Rev^d. J. Wynne Jones. Minister of Prince of Wales
Road, Wesleyan Church. Seen at his residence:

39 Park Hill Road, Haverstock Hill. N.W.

Oct 24/21
1898/21

Mr Jones & I met at the entrance to his house.
He was just returning from a Committee Mtg. He is middle-aged man - about 40; thin oval face, regular features of short beard & moustache. His voice is soft and musical & combined with a good presence, should render him an attractive preacher. He was familiar with 'Life & Labour' and having only been 15 months here, he had consulted Mr W.R. Pades, his circuit steward, who has lived in the district from boyhood & is a man of some influence in the neighbourhood - a guardian &c.

Glancing over the map, Mr J. agreed with the comparative colouring of the neighbourhood e.g. Preston St., Litcham St & the news off Malden Road (marked d.b.) are the poorest parts; then the streets off Ferdinand Street (L.13) come next in point of poverty.

The congregation is representative of all classes.
Have a leading West end physician, and a number of professional

"They are such a delightful people" said Mr J.

professional and business people, fairly well to do folk. but the bulk would be comfortable working class. A large number of poor also. The people are drawn from all round the chapel, Mr J. specially mentioning the rest of streets in which our office is situated (St George's Sq)

Minister is the only paid worker. One lady gives all her time to church work & they have a very large number of voluntary workers including 72 S.S. teachers. The ~~warm~~ enthusiastic manner in which Mr J. spoke of his church members & workers was specially noticeable. He had never been with a church where all worked so well. He came here from Oakley Place, Old Kent Road but the people there were nothing like these. All worked & gave. brought their friends. The Mission Band has a brass band & conducted two open air services, Sunday morning & evenings in Regent Park & Parliament Fields.

The Church as a membership of 630 people - is the largest in Methodist working on circuit line. All are trained to do something.

The chapel seats 1000 people & they have a large schoolroom & class rooms. Just spent £1200 in renovating & installing electric light.

Sunday services 11 & 6.30. Evening congregation is the better. Over 600 in the morning and 900 in the evening. A large proportion of young people.

Thursday. 7.45. Service

Friday 8 - Prayer meeting.

Twenty six class meetings are held weekly, one or more meeting every day of the week except Saturday. Sunday School: 772 on books. Attendance Morn^s 235. Afterⁿ 474.

Social agencies are active. Wesley Guild (200 members) provides lectures &c. Large temperance meeting or entertainment on Saturday nights. Coffee & bun for 1^d provided. Mothers' Meeting, Dorcas Society, Maternal Society, Benevolent Society &c.

People are visited by leaders of classes, and by the visitors of the Benevolent & Maternal Societies. Mr J. also visits. Tracts distributors also cover all the inner district once a week. No case that needed visitation could well be overlooked, but they do not reckon to visit from house to house.

Relief given is fully £100 a year. The poor fund for the poor of the church amounted to £35 last year and the Benevolent Society expended £35

Wynn Jones - Wesleyan

Does not see anything of the work of the other churches. Knows of their existence but never comes in contact with them in their work.

Relations with other ministers are cordial and in connection with the Free Church Council their local minister exchange pulpits once a year.

Poor law administration is effective.

As to the Police, Mr J. never sees a row in the neighbourhood and gives them credit for this.

Very little Prostitution. Reckons they are fairly free from this, which flourishes further south. Have no well-known houses.

Marry at the chapel. Young people settle down in the neighbourhood - take apartments. No strong tendency outward as in other neighbourhoods. When people go away, it is usually to go follow their work.

Theft. Has a large Slate club with 300-400 members.

The church at Prince of Wales Road is evidently a vigorous body. It has reached its present size by a steady growth extending over the past

Wynn Jones - Wesleyan

30 years and judging by the increase of the annual income is still growing (See plan on next page for particulars). The work is not dependent on the minister so much as on the numerous laymen, who as class leaders, mission workers &c. sustain the numerous meetings centred at the chapel. They give well & help support the Gospel Oak chapel & are now going to build a new chapel there.

The church is mainly recruited from the Sunday schools; Mr. J. received 20 from the schools this quarter. These are mostly young people. The adults are people, who have been brought to the chapel by friends & have continued to worship at Prince of Wales Road.

Rev. W. B. Selbie M. A. 11 North Rd. Highgate.
Minister of the Congregational Church, South Grove
Highgate.

GHA
25/10/98

Mr Selbie is a slightly built, fair man. Small oval, intellectual face. Was educated at Mansfield College, Oxford and settled in this, his first charge in 1890.

The Church in South Grove is just within the London (St Pancras) boundary and is the natural centre for Congregationalists resident on the Hill. It however attracts a considerable proportion from the southern slopes both from Upper Holloway & St Pancras, the walk up the hill being away from the London being a pleasant one.

The Congregation is very mixed: a large number of the "upper ten" of Highgate as well as tradesmen, artisans and others, who come largely from the London area. The Sunday school is entirely tradesmen, & artisans, gardeners, ^{& some of them} children. They have special classes held in private houses at irregular intervals.

For

for the better class children who cannot be got to the S.S.

The Church holds 750 persons and has a good ~~set~~ school & class rooms attached. The Church Museum (200 seats) is at North Hill (outside our area)

Minister, L. C. In (partly paid, attached to Museum Hall), & Biblewoman, 33 S.S. Teachers, 9 Deacons and about half a dozen lady visitors.

Services Sunday 11 am & 6.30 PM.

Wednesday 8 PM. Service.

Sunday School. 310 on books. Average attendance:
morning 106, afternoon 232. Children's service
2nd Sunday in month at 3 PM.

The morning congregation is the better, place nearly full, and about 2/3 full in evening. More middle class people in morning and more tradesmen & servants in the evening, but Mr S. does not like to distinguish between the congregation. Told me that the collections were greater in the morning. Last Sunday, they had special collections and the amount received in the morning was £17; evening £4.

and

Have a number of societies, of which some particulars are given in the Year book of which Mr S. gave a copy. (See Material) The Guild, a sort of mutual improvement society, Christian Band &c.

Visitation in Highgate is done by the ministers and it ~~is~~ practically resolves itself into a visit to newcomers. The people would not receive ordinary visitors; they are well-known - most go & are known to go to one or other of the churches [Mr S. was here speaking of the well to do residents]. In the St Pancras district they visit from house to house. The Biblewoman visits in connection with the mothers' meeting (large) but this is practically a Highgate institution.

The biblewoman is also a nurse & visits local cases; even some where Mr S. thinks the people could afford to pay a nurse.

Works with the Kentish Town C.O.S. to which he sends any cases other than those connected with the church. Generally finds the people do not go. Have a great many beggars come. All their own poor are helped by the Church. The amount spent for charity appears to be about £200. e.g. Lord's Supper Fund £86. Doxas Society £42. Juvenile clothing £35. Poor Relief Soc £46

Church of England & R. C's are very active

Highgate Dispensary - a very useful institution - supported by all the churches.

Drink is shocking. Highgate used to be the first last stopping place on the London Road in the old coaching days, hence large number of inns - right within a short distance of Mr S's house. The number is now far beyond the requirements of the place; leads to a good deal of drinking, and brings in a number of betting men from Holloway.

Housing so far as the working people are concerned is very bad in Highgate. Small rickety cottages - some of wood. Has also noticed that when cottages are pulled down, middle class dwellings dwellings are erected on the sites cleared. The poor people are being driven down into Highgate New Town.

The church is growing now, as a result of the growth of population, consequent on the increase of building in Highgate. The membership had been stationary for many years previously.

Rev^d James Stephens M.A. 46 Dartmouth Park Road.
N.W.
Minister of Highgate Road Baptist Church.

Mr Stephens is a big, broad shouldered man of about 50, with a massive head, iron grey hair & beard & a ~~pleasant~~ strong kindly face. He has been 20 years at Highgate Road, The church was formed in 1878.

The congregation is drawn from the district around the chapel but mostly from the east. Parliament Fields separate them from Hampstead whilst the railway is a barrier to the S.E. Draw a good many from the streets off Mansfield Road & from Kentish Town Road district, while a few come from Highgate New Town. Are by no means wealthy, altho' have sufficient for needs. The people are clerks, tradesmen, mechanics, labourers, & a few middle class. A good many railway men of all grades. Has about 50 domestic servants from Hampstead & Highgate.

Minister, a student of the Pastors' College (Mr L. Milton Haffenden) is paid for conducting services at Falkland Hall. Large number of voluntary workers, 16 S.S. teachers, 20 visitors and a large band of mission workers.

Two. One at the Mission Hall has a membership of 70.

Thursday. Theological Class. Attendance over 100.

During the summer, three open air meetings are held on Sunday and one in the week. Special efforts are made to reach the outsiders. The sittings are open to all comers on Sunday evenings ~~even~~ & during the winter months special subjects are announced by bill. [These bills I saw frequently in Kentish Town]. This effort has been fairly successful: they always have a considerable number of strangers and in this way Mr. S. thinks they reach twice as many of their own membership.

The Falkland Hall Mission has not been so successful as Mr S. had wished. They have not got the men to attend in anything like large numbers. Mainly women & children. He also mentioned that the attendance of the people at the open air meetings has decreased & this not because the preaching has been inferior but he attributes it more to the indifference of the men.

Visit their own people. Done by minister, deacons and visitors.

No special arrangements as to nursing. Have a number of widows in the church & use these in any cases of need. In urgent cases, the people use the hospitals, for which they have letters.

Charitable relief is given from the Communion Fund (£90) to poor members. Relief is also given by the Sick visitors & privately by members. £100 to £120 a year is given from the various funds.

Dorcas Society distributes clothing & helps poor married women. The Sick visitors have divided the ~~district~~ neighbourhood into districts, each being in charge of certain visitors. They give relief in kind but any cases needing monetary assistance - rent &c - are referred to the deacons.

Of the work of the other ministers & clergy, Mr. S. knew little. Asked about the Catholic Apostolic Church (which is nearly opposite Highgate Road Chapel) Mr. S. said he did not know the minister nor any particulars about the place. He thought the congregation was very small.

Mr. Stephens' position is isolated. He does not work with the C. O. S. He is not actively opposed but is not in full sympathy with its methods. He is not on the Free Church Council, altho' a district has been assigned to his church. His chief objection being to the interchange of pulpits which adherence to the council would involve. He could not agree to admit to the pulpit, teacher from whom he would differ.

On the special subject, Mr. S. had little to say. No special drunkennes. . . . Had a number of marriages of people from outside as well as their own members.

Church is growing slowly. now numbers 740.

From the formation of the Church to the end of 1897, 1,760 Members have been admitted or re-admitted, of whom 376 were enrolled during the past five years. 259 have been in fellowship for ten years and upwards and 17 remain among us of the 67 who united to form the Church in 1878—twenty years ago.

This Church has a distinct individuality, reflecting in part the sturdy independence of the minister, who so long has guided its fortunes. The ruling principle appeared to be that all work should be the outcome of the free will of the member. Thus sittings are appropriated to members or other applicants but no fees or rents are charged; each person is supposed to give according to ability. The pastor has no stated stipend. A box at the door receives contributions for this purpose. At one time the amounts ~~were~~ given were read out but now the money, unaccounted, is handed over to the pastor. The individual responsibility of each person is enforced both as to service and gifts.

AS TO GIVING. The Church has no endowment of any kind nor grant in aid from any source. It is thought that we are able to "pay our own way" and ought to do it; that whatever expenses are necessary to the right and worthy maintenance of the work should be met by ourselves—each Member bearing some share. It has not been thought advisable to fix definitely what share each should bear, but this does not mean that anyone should consider himself relieved from responsibility to give. Even the poor should share with the better off; and the young believers among us, the juniors in Christian families, should not consider themselves relieved because their fathers and mothers give. This method of not fixing how much each should give is meant rather to provoke thoughtfulness on the subject, and to bring in a glad unconstrainedness and willingness, and to make giving to be more definitely "to the Lord." We have no pew-rents—although many would pay these ungrudgingly and a considerable sum would thereby be insured. The boxes fixed at the doors for the receiving of free-will offerings—the one set marked "FOR THE MINISTER," the other "FOR GENERAL EXPENSES AND MISSION HALL"—are our chief, we might almost say our only, source of income for pastoral maintenance and for ordinary outlay for the Chapel and the Services. While this secures perfect freedom in giving, it makes our income variable, and gives room for absent or careless or thoughtless Members omitting to contribute their proper share; yet it helps to strengthen the right spirit of giving in those who are liberal, and as a Church, God has blessed us in it. At the same time there is occasionally concern lest some Member may take advantage of it; not only to the lowering of the Church's income, but also to their own loss, to the stifling in them of the spirit of regular, thoughtful, loving liberality, and therefore to the detriment of their own soul-health.

