traitor to your class - this feeling underlies tagging for piety in the workshops & elsewhere. The road out of this lies (in Dr Wallace's view) in Christian Socialism - the dethronement of Mammon - the elimination of the profit motive - in cooperation & in brotherhood.

But he admits that he has not yet had much success & takes a gloomy view because of the lack of any moral ideals among the mass of the people - they are steeped in low ideas from youth upwards & cannot rise out of them - partly due to competition & the struggle with poverty

Here as every where, we find the little band of hearty adherents & workers - about a score he said - They are the organizers & managers of the guilds & to them he turns for consultation & suggestion & assistance. The latest addition are evening classes - in connection with "the Board" he called it - not the School Board - ~~the~~ the Science & Art Dept I suppose - The organist has a singing class & from this comes a choir in the winter - falling away in summer - but the people can all sing hymns.

His people are drawn from far as well as near - & the population move a good deal - the bond is not particularly local. The Sunday School was the only flourishing part of the church when he came & it has dwindled - The children come from the neighborhood & their parents <sup>usually</sup> have nothing to do with the church.

No regular visiting is undertaken - but if those who have been regular cease to attend they would be inquired after & looked after - Mr Wallace gets to know as many as he can - He does not know all - they come & go too much & does not attempt to know the Sunday School children - Sunday school is at the same time as the Conference more or less

The charitable trust fund of about £50 a year is absolutely in his control & is all given away but at times there is a balance as there are not those to whom it can be given - It is not run after - nor advertised in any way - Mr Wallace finds a great deal of sturdy independence that declines to ask or receive relief -

Mr Arnee Wallace is a most attractive Personality - a young man that is between 30 + 40 - + strikingly handsome. He is absolutely without pretensions - modest, earnest <sup>cultivated</sup> + unassuming. I do not know whether he is eloquent, but if he is I do not see how he could succeed in starting a brotherhood church if he cannot -

Before leaving I asked him what he understood by "Christian Socialism" and he told me his views - we discussed Mammon + Capital + profit + industrial relations for about 10 minutes + he talked very well -

Sunday School

With pleasure we report an increase of 36 in the number of scholars. At the same time we regret that the teachers are 4 less in number than 1895, and this after repeated efforts to fill up the vacancies. The decrease, no doubt, largely increases our difficulty in controlling the children. We stated last year that we looked to the Infants' class, then increasing, for the strengthening of the school, and now we have to face a still greater increase of the numbers dealt with, and also the necessity of relieving the class of some 18 or 20 of the older of these little ones, and placing them in the general portion of the school; but labourers are not forthcoming.

SEPARATE SERVICES.—Mr. Percy Merry was appointed Superintendent of the morning service, and has been carrying on the work with energy for some time, with an attendance averaging 20; whilst some 65 children on an average attend the evening meeting, which is under the superintendence of Mr. Chas. F. Heeps.

LIBRARY.—Mr. Thos. Denman succeeds Miss Tipper as librarian, the latter having had to give up the duties owing to ill-health. The books are now being used by 101 scholars.

Full statistics are given in Mr Medley's interview. (Book XVII. p. 90)

8.15 PM. Have been unsuccessful. Get as many as 40 or 50. Can fill the place for a Lantern Service but not for a gospel service. Nothing special: get just a few men.

6.30. Rough girls.

"A kind of club, open to anybody. Get the men but they don't come to the services."

The gymnasium is evidently appreciated. Mr B says that the Men's Club gave an entertainment at the chapel & performed "just like professionals".

The SUNDAY EVENING SERVICES FOR ADULTS have been continued during the year. Programmes of the Services have been distributed quarterly to every family in the district. A Harvest Thanksgiving Service was held in September, which was well attended; the fruit and flowers were sent to the sick in the district. A collection was taken in aid of the Children's Country Homes Fund. Services of Song have been rendered at intervals by the choirs of our own and two neighbouring Congregational churches—namely, Rectory Road and Clapton Park, and also by a specially arranged choir. Lantern Services have also been held, the slides having been shown by Mr. Hodges, who kindly lent his lantern. A Temperance Address was delivered on Temperance Sunday by the Rev. R. O. Johns, of Dalston, and the other services have been conducted by various friends.

The meetings have been fairly well attended altho' rooms by no means been full.

The interest in the MOTHERS' MEETINGS seems to have been well sustained during the year, old members attending regularly, and several new and younger mothers having joined; 49 meetings have been held, including the Annual Tea on January 20th, and the Excursion to Southend, June 15th. There are 74 names now on the roll, the average attendance being 32. The outlook for 1897 seems hopeful; 44 were present on the first Monday, three being newcomers.

The GIRLS' SEWING CLASS, under the superintendence of Miss Griffiths and Miss Aldis, held twenty-six meetings during the winter, with an average attendance of sixty girls. The number of garments cut out by Miss Aldis was 236.

The MEN'S FRIENDLY INSTITUTE is open on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings from 8 to 9.45.

The members are occupied with the usual games, and, when feeling possessed of sufficient energy, in the gymnasium. Our gymnastic instructor attends on Friday evenings. On Wednesday evening the gymnasium is closed to the men, and in their place we invite the boys from the Sunday-school who, by their good behaviour on the Sunday previous, have deserved the privilege.

From Rendlesham Rooms they have a few additions to the Church. More Mr B. thinks than from the Waterloo Rooms. It is difficult to get at the men. The Mission however brings them into touch with the poor.

Mr Bearn also mentioned the hostile attitude of Christ Church, Rendlesham Road. " Says that we are preaching damnable heresy".

Personal Note

Historical Note

Interview with Rev<sup>d</sup> R. O. Johns. Minister of (Ashwin Street) Dalston Junction Baptist Church.
Private address: 18 Queensdown Road, N.E.

Mr Johns is a tall slim man of 33 years old but looking younger. Quick in his movements and speaking rapidly, the rapidity of his speech accelerating with his interest in the subject under discussion, he impresses one as an energetic and restless individual. He is a fluent talker, well educated & never at a loss for a word. A man likely to be popular with young people, of whom a large proportion of his congregation are said to consist.

The Church at Ashwin Street was started about 30 years ago. It was in low water for some time & then a Mr W.H. Burton took the pastorate. He ~~was~~ was there (12 years) until his death & practically made the Church. His mark is still strong upon the district & altho' another pastor intervened between Mr Johns & him, the Chapel is still spoken of by some as 'Burton's Chapel.'

Church Membership

The Congregation

Character of Population

At December 1896, the Church membership numbered 587 an increase of 85 on December 1895, while in the text of the Pastor's letter ~~for~~ printed in the Manual (1896) Mr Johns ~~says~~ says that the number "as we write" is 650, ~~at~~ At his house he told me 700 (Sept 1896). These numbers showing a rapid & continuous increase.

The congregation is mainly drawn from a radius of half a mile of the chapel but not from the immediate neighbourhood, where the people are not a church-going folk. They are respectful, will come when asked specially, but do not attend regularly.

Character of Population is mixed: some very poor and others comfortable. Jews are migrating into the district: Dalston is becoming a sort of West End for the East End Jew. They take the better class houses. Have no abject poor in Dalston. Where the people are really poor, it is the result of vice or drunkenness. Poorest part is the street near Chapel. between Dalston Lane & Railway.

Persons Employed

Minister only salaried worker. No paid agents. 8 deacons 7 elders; 14 visitors, latter are responsible for visitation of church & congregation. Church exp. has entry "Ministry" £521 - stipend probably £500, the balance for supplies.

Buildings Used

Chapel seats 1250. Schoolroom 600 to 700.
and 2 vestries. Infant Class room - 60 infants.
No mission at present but are arranging to take

Other Agencies connected with the Church are:-
The Open air & Lodging House Mission, which works in the adjoining streets. Holds a service every Sunday morning on the streets & Sunday night in the Lodging house in Sheet. Two open air meetings on Sunday evening at corners of Bolpyn Road and Ridley Road.

Tract & Benevolent Society visits from house to house in the district leaving tracts (Friendly Greetings) at each (19000 in 1896) Also distributes the Church's localized Magazine. 11 visitors, who are expected to make reports as to cases of poverty etc. Nearly all are also engaged in Sunday School.

Pastor visits cases of special need only. Have 4 wardens whose duty it is to notice any who are absent from the services & arrange for visitation by one of the visitors (14). Cases of illness are reported.

Church relieves its own poor as far as it can from the Communion Fund. £80 collected in 1896. of which £71 went to poor. Make special collections for special cases by forming a circle of those who know the persons

Thus in the case of a man (aged 35) a member of the church, his wife & several children. A circle has been formed of persons who know him & have promised 6<sup>d</sup> a week toward his support. One of the members acts as secretary & collects the amounts. These do not pass through the church accounts. Man has about 5<sup>d</sup> a week in money.

Give Christmas dinners to poor at Christmas. Funds obtained by means of a concert.

In cases requiring nursing and other cases of sickness & want, Mr John communicates with Mr C. L. Young, a guardian, who is also a member of his church & between them the cases are attended to.

Poor law & local government "almost perfection in Dalston. Very well worked.

Police are very good.

Prostitution - a lot in a quiet way. Some bad houses in Woodland Street & Rosbery Place.

At Hackney Downs (Mr J's house faces the Downs) scenes of the most unblushing prostitution can be seen.

It is better now than 2 years ago, when you could not pass along the front of the frozen schools without being accosted by half a dozen women.

Now there are two policemen on fixed duty.

Mr Johns does not think the district will sink

A Half way House.

Various notes

Secret of Success

Jyssem Sheet Costers

sink any lower than it has, nor will the difficulties of church work be greater than they are now. "They are 10 times greater than they were 20 years ago". The only uncertain point is the Jews. If they don't come in, all will be well. In the other event, church difficulties will increase.

Mr Johns reckons his church a sort of half way house between Shoreditch Tabernacle and Woodberry Down church. People come from Shoreditch and go to Woodberry Down. Young people settle down at Leyton or near the Forest.

Mr Johns is somewhat proud of his large congregation. Told how Mr Sanders suggested that he & Mr Le Pla should amalgamate their forces - "he has the building & you have the congregation". The secret of success has been the genial feeling of the people. Everybody is welcomed. Nobody has allowed to go out without being spoken to.

Talking of the Jyssem Sheet District, Mr ~~Le Pla~~ Johns said that some of the Costers make more money money than the shops in the neighbourhood. When the costers were moved from the High Street it was discovered that one of them was doing more than Cohen the fruiterer at the corner of Dalston Lane. These costers help each other. John knows several of them. He goes to lodging house occasionally.

We should see Dr F. H. Daly, 185 Ansdurst Road. Can use Mr John's name.

The Church is evidently the centre of great activity and is probably a growing power in the district. It is handicapped by the inadequacy of its buildings and their out-of-the-way position

fls

Mr John also pointed out that while Dalston Junction is a great centre of population & a natural centre also, it is removed from all the centres of local life & their accompaniment - baths, libraries etc. He thinks that it should be a centre of local life - have a town hall etc so that municipal & parochial facilities might cluster round it

Interview with Rev<sup>d</sup> H. Norwell M.A. Minister of Islington Presbyterian Church, Colebrooke Row.

Private address: 7 St Mary's Rd, Canonbury.

Mr Norwell is a quiet cultured gentleman of 30 to 40 years of age. Of medium height & build, he has the appearance of a student and altho' he wears the clerical garb, his pleasant face and winning manner make up an attractive personality. He is full of enthusiasm as to the work amongst the young people who form a large part of his congregation and is probably popular with them. At the same time he struck me as a very humble minded man, while speaking of their work there was no tinge of pride at what had been accomplished or of jealousy of those not working in the same district, of whom he spoke highly whilst admitting that tested only by church attendance they failed to reach the people.

The bulk of the congregation come from this neighbourhood (e.g. Canonbury). A large proportion of ~~sch~~ Scotch people. The proportion of English was greater in his predecessor's time (Rev Thain Davidson). He had been here 30 yrs and had a London reputation. The great feature of the congregation is the number of young people, most of whom are employed in City warehouses, Hitchcock, William & Co, Pawson & Seaf. Great many also in the Post office, both males & females. All are living in apartments either the lodging houses of the great warehouses or privately. They group themselves in twos & threes. As an instance he mentioned 6 young ladies who came from Scotland & have just got into the Post Office. two are female clerks earning £60 to £70 a year & the others sorters & telegraphists earning under 20/- a week. They have a sitting room & he thinks 3 bed rooms. Great many come from Scotland & north of Ireland.

Asked whether any means were taken to reach these young people as they came to London, he replied that they had tried to get information sent to them <sup>systematically</sup> as to the coming of these young people but it was not done as it should being owing to the incorrigible laziness of the ministers. Wanted to introduce a little ticket on which the name & address of the new comers could be written & the paper sent to the nearest minister or the office of the London presbytery.

They held two social meetings for the young people, one in October & the other in March and circulated invitations in the warehouses. These were the times when the new hands were taken on at the warehouses. I found them very useful: had just had the October meeting and there were 30 to 40 fresh men there. They are mostly brought by the others in the warehouses, who give personal invitations and as a rule they come to London through the influence of some acquaintance here.

People living around the church are the better class of artisans earning wages up to about 40/-. All sublet their houses. There are also a great number of lodging houses.

The Church seating 750 people. An old building with Church hall below and vestries. The hall seats 150 but can be increased to 250 by removing temporary partition. A paragraph in the annual report speaks of the renovation of the church & the installation of the electric light, which "has not only improved the appearance of the church but also added to the comfort of the worshippers by reducing the intense heat during the evening service".

They also hire two Board schools for Sunday school purposes (William St, Clerkenwell and Moreland Street, City Road).
(St Luke's)

Persons employed

Minister only one paid (Stipend £500). Had a City Missionary but didn't find it answer and his support was a strain upon the finances. Have a large number of voluntary workers. The young fellows are very enthusiastic.

Congregation used to be greater in the morning than evening but now that condition is reversed. Sunday morning about 400 and evening 500. Collections on Sundays are increasing and from this Mr N. infers an increasing congregation. Occasionally the church seems well filled.

Sunday schools contain about 700 scholars + 70 teachers. In the Congregational school about half the children belong to parents <sup>who</sup> while not coming to church themselves desire that their children should be religiously brought up. Other children of members. The three schools differs in character of children and methods. The church school has no 'picnic' and if they have any thing special they pay for it. Wilmington school pay a little toward the treat; at Moreland Street they pay nothing. I

The children's dress is very different. Notice the poorer clothing as you go from one school to the other. Most of the children at Wilmington belong to people in regular employment. At Moreland Street they are verging on the lowest type - more of a gutter tribe.

Schools are doing good work: some of the children join the church as they grow up. Admitted 5 from Wilmington Street at the last communion. Don't get ~~so~~ many from Moreland.

Mothers' Meeting. At least 100 of the genuine residential people. Have clothing & coal clubs.

Christian Endeavour society - new and active. 60 members
Wednesday service - 40 attend.

Temperance Meeting. does not touch the congregation or outside public - get the temperance people only. Has known them to distribute 10,000 handbills for a first rate meeting - good speakers like Mr Rae (Sec of National Temperance League I think. 1907), singing by National Temperance choir and not get more than a dozen strangers to the meeting.