One result of this enforcement of the individual responsibility and the strong life of the church is a large proportion of the income that is given to Foreign & Home Missions. Thus of a £1705 raised in 1897, £666 was for Foreign & £102 for Home Missions & only £936 for strictly church purposes.

Stephens - Baptist

My impression of Mr Stephens' work was that he & his church are strong factors in the district, affecting a large number of people very deeply ~~altho' compared with people~~. He is a man with strong convictions and great power of spirit & intellect and during his long pastorate he has imbued his people with much of his own spirit.

Rev. J. Critchison, Minister of Lady Margaret
Road Wesleyan Church. Seen at the Parsonage,
Oct adjoining the Church.

Mr C. is about 50 years of age. Tall, with a slight stoop. Sallow face, mustache. A careful methodical man and good organizer, judging from his manner and his scrupulous care in speaking of the Church.
Has been 28 years in the Wesleyan Ministry & 2 years at Lady Margaret Road.

Draw the people from all sides; as far as Dartmouth Park on the north. Reach the poorest as well as the middle class folk, resident north of the chapel. Find many poor, artisans and ~~then~~ some professional people & tradesmen

The Church is a fine building (1025 seating), tho' somewhat hidden from the main roads. A parsonage & schools are attached. Mission Room in Hampshire Street

Minister and deacons paid. About 20 local preachers, 58 S.S. teachers. "Our plan is to give everybody something to do" & in this way they have a large staff of workers, connected with the Mission Band &
other societies

Nineteen Class Meetings

The Social Agencies are numerous and appear to be well organized: They include Wesley Guild, Gymnasium (Young men & Young women), Rambling Club, Mutual Improvement Society, Mother's Mtg Temperance Society & Band of Hope, Dorcas Society, Slate Clubs for Men & Women. Much that Mrs. C. said regarding these institutions is given in the Church Year book, which is attached to this interview. These organisations seem to be doing good work. Much attention is given to detail as witness the Handbook of Wesley Guild (attached)

Social Agencies

British Wesleyan

The benefit the Church derived from some of these institutions, such as the Skate club with its 1000 members, was small directly, indeed they absorbed the energies of some of their workers, who might be otherwise engaged. & were in that sense a loss to the Church. Mr C. however, their regards their indirect influence as great; they break down the prejudice against the Church and show the people that someone cares for them. Takes a broad view of the social questions of the day & in connection with the Temperance Society introduces such subjects as the housing of the poor, competition, &c believing that drinking is due in great part to bad social conditions

Our Aim.

Comradeship in the highest ends of life.
The federation of the various Societies in which Young People are interested.

"O lift your natures up:
Embrace our aims; work out your freedom.
Better not be at all
Than not be noble." —Tennyson.

Membership.

ACTIVE MEMBERS. Young People who are members of the Church and wishful to help others.

COMPANION MEMBERS. Young People of the Congregation or Sunday School who are in sympathy with its spirit of friendship and service.

ASSOCIATE MEMBERS. Older workers and friends who are in sympathy with the movement.

To become a Member it is only necessary to fill up a form provided for this purpose, and hand it to the Secretary.

The benefit the Church derived from some of these institutions, such as the State club with its 1000 members, was small directly, indeed they absorbed the energies of some of their workers, who might be otherwise engaged. & were in that sense a loss to the Church. Mr C. however, ~~their~~ regards their indirect influence as great; they break down the prejudice against the Church and show the people that someone cares for them. Takes a broad view of the social questions of the day & in connection with the Temperance Society introduces such subjects as the housing of the poor, competition, &c believing that drinking is due in great part to bad social conditions

Guild Meetings.

It may not be possible for every Member to take part in all the sections of work, or to make use of all the educational and social advantages provided for the Young People of our Church, as enumerated in this Handbook; but all are earnestly entreated to make a special effort to be present at the Monthly Devotional Meetings, which are held on Thursday, at 8 p.m. (see Calendar).

In addition to the meetings of the Mutual Improvement Association and the Temperance Society (see pp. 3-5), it has been arranged to hold a twice a month, on Monday evenings (see Calendar). The special course of study taken at this class is The New Testament and its Writers, by the Rev. J. A. M'Clymont, D.D. (price 6d. net), and it will be conducted by our President. This course of study promises to afford great help to Sunday School workers, and to all of us in our daily reading of that Book which, it has been said, contains "an ocean of thought in a drop of language."

Theological Class

How many must say with Tennyson:

"Save for my daily range
Among the pleasant fields of Holy Writ
I might despair."

"Thy Word is a lamp unto my feet."

Literary Section.

The Mutual Improvement Association holds its meetings every Wednesday, in the Church Parlour, at 8 o'clock (see Calendar).

Members of the Guild are cordially invited to attend any of the meetings, which are open to all, and to become Members of the Association. The subscription is 1s. 6d. for the Session.

In connection with this section a Reading Course has been arranged, the subject being "England's Heroic Age." The following books have been selected for special study, and the Members are earnestly requested to read them beforehand:

Dowden's "Primer of Shakspeare," price 1s.

Prof. Beesly's "Queen Elizabeth," price 2s. 6d.

Stopford Brooke's "Primer of English Literature," price 1s.

The Secretaries of this Section are Messrs. A. J. SMITH and F. L. NICHOLS.

The benefit the Church derived from some of these institutions, such as the State club with its 1000 members, was small directly, indeed they absorbed the energies of some of their workers, who might be otherwise engaged. & were in that sense a loss to the Church. But C. however, their regards their indirect influence as great; they break down the prejudice against the Church and show the people that someone cares for them. Takes a broad view of the social questions of the day & in connection with the Temperance Society introduces such subjects as the housing of the poor, competition, &c believing that drinking is due in great part to bad social conditions

Foreign Section.

It has been suggested that a branch of the Young People's Auxiliary should be formed in connection with the Guild, and those who are willing to join are invited to give their names to the Secretary.

Temperance Section.

Our Temperance Society holds a Public Meeting on the second Monday in each month, in the Large Schoolroom (see Calendar). All Members of the Guild are invited to attend and to help.

All persons of fourteen years of age and upwards are eligible for membership, provided they are pledged abstainers.

Members are invited to subscribe 6d. (or more) per annum in aid of the funds.

VISITATION WORK.—The Committee recognise the necessity of going out into the highways to seek those who will not voluntarily come to share the benefits of total abstinence, and have therefore arranged for special visitation work. Full particulars of this can be obtained from Sister RUTH NORTHCROFT, who will be glad to receive the names of any who feel called to this work.

A Brief Record of the Year's Work, 1896-97.

It is our pleasant duty to record the result of a year's work which is full of happy associations, and which provides abundant cause for gratitude to Almighty God. We cannot chronicle any great advance, but we have experienced through the year much joy in a hallowed fellowship of Christian worship and work. The congregation has steadily increased in number, and the public services have been occasions of rich blessing. The weekly meetings for fellowship and prayer have been well sustained, and many times have been made special, by the more abundant outpouring of the Spirit of God. We record with satisfaction the increased interest that has been taken in the festivals of the Christian year, and recal with gratitude the services of the week preceding Easter-Day.

"The people have a mind to work," and there is a fine spirit of devotion to the Church to which they owe so much, and in which, under God, they are being used to extend the Master's Kingdom.

We shall pass in review the various branches of our Church Work further on, but we would at once acknowledge the services rendered in our public worship, and social meetings, by the choir. The simple service of our fathers does not meet the requirements of this musical age. Choral music has reached such a high state of efficiency, and is now brought within the hearing of all classes, that unless there is a union of musical art with devotion in the sanctuary, the service of God's house will lack the attraction it ought to possess. Under the efficient leadership of Mr. Healing, seconded by the skill on the organ of Mr. Sayers, the choir, who sing with spirit and the understanding, render us splendid service, and musical science and art continue to intensify devotion, and are never used to overshadow it.

During the year we have made special appeals to the congregation for financial help, and the response has been most gratifying. In December last a bazaar was held on behalf of the new church at East Finchley, and realized the noble sum of £585.

The trustees have decorated the Church and installed the electric light, the total cost will be about £300. We hope that in a few weeks this sum will be raised. It was expected that the ordinary finances of the church would suffer on account of extra efforts, and the diversion of some part of the offertories ordinarily available for the Circuit Board. We are glad to say that our fears have been groundless, as the Circuit Stewards' Balance Sheet will show.

We would, however, remind the members of the Church of the increased liability that will be imposed upon us at the Conference of 1898, when we shall be required to fulfil our pledge and furnish a second minister's house, and unless the amounts contributed in the classes be considerably increased, the stewards will not be able to make the income of the Circuit meet the expenditure.

The Church Meeting.

A special feature of our organization is the Quarterly Church Meeting; it is greatly appreciated by the members of the Church. The opportunity which it offers to provoke one another to love and to good works is wisely used, and the general result is a deepening of the spiritual life, a keener sense of individual responsibility, and a general desire to put the personal question "Lord, what wilt Thou have me to do." We devoutly thank God for times of refreshing from His presence, and for renewed consecration to His blessed service and work.

The following are the names of the members who have died during the year. Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. Cooper. "These all died in faith." "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord: even so, saith the Spirit; for they rest from their labours." "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

A large number of young people are at present meeting in junior classes, who should be included amongst those in full membership, if these had been returned according to rule, the number of new members would have been considerably more; we hope during next year to add them to the Church Roll.

The Sunday School.

instruction with intense and vigorous Christian life. It is in every respect a nursery for the Church. It is not separate from, or loosely connected with, the Church, but is such an integral part of it that every effort of Church extension, or aggression, is earnestly supported, and in some cases wholly sustained, by workers from the Sunday School. We count ourselves very fortunate in having the services of Mr. Healing as superintendent, and no words of ours can overstate the high appreciation in which his work in the Sunday School and amongst the young people of the congregation is held. We note also, with gratitude, the number of trained teachers, who, though engaged in the work of elementary education during the week, yet ungrudgingly place their services at the disposal of the Church to instruct the young on the Lord's Day.

Our Sunday School attracts the most intelligent and zealous Christians which the congregation can supply. The problem of attaching the elder scholars to the Church has been solved.

The scholars of the Sunday School who attend the public services in the church are amongst our most devout worshippers; they hear the Word of God gladly. We give praise to our Heavenly Father for His blessing on this part of our work.

There are 58 Officers and Teachers, of whom 43 have been scholars in the school.

Day Schools.

Mixed School: Head Master, Mr. JOSEPH J. B. THORNLEY.

The work of the year of this school has been very successful. The average attendance has increased considerably, and the scholars take great interest in their work. The Head Master receives many expressions of appreciation of work done in the school from the parents of the scholars. Two scholars, Gertie Wildman and Louie Ager, have passed the Minor Scholarship Examination conducted by the joint Scholarship Board. The Head Master takes considerable interest in the scholars, and whilst paying special attention to the ordinary branches of elementary education, seeks to make the school attractive to the children.

Plant competitions have been held under the direction of the Horticultural Society, a School Band has been formed, and the usual out-door games have been encouraged, viz., cricket, lawn tennis and football. These are pleasant and "varied occupations" in school life.

GOVERNMENT REPORT.

"I consider that good work is being done in this school. The Record Books of Examination are very carefully kept. Discipline is easily yet effectively maintained."

Infant School: Head Mistress, MISS ADA LEWIS.

This school maintains its high state of efficiency. The early part of the present school year was a time of special difficulty, the number in attendance fluctuated very much. This was due to causes which affect the neighbourhood and are well-known to school managers. The average attendance is, however, considerably higher than it was last year. The scholars are drawn from a better class, socially, than in former years. The parents are most hearty in their appreciation of the school, and the work of the year has been very gratifying both to the managers and to the Head Mistress.

GOVERNMENT REPORT.

"This school is in excellent order and the attainments of the scholars are thoroughly satisfactory."

The Men's Meeting.

The following report has been supplied by the secretary, Mr. J. B. Thornley—

The Men's Meeting has been carried on with the accustomed zeal during the past year. Bright addresses of a religious and social character have been regularly given on Sunday afternoons, and there is reason to believe that men have been reached who do not attend the ordinary church services. At Eastertide, a tea was given in the schoolroom to the lonely of the congregation, and was well attended. By its work, real, if not great, the Meeting has fully justified its inauguration some years ago.

The Loan and Benevolent Fund continues to be helpful to many members of the Men's Meeting.