In his own parish (<sup>St Peter's</sup> ~~St Peter's~~) there are 15000 people. but don't know any church that is touching them to any extent, although there are the R.C.'s, Irvingites & his own. The attendance at the parish church is good - quite full. Have 4 curates and they work hard and extremely well visit every house.

Congregational (Matthew Smith) in Britannia Row. a mission church & workers do well. Mr S. takes an interest in all local matters.

Might also see Mr John Crabb. L. C. M. working amongst the cabmen in the district. He lives at 7 Alma Road, St Pauls Road.

Upon the social subjects, Mr N. did not care to speak, remarking that we knew more on those points than he did.

One thing he noticed in the changes that were taking place is the breaking down of the family life. Noticed it in his congregation, which was becoming more and more a gathering of units with a personal attachment to the place.

Thinks the movement general: ~~the~~ parental authority has become lax & the children go where they will. Knows dozens of cases of father & mother attending different places of worship. Mentioned a family of which the father & mother went to <sup>different</sup> close Baptist churches, one daughter comes to his church and another goes to Highbury Quadrant (Cong<sup>l</sup>).

Referring to the change he said that 15 years ago it was impossible to get a sitting at this church. You had to wait for it & the lowest seat rents were 5/6 to 7/6 each. A residuum of these well to do people remain, but those who come now are not able to take a sitting or give much smaller amounts. In the year book the people are urged to take sittings and "special arrangements are made with young people and families."

Of his work here, Mr. N. regards that amongst the young people as the most hopeful and most important and he appears to have had a fair measure of success in reaching these folk but evidently suffers still from the removal of former supporters. During 1896 he lost three elders by removal & one by death.

Mr Jones is a fair man with high forehead and heavy mustache, otherwise his face is clear and bright. Looks about 45 but may be older.
He has been here for 17 years and at once began to speak of the old time Islington & its changes. He is a clear thinker and ready speaker and is a popular man in the Baptist denomination. He was President of the London Baptist Association in 1896.

His church has worked the surrounding streets and buildings around the Chapel but with indifferent success.
They distribute invitations within a radius of half a mile but draw most of their congregation from the outer streets e.g. the Pent streets on either side of the Essex Road & beyond the Popsham Road blue patch. They had worked the buildings in Britannia Row but have not more than a dozen people in church membership coming from those blocks. When people get into the Blocks, they seem to become more indifferent. The ground occupied by these buildings ~~was~~ is the site of Angler's Gardens, a number of poor small houses, of which Elliotts Court is the only place that will give an idea of them. Gardens. Many Jews in Canonbury.

Congregation consists of better class working people, artisans, "placemen" e.g. men in regular work and earning a regular wage as distinguished from men paid by the hour or day. Very few middleclass. Used to be very good - quite aristocratic but has now gone down. Keep on dismissing people to Highbury and he has a number of people living off the Holloway Road who legitimately belong to Highbury but the old associations bring them to Islington still.

Membership of the church has been diminishing recently as altho' they admit members they lose more by transfers. Number now about 300.

Cross Street Chapel seating. School and classrooms. holds about 400. "One of the finest school rooms in Islington."

Have a good Sunday school 400- to 500 children. Get the better class children. Nothing aristocratic but we have to be careful - when you introduce the other element you drive the better class out.

A great many of the poorer children attend the Sunday evening service. Mr J. will not have them excluded. A place is allotted to them in the gallery and some workers are appointed to sit with them.

Mothers Meeting on Monday. About 30. Have a clothing club + obtain clothes at reduced rates. They are the women from the poor streets. Mr J. does not think highly of the mothers or the meeting. " Miserable thing this mothers' meeting. The women go to two or three, in spite of all you can do to prevent it. These mothers are the most hardened set of ~~women~~ people that come under Christian influence. Come for what they can get."

Young Men's Literary & debating society meets on Tuesday evenings during the winter.

Has a Poor Relief Fund available to any poor folk. Cases are investigated by the Committee. Also Communion Fund for the poor of the Church. Former amounts to about £14 a year & the latter to £30 or £40.

Mr Jones visits all cases of sickness and his visitors go from house to house with tracts. Sometime ago co-operated with C.O. S. supplied visitors to visit Peckering Street for provident purpose. It has fallen through now. The visitors left or fell off & the C.O. S. did not ask for others in their stead. ~~Some~~ District visitation appears to have fallen off in the neighbourhood. Sometime ago Mr J. heard that 5 bodies were visiting Peabody Blags. Can't say it is the case now. Difficult to ascertain how many actually visit as the people say "nobody visits them" but I don't think that is true.

The Medical Mission in Windsor Road (connected with Mildmay Conference Hall) is a centre of good work. The best work is done by St Peter's Islington. Work very hard indeed - more like the Salvation Army; parade the streets with a drum.

Its District

Population

Churches

Islington, and suggested for consideration, that each Church should be responsible for a certain area of streets for visitation purposes, though by no means restricting her work within that particular area".

The following extracts are from this Report: -

Report by the Rev. F. A. JONES.

The Islington Free Church Council area includes the whole of the Parish of Islington, together with a small district in the South, completing the boundary to the Pentonville Road, and an undefined district on the North West, described as Finsbury Park.

The Parish of Islington has a population of about 340,000, larger than any other London parish by 52,000. The area with which this Council has to do, may therefore be said to contain at least 350,000 souls.

The district, as a place of residence, has a long history, for according to some authorities London had its origin in a village of the ancient Britons, which stood upon the site of the present Islington; but its modern growth like that of the Metropolis generally is astounding. In 1817, exactly 80 years ago, the same area included only 1,200 houses, to-day they number in round figures 40,000.

The Established Church is represented by 43 churches, though only 38 of them are reckoned as districts.

Our Free Church Council includes at present in union with us, either wholly or partially, 32 Churches. 13 others have been invited but have not given in their adhesion as yet, 3 of these having joined another Council.

Add to these 13 other places of worship, Unitarian, Roman Catholic, &c., with about 10 Mission Chapels, independent of any other Church, and the total number of buildings open for Worship, without reckoning dependent missions, is 111.

One of the first suggestions brought before the Council is for the systematic visitation of this great area, and it has been thought desirable that some of the principal points for consideration in attempting such a work should be noted.

The basis for calculation is found in the fact that we have to deal with about 40,000 houses, taking the number of rated occupiers as furnishing a fair criterion.

Our 32 Churches may fairly be reckoned as 35 for this purpose, as the 3 Churches within the area who have joined the Hornsey Council would either be reckoned to have districts not under our jurisdiction, or would co-operate with us for this purpose.

We should require, then, an average of 23 visitors from each Church, reckoning 50 houses to each visitor, quite a possible approximation if 4 days in one week could be given by each visitor and 12 to 13 visits per day paid.

As nearly as one can calculate the membership of our Churches, from the delegates sent to the Council, this estimate would require each Church to appoint visitors in the ratio of one visitor to every 10 of its membership.

It would be necessary to make some division of the Parish for this purpose, and there are so many urgent reasons for making these divisions permanent so that each Church may have an area of special responsibility in its immediate neighbourhood, that the immediate arrangement of Free Church Parishes is one of the first matters your executive desire to give consideration to.

In such apportionment it is distinctly to be understood that not the slightest limitation is intended to be placed on service rendered by the Churches, either in visitation for religious or philanthropic purposes or in the area within which “Cawass will be made by the Churches for their own special purposes, but only that in such united work as may be arranged by mutual consent each Church may know the area in which its labours are then specially required”.

The Drainage Co.