Visitor—SISTER RUTH NORTHCROFT.

"This Meeting has been held regularly throughout the year, and while the character of its work has been 'quiet' we have good reason to hope that it has been permanent.

"Ten new members have joined us during the year, and six have had their names removed from the roll, so that we now have a membership of fifty and an average attendance of twenty-five weekly. We assemble at 2-30, and the first half-hour is given to the business of the Clothing Club. At 3 the Meeting begins, and the hour is usually divided between the reading of some interesting book and a brief Gospel address. For while many of the mothers are members of the Church there are others to whom this is the one opportunity for hearing God's Word."

The Deaconess.

Sister Ruth Northcroft's Report is as follows:—

"In presenting a report of my work I find a great difficulty facing me; it is that there are a few who know my work very well, and many who know hardly anything about it. For these last I write, at a risk of being wearisome to the others.

"The visiting may be divided as follows:—1st. The sick and infirm. 2nd. Members of my classes. 3rd. Members of the Mothers' Meeting. 4th. Visits to strangers and casual addresses from many sources. 5th. Business calls. 6th. Members of the Slate Club.

"From a classified list made of the visits paid between March 1st and May 31st, which I quote as a sample of my regular work, I was able to find the following result:—

1st Sick ...	93	visits.
2nd Members ...	88	"

4th Strangers ...	26	"
5th Business ...	60	"

384 visits in 3 months

"During the year, 1557 visits have been paid, and 389 meetings attended. I have also given assistance by nursing nineteen cases of slight or more serious illness. Often when it is not necessary for me to do actual nursing I can by a few hints increase the comfort of the patient. This year I have been able to add, to the stores in a nursing cupboard that I have at my vestry, several articles of great service in sickness, but quite out of reach of the poor.

"One of the mothers appealed to me to visit a sick woman living in the same house. I found her very ill, and also learned that a bronchitis-kettle had been ordered, so I ventured to buy one and lend it to her, and quite believe that its use was an important factor in her recovery.

"But in some cases I offer to help in nursing because of the incomparable opportunity thus given for speaking a word for Christ. Actions speak louder than words, and if you do nothing, in many cases, you had best say nothing; people will not listen to words only. If one can bring comparative ease in sickness by a little service one may often gain an influence not to be despised.

Such a case was one of a young girl who had lost much of her interest in spiritual things, and who was dying of consumption. She refused to hear of Christ, and clung to life with great tenacity. But by degrees the way was opened and at last the rebellion ceased, peace came, and in the end death wore the guise of the consoler.

"By God's blessing in another case I was able in the time of sickness to minister both to body and soul. A man suffering from acute bronchitis was raised up from the brink of the grave to newness of life in Christ. He tells me that for twelve years he had only ridiculed religion and was a professed Socialist, but now he says all that is changed, he enjoys the services and has become a member of the Church. I am sure if he sees this testimony he will unite his thanks to mine, to the praise of the Saviour who can lead from darkness to light.

"I had long felt I should like a class to which I could invite working women. Their needs and their struggles, often heroic in their unselfishness, are greatly impressed upon me. So I was glad when early in the year I was entrusted with a women's society class. We have had some additions that we hope will be useful to the Church; we hope to prove ourselves working women in another sense.

"A new departure has been made in the form of a cottage meeting in Willingham Terrace. We began on May 17th, and have held the meeting weekly. We sing a few hymns outside and then retire into the house of a member there. The meetings have been very helpful to those who attend, and while we have had an earnest of God's blessing in the salvation of one soul we are looking for greater results when we resume in September. This work is chiefly supported by the girls of my Tuesday night class and a few of the mothers.

"There is always beside every story of success an untold story of failure; we might tell of hours spent for wanderers who would not come back, of efforts to save the children thwarted by the greed of parents, of kindness abused, and precious opportunity wasted. But we refrain—these stories are true also of the year just closed.

"We need your help and your sympathy; above all, we need your prayers; nothing can so strengthen us in the social work of the Church.

"To God be the glory of all that is done, and everlasting praise that He has called us to be 'workers together with Him.'"

Hampshire Street Mission. X

During the past year the Mission Work in the street has been signally blessed of God.

It is carried on by the young men and women of our Church who, by means of indoor meetings, open-air services, and house to house visitation, seek to give the Gospel message to both young and old in the neighbourhood.

Services are held as follows:—

SUNDAY—Morning School, which the children attend in greater numbers than ever. Evening Service at 7 p.m. for adults, which is preceded by a prayer meeting. During the summer months an open-air service is also held.

TUESDAY—At 7 o'clock a meeting of the "Band of Help," which is very popular with the children.

WEDNESDAY—A Society Class conducted by Mr. Heate.

THURSDAY—A Sewing Class, after which is held a service for the older girls.

The cost of working the Mission during last year was £15 16s. This expenditure is met by means of weekly subscriptions from those engaged in the work. The amount collected in this way during the year was £17 12s. 5d.

Thanks to the kindness of some of our friends we were enabled again to give the children a Christmas party in our large schoolroom, a treat they thoroughly appreciated.

We ask more than ever the prayerful sympathy of the Church that the work may continue to prosper, and that a harvest may be reaped for the glory of God.

Tract Society and Open-Air Services.

Mr. Ardley, the secretary, reports:—

“During the past year the Tract Society has been carrying the glad news of salvation to the poorer districts of our neighbourhood. The value of such work cannot be overestimated; many of the people will not, and some cannot attend a place of worship; and though their Bibles are often unread, the attractive illustration and the well told incident of the tract frequently wins their attention, and the Word of God, which can make them wise unto salvation, gains an entrance into their hearts.

“We have endeavoured to keep all the eighteen districts supplied, but regret that some of our helpers have had to discontinue their work, and so several districts are at present unworked. We would earnestly appeal to those whose hearts God has touched, and who desire to extend His kingdom, to devote some of their leisure time to carrying on this useful work of spreading Gospel light in the dark places of our land.

“In considering the evangelistic work of the Church, we must not overlook that department which aims at taking the Gospel to those who will not enter the doors of our places of worship.

“From early in May until the end of September services were held in the open-air on Sunday evenings, and some of the listeners were induced to accompany us to the church service. Very little opportunity is given us of ascertaining what impression has been made upon the hearers, as the audience is constantly shifting, but He who has commanded us to sow beside all waters will not forget our labour of love, and in the great harvesting in the kingdom of Heaven, we who have sown will doubtless rejoice with those who reap over many who heard the message of salvation at the Open-Air Service.”

St. Pancras Workhouse.

The following report is supplied by Mr. Ardley—

“The services held on Sunday evenings at the Workhouse have been successfully carried on during the past year. The congregations are large and attentive, and the interest awakened, and the expressions of gratitude by the inmates prove that our labour is not in vain.

“As the time is restricted to one hour no lengthened conversation can be had with the people, nor a prayer meeting held to strengthen the impression made by the service, but the serious hearing and fervent remarks on parting convince us that the good seed has fallen upon good ground and is bringing forth fruit to God's glory.

“Each Sunday several of the young men and women of our Church help to brighten the services there by giving sacred solos and anthems and by leading the singing; a number of magazines are also distributed. Supplies of literature will be gratefully received by any member of the choir.

We trust that this work will be frequently remembered in your prayers, that the preachers may be successful winners of many precious souls."

The Dorcas Society.

The Dorcas Society continues to render help to the needy and deserving poor. Sewing meetings are regularly held, where suitable garments are made. In addition to parcels of material for family use 44 garments have been distributed, 32 at the Dorcas Meeting and 12 through the Mothers' Meeting.

Temperance and Band of Hope.

The Temperance Society has held fortnightly, and the Band of Hope weekly meetings.

The numbers attending have been well maintained, especially in the case of the Band of Hope.

It is the aim of the conductors of the ordinary meetings not only to advocate the principles of total abstinence, but to enforce the teaching of St. Paul: "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, think on these things."

We intend during the coming year to make a more vigorous attack upon the sin of intemperance, by instituting a system of regular visitation of those who are in danger of suffering from this terrible evil.

We note the resolution of the Conference as follows, and shall loyally observe it.

"The Conference urges our people to co-operate in the Jubilee Celebrations of the Band of Hope Movement in the Autumn, and recommends that on one of the three Sundays which have been selected for this purpose, viz., October 31st, November 7th and 14th, one service in all our chapels shall be observed as a Jubilee Service."

Number of members of the Temperance Society 127.

" " " Band of Hope 114.

Mutual Improvement Association.

Mr. A. J. Williams, the secretary, reports:—

Our Society, we are glad to report, is in a flourishing condition, and there is no doubt its influence is strong, and that it is of great value to those who attend, and more especially to those who take some active part in the meetings.

"It supplies reading matter of all kinds, food for thought, opportunities for practising the art of composition as well as that of reading and of public speaking.

"The Society is of special use to young people, but may we point out to those who are older that by rendering practical support in attending the meetings, as well as gaining useful information for themselves, they can be of great use to their fellow members through their wider reading and experience.

"We want the object of the Society to be fully attained, viz., 'the mental, moral, and spiritual improvement of its members.'

"To some we already owe a deep debt of gratitude, whose names are to be found in the Minutes of the Association for many years past, and we hope that during the coming winter many others will lend their practical help and sympathy by becoming active members of our Mutual Improvement Association."

The Slate Clubs.

MEN'S CLUB.

The Slate Clubs are intended to encourage thrift among the working classes, and are a practical exposition of the spirit of the words, "A prudent man foreseeth the evil and hideth himself." There is no part of our church work which requires more care, thoroughness, and constant attention, than the duties which fall week by week upon the secretaries of the Slate Clubs. This is an attempt at social work that we note with great satisfaction. Though we are not so successful as is desirable, in attaching the members of the Slate Club to the Church, yet we have good reason to believe that the disinterested work done by the secretaries for the working men and their wives, is a tie which binds them more or less to the Christian Church. Many instances might be quoted of the great blessing of the Slate Clubs to the members in sickness and bereavement. These institutions foster a spirit of Christian brotherhood, and illustrate the Divine rule "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ."

Women's Club, 1896.

At the commencement of the year there were 340 members, three withdrew their payments on account of removal from the neighbourhood, 14 during the year failed to keep up their subscriptions. At the end of the year 323 participated in the share out, each member receiving £1 2s. 2½d. out of £1 6s. paid in. The sick pay amounted to £66 13s. 9d., and our death levy to £8 2s. 6d. The radius has been altered from two miles to half-a-mile. This has been done in order to benefit the more immediate neighbourhood, and also to exercise a more careful supervision of the members by visits to their homes.

Short Summary.

The reports given in these pages do not adequately set forth the work done by this Church. We are pleased to note a deepening conviction that we should attempt more real aggressive work. The duties of the Deaconess, which have been done with such efficiency, are being re-organised. Much of the routine work in which she has been engaged will be assigned to the ladies of the congregation.

We report with satisfaction the enthusiasm of the young people in carrying on the Hampshire Street Mission, and in rendering such efficient help in the services at the Workhouse. A branch of the Wesley Guild has been formed, by which we hope to attach the young people more closely to the Church and to enlist their services in various schemes of Christian enterprise.

The zeal displayed and intelligent interest in Connexional Home and Foreign Missions continues. The Monthly Meetings for prayer on behalf of Foreign Missions are largely attended, and the interest taken in the readings from Work and Workers is unabated. The Foreign Mission Meeting continues to be one of our most enthusiastic and largely attended meetings. The call to support this great work is loud, and our responsibilities in regard to it are great. May we have our share in that blessed consummation when "the kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdoms of our God."

We look back upon the past year with gratitude, and are full of hope for the future.

The circuit has taken leave of the Rev. W. H. Parkin with great regret, and many earnest prayers will follow him in his new sphere of work. We have already offered a very hearty welcome to the Rev. Henry Martin, M.A., and desire for him a year of blessed service.

"Brethren, pray for us, that the Word of the Lord may have free course and be glorified."

Signed on behalf of the officers of the Lady Margaret Road Wesleyan Church.

General Questions

ritchison - Wesleyan

57

The leaders look after sick cases and any difficult cases that are reported to them as needing visitation ^{he visits} has also a band of good workers "with clear heads and warm hearts" who visit the poor. You can never get them to a meeting and must go to them.

Deaconess undertakes nursing cases.

Always look after their own poor. Deacons give about £10 + £20 from the poor fund. Then ~~the~~ Mr C. gives something when he visits if needed & these amounts are ~~now~~ repaid by the officers of the church. Work with the C.O.S. Help to investigate their cases and they help us. Also give £10 to £12 at Christmas time, not dinners

Mr C. is on good terms with the Vicar (Mr Cowd). Thinks there is a good deal of overlapping. Could not, or possibly preferred not, to say anything of the work of the other churches except who do a good deal of visiting but not on our lines.

On the general questions, Mr C. had not much to say. A few had outrelief. Did not see much of the police, but what he did was favorable to them. Most of these people were married at the chapel & did not go to church for ~~that~~ that purpose. "They are well taught here".

There is evidently an active and a growing work centring at Lady Margaret Road. Like most of the Wesleyan places, it is well advertised. Large bills were posted in front of the chapel & also in Kentish Town Road, announcing the 'Men's Own' & the services. Choir, special singers, and instrumentalists &c. A week (or ten days) mission by the connexional evangelist & was concluded on the Sunday previous to the interview. ^(Rev Bennett) As I came away I asked whether they had got many outsiders to attend. "No" said W. C. "some, but the chief effect is the deepening of the spiritual life of our members. Most of those who attended, ~~of~~ who were not already connected with the church appear to have been brought by the members of the church & congregation.

Congregational Church, Maitland Park, N.W.

Seen at residence: 30 Maitland Park Villas

Mr. Nicholls is a sturdy, middle-aged man; strong, intelligent face; hair and whiskers showing lines of grey. Well & neatly dressed, refined manners; a pleasant but not obtrusive talker. Has been here since 1894.

The church is just on the borders of Hampstead & the conformation of the streets cut it off largely from Kentish Town. (see map) As a result of this, the congregation is drawn almost entirely from the roads on the west side of Haverstock Hill and with few exceptions is middle class. Get a few from the district east of Queen's Crescent but the Wesleyan (Wynne Jones) draws most from this neighbourhood.

Ministers only one paid at present, but are advertising for an evangelist for the Missions room. 31 S. S. teachers and a number of visitors & other workers - deacons etc.

Have two distinct Sunday congregations, of which

The morning is the better. In the evening get some working class folk and a number of "religious vagrants", who come for special addresses or anthems [Mr N. issues bills announcing his subjects for Sunday evenings, choosing titles bearing on some subject of interest at the time]. The morning congregation does not vary much - place is fairly full. In the evening the variation is considerable. At present it is greater than in the morning but sometimes is only half as much.

Sunday School children are drawn from the immediate neighbourhood. Clean & well-dressed opportunities for social intercourse, lectures &c. Mothers' Mite Band of Hope, Christian Endeavour Society &c.

Athletic Club for lads. All these institutions are in working order & fairly well supported but present

Visitation

Have a number of visitors to visit the congregation.
Have also visited the district allotted to them by the Free Church Council - house to house, leaving a copy of the following circular. (See next page). This forms part of a general visitation scheme of the F.C.C.

Charitable Relief

The church belongs to a Benevolent or Relief Committee, which embraces most of the churches of the neighbourhood. A monthly conference is held at which the representatives compare lists and if any names are found on ~~the~~ more than one list, arrangements are made as to which church shall undertake the work. Mr B Barclay (St. Andrew's) is the leading spirit in this combination.

For relief purposes they have the Sacramental Fund

ST. PANCRAS PARISH COUNCIL
EVANGELICAL FREE CHURCHES, WEST DIVISION.

DEAR FRIEND,

If you do not already attend a place of worship, we earnestly invite you to attend the Sunday Services of one or other of the Free Churches. A great blessing is promised in the Word of God to those who unite with others in prayer and praise. Thousands owe the peace of their homes and the happiness of their lives to the good they have received in the House of God. You owe it to the present and eternal welfare of yourself and family to share in the worship of the people of God.

Without disparaging the work of other churches, we would remind you of the great services the Free Churches have rendered to the people by their love of liberty, their freedom from State control, their brotherly equality, their trust in the Spirit of God and not in forms, their simple services, their earnest Gospel preaching. The Founders of the Free Churches of Great Britain, by their sufferings, their labours, their loyalty to Christ and His Cross, won for us the liberty we now enjoy. The Free Churches of to-day, by their friendliness, their efforts to elevate the people, their enthusiasm to save souls at home and abroad, and the changed lives of many worshippers, give sure proofs that God is with them. You will find our services bright and helpful, and you will receive a hearty welcome.

Allow us, therefore, for your soul's sake, and for the sake of all that are dear to you, to urge you to attend the House of God, and may its ministry and worship be a blessing to you.

We are,

Yours faithfully,

What do the Evangelical Free Churches Believe and Teach?

1. That the Holy Scriptures are a supreme and sufficient guide of faith and conduct.
2. That faith in Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord is the sole condition of salvation, and not penances, rites, or the absolution of priests.
3. That Jesus Christ is the only Head of His Church.
4. That the Church of Christ consists of all believers, each of whom should strive to bring in those that are without.
5. That the Lord's Supper is a rite of commemoration of the death of Christ, and that Jesus Christ is present spiritually in the hearts of believers who feed on Him by faith.
6. That true blessedness and well-being come only through union with Christ, and that His salvation is free for everyone who seeks it in faith.
7. That the Spirit of God is not limited to any sect or class, but dwells in all Churches that hold Christ as the Head and blesses all who meet together in the name of Christ.
8. That the progress of the Kingdom of God will bring not only blessing to souls, but health to the body, the sweetening of home life, the cleansing of society, the rescue of the submerged, the knitting together of all classes in mutual brotherhood and service as children of One Common Father.

The Evangelical Free Churches, federated in this District, are the Baptist, Congregational, Methodist, and Presbyterian Churches.

Church Membership

Nichols - Congregational

As to the other churches, Mr N. had a word of praise for St Andrews - "They work very well". Of the others he did not speak. Thinks the ground is completely covered and "in some cases covered by 3 or four".

Co-operation in Charitable work by the Local Committee. & in Church work by the Free Church Council. The Congregational churches (5) of Hampstead have formed a Local Committee to arrange Fraternal Re-unions of the members of these churches. The first of these gatherings was held at Dr Horton's church & the second is to be held next week at Mr Nichols. Mr N's church is evidently regarded as a Hampstead Church.

Police do their work well. Has frequently noticed their kindly spirit and patience.

Drink a 'terrible factor'

Church membership was 269 in January. They are growing closely and more than hold their own.

Mr N. was rather surprised at the result of the visitation they recently undertook for the Free Church Council

The Mission House
39 Grafton Terrace

Opinion

Nichols - Congregational

Council. The proportion of non-church goers was much smaller than he expected. Supposes there is a considerable section of the people, who attend a church or chapel irregularly and reckon themselves as belonging to that place.

The Mission at Grafton Terrace is in a transitional state at present. Until a short time ago (1897) ~~the~~ a London City Missionary was stationed there and controlled the work. This did not prove satisfactory and the Church took over the work and are now about to appoint an evangelist. Meanwhile the work is sustained by the Church members. Services are held on Sunday evening. The Sunday school has 21 teachers & 313 scholars on the books with an average attendance of 250. Mothers' meeting, Savings bank, a week night service and an Annual Flower show are amongst the other activities at this place.

Haverstock Chapel is a well to do middle class church, only touching the poor through the Mission. But amongst its own people its influence is no doubt very strong. But belonging rather to Hampstead than Kentish Town.

The Mission District

Character of the Streets

St Stephen's parish.

Mr R. Edgson. L.C.M. 65 Murray Road
Tottenham Park St.

Mission Room: 78 Kings Road, Camden Town.

Mr R. Edgson is a City Missionary. He has been 3 years in Camden Town and previously had a poor district, mainly block dwellings, ~~near~~ in Waltham near the Elephant & Castle, where I knew him. He is an active middle aged man; well educated & has a good presence; rather above the average of the City missionaries.

His district is a small, almost rectangular, block bounded by Pratt Street, High St. Camden Town, Camden Road & Kings Road. It is a much more respectable district than his S. London one was, yet the people are "not too respectable to receive me." It includes 700 to 800 visitable houses and from 2 to 3 times as many families.

The poorest parts of the district are Little ^{Spurly} Randolph Street, Caroline Street, Prebend Street & the Court out of it. Greenland Street is also poor but it is nearly all gone now. Some of the people have migrated into Bayham Street and the portion of that street on the west between Hamilton & Greenland Street is now very poor - a distinct contrast to the rest of the street. The West side of Little Randolph Street is very poor - 4 or 5 families in a house (6 rms + washhouse). West East side is a little better 6 almshouse, each containing 3 old women, each of whom has a small allowance. Caroline Street is very bad at the angle (3 or 4 families in a 6 roomed house), other part of the street near Camden Street not more than 3 families. Prebend St & Court 4 rooms 2 families in each house.

The population is mainly regular working class - a very large proportion are railway men. These are often householders & then their lodgers are usually also employed on the railway.

Rents are high. £40 + rates & taxes for a 8 roomed house. Two rooms let for 7/6; might get two rms in Lit. Randolph Street for 7/- but Mrs. E. does not know a single person, who has two rooms for less than 7/- and only a few at that rate.

Mission Room at 78 Kings Road will hold 60 persons. It is one of the strangest places I have seen.

Park Chapel is not doing so much as it ~~used~~ formerly. Depends too much on the Nurse.

Police have not much to do in the district. Some times called to Little Randolph Street.

As a rule Mr E. is well received by the people, altho' he does not see much definite result except that a number attend the Mission ~~Page~~ regularly. Not much open infidelity but more indifference. The railway men as a class come from the country; they have had religious instruction and so are not opposed to religion.

Mr West, Leighton Hall - (Already seen)

Mr Morrish, High Street district (171). Works west side of High Street

Report of interview with the Rev. D. Wilson, Minister of the English Presbyterian Church, ("Oxenden") Haverstock Hill, at 28 Stanley Gardens. (E.A.) Oct. 27.98.

Mr. Wilson wrote the following post-card, thinking that its brief summary of the doings of his church would suffice.

With you - Oct. 18
Our Agents are: -
2 Services and 2 Schools on Sunday we have had not done since in summer but they have been a vigorous Service of the same kind is conducted close to them and was held and the

Lectures - Visitation
- a Study Plan

At the interview he proved to be a quiet Scotchman, of something under the average height, with a clean-shaven pale face, good profile, gray hair, and grave manner. He was very clerically dressed, and in the proper robes would have made an admirable and picturesque priest. He was a man about 45, and seemed to be living a quiet studious, ministerial life in his little house in Stanley Gardens.

Wilson- Presbyterian (2)

He is not an aggressive man, and his church is not a centre of missionary activity. It has visited its area allotted by the S. Pancras Church Council in its immediate neighbourhood, but furtherest appears to concentrate its energies on keeping its own flock together. It is to this end that all the social agencies are directed, and the object is fairly well attained. The status quo is maintained, the church is self-supporting, but there is no increase. The congregation consists of a few who are rather wealthy, and quite well-to-do; a majority of "respectable middle-class; and a small minority of working class. The greater proportion of the ~~xxx~~ congregation he thinks would belong to a non-servant keeping class.

The church holds 500, and there is a lecture hall that takes 200. Attendances are not large -- perhaps 100 to 150 on Sunday morning, and from 200 to 300 in the evening. The church belongs to the North London Presbytery, the constituent centres of which, as of all others, are ~~some of them~~ "aid-giving", or "aid-receiving" or self-supporting, and, as stated, his belongs to the last class.

They have a membership of 160, and these include many of the younger generation, all ages ~~being~~, according to Mr. W., being represented in fair proportions. The congregation is hardly a family one, however, many families being represented by either the older or the younger members. According to him the households of the district are decidedly eclectic in their choices of places of worship. A certain number of people have always attended who have been diverted from the Church of England by ritualistic practices, but this contingent has had no particular increase in recent years. The church people who come rarely do more than attend: they do not as a rule formally sever their connection with the Church.

The afternoon Sunday School has an average of perhaps from 150 to 200, and on all their registers, he thinks that they have a ^{many of these not belonging to members of the congregation} total of perhaps ~~ex~~ 250 individual children. The afternoon teachers number 16. The other helpers of all kinds ~~xxxxx~~ number perhaps 30. The whole of the visiting in the area allotted by the Free Church Council was visited by gentlemen. Apart from this visiting all the work has the ~~primary~~ primary object of strengthening the church, and binding the members together: there is nothing missionary about it, but many of their people are engaged elsewhere in social or political work.

Alms for the poor amount to but little -- perhaps from £10 to £12 per annum.

Asked as to other churches, which was the most important, the ready answer was "Oh! Dr. Horton's". (He has the Lyndhurst Hall in Rhyll St. by way of mission) Altogether, Mr. W.