He goes on to say that of the 38 ecclesiastical parishes there are 13 in which no Free Church is situated. Had it been possible to follow the ecclesiastical parishes boundaries ~~this division~~ possible to follow this division would have great advantages in any efforts for administration of relief, and might have tended towards co-operation in other matters, a co-operation more possible in such an Evangelical parish as Islington is, as far as the Established Church is concerned.

From these facts it would appear that our only alternative is to devise parishes of our own, with boundaries agreed upon after careful consultation with all the churches concerned. A little ingenuity might enable us to respect either the existing municipal or ecclesiastical districts if it were judged desirable to incline in either direction, but they are of such a nature that it would be practically impossible to regard both in any one scheme.

The arrangement suggested above has been carried out & each church had a district allotted to it, the principle followed being that of giving a population to each church proportionate to its membership, and also care has been taken that such district should contain the church & be as near it as possible. Each ~~district~~<sup>church</sup> has had a map of its district and has visited it for the special purpose. Mr Jones hopes that these areas will gradually become recognized as Church districts, Some slight alterations will probably be made but they will not affect the division greatly. Three or four churches are not satisfied with their districts. When these matters are arranged they will issue a map.

Local secretaries have been appointed at each church & upon these devolves the details of work within that area.

In St Pauls a Council is already in operation and has completed its organization & issued a map. The Secretary is Rev Herwood Allen, 49 St Augustines Road.

Mr. C. P. Merriam, Secretary of Norton R. Ragged Schools, lives in a big house in Highbury New Park, & is evidently well off. He is in business in East London, & only goes to the Mission on Sundays, when he conducts a men's class. He describes himself as the business man of the concern - looks after the finances, &c., & leaves to others the detailed work.

The work here comprises a ragged school & mission, financially distinct but otherwise co-operating together. Both have a semi-official connection with Union Chapel, Islington (of wh. Mr. P. himself is a member), but they do not receive official support financially, the theory being that this & the 2 other missions wh. Union Chapel has shd. be self supporting. They are, however, largely helped by subscriptions & collections amongst the members of Union Chapel, whilst the salary of the missionary is mainly paid by the London City Mission, & the Ragged School Union gives £20 a year to the schools.

The Royal Schools are carried on actively by a band of voluntary workers.

The mission was established 40 years ago in Wards Place was by, & has carried out its work with more or less success amongst a poor & somewhat indifferent population. Its chief efforts are amongst the children, who come gladly & eagerly, but it also succeeds in filling the mission room on Sunday afternoon & evening, besides having a fairly attended men's service in the afternoon. The latter has declined somewhat since the death 3 years ago of its old leader, a man who spared neither money nor trouble to make it a success, & who was greatly liked. Any member in difficulty was sure of his help.

 Sunday evg is the most important time in the week, nearly all the rooms being full with services, Sunday schools, & Bible classes.
 As to the proportion of the people influenced, or the general results of it all, Mr. Munnin says it is extremely difficult to tell. There has been some growth in attendance & in membership during his 14 years connection with the work, but he regards neither as a satisfactory fact. So much of the influence is indirect.
 Their final object is to induce people to lead a religious life, & if they get them to attend properly any sort of place of worship they count it success; nor, if they <sup>but</sup> wear any to a better mode of life - make them more temperate, cleanly, &c. - <sup>unless brought to a religious life also!</sup> but a partial success. Mr. M. mentioned one or two instances of triumphant achievement - such as the assistant Secy, who was a child at the Kaffir School, & who now, apart from his own successful business, gave his whole heart to the work, & took the entire charge of the children's County holiday scheme, referred to later. He is sure of the good achieved by mission work (for one thing, in bringing rich & poor more closely in touch), & of the benefit it has, by to the poor in brightening & improving their lives, but they all feel disheartened at times with the religious results of those who come in, some - nobody can say how many - probably do so for what they can get.

Besides the missionary, the only paid person employed is a Bible woman, who divides her time between this mission & Union Church itself. There are in all about 60 voluntary workers, most of whom teach in the Sunday Schools, but ~~also~~ help with the various social agencies also.

There are 3 buildings: - a mission hall with rooms under; a school with class rooms; & a building wh. was erected for the men's services.

Services are held in the mission hall on Sunday afternoon or evening or one night a week. There are also men's services on Sunday. (Mr. M. promises to send on the return of attendances, etc., at mission or Sunday School.)

The usual adjuncts of a mission school - penny bank, provident club, Band of Hope, mothers meeting, <sup>girls sewing classes</sup> young men's club & gymnasium - are carried on or are generally thriving.

A special feature of the work is the Children's County Holiday Scheme, which was started 10 years ago. For the last 3 years they have had a home of their own at Rayleigh, Essex, accommodating 50 children. The children's parents or friends pay about 40% of the cost, the remainder being raised by a special fund. This holiday is naturally limited to children who come to the meetings, or regular attendance wd. give a preferential claim, is a rule. They have not, of course, the means of sending the children of the neighborhood generally.

Probably not more than £25 a year is given in charitable relief, & this comes direct from the Union Chapel Benevolent Fund. It is very carefully administered - they find they must be very careful - the missionary having to fully report all cases to the deacons in each case. It is not likely there wd. be much overlapping with other agencies, altho they work quite independently. Personally he wd. prefer working with the C.M.S., but many of their friends dislike that Society.

St. Matthew's Church is active, & so is the mission in Britannia Row, near by. He shd. say the district is being thoroughly worked from a religious point of view.

Mr Gandy, Assistant to Mrs R. M. Hamilton.

Minister of the Catholic Apostolic Church, ~~River House,~~
Duncan Street, Islington. N.

In reply to the first letter the following card was received:

Cath. Ap. Ch. Duncan St., N. Oct. 12. 1897.
Dear Sir, Our work is personal & individual: we are not connected with associations religious, political, or social. There our work cannot form the basis of any statistics. Our experience tends contrary to the great present change from benefit clubs into fighting majorities. I think all connected with me here are in dread of the tyranny of the men's leaders, and we deem that God in mercy has hitherto kept such movements from becoming international & universal. If they do, the state of things depicted in Rev. xiii. evd, must come about, & all true liberty be gone.
Yours faithfully, R. M. Hamilton.

In reply to a further letter, Mr Hamilton said that his assistant would see me. I went expecting to meet a man of the L. C. Mission type. I found Mr Gandy a well dressed man of 40 to 45 with a bearded, pleasant face: a strong & cultured personality combined with a quiet, restrained manner.

The Testimony of the Catholic Apostolic Church

The interview took place at River House, a large double-fronted house, almost hidden behind the church and widely used, at least so far as the ground floor, for church purpose. The room was bare: a table two or three wooden chairs, a plain desk & bookshelves and some tall plain wooden cupboards, which looked as if intended for keeping robes.

Mr Gandy was quite courteous but would not make any statement involving figures, not even ~~the~~ such as the number of persons. I felt at first that it was useless to go over the usual questions and we began to talk about the position of the C. A. Church & its work and I shall endeavor to give the gist of the talk occasionally quoting his words.

"Our testimony is that the Lord has sent apostles to his Church in these days". These apostles were called like those in the days of the early church when the Holy Spirit said "separate me Barnabas & Saul for the work" etc. Only one of these apostles is now living and they cannot know whether any more will be appointed.

The Second advent of Christ is one of truths for to which they specially & strongly hold. They were responsible for giving their testimony but not for the

The audience varies: if they take a big place like the Holborn Town Hall they have a large attendance but at smaller or less known places it varies. Get believers and a good proportion of other people.

I have noticed ~~some~~ placards announcing these meetings in different parts of London for the past 3 years. The bills are printed very plainly and boldly and begin "A solemn testimony to the approaching advent of our Lord Jesus Christ". Usually four lectures are given - one a week. and the only differences in the announcements are the place and date of the meetings. A series are now being given at the Enfield Road Board School, St Beavon's Town on Thursdays at 8 PM gradually he became more communicative, evidently feeling that idle & curiosity was not the inspiring motive and seeing the question paper he said "Yes, I will answer them". Taking it in his hand he went through the list: -

The Church. Christ intended the church to be pure & if it were so it could cope with these evils. Consequently they regard the purification of the church as the most important thing.

The Ch. A. Church has no published official year book or returns. Mr G. lent me a copy of their liturgy. Its first page title is simply "The Liturgy and Divine offices of the Church". From this I gather that they ~~are~~ hold strong evangelical views and combine them with an elaborate ritual. No notice is taken of Saints days but special prayers are given for the days that commemorate events in the life of our Lord such as Easter & Ascension day.

During the interview I formed a high opinion of Mr Gandy (notwithstanding the comparatively ~~was~~ unprofitable nature of the interview). A man with clear views of his own as to life and evidently living in accordance with those views, his influence upon those he meets, whether in his own communion or not, cannot but be good. As to the Church, its influence is probably very strong amongst its own people, but it would be very difficult to estimate its outside influence. It gains a few adherents from its lectures but whether sufficient to make up for natural losses we have no evidence to show.

A comparison between Kingstons & Childs Hill

Have rugmaking and drilling classes in connection with this Band. Started a shorthand class but they fell off.

Friday 6.30 to 7.30. Salvation Meeting - 70 or more children.

Attendances are growing at Junior & senior meetings.

The Sunday congregations are of about the same class on the day. Mostly Christians in the morning. Mixed in the afternoon and evening. Working people, assistants. A few better off: one a manager at Home & Colonial Stores. A few well off. A lot of young women and some young men but not so many. Work at Factories.

The Sunday work is very exhausting. Very dry afterwards. Feel as if you had had the influenza.

Asking as to the character of the young women. a comparison was instituted between the Haggerston girls & those at Childs Hill - then previous corps. Both agreed that the Childs Hill girls are better than the London girls. These want to live above their means and if they have a shilling or so "want to wear a veil and appear better than they are". They don't really dress better than the Childs Hill girls but think they are better. They are down on laundry girls & nearly all the Childs Hill girls work at laundries. (<sup>Miss Elton</sup> "I am a Londoner but I don't like these London girls.") The laundry girls at Childs Hill they found a much more frank and open set: friendly and stand by each other. They were also more in earnest - used to get through their work & get out with the corps. Gave their money - a free hearted set. Here the place is supported almost entirely by the men. The bandmen are very good hearted.

Have 135 soldiers in the corps including recruits and have 36 Juniors. Two officers, 12 local officers & a band with 24 members.

Visit systematically - we do from 12 to 14 hours a week each. Writing announcements & other work takes so much of their time that they cannot do more. Have 4 visiting sergeants - working as in other corps.

Not much relief. Visitors help out of their own pocket. People that come to the Hall, & they have a good many, are sent to Hanbury Street Shelter. Some times give them their nights lodgers. Go by what the man is: it don't take us long to ~~under~~ judge. If worth it, we help them. Drink is the cause of most of the distress.

Used to have a lot of fighting but our band has 'knocked down' a lot of prejudice. Get on too easy in a sense. If it were rougher, they might have a more favourable war: it would urge them (e.g. the soldiers) on to do more.

Get a few to come in from the road but they are generally "gospel hardened." The people that attend are stationary in the district: most being in constant work. Majority of their children are the children of soldiers.

Both seem bright and active workers and are decidedly superior in manner and culture to the folk usually forming a Salvation Army congregation and their influence would be good altho' want of experience may hinder them.

Mr G. J. Hoon. 6 Evening Road. N.E.
Superintendent of Dunm Street Mission, Dunm St Shacklewell.

Mr Hoon is a general, bright faced old gentleman, white hair & whiskers, yet active both in mind and body & as jolly as a youth of 20 or so. He met me with bringing an armful of reports and papers giving the history of the Mission from its commencement in 1848. He has been superintendent since 1854.

He went over its history briefly and as it throws some light on this district I in these early days I give it. The following summary is given in the Report (21st) for 1868-9:-

The originator of the school was Mr. Hurlin, the City missionary of the district. He gathered as his counsellors, a few good men and true from Maberly Chapel and Kingsland Chapel. They knew the rough and rude state of the poor in the neighbourhood, - Kingsland in those days being not as now, a suburb of London, but quite "out of town." These good men formed themselves into a committee, and rented a two-roomed house in Providence Place, where the Kingsland Railway Station now stands.

On their Second Anniversary a public meeting was held at Kingsland Chapel, on 22nd June, 1850, the Rev. T. Aveling in the chair. No report was printed before this, but the Committee presented to the meeting "The Second Annual Report," and in it "have to deplore the serious indications of the want of education among the class for whose benefit these schools have been opened. . . . The number of scholars in attendance is as follows: - Men, 10; Boys, 30; Girls, 35." "Want of teachers and disorderly conduct of some of the boys," were even then impediments which that Committee, as well as its successors up to the present time have had to encounter. The year's expenses were £32 : 8 : 11, but the Treasurer was overdrawn.

At the next Annual Meeting, the name of the school was altered to "Kingsland, Shacklewell and Dalston Ragged Schools," and reference was made to the engagement of an "efficient and experienced Superintendent for the Boy's School. . . There have been as many as 70 Boys at one time seeking instruction, when the master being without assistance, was obliged to dismiss many of the applicants."

In the following year, the Committee was bold enough to engage "two paid teachers at once" at the salary of Fifty Shillings each per annum. Up to this time there was only an Evening School, but by the next Annual Meeting a more vigorous Committee was in existence, officered by Berryman, Iliffe, and Wakefield; whose connexion with the school has made its mark for good to this day. It was at this meeting, the present name was given to the school, possibly as being more euphonious - "Kingsland, Dalston, and Shacklewell Ragged Schools."

Very soon after its commencement the school was transferred to the Boys British School in Cock & Castle Lane now Castle Street. At this time it was notorious and the police only went down it in twos. The lease expired in 1867 & the school went into temporary premises in Orchard Street & then subsequently Abbott Street. In 1870, a friend bought 5 houses in Dunn Street (Freehold for £500); took off the gardens and let the ground to the School at 1/- a year on lease. The building was planned as at side but only the ground floor built, although ~~some~~ walls etc are such that it may be completed. From that time the Mission has been in Dunn Street.

Difficulties +
Successes

The work is evidently that amongst the children. Other parts of In other directions they have not sufficient workers and even the school could be easily filled if they had more teachers. It is difficult to get people with backbone. They find the work difficult and are off. He finds the best thing is to train the children. Five of their teachers were scholars in the school & 4 of these are members at Kingsland Chapel. (Mt Le Ples)
(As to what good it is, - he replies "It is impossible to say. He comes across the young people occasionally as they grow up. They write to him. He had a sheaf of letters from former scholars. One long letter was from a ~~boy~~ former scholar, who when writing was a Baptist Pastor in Manitoba. <sup>Other from servant girls etc</sup> I told another a story, which I find reproduced in the Report as under:

About twelve months ago I was invited to take the chair at a Saturday-night Entertainment, in connection with a Slate Club, at the Wesleyan Chapel, Amhurst Park.

On entering the school-room I was greeted by a man, very respectfully dressed, and, after shaking hands with him, he said: "Don't you know me?" His face was familiar, but I had forgotten his name. "Why," he said, "my name is M——. Thirty years ago I was a scholar at the Ragged School, in Cock and Castle Lane.

After a little conversation, I asked him if he could truly say that Christ was his personal Saviour, when he replied, "I can."

He is still a member of the same Society, and conducting himself in a respectable and creditable manner. His children are scholars of the Sunday School.