Wilson - Presbyterian

reckons that there are about 20 churches and chapels within a radius of half a mile of his own.

Asked as to any co-operation between them to avoid overlapping, Mr. W. mentioned a Council for the relief of the Poor, which meets in the winter: the chaplain of the Tailors Institute is the Sec. and should perhaps be seen.

Minister of Gospel Oak Congregational Church, Southampton Road.

A ~~po~~ slightly built, pleasant faced man of about 40, Mr La Pla is full of energy and reminds me strongly of the Sidney Webb of 7 years ago. High forehead, slight pointed beard & mustache. Speaks quietly but decidedly without any hesitation or reserve. I am inclined to think he has underestimated the influence & work of his church. Has been at Gospel Oak since 1882, when he commenced his ministry.

Drew the people almost entirely from the district, which is cut off by Parliament Fields on the north, the railway east & Southampton Road from Turners to Walden Road on the south. Population has changed immensely since he came. ⁽¹⁸⁹⁸⁾ Then the people - as in Carlton Road had a house; now in that road he knows houses with 6 families. Piercefield Street is also crowded.

There has been a great exodus of the people going on. People have gone to Ilford, Muswell Hill, and Barnet, where they can get small houses and Minister and certificated nurse only paid agents. 30 S.S. teachers & a number of others, about 50 give a great deal of time to the work.

Sunday Services. 11. & 6.30. Morning congregation is the best (400). Evening not so good (350) except when a lantern service is held. Almost entirely lower middle class & working people. A few from Hampstead & this neighbourhood. ^{South} e.g. Park Hill.

A great deal of drink but not open drunkenness. Thinks less heavy drinking but an increase amongst women. It is the regular thing for women to go in & have a drink while shopping. Also mentioned the great increase of the Mansfield Tavern trade since the buses made it ~~one~~ their stopping points. Always a number of corner men standing about there now.

Not any appreciable prostitution - known to exist on Hampstead Heath.

Fairly free from Crime

Have 8 or 9 marriages a year: mainly their own people.

As to thrift - mentioned the bank. Noticed a tendency amongst men to spend a lot of money on Sundays. Sunday leagues excursions &c. and not save anything against a time of need, when they come for help. Thinks it worse as the men leave their wives & children at home. Go once a month or as often as they can.

The Church now has a membership of 200. They are just holding their own and no more. Lose so many by removals. and there is also a tendency to go to the large church. Three of Dr Horton's elders were deacons at Gospel Oak.

As the neighborhood becomes more entirely working class, the churches tend to become mission centres and this is the future
Mr Le Pla sees for his own church.

Mr Allen is a portly middle aged ~~or~~ man, verging toward the fifties. Heavy mustache, bald high forehead and coarse features. He was dressed carelessly & untidy & was not an ~~attractive~~ attractive personality. He has been at St Pauls since 1893, which would be soon after his secession from the Primitive Methodists (See Book LXXV. p 59.)

As secretary of the Free Church Council, he naturally works closely on its lines and when speaking of the district always referred to the area allotted to his church. This is a block east of Kentish Town Road between Hawley Crescent and Prince of Wales Road, bounded on the west by Chalk Farm & Hartland Roads.

Within this area the poorest streets are Leybourne & ~~Hawley~~ Hawley Streets & the rest of small houses adjoining the canal. The remainder is ordinary working class and has not changed much within recent years, although the tendency is toward a lower level, owing to the removal of those who are best off.

Sunday Services. 11 am & 7 pm. Mrs A. was careful to impress me with the respectability of the congregation. One or two deacons come from Dartmouth Park. The morning people keep servants. As to numbers I no hint was given except that at a monthly Sunday evening 'lecture to artisans' the place was 'nearly full'. A congregation of bona fide working men.

Salvation Army (Chalk Farm). Cannot grow much. Has been full for 6 years. Started an outpost in Kentish Town but had to give it up through want of accommodation.

The Free Church Council

The Free Church Council has been successful and is gaining ground. Only two of the free churches have stood out of it, one of these being Mrs Stephens, Highgate Road Baptist. They have arranged ^{and carried out} a house to house visitation; united workhouse services; exchange of pulpits and held three demonstrations. A Mission by an evangelist (Geo Clarke) is now arranged; the a week to be held at the Congregational Church, Kentish Town Road; ~~the~~ ^a second week will be held at the Wesleyan Church, Lady Margaret Road. They also act together for public purposes & in this direction, Mrs A. expects greater success, will act in licencing & similar questions.

Like Mr Woffendale, Mr A would like more outrelief & for similar reasons. Numbers of respectable poor, who would die sooner than enter the house.

Drink is not so bad but Mr A. fears that an increase may take place. Four places of amusement now being built in the district: - Stanley Hall, the Palace of Varieties, Bedford Hall & the new theatre opposite the St Pancras Station. Does not expect opposition to the licences will be successful: can only hope to stop the drunk licences but even that would be ^{only a} temporary success.

Have more blocks of buildings than formerly. Favours this kind of building as the restrictions keep the people decent. Blocks are very much better than tenement houses.

The membership of the church is about 300 and is growing slowly. Lose many through removal & the congregation & membership tends to be more local than formerly.

During the interview, Mr A. seems apathetic & cautious. Everything had to be drawn from him. Towards the end of the interview he found that I knew something of the Baptists & began to interview me as to their peculiarities - This broke the ice somewhat & he chatted confidentially about the other churches, generally confirming the opinion that the older churches are struggling against adverse circumstances.

The popularity of a place, he says depends almost entirely on the preacher. There are a very old people, deacons &c attached to a particular building, who would stay so long as a brick remained but the bulk of the people will not. They will gather to the minister they like. This applies to all denominations except the Wesleyans, who are accustomed to change of ministers.

Mr Wannell is the Treasurer of the Chalk Farm Corps of the Salvation Army, which has its "Temple," behind nos 81-2 Chalk Farm Road, & with the entrance between nos 80 & 81. Staff Capt. Peckering, the officer commanding the North London Division described this corps as the most typical working corps in the division & said that General Booth regarded it as "the ideal of a model corps" (See Interview ~~xxx~~ p 17). Mr Wannell is a sturdy, thickset man of 40 to 45; with keen eyes, closely cut beard; the face & be-speaking a mind as sturdy as the body. He has been connected with the corps for many years. With his wife, he carries on a school of Telegraphy at the above address.

The district worked by the Corps is bounded by Kentish Town Road, Highgate Road, across Parliament Fields by Fleet Road to Haverstock Hill & then by Primrose Hill & Regent's Park to the Cobden Statue & Crowndale Road.

Their people come almost entirely from the labouring classes—railway men employed in the goods traffic, coalies bricklayers' labourers and their wives. Also have a large number Classes for music, drawing, fretcutting, shorthand, dressmaking &c. Try to get the young people, who are not already connected by the S. A. & are fairly successful in this.

The paid officers visit the members regularly.

Results of the work

Wannell - S. Army

All charitable relief is referred to the paid officers. Not many outsiders apply for help, nor indeed do their own people. They help their members and those who attend the meetings but generally get to know of cases needing help indirectly. Have no fund but a soldier will make a collection for the person. As an instance, he mentioned the case of a man who was hurt while at work. They collected enough to pay him his weekly wage while he was disabled.

Give Children's Free tea at Christmas.

Have a Sick Nursing Brigade (under Mr Fallant). They see that no case of illness is neglected. Go in & do for the people.

The whole work of the Corps is organised on the Brigade system. Each member is enrolled in the Brigade, which he or she prefers or thinks the work most suited to his ability ~~or~~ Thus there are Public houses visiting and Wacery selling Brigades ^{etc.}

Mr Wannell speaks very warmly about the Corps. As long as he has known it "the work as never flagged". He had quite a string of cases of gonorrhoea which had been entirely changed by coming in contact with

with the S.A. Especially he mentioned the change that takes place in their temporal condition after conversion. They become respectable, dress decently & get a comfortable home. At Chalk Farm, they have a number of men, who were coalies. They when converted. They saved money to buy a horse & then started on their own accounts. Several now have 5 or 6 horses & employ men. One man now at Hammersmith began in this way and today he has 50 horses.

They started a small outpost at Pratt News, Camden Town but were obliged to discontinue it as the place was unsuitable for meetings & they could not get another place.

My impression from the interview is that the Chalk Farm Corps is a real spiritual force & the centre of much activity. The attendance at the meetings is the more remarkable as the Hall is quite hidden from the main street & there is not even a notice board to acquaint the way-farer with its existence. You might ~~not~~ pass up & down the Chalk Farm Road a dozen times ~~times~~ without noticing the entrance & even if it were you noticed it, might think it was simply a warehouse or yard.

Impressions

* The change of officers does not affect the Corps much but it changes the character of the meetings. One man will go in for lively musical meetings & not very 'deep' teaching while another will give "really good teaching"

Police have some trouble with well-dressed rowdyism in this district and are 'pretty smart' with in dealing

Many of our members think about the future. Think they are thrifty. Many are buying their houses

Report of interview with Mr. A. West, of the Dis-

The Mission is connected with, and financially dependent upon the Camden Road Presbyterian Church. Its present building was bought from the Wesleyans 16 years ago, the elder mission centre in Harwood St. being then given up. Apart from the afternoon S.S. teachers, the supporting chapel gives little personal assistance to its mission: they are content for the most part with a cash nexus.

The Mission congregation consists of railway men and their wives, and of a respectable artisan class. The poorest who come hail from Peckwater St. but their poverty is not of an extreme type -- there is nothing in the n'hood like the poverty of Southwark or round King's Cross (probably this refers to Somers Town). The poorest streets are Peckwater and Hampshire Strrte; the only bad houses in his district are the two in Bartholemew Road, (see police evidenc Rents in the district are high, and going up, but, if people can pay this charge, the houses as a rule are good enough.
He mentioned a house in Leverten Road, with 6 rooms, bathroom and offices, rent $42 plus rates and taxes, $13 or $14.
High rents make many peop e take in lodgers, who are often railway men -- "yeung country fellows; a rare lot round Kentish Town". He gave them a good character.

West - Presbyterian Mission (2)

The congregation is a separate affair, and differs in from many missions in being a permanent and completely organized body, with its own members and congregational machinery. There is no service on Sunday morning, and all that goes on is popularly managed, but, if the place were self-supporting, it would be described as an ordinary chapel, with a strong bias towards the adoption of mission procedure.

Mr. West is himself a missionary of a good type, and the following card gives a very good portrait of him. He is musical, and much of his power comes from his gift of song. After the interview, I went in with him to a short service he holds three times a week for the recipients of out-door relief while they are waiting for the relieving officer to come and begin the payments. It was a strange and melancholy congregation, but Mr. West was clearly a "persona grata" among them. He had a little box, containing a collapsible harmonium of a tiny build, very much like those sometimes seen in the hands of itinerant musicians. The service consisted of a hymn, a solo and chorus, and a little talk on it --- all very simple and pleasant like the man. His own self-complacency of a non-assertive kind, is imperturbable, and his intellect not very searching: he was admirably equipped for his work.

Details of the work: Afternoon S.S.: attendance, 200; register, 250. Teachers, 24. Twelve come in the morning from the congregation and the same number in the afternoon from the supporting church. The latter are better educated, better dressed etc. but do not keep better order in the school.

There are Bible Classes etc. but the great service is in the evening -- Moody and Sankey; solos etc.; violin, cornet; and a crowded congregation. The place holds 400, and it is full. The children are not allowed to come, and special service is arranged for them in the basement of the building.

There are 180 members. full communicants. The other branches of the work include Mothers' meetings, Penny Bank, Adult Temperance, with 50 members, men and women; Band of Hope; Gospel Meeting;; cricket club etc. etc. A gymnasium at the Church in Camden Sq. can be joined by the mission people.

He visits 5 hours a day, in ~~xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx~~ a definite area; sees his congregation and goes from house to house; has open air services; visits weekly at least at the police station, and knows all the staff: "as a body a very nice set of men!" including 30 young and unmarried, and in addition has the morning services at one of which I attended. These are not uninteresting, and are, he believes the only ones of the kind held in London.

Relief is not important, about £17 a year, sent them by Camden Sq., with occasional special help for special cases. The money he distributes himself is given at his discretion.