M., when a boy, was one of the worst in the school, and gave considerable trouble; his very name was a synonym for all that was bad.

These results cheered him but it has evidently been a struggle at times. "I have had enough to crush the heart out of me"

Visitation

Charitable relief

The lads go into the Army; labouring etc. The girls into service and also to various trades - printing offices etc. They like to have their evenings and don't care to go into the house.

The people around are perfectly indifferent: "only living for this world". Send their children to the Sunday school & band of hope but in many cases only to get rid of them. Parents ~~have~~ no control over their boys. One of their difficulties is what to do with the big boys. Some come to the meeting to kick up a row & be turned out.

No regular visitation - Not sufficient workers.

Don't give much relief. Some of the Church (Le Pla's) poor but don't belong to the Mission. I found that nothing is entered in Balance sheet under head of relief or <sup>any other</sup> that might be regarded as relief. Questioned more closely, Mr Hoon admitted that he gave some help out of his own pocket: had a few pensioners, old people, but he evidently did not like to speak about it. Certainly did not amount to £100 per annum. If any young people come to him, he says "You had "better get work". Some of the people apply to two places:

 Dunn St & St Barnabas Mission but he stops this all he can.
 Children try to attend both schools for the two treats etc. He says keep to one school & if he found a scholar had been to another treat would not let that scholar go to their treat. They give a treat (excursion) to all the scholars - paid for by teachers. Also for the mothers meeting an excursion & winter tea is given. Some second hand clothing is also distributed.
 Mr Hoon says he knows all the cases: present ~~parents~~ people are many of them former scholars etc.

On very good terms with adjoining Missions and tries to keep apart from their work. St Barnabas might have had land opposite his hall but they would not take it.

One great difficulty in the district is gambling.
 This nest of streets is retired & the men and the youths come there to gamble - not all residents.
 Have sent to the police but not very effective. Plain clothes officer caught some a time ago. Look out are posted at top of streets. Boys imitate their elders & he sees boys gambling with cards.
 People in the street have complained about it.

Mr Hoon is a very interesting talker and the Mission is evidently the one great interest in his life. "It is my life work". Of parochial affairs he did not care to talk altho' he is a guardian. His affections centre on the children at Dunn Street & those who have passed through the Mission's portals and are no longer children. As to the influence: upon the children it would no doubt be strong. Mr Hoon is one of those open, bright, lovable people to whom children would cluster as flies to a honey pot, and upon whom his life, even more than his teaching, would leave a mark that after life might blur but not destroy. With the elder people, he is probably too easy & is no doubt imposed upon at times.

Mr Chorley is the Superintendent of the North East London Gospel Mission & has already been seen with regard to his Missions in Bromley & Cubitt Town. (See Book IX. p 2).

Mr C. is a Plymouth Brother. & Earlham Hall the first opened & still the principal centre of the work, is recognised as a brethren's meeting, altho' somewhat heterodox as Mr Chorley arranges for the preachers personally, which is contrary to the tenets of the strict sort.

His missions are worked on the 'brethren' lines, e.g. none of the sensational attractions adopted by some are employed. The following par. from Report alludes to this:-

Speaking of the attendances at our Gospel Halls, we are thankful to say we still have fair numbers come—sometimes as many as several hundreds at our larger halls, which, considering we have no "attractions" in the shape of "bands" or "choir," calls for praise and thanksgiving, coupled as it is with the happier result that we are permitted from time to time to witness present blessing upon the Gospel-preaching in souls being brought into liberty and peace, though the full results, we know, must await the coming day.

In some things he leaves the strict lines as in choosing popular preachers "Red Wright etc and advertising their names in big letters & bills etc taken last year. The lads appear to be a great nuisance to the neighbours, who complain that they knock at their doors, pull down fences and use bad language. They come from Dalston mainly and form several gangs: the Abbott Street gang; the Dorset Road gang. Sometimes have a free fight between 2 gangs in the road.

The lads are taught reading, writing etc & there is a short address each night. Not much real teaching is done & Mr C. looks upon the school as keeping these lads out of the streets and appears satisfied with this result. Tuesday they play draughts & other games; Wednesday a service; whilst Thursday is the lesson day proper.

From these lads, they get a few: one has become the organist at Salter's Hall Chapel; another was employed at Smith's stall at Dalston but has been promoted to a stall of his own; others are in the Sunday school.

Have 147 members on their church roll and some applicants. Keep their own "and that is something new" The numbers are higher than before. Progress very slow. Grow by 10's rather than 50's. People shift so. Move to Tottenham & Walthamstow.

Mr A. is a tall, affable old gentleman with grey hair and whiskers. He is in business as a manufacturer of india rubber goods & I met him at his office, 12 Little Britain.

The Mission has been in existence 20 years and there has been an informal connection with Salter's Hall Baptist Church of which Mr A. is a member.

The premises consist of a house at the corner of another street & a hall built upon the garden - seats 150. Caretaker lives in the house & some of the rooms are used for small meetings.

At present the hall is closed and has been closed for about 3 or 4 weeks as there is scarlet fever in the caretaker's family.

Usual meetings are:

Sunday 11 A.M. Children's service

3 P.M. Sunday school. Filled. Bulk of children are nicely dressed.

Evening. Ordinary service. Fair congregation - about 50. + they tell me that is as many as most missions. Doubt get the parents of children. People like to go where they are not known so well.

Tuesday. Prayer meeting.

Wednesday. Band of Hope. A capital meeting.

Thursday. Sewing class for girls over 10.

Occasional meetings on other evenings.

Have about a dozen teachers in Sunday school and 9 other workers. All from Salter's Hall.

Have visited the district but don't do it systematically.

Charitable relief only out of my own pocket. Get clothing for children from Ragged School Union.

Viewing the work broadly, Mr A's opinion is that the children's meetings have been successful and those for adults not successful.

The children used to be badly dressed but they have improved in every way. The people dress better. The parents send the children to school; some to get them out of the way; but children do not need to be sent, they like to come. No bare feet now.

The adults look upon it as a favor to you to go to a place of worship. As one man said, to whom Mr A spoke spoke: "I will give you a turn some day." Then spend their Sunday bird catching etc. Some will come if anything extraordinary is on - the gospel does not seem sufficient. Place was thronged for the Harvest Festival "but then good bye for twelve months." In many instances, he thinks the congregations at missions consist of cadgers.

Has noticed great indifference during the past 3 years. Due to socialist teaching and ~~the~~ <sup>and</sup> the other hand the methods of the Salvation Army. Their services are more exciting - several of the Wall Street people have gone. These sensational services render an ordinary service distasteful, much as a course of novel reading creates a distaste for more solid literature.

Mr. A. believes that in all mission work the Gospel must be the first thing and that if presented simply, it ~~it~~ must reach the people and is the only power that will change their lives. He does not believe in the sensational methods and cited the Golden Lane Mission and its methods as a legitimate way of getting the people in. ~~There~~ At Golden Lane there are a large number of clubs of various kinds, which helps to hold the people.

Reuben May?

Temperance Meetings a bad influence

Children remain to 14 & 16.

Personal

Asked about temperance; he ~~cannot~~ considers the ordinary temperance meeting as a thoroughly bad influence. Thinks it is essential to have a thoroughly Christian man at the head. Temperance alone leads to worldliness and selfishness. He had a temperance meeting for three months. It was started by request & Mr A. took an active part in it. Used to go in to some of the meetings. A comparatively small meeting. During the 3 months they only contributed 2<sup>d</sup> to the expenses & Mr A. paid gas etc.

The children drift away about 14 to 16 years of age: girls to service, boys to work. Most of them turn out well e.g. the cases in which he comes again into touch with them. "If you only get earnest workers the seed sown is not lost". Sewing class keeps some of the girls later.