West- Presbyterian Mission (4)

and there is no reason to think that he is particularly strict or particularly careless. It is not probable that he bribes. The strength and independence of his congregation would make this both unnecessary and unwise. And, as he said, "I don't believe in pauperizing the people". It is probably the case that most of the money goes outside his regular flock. They get their religion nearly free, but there is no reason to think that they want any other relation with it. The collections of all kinds average at about 23/- per Sunday, and this goes to general expenses, and is equivalent it appears from the accounts to about half of what has to be found for general up-keep including £40 that is paid to the London City Mission as part payment of the salary of the Missioner. Of other agencies in the n'hood, Mr. West mentioned the Falkland Road Mission, connected with the Highgate Rd. Baptist Chapel. "Not to be compared with our own, which is old-established, but increasing, and believed to be doing fairly well among a class of people very much like those who come to Leighton Road". The missioner, Mr. Heffenden, comes from Mr. Spurgeon's College. The Highgate Rd. Chapel itself has "a fine congregation". The Wesleyans at Lady Margaret's Road, have a Sister who covers in her visiting much the same district as himself. But there is no friction. At the Parish Church, Mr. Cowd's, "there ought to be a large congregation than there is". At S. Benet's, "very High Church a large number go. Mr. West has a good opinion of the High Churchman, which is exceptional for a man more or less in the service of the L.C.M. He has often found them very sympathetic, and their evangelical brethren "rather narrow". In his own work what he finds is that people want a bright service and "straight talking". Especially is this the case in out-door work. "If you detect a sin, say so", and the man likes you all the better for it.

(5)

Mr. W. considers that drink is the worst thing in the district. There is not much co-habitation. The worst streets are Peckwater and Hampshire.

The general tendency is for the n'hood to get poorer, the well-to-do classes moving out more and more. But this does not mean that poverty is increasing. Like Mr. Cowd, and others, Mr. West wd agree that the district is going both up and down, the worst streets improving.

Interviu with Mr J. H. Stone, Sec. of the Kentish Town Mission of Lyndhurst Road Church, Hampstead.

Mr Stone is a man of from 35 to 40: black hair and moustache: hooked nose:
strong intelligent face: exceedingly friendly and cordial.

I saw him at his office in Bishopsgate
St: his surroundings indicated that he was a prosperous and healthy man of business. If not actually one of the first who came under the influence of Dr Horton (see Book 77 Page 112) he has been connected with the Church for many years, and has been working at the Mission for 15 years. He is now I gather more than any other one person responsible for the whole control of the Mission, but the branch of work in which he is most actively concerned is that among boys and lads, the Boys Brigade and the Boys Club.

The account given of the Mission work is

The Church 'Manual' is so complete that it is needless to add little to it.

Mr J. told me that the book in Kentish Town is almost contemporaneous with the tentative foundation of the Church: it is all an outcome of the enthusiasm engendered by Horton's preaching and teaching, and was begun in a very small way in 1878. It has gradually grown and in 1891 they branched out into larger premises.

As to the class of people who were touched Mr J. said that they were all entirely of the working class, but not the lowest: round about Gospel Oak there is a large population of clerks who would like to take advantage of the Church's Gymnasium etc, but they have been rigidly excluded: and a rule has been made that none shall be admitted but those who live within a radius of a mile, preference being always given to those who live nearest to the Mission buildings.

Both Horton and his workers look upon religious and social work as inextricably mixed: "you cannot separate them": and the whole ultimate aim of the mission is religious, "to bring the people into union with God through Christ - and they know too that all our work is done with a religious motive"; but the mission is run on broader and more liberal lines than is common: with the exception of the Boys' Brigade, whose members are expected to attend a Bible class, all the agencies are open without any religious test: there is a complete absence of evangelic methods, and evangelic cant: there is no blip in or parade of "conversions" etc: all these things both Horton and I have hated. The result of the attitude they have adopted is that they have failed to please either party among modern non-cons: they are not evangelic enough for the evangelicals and they are too definitely religious for the broad people.

But taking the work as a whole that which is primarily social is much ~~more~~ more successful than that which is primarily religious: religious services and meetings of all kinds are poorly attended. The whole work from the religious point of view is that in connection with the Adult School: but many of the Men who have joined this belong to other churches, and do not come to the services at the Mission Hall. Altogether about 20 to 30 from the Mission have become members of the Lyndhurst Road Church, but Mr. Glover does not encourage them to do so: there are Bazaar and other funds in connection with the Church which "are not the sort of thing for Kentish Town".

The voluntary workers connected with the Mission are 130 and "they are quite the best of those who do work for the Church" (i.e. Lyndhurst Road Church). Mr. Glover's main object and that of all the workers is "to cultivate personal friendships" among the people. Now among the boys and lads Mr. G. knows them all intimately, visits their homes, goes with them to camp etc.

The information in the Report as to Relief is very scanty: figures will be found on page 104. It is given in tickets through the visitors. We have had a very unfavourable report on this point from the C.O.S.: Mr. Glover is himself a strong, sensible man, but I fear that here he exercises no control.

and does not know what goes on. Probably the figures in the Report only represent a small part of what is given. Though Mr J. repudiated the assumption that there was "a rich church" yet in comparison with most non-con churches it certainly is.

Speaking of Dr Horton Mr J. evidently has the greatest admiration for him, but in criticism said that he was too emotional and impulsive: as a result of his temperament he does too many things himself and thrusts too many things upon the Church. Something new is constantly being started and the Church is overburdened with the result that some branches of the work suffer in workers and funds. The Kentish Town Mission is to some extent suffering in this way. The work of the Church would benefit by concentration.

Speaking of the District round the Mission Mr J. thought that it had advanced very little since he knew it first. Kitchen & remains much the same, but otherwise there is possibly a slight improvement.

They certainly come across finer cases of great parents than formerly.

X KENTISH TOWN GENERAL REPORT.

Several important changes have occurred during 1897. First, we have lost Mr. Hamilton. This is not the place to pass a eulogy on our friend, but we cannot write a review of the year without saying how much we are indebted to him for his services. Consequent on his departure it became necessary to make a slight change in the management of the Mission. At the August Church Meeting a variation was made in the constitution of the Mission and the post of Chairman of Committees was substituted for that of General Superintendent. The direction of the Mission has now been placed in the hands of four Managers—the Chairman of Committees and the three Secretaries, acting under the Committee.

A second important change has been made in the direction of our Men's Work (also noticed further on). Our friends in the Adult School are doing such a good work, that it seemed undesirable to have any distinction between the work on Sunday among the men, and that during the week. Our Committee have therefore given over the management of the Men's Club to the Adult School. Care has been taken to fully provide for the welfare of those who are not Members of the School and also to reserve the right of our Committee to resume the direction if at any time they should consider it right so to do.

We have to welcome Mr. Tinling, and we are grateful for the work (his time being divided between Lyndhurst Hall and Cricklewood) which he is able to accomplish amongst us.

Our list of workers is a long and noble one, still we are very hardly pressed for suitable men and women with whom to carry on the work. We have a large undertaking in hand, capable of much expansion, but we are nearly at the limit of our powers owing to the lack of more leading workers. In the Men's Club several gentlemen who can give one or two evenings a week are urgently wanted. We require men who can discuss the topics of the day and enter into the difficulties of the lives of our London working men. We are also in need of an athlete who can lead in the Gymnasium and enthuse by his presence the younger men of the Club to whom gymnastic exercises are so beneficial.

In the Boys' Brigade Report it will be noticed that three of its leaders have been compelled for a time to withdraw from active service. Any men who are volunteers, have an opportunity here of using their military knowledge and taking part in one of the most important Branches of all our Mission, because the impression which can be made on boys of fourteen years of age is such as may easily influence the whole of their lives.

We do not look for much extension during 1898, because we have reached the extreme limit of our forces, and until the Church furnishes us with the men and women to do the work it cannot be extended; but what we hope to do, and that successfully, is to perfect that which we now have in hand. Our space is also limited and the time does not yet seem to have come when we can further extend our buildings. Loud complaints are constantly made at the inability of the managers to find suitable accommodation for existing requirements; the best, however, is done in difficult circumstances.

A study of the Reports following will show the Members of the Church that a very large work is being done of an almost unique character, and if any of our supporters have a doubt as to its character, we would urge upon them to visit the Hall and see for themselves before forming an opinion.

A word of acknowledgment is due to that excellent charity the Kentish Town Medical Mission, which has rendered help to many of our people.

X LYNDHURST HALL SUNDAY EVENING SERVICES.

The attendance at the services on Sunday evenings has been well maintained during the past year, and though we have not yet succeeded in getting the Hall full, the number of regular attendants has sensibly increased.

A Committee has lately been formed from 12 or 14 of the more regular attendants to consider the means by which the service may be rendered more attractive and the attendance increased; but, though much is expected from this, yet it is felt by some that, until the Visitors themselves take the matter more seriously to heart and make the Hall their regular place of worship on Sunday evenings, thus encouraging those whom they visit or amongst whom they work during the week to come too, any marked improvement must not be looked for.

One of the first efforts of the Committee was directed to making the Hall appear brighter by the display of plants upon the platform, and in this, through the help of friends in Hampstead, they have succeeded.

A change has recently been made in the Choir, and we have supplemented the kindly efforts of the Guild Choir with those of some of the Members of the Girls' Club. We are hoping also shortly to secure the assistance of a few of the Members of the Boys' Club.

Probably very few of the Members are aware that owing to the growth of this School and the various branches that circle round it, we are compelled to meet in three different buildings. The main School meets in the Hall at Warden Road, the infants are accommodated at the Board School in Holmes Road, whilst the Brigade and Choir meet at the Wilkin Street Schools. Only those who are associated with work of this kind know how awkward this is, but we gladly work on in the hope that we may some time have suitable buildings to meet our needs.

The infants number 150, with an average attendance of 100. During the year, 40 of the children have been transferred to the Upper School.

By kind permission of Basil Woodd, Esq., the little ones in June last had their summer treat in the beautiful meadow at Woodlands, Haverstock Hill.

Many of the children are prevented from attending regularly owing to lack of clothes, and for some time we have been trying in a small way to obviate this difficulty, and we hope, without trespassing on Mrs. Christie's work, that many of our friends who read this Report will be able to spare us a few children's garments, and so help to more completely meet this want. Boots appear to be most in request. Parcels may be left at the Hall addressed to Miss Helen Cross.

The Christmas treat held at Lyndhurst Hall was greatly enjoyed by the children. Two Christmas trees, well laden with toys, were provided by the kindness of the Young People's Guild and other friends.

The Upper School has now 365 children on the roll, with an average attendance of 290.

Every Sunday morning Mr. Morris holds a children's service in the Hall.

Our Choir, conducted by Mr. Harris, of Fleet Road School, is making splendid progress, and we hope at the next Festival to show the extent of the progress made. Besides the study of hymns the children are being perfected in the tonic sol-fa method.

The interest in the monthly service for parents of scholars conducted by some of the Sunday School Teachers has been well maintained. The children's choir leads the singing at those services.

The Wednesday Bible Class both for boys and girls, conducted by Miss Ada Houghton, is steadily increasing.

During 1897 the visiting has been entirely remodelled. When Litcham Street and the right side of Weedington Road were taken up by Lyndhurst Hall, St. Martin's Church was doing nothing in those streets, though they are in her District. Very efficient visiting is now carried on by Mr. Russell and his curates and many cases of overlapping have been brought to light at the Monthly General Relief Committee. We have therefore withdrawn from homes already visited by several Missions that we may keep in closer touch with Members of the Hall living in neighbouring streets who have hitherto been neglected for lack of time. To carry this into effect a register has been made of all those attending the Mission (with the exception of the Sunday School and Men's Adult School, which have their own system of visiting); every Member receives a call once in three weeks. The personal interest shown in this way is much appreciated, and those who keep the register notice that where formerly but one of a family belonged to the Hall the names of others are gradually being added as the result of visits paid to the home and information given by the Visitor about different Branches of the work.

Cases of illness and distress are made known, the services of the District Nurse and other help obtained for those most entitled to it. Perhaps there has not been so much serious illness as usual, but Nurse Valery is constantly occupied, having paid 3316 visits during the year. Many have regained health and strength through her aid and the nourishment supplied from Lyndhurst Hall; others who had little chance of recovery at home have been persuaded to enter a hospital. We wish once more to express our thanks to those who send us letters for Hospitals and Convalescent Homes and to say how much they are needed.

None but those who have tried know how much work is involved in keeping the register of a continually shifting population; but it is much hoped that by this means not only will new Members be added and old ones retained, but also a bond of union formed between all the Branches of our Mission.

LADIES' PRAYER MEETING.

A prayer meeting, conducted by Mrs. Christie, is held in the Work-room, behind Lyndhurst Hall, the last Tuesday in every month, at 10.20 a.m.

MEN'S EDUCATIONAL CLASS.

Conducted by the Misses A. and E. M. MAY.

Hon. Secretary—Mr. J. BLAY.

The work carried on in this Class has been continued throughout the year, with the exception of the summer interval, it is believed with good results.

The Conductors have had to regret the loss of the valuable help of Miss J. Spence and Miss Little, who for various reasons have been obliged to retire. Miss Richardson and Miss Spalding are kindly taking their places on alternate Friday evenings.

Two or three lectures have been given which were greatly appreciated. The Annual Tea and Entertainment was held at the end of January, when several friends greatly contributed to the success of the evening. The Shakespearian readings have been continued at the house of the Misses May, and are felt to be of value not only for the readings themselves, but also for the opportunities they afford of friendly intercourse.

MISS MUDIE'S CLASS.

The past year has been a most enjoyable one, not only on account of the character of and interest in the lectures, but also on account of the many pleasant hours spent at various places with Miss Mudie, Miss Stoddart, and the leaders of the Class.

There are more Members than last year. Miss Stoddart has continued her course of lectures on "Constitutional History," and the interest of the Members is well sustained. Several Members of the Class have given lectures or technical expositions of their own trades, or accounts of their travels at home and abroad.

On the retirement of Mr. Hamilton the Class presented him with a testimonial signed by all the Members.

During the vacation the Class was entertained on Tuesday evenings at "Budleigh" for an open-air conversational meeting, which was much appreciated by the Members. Great enjoyment was experienced from a visit to Canterbury under the care of Miss Stoddart, and a delightful afternoon was spent at Miss Swindel's at Clapham.

In September an "At Home" was held, Lyndhurst Hall being kindly lent for the occasion. A very delightful evening was spent, the Class presenting an illuminated address to Miss Stoddart and a bouquet to Miss Mudie, as a very trifling recognition of their constant care and provision for the pleasure and instruction of the Class.

It should also be mentioned that a special loan Library is being formed.

Mr. HAROLD SHEPHEARD.

The year 1897 has been a very eventful one in the history of the Club and has brought with it both encouragement and disappointment.

In the summer it was found advisable to abandon the week's holiday in the country, which had been held for seven successive years. This decision was an act of discipline and its necessity came as a great disappointment to the officers of the Club. It is hoped to resume the outing next year, as the value of these holidays to the Institute life is incalculable.

Before the new winter session, which commenced in October, the officers met all the older Members of the Institute and explained to them that in future 21 years would be the age limit for membership, and expressed a hope that those over age would join the Men's Institute. The old Members, though very sorry to leave the Youths' Club, elected to become Members of the Senior Branch. Their spokesman referred to the debt they owed to the Club for what it had been to them during many years, thanked the workers and expressed a wish that the Club in the future might be as successful as in the past.

On Christmas Eve, the old Members entertained the workers and presented to Mr. Geo. Rocke, as representing the managers of the Club, a beautiful album containing the photographs of nearly all of their number, with the following inscription:—

“We, the old Members of the Lyndhurst Hall Institute, beg to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks for the kindness shown and work done on our behalf; and in order to more emphatically express our gratitude and regard, we tender you this spontaneous gift.”

It is pleasant to note that the old Members since their retirement have been most ready to serve the Institute in any direction they could.

The links which should connect the Boys' Brigade to the Senior Club (youths), and that again to the Men's Institute, have now been forged, though much remains to make the connections more effectual.

When the Institute winter session commenced in October, it was found that about 25 of its older and more influential Members had left and joined the Men's Club, leaving the effective membership hardly more than 30, though to this should be added five boys who came up from the Boys' Brigade. At the end of the year the membership was 47, or about 20 below the average of recent years. Steps are being taken to enlarge the membership, but it is not thought advisable to admit new boys too fast, as it is important to consolidate and to maintain the esprit de corps.

The work done in the Gymnasium since October has been better than at any time in the history of the Club, whether judged by the number of Members at work or their earnestness and application.

No joint meetings of the Girls' Club and Youths' Institute have been held this winter, but the officers of the Institute still think such meetings of great advantage to the work.

The Sunday Class has been poorly attended since October, but the recent changes are partly accountable for this and there is reason to look for an improvement. There is no space to refer to other branches of the Club's activities.

The Choral Society is no longer a branch of the Institute, having been put on a broader basis, though its Members are still nearly all drawn from the Institute (past and present Members) and the Girls' Club. The Society is making marked progress.

Notwithstanding the length of this Report nearly everything has been left unsaid. The best work of the Institute must lie outside of any Report. It is not possible to enumerate the friendships and comradeships which make up so much of the Institute life and nothing can be said of acts of unselfishness or efforts after right-doing. The Club motto for the year is the familiar passage, commencing "Whatsoever things are true," and the Club exists to make it easier for its Members to give effect to these words in their lives.

JUNIOR CLUB.

The 66th London Company of the Boys' Brigade.

Captain—Dr. HENRY SHARMAN.

Lieutenants—Mr. A. LETHAM, Mr. O. H. HANSON,
Mr. F. M. B. CARTER and Mr. R. S. WATERS.

Miss W. FOSTER. | Miss HAYCRAFT.
Miss A. GARD. | Miss M. HAYCRAFT.

Mr. E. G. HAYCRAFT.

The Brigade Session (1896—97) closed on May 31st, 1897, and was the most successful one our Company has yet had. The Company at that date numbered 45 boys (viz., one Colour-Sergeant, one Sergeant, three Corporals, two Lance-Corporals and 38 Privates), with five officers (a Captain and four Lieutenants). Thirty-two drills were held on Friday evenings during the session, with an average attendance of 42 out of 45 boys, much the best average yet attained by the Company. Twenty-eight boys attended the two Bible Classes belonging to this division of the Brigade (Senior, Miss Sharman; Junior, Mr. Naish). Seven boys attended the Lyndhurst Hall Sunday School, eight boys went to other Sunday Schools, and one boy attended meetings of the Salvation Army. Altogether 44 out of the 45 boys of the Company were attending Bible Class, Sunday School, or other religious meeting on the Sunday afternoons all through the session, with an average attendance of over 36.

Monthly addresses were given on parade as usual throughout the Session. Captain Ellison again kindly inspected the Company on Friday, May 21st, 1897, and noticed considerable improvement in comparison with the previous session.

Successful Drawing, History, Science and Writing Classes, were held by Miss Foster and her brother, Miss Horton, the Misses Gard and Miss Edmunds.

Twenty-six boys out of the Company (as compared with nine during the previous session) won Efficiency Stars (not absent from drill more than twice in the session, and no black mark).

The Company attended three Church Parades during the session—at Lyndhurst Road Church, Hampstead; St. Cuthbert's Church, West Hampstead; and Trinity Presbyterian Church, North Kensington.

The Summer Camp of the Company was held from June 4th to June 12th, 1897, at Hayling Island, in Hampshire. Thirty-nine boys of the Company (a record Camp attendance) were present in Camp, together with eleven boys of the 1st Hendon Company of the B.B., making 50 in all. Cricket and sports, boating and bathing were indulged in, expeditions were made to Portsmouth and the Victory, and a steamer cruise took place in the Solent. The Sunday morning Church Parade was held at the South Hayling Congregational Church, where Mr. Hamilton took the service by kind permission of the minister. The evening service took place in the Camp mess tent, and Mr. George Rocke gave an address on "Nehemiah," which will be remembered by all who heard it. Mrs. Herbert Stead called on our Camp and gave away the prizes for the sports, etc.

The new session (1897—98) opened in October under somewhat adverse circumstances. Miss Sharman had to resign her position as Registrar, Treasurer and Visitor, and her charge of the Senior Bible Class; Mr. Naish had to give up his Lieutenancy and his charge of the Junior Bible Class; and Mr. Hanson has had (owing to his reading for an important examination) to give up all connection with the week-day work of the Company for the present. He has, however, found it possible to take the Junior Bible Class on Sunday afternoons. In addition to the loss of three of our most important workers, we have lost (either from work preventing their attendance, or from their having reached the age-limit) the pick of our older boys, to whom we could look for an example and influence.

Under these circumstances we must concentrate our work this session, and not make it too ambitious in its scope. The workers left with us and new helpers are doing their best to fill the gaps, "each stepping where his comrade stood." Miss Horton took our Senior Bible Class for three months, and it has now been kindly undertaken by Miss Haycraft. The registration and Treasurer's work was undertaken by Miss Gard at the beginning of the session, and will for the future be looked after by Mr. Carter. Our new Lieutenant, Mr. Walters, has kindly interested himself in the athletics, especially the football. We have no Science, Writing or History Classes this session, but Miss Foster's Drawing Class and Miss A. Gard's Wood-carving Class are doing good work. Advance this session we can scarcely look for, and shall feel thankful if we are strengthened to prevent the Company's work from going backwards. Our motto for this session must be "Stand fast."

The work in the Girls' Club has made steady progress during the past year. There is no large increase in the number of Members, but the average attendance has greatly improved. The Club is open every night in the week, and Classes are held for Singing, Musical Drill, Dressmaking and Needlework, both plain and fancy.

An entirely new feature in the weekly programme has been a course of lectures on "First Aid to the Injured," kindly given by Dr. Parry, which has been much appreciated by the girls. We have yet to learn how many have passed the examination held at the close of the course.

As there is no Class on Saturday we try to make that a social evening. Refreshments are provided and the girls spend the time in making garments and dressing dolls for some cripple children in Canning Town. It has been both pleasing and encouraging to the workers to see the girls taking such a sympathetic interest in their work.

The weekly attendances at the Bible Class held every Sunday afternoon have steadily increased during the year, but the list of Members is still far below what we wish to see it.

The meetings of the Snowdrop Band are held every month and have been very successful.

The Annual Display of Musical Drill, Singing and Needlework last June was a great success, this result being due in a large measure to the thoughtful interest of the girls themselves.

The Annual Summer Holidays spent at Clacton-on-Sea were very much enjoyed by both workers and girls. We much appreciate a week spent in this way, as it affords many an opportunity for friendly and helpful talk, which it is almost impossible to get in the rush of life and work in Kentish Town. Since then we have sent three of our more delicate girls to a Convalescent Home at Brighton.

During the summer, while the Club was closed, one or two very pleasant Saturday evenings were spent in walks and games on the Heath, the girls being first entertained by one or two kind friends who invited them to tea in their gardens.

One of the events of the year has been a very happy evening spent with the Members of the Girls' Club in Canning Town, when the two Clubs mutually entertained each other.

A long-felt want in our work has been met by Mrs. Edwards, who has recently formed a Class for our married Members, whom she meets on Friday afternoons from 3 to 4.30. One cannot over-estimate the usefulness of this Class, thus enabling us to keep in touch with those who have married and left the Club.

We have this winter been able to start a History Class on Wednesday evenings, in addition to our usual Thursday evening meeting, which is devoted chiefly to musical drill. The History Class is conducted by Mrs. Percy Roberts and has become one of the most popular branches of the Brigade with a certain number of the girls. Otherwise the work has gone on much as usual, but we feel the lack of another evening which could be devoted largely to social intercourse and so enable us to get into closer touch with the girls than is possible at the drill. We much hope that some ladies will volunteer to join the Brigade next winter and thus make this possible.

LYNDHURST HALL BAND OF HOPE.

Conductor—Mr. J. S. LIGHT.

Secretary—Mr. C. B. CROSS.

It is a pleasure to be able to report increased and indeed eager interest in this work on the part of the Members; perhaps this may be accounted for to an extent by the fact that the meetings have been of a more varied character, and at these addresses have been given by Dr. Taylor, Mr. Geo. Rocke, Mr. Tinling, Miss Gard and Mr. Winterbotham, a lecture on "Life in a Pond," with dissolving views, by Mr. Rendle, of the R.S.P.C.A.; two simple lectures on "Physiology," by Dr. Lewis Glover; a most fascinating lecture (with experiments) by Mr. Stokes (public analyst of St. Pancras), on "A glass of water;" and last, but not least, a "Fairy Pantomime," given to the parents and friends in January of this year.

The number of members is now 150 and the average attendance for the whole year is 100.

THE MOTHERS' MEETING, KENTISH TOWN.

Conductors—Mrs. ALFRED DAVIES and Mrs. CHAPLIN.

There is little that is fresh to report concerning this work which is continued and it is believed enjoyed by its Members. Mrs. Chaplin conducted the Class during Mrs. Davies' absence.

THE MOTHERS' UNION.

President—Mrs. MINSHALL.

The Report of the Mothers' Union is necessarily a brief one, for its results are not such as can be tabulated; yet we believe it is having a useful and happy influence on the Members, helping some, at least, to strive after a higher ideal in life and home, more especially in the training of the little ones. Many speak with grateful appreciation of the monthly meetings and it is pleasant to note their successful endeavours to enlist new Members.