Mr A. is very like Mr Hoon of the Dunn Street mission in his mode of working and theological position but probably does not give so much away. He regards the enforced temporary closing of the mission as opportunity to make changes. He intends starting a Sunday evening children's service 6:30 to 7:30 & making the adult meeting from 8 to 9. He probably support the mission almost if not entirely out of his own pocket.

A hard district

St Paul's Mission

Salter's Hall Church

(Rev A. A. Savage)

The Ragged School Union

The district is a 'hard ~~one~~ one' is admitted by Mr A. and also by St Paul's Church, which has a mission in Dorset Street. Mr A. speaks well of all the church workers except the scripture readers, who appears to try and get their children away. St Paul's gives a good deal of relief. One woman Mr A. missed: when he saw her she said she was going to St Paul's Mission - they had been very good to her.

The new minister at Salter's Hall is becoming very popular and congregation is increasing. Mr Box was a good preacher but not social. After the service he would go into the vestry. The new * man goes down each ~~at~~ aisle on alternate Sundays and shakes hands with the people. He will attract young men. We should see the church secretary.

The Ragged School Union he warmly commended. Thinks its work is one of the finest in London & that all Missions should be connected with it. Enables them to send children away & do many things they could not do unaided.

Mrs Wirtz is a German and keeps a shop at the above address, dealing in all sorts of miscellaneous articles. He is about 45 years old, speaks English fluently and only an occasional twang, would lead to one ~~not~~ suspect that he was a foreigner.

The Mission Room is a large loft above some stables and is reached by a steep ladder stair. It holds ~~about~~ 150 people but this would be tight packing. Have a smaller room downstairs. When I discovered it - and it took some discovery as Kinnirod Alley is merely a back entrance to some of the Kingsland Road shops & the name is not affixed - they were preparing for a harvest festival. Three or four working women were cutting bread & butter & preparing for a tea, whilst two of the men were making other preparations. The small platform was almost covered with a profusion of vegetables of all sorts. Gigantic mannows etc. A loaf of bread fully six feet long, etc.

Membership

They have about 100 members: started 4 years ago with 5. They are organised after the manner of Plymouth Brethren and take the Bible as their only authority for faith & practice. They are strict in their tenets: men must be non-smokers, teetotalers and Christians before ~~that~~ they are admitted to fellowship.

Workers

Practically all take part in the work. They have Band numbers 12 to 15 usually - 17 at most. Reckon about 30 workers

Make a great deal of the open air meetings. Have gathered all these people this way. "Rain or snow we are out in the open air" Last two winters <sup>workers</sup> have been <sup>better</sup> ~~out~~ than before "with all their physic."

Whilst talking with Mr W. a young man, about 28-30 came in - one of the workers, the shop being a rendezvous. A strong, alert & decided sort of fellow, as was also Mr W. tho' probably not so strong as the visitor. The talk then became general and I merely note a few of the many things that were said as indicating the character of the work & workers.

For the relief of their own poor, they have a poor saints fund. They also help others - any who ~~to~~ need it. The shop is really a part of the work: as a business it is a failure in itself, but it has been a blessing to many. They come there to sell things & this

Charitable Relief.

The shop as a mission centre

Opinion on Drink

Their view of Christianity gives an opportunity. Man came to sell pawn ticket of a diamond ring. Mr W. sent him to some one who would buy and the man asked him to have a glass. "No: it is a curse". After a talk the man determined to give it up. Mr W. "A man must be a fool to take intoxicating liquors into him to disturb his brain, the only medium that God can speak to him by."

The best charity is to get them something to do. One man they picked up drunk. The younger man got him some bills to distribute <sup>(2/6 a day)</sup> but he did not care for it so he took them round himself. Then the man took up the work, thinking if it was good enough for me — it was good enough for him. Eventually got him a regular place at 18/- a week. He is there now.

Christianity binds everyone in a great brotherhood & it is a duty to help any man that is down, and nothing to be proud of. Christ died for me and it is only fair that we should walk in his footsteps. ~~Many~~ people we must do as he did.

"You may touch anything but when you once appeal to the pocket, people think you are coming at too strong". The mission is supported by the members - never ask outside. Would not take anything from anyone who was not a Christian. It is "fair robbery" to take money from unconverted people. Does not think it right for Christians to accumulate wealth. A Christian holds his property in trust for God.

They publish no printed statement but have a large sheet, neatly written in 4 columns and framed & hung up in the Hall. This gives very exact particulars of the attendances, the amounts received & expended on various funds, &c for six months.

This gave the average attendance on Sunday evening as 76. - The harvest festival 112. Sunday school 24 boys, 25 girls + 8 teachers. Prayer meeting 7am 19. 10am 40

Six months ending December 1896.

Income -	General fund	£ 11. 3. 3	At the end of the 6 months they had £18. 18. 5 in hand.
	Sacramental "	6. 8. 3

	Band of Hope	4. 2. 5
	Brass band	4. 13. 7
	Choir	5. 3. 1
		£49 9. 8

These people are in a small way but their work is growing. They add 5 or 6 to their number every month and they undoubtedly reach some of those who are untouched by others. A sort of Salvation Army, with the uniform & other objectionable matters left out

They believe that the 'Book' itself is quite sufficient to attract people. and "if Christ is not sufficient for them, we don't want them".

The children they get on Sunday are clean, fairly & decently dressed. In the week they get a poorer class. Drift school only recently started & not successful as yet. Only 20 or so come.

The adults that come to the Sunday evening meetings are mostly women - only 2 men. Most have been connected with the place a long time - widows etc. Get a still poorer class to the mothers' meeting.

Says the numbers are growing, especially in the children's meetings, which are the best feature of the work. The children come from Elliotts Place & Gardens, Peter Street & some from the dwellings in Topham Road etc.

Visiting.

Relief.

Mr Guggs visits 3 days a week - Elliotts Place, Gardens etc and adjacent houses in St Peter's Parish. He also visits in the dwellings - parents of childrens, attenders at services etc. Visits from house to house in St Peter's but would not do that outside the parish, only call upon who come to the Mission.

No relief given at present but give during the winter when weather is severe. Coal tickets etc. He would report to Mr Lait. The Mission funds ~~are~~ supplied by voluntary contributions.

The difficulty connected with the Mission is that so much depends on the Students. When they go for their holiday he has do what he can. Drops the band of hope. Keeps on the Sunday services, etc. Has no difficulty about the girls as the lady teachers look after them.

Asked about the neighbourhood, Miss. say that Elliott Place & Broad Court are the worse parts close at hand. Labouring people, costers & some prostitutes. Elliotts Gardens are better altho' poor: some fairly decent. Drunk the chief evil.

The work of the mission appears to be only important so far as the children are concerned: as a means of reaching the adult population its position is a drawback.

Mr Jegg is a quiet plodding man between 30 + 40. Probably works quietly + steadily, but with no exceptional ability.

The Church Missionary students appears to do a good deal of work of one kind or another. Beside the mission Mr G. says that they work at the Rosemary Mission. Others also go visit the Calvary + bus yards on Sunday mornings.

Interview with Rev. J. Ellis, Barnsbury St., Congregational Chapel.

Mr Ellis is a man of 60 or over; plain but with a rugged honest face surrounded by a gray hedgehog fringe. Quite rough and uncultured; in appearance manner and speech just like the typical farmer. He has been here for 20 years.

Mr E's district is bounded roughly by the L.S.R., Liverpool Road, Theberton St. and Upper St.
Twenty years ago chiefly middle class, now entirely working class, but Mr E. knows no such poverty in the district.

20 Teachers. 12 D.V.'s. 12 other lay workers.

Church and Schools.

Usual Sunday services. Congregation in morning 70 to 100; evening 2 to 300. The church is heated for from 6 to 700 and used to be full of middle class people, but they have all gone. The present congregations are upper working class; have tried many plans to get the poor, but they will not come.

There are six other Congregational Churches within ten minutes walk; they used all to be full, but now with the exception of Union Chapel they are little better off than in Ills. within a few years some of them must amalgamate, and like the building as Mission Buildings.

Band of Hope with about 150 members. Started a Mothers Meeting, but found that all who came were attending other meetings, so gave it up.

Mutual Improvement Society.

Sunday School with 250 on books, and 200 in attendance.

tracts and magazines. It is impossible for non-con to get into a house without something to show. The church visitors are considered to have almost a right of entry, but Dissenters are regarded as intruders. Mr. E. is a member of the Free Church Council and I asked him as to the effect of the special visiting; he said he had noticed a few recruits in his church, and <sup>some of</sup> his brethren ministers had told him that it had added appreciably to their congregation for the time at all events. There was ~~not~~ no attempt to proselytize: only those were invited who said they went nowhere.

Give a little through visitors, but not much. Mr. E. professes to believe in the principles of the C.O.S. but I fancy he is a kind hearted old man who is rather easily imposed on. He says that dozens of ladies from the District come to his house in Highgate Park.

Other influences.

Personal.

Harwood is the chief influence. He is a strong man, and gets hold of the young men.

The Church is not strong. Mr. S. thinks that High Churchmen would get hold of the poor better than the Evangelicals.

Mr. Ellis is a good old fellow of a rough type, who ought one feels to be at home with the working man. But his is evidently a decaying look, and he must be lacking in energy.

MS (2)

Mr. Richmond, supt. of the Guildway Wesleyan Mission, is a pleasant & kindly middle-aged man. He is a traveller by profession, his business taking him to all parts of the country, but he makes great efforts to get home always for Saturday & Sunday, in order to look after this work.

The mission, wh. has its headquarters at 44 Newington Green Rd., was started by the Wesleyan Methodists of Guildway Park, but a couple of years ago it was dropped out of the official circuit arrangements, Mr. R. thought it a great pity that its work, in wh. he had become greatly interested, shd. cease, & so has since carried it on with the aid of friends.

The mission is unique in that it derives its <sup>financial</sup> support entirely from a Slate Club. Mr. R. is Secretary of this Slate Club, wh. meets on Saturday evg at the mission house, & has 426 members. Each member pays 6/- per quarter for the support of the mission -

Origin of mission.

The "Prop" on wh. the work rests.

pays it readily & cheerfully & wd. give more if needed - & this, with some <sup>little</sup> profit from a coal club, pays all the expenses - they do not get a penny of subscriptions from anyone.

The population touched is a very poor one - embers, porters, etc. The mission hall (a dressed shop, etc.) is at the corner of Midway Avenue, - a notoriously poor & rough little spot - & gets hold mainly of the children of these people & one or two neighboring poor streets - Midway St., Prospect Row, etc. A few of the parents come also, kept in hand by an occasional tea, the clubs, etc.

Including teachers, there are 8 or 10 workers - all voluntary. More are badly needed. More organizations wd. be carried on during the week if workers were forthcoming.

I have already described (Bk XXXII, 55) a visit to one of the services, wh. are held on Sunday morning & evg., & two nights in week. They are carried on by a Mr. Blaine & others. About 30 or 40 attend. There is a Sunday afternoon school, attended by 25 to 40 children.

Apart from recreational pathenips the clubs already mentioned are the only agencies. State club is on usual lines: 6/- per week & death levy; benefits, 10/- a wk for 8 wks. & 5/- for a second 8 wks. during sickness; £10 at death of member, & £5 members' wife. Share out balance at Xmas. Mr. R. does the secretarial work free; he wd. like to start a women's state club, but cannot get any-one to work it.

The people are visited well & regularly by the various churches & chapels around. No very little at this mission, & do not give any relief.

Very little cooperation between the churches, unfortunately.

Mr. R. regards the public-houses as the great cause of the locality. Little or no good will be accomplished till they are closed entirely on Sundays. "Close the p.h., & prostitution will be held in check, crime diminished, marriage & thrift greatly advanced, & the health & social condition of the poor wonderfully promoted."

I saw Mr. R. at the mission hall, where he & another man, with 2 young women, were preparing tea for 30 or 40 youngsters, who afterwards trooped hungrily in. They were the Sunday school scholars & this their reward for attendance. Quite poor & ill-clad children, nearly all from the "avenue." — The work here, it will be seen, is quite small, but at any rate it brings a little brightness & change into the Sordid lives of some of the "Midway Armenians."

Interview with the Rev. J. E. Hughes

10 Cannonbury Park North

Pastor of the Welsh Calvinistic Church - in White Sq., New North Road.

Jan. 23. 98.

This is one of the 11 similar churches in London, + is like the one in Lane 15th Road. The services are in Welsh, + the people come from a wide area. They change a good deal, modern - however being chiefly due to removal to other parts of London. The people are chiefly in the milk trade, servants, assistants, clerks, teachers, and some clerks, + some artisans. There are 350 church members, +
Mr Hughes reckons that about 50 come + go every year.

Mr Hughes is the only paid worker. There are 20 Sunday School teachers, + about 25 other helpers, very many to help informally, + a good deal of visiting is done by different members of the congregation.

The chapel holds 500. Seats underneath hold 300.

Services: Sunday morning (10.30) 150-175
- evening (6.30) 300-350

Sunday morning average much. "So many in the milk trade". About 500 people are supposed to be attending the chapel. There are 350 members.

General questions.

Literary Society - Dances - Temperance etc. Things out in summer. - try to make the chapel as much of a centre as possible.

Sunday School: Register 75 - Average 50. In addition about 50 ~~adult~~ adults attend. (Mr. Nisbet) Newington Hall is hand school, with 7 teachers + about 40 children.

Education: Classes in Welsh + in music for the children.

Visiting in various ways: e.g. by teachers in connection with Sunday School; by deacons in districts in which they live etc, + by himself before attacked by rheumatism (see later).

No nursing arranged for. Doctors' fees would not be in case of need. Not many poor in congregation.

For charity effort is made as needed. e.g. in 1899 about £50 raised mainly for some orphans. Average about £20 a year.

Drinks not a special difficulty. Young very dear from it as a rule.

Protection.

London City Mission work for poorer class of Welsh.

Person.

Not on the anti-Gade.

Marriage relationships very good. Things fair. Health good.

Welshmen of all classes are found on the streets. The lower class of Welsh are dealt with by the Welsh missionaries of the London City Mission. Most London missionary: Mr. Davis, 10 Brompton Rd., Dublin; Cook house: Mr. R. S. Williams (Wales missionary) London City Mission, 3 Bridewell Place, E.C.

Mr. Hughes is a man of about 40. He has been as with a young 10 years. For about 8 months he has suffered greatly from rheumatism, & when down in the room, it was difficult to believe that the crippled invalid in a corner of the room was the active pastor of a church. His hands trembled as though palsied, & he made no attempt to rise. I remarked at the idea of interviewing him, but he said that he could manage it. He then conducted the service & preached, but it was not long, he was full of grief. His face is thoughtful, & never shines in ~~the~~ sadness. But this quiet-voiced invalid was a man more impressive figure than most, & if his face shone as he believed him, he would be expressing a real personal interest for good.

On the anti-Gade, Mr. Hughes said that his people were Complaining that the big firms were taking away their profits, but they were none the less he thought doing well - "no doubt of it".

 Many make money & go back to Wales. Fewer keep their own cattle now-a-days, getting milk in from the country.