The usual summer gathering took place at 38, Parliament Hill in July, and it is intended to hold a special Women's Temperance Meeting for the Members of the Union, the Adult School and Mothers' Meetings, early in the year. The Lyndhurst Hall Branch meets on the first Tuesday in each month; the Gospel Oak Branch at the Mission Room, Lamb Street, on the last Friday.

On January 4th, the weekly meeting of the Club was the occasion of a pleasing incident in the form of a presentation by the Members of a handsome electro inkstand to their Secretary, as a token of their appreciation of and warm gratitude for her services.

THE WORK-ROOM.

Superintendent and Treasurer—Mrs. CHRISTIE,
21, Denning Road, N.W.

The Work-room presents no new features of interest from year to year, but it seems necessary for the sake of those who have only lately joined the Church at Lyndhurst Road and therefore do not know about it to explain its aim and method of working. It is intended to help the women visited in the Kentish Town

Districts or attending the meetings at Lyndhurst Hall by giving those who can sew very plain needlework and paying them for doing it. The garments made are sold at a trifle over the cost of materials to any one who likes to buy them and by this means a large number receive help for which they are very grateful. The work is given out and the clothes are sold every Tuesday morning from 11 to 12.30 in a room below the large Hall. No one can have needlework who does not bring a ticket signed by some one responsible for its value if lost. These tickets can be purchased by anyone, but the Lady Visitors and those who hold meetings at the Hall are supplied with them to use at their discretion. A small contribution is made from the general funds of the Mission to pay for the needlework, but a larger amount comes through the "Jumble Sales," which are held two or three times a year and to which all the people eagerly look forward. Last year the parcels of clothing, etc., received only allowed of two Sales being held instead of three as heretofore. This was not only disappointing to the people, but it made an appreciable difference to the funds, which were £5 behind at the close of the year. Mrs. Christie can always arrange to send for parcels of old clothes, carpets, or household oddments on receipt of a post card giving her some idea of what is to be fetched; or anything can go direct to Lyndhurst Hall, and if addressed to her and containing some intimation from whom the parcels come they will be duly acknowledged.

There are two or three women who can undertake fine needlework and orders for such are an advantage to the Mission. Ladies can send it ready prepared, or can have it cut out to pattern and material supplied as desired. There are between twenty and thirty ladies who give a considerable amount of time to this work—some attend on the Tuesday mornings and others cut out the garments required at their own homes, besides additional helpers at the Jumble Sales.

The useful work carried on in the little parlour in 47, Litcham Street is to provide evening recreation for working girls as a counter-attraction to the perilous amusements of the street. The Sunday evening attendances show this object is gained, and the gatherings on week-evenings are being utilized to teach needlework, singing, and even reading and writing. It is hoped that one result of the efforts made thus to help these girls, who are of the poorest and most ignorant class, will be to draft them into the Girls' Club at Lyndhurst Hall, for which they are as yet hardly ready.

The "Girls' Parlour" is affiliated to the Sunday Evening Recreation Association, under whose auspices the work originally began.

THE LENDING LIBRARY.

Librarian—Mr. H. F. CARTER.

The Lending Library has remained in a fairly flourishing condition, although there has been a slight falling off since last year, when its cataloguing and rearrangement aroused considerable attention. The Boys' Club in particular has lost interest, and the Library is patronized by comparatively few of the men.

We have on our shelves, roughly, 800 volumes, classified under the headings of Fiction, Boys' Books, Travel, Geographical, Historical, Natural History, Essays, Prose Works, Social Science, Poetry, Biographical and Magazines.

Works of fiction (particularly of Mrs. Henry Wood, Edna Lyall, Charles Kingsley and Besant & Rice) and boys' books circulate very largely, and although we have an excellent selection of historical works, essays, and social science, they are rarely taken out; poetry, including most of our best known English Poets—never.

The Library is opened on Monday evenings from 8.15 to 9.15, also one other evening in the week. A charge is made of one penny a month to partially defray wear and tear, and to purchase new books.

We have 100 odd subscribers on our lists, and an average of from twenty to thirty volumes are exchanged on Monday evenings.

THE SATURDAY CONCERTS.

Director—Mr. J. HOWARD GLOVER.

Stewards—Messrs. WARREN, MENCE and DOUGLAS.

This season twenty-four concerts are being given and so far it has been a most successful one. On nearly all occasions the Hall has been quite full, showing that the efforts of the many entertainers have been well appreciated. Our thanks are due to the ladies and gentlemen who have provided the concerts and thus given evenings of pure enjoyment to between 300 and 400 persons at a time. Our General Secretary, who acts as Director, only does so owing to the difficulty of finding a successor to Mr. Nutter Gray, so we should be glad to hear from any volunteer who would undertake the work.

Mr. Carter and Mr. Light have resided at the Settlement throughout the greater part of the year, but in November Mr. Carter left, so that the only resident at present is Mr. Light.

Medical Officer—Dr. J. COLLINGWOOD ANDREWS.

Secretary—Mr. T. BRADFORD, 76, Marquis Road, Camden Square.

For the year 1897, this Society has done very well indeed. There was less sickness than in 1896, the average being 4.50 days per Member, against 6.2 for 1896; unfortunately, the mortality was just double that of the previous year. At the Annual General Meeting there was a complete change of officers, Mr. Bradford being elected Secretary, Mr. W. J. Young retiring. Any information respecting this Society will be gladly given by the Secretary on Saturday evenings between 8.30 and 10 o'clock.

FINANCE.

The expenditure appertaining to this Mission for the year 1897 was £18 less than for the year 1896, but this is a level which it would be folly to even wish to see maintained, because if it could be done (which, however, seems impossible) it would simply result in inefficiency. Cleaning and painting which has not been done in one year must be undertaken in another, and a building like Lyndhurst Hall which is used every night and much during the day suffers a great deal of wear and tear. An expenditure of £750 per annum is at a very moderate computation the lowest amount required to keep this Mission in an efficient state of work and the buildings in proper repair. The expenditure during 1897 amounted to some £610, but even at this figure the balance of £43 3s. 9d. was on the wrong side of the account. A special appeal was made last year and the deficiency was cheerfully met. We purposely made no extra effort at the end of this financial year, hoping that the extreme economy practised might have found the accounts balancing.

The subscription list fortunately has not varied to any important extent, as it is only about £3 less than the previous year. The general deficit, however, is accounted for in the quarterly collections made at the Church. A glance at the preceding Manuals shows a condition of things of which possibly the knowledge may alone prove to be the cure. The following are the particulars of the quarterly collections at the Church, commenced in 1891:—

1891	151	15	8
1892	138	7	0
1893	124	14	6
1894	102	15	8
1895	98	13	9
1896	56	10	3
1897	48	7	3

It is fair to add that the subscriptions and donations rapidly rose until 1894, at which date they began steadily to recede. The following are the particulars of subscriptions for the like period:—

	£	s.	d.
1891	294	1	8
1892	261	4	1
1893	449	7	4
1894	499	11	3
1895	494	13	8
1896	484	5	4
1897	481	0	1

and a sum of £71 16s. 11d. received from the special fund raised to extinguish the deficit of 1896 account and for other purposes.

To put the finances of the Mission on a satisfactory basis with a view to a continuance of the present work in an efficient state, it will be necessary to increase our subscription list by about £75 per annum, and that the Church collections for the Mission during the year should produce not less than £130. These amounts would leave a balance in hand with which to commence a fresh year, whilst at present the accounts are continually overdrawn.

Will the Church during this year, now that it has the knowledge, see to it, that this Mission work is not crippled for want of funds?

Kentish Town Adult School. XX

MEN'S DIVISION.

Meeting at Lyndhurst Hall every Sunday morning, from 9 till 10.30.

School President—Mr. W. G. SNOWDON GARD, LL.B.
(President of London Adult School Union).

President of Class A—Dr. E. CLAUD TAYLOR.

President of Class B—Mr. W. G. SNOWDON GARD, LL.B.

President of Class C—Mr. TRAVERS BUXTON.

President of Class D—Mr. H. FULLER CARTER.

President of Class E—Mr. JAS. S. LIGHT.

Treasurer—Mr. HENRY A. BROADHURST.

Secretary—Mr. EDWARD C. ROOT.

Assistant Secretary—Mr. HENRY A. BROADHURST.

It will be seen from the above list that there have been several changes in the Class officers since last year. Class A lost its President, Mr. Andrew Hamilton, to whom they were so much attached; he has been succeeded by Dr. E. C. Taylor. Class C has also a new President—Mr. Travers Buxton, who had for a long time served the Class in the capacity of Vice-President. It was a matter of keen regret not only to his own Class, but to the whole School, that Mr. James Lakeman was compelled by change of residence to resign his membership. Class D has elected Mr. Horace F. Carter to be its President in place of Mr. John Sanders, who was obliged to resign on account of other works he has in hand, although he remains an active Member of the School.

We have also to record the death of the four following Members:—In Class E, Mr. W. H. Hill, late Secretary to Miss Mudie's

Class, and Mr. T. Emmery, who was killed by a sad accident ; in Class A, Mr. W. Church, who was the Secretary of the Men's Sunday Union, Secretary of the Penny Bank, and a most efficient helper in much of the work at Lyndhurst Hall ; and Mr. W. Leeden, who died in the London Temperance Hospital.

Our attendances have been as follows :—

Quarters.	1896.	1897.
Jan. to March	86	96
April to June	87	85
July to Sept.....	86	87
Oct. to Dec.....	90	94

Our Samaritan work has been diligently carried on, and is beginning to be recognized by some of the other Schools as a necessary part of Adult School work. At a conference of Secretaries, held at Chalfont House Friends' Settlement, our Secretary, Mr. E. C. Root, read a paper on "Samaritan Work," which was considered of so much importance, that various Schools have since invited him to read it to them. As a practical outcome of the paper, a united Samaritan and Convalescent Committee has been formed to ensure hospital, convalescent home, and, if possible, surgical aid letters being promptly at the service of the Members of the London Schools when needed. Mr. T. Noblett (Class B) is the Secretary ; Mr. E. C. Root, Assistant Secretary ; and Mr. W. G. Snowdon Gard, Treasurer, of this "Central Samaritan Committee."

The services in the Lodging House in Litcham Street have been conducted every Sunday throughout the year ; but, for want of speakers, the Out-door Services (which are carried on by the same Committee) have been held monthly instead of every Sunday. It is intended to start the Open-air work again in May, and to hold services each Sunday if sufficient assistance be forthcoming. All those able to assist either as speakers or in the singing are invited to communicate with the Secretary of the Lodging House and Open-air Work, Mr. Jas. Benny, of 5, Little Randolph Street, Camden Town. The Annual Tea to the Lodging House friends was held on July 28th. Mr. W. G. Snowdon Gard presiding, the Adult School and the Temperance Society on this occasion uniting as hosts. The third Christmas Afternoon Entertainment to the men was given at the Lodging House, sacred and secular music being provided, thus enabling the men and the Mission workers to spend a very happy afternoon together.

Probably the most important event of the year was the handing over by the Mission Committee to our School of the entire management of the Men's Club and Institute. The somewhat complicated negotiations and arrangements have been completed, and there are already signs of good results.

The School (Men's and Women's Divisions) have jointly undertaken the management of the Lyndhurst Hall Total Abstinence Society, and we give a cordial invitation to all total abstainers to attend our weekly meetings, which are held on Wednesday evenings at 8.30, and to give us all the help they can in this very difficult but urgently needed work.

All men over 17 years of age are eligible for membership in our School, and a very hearty reception will be given to any man visiting the School on a Sunday morning. We are earnestly trying to put into practice the motto of our Division, "Let brotherly love continue." We wish we could help friends who are unacquainted with our work to understand what splendid opportunities for usefulness the School abundantly supplies.

WOMEN'S ADULT SCHOOL.

Held at 3 p.m. every Sunday.

President—Miss HARRISON.

Secretary and Treasurer—Miss JESSIE GLANVILLE.

The average attendance throughout the year has been 37, whilst the names on the books now number 65. Twenty Members pay into the Coal Club, £7 15s. od. having been deposited. Six also belong to the Doctor's Club.

This year a more regular system of visiting has been adopted, which we hope will strengthen the union existing between the Members of our Class. Eleven of our number have been appointed to look up absentees, each being responsible for those on her book and reporting cases of illness. A Samaritan Fund has lately been started, for which a collection is made every Sunday; the management is in the hands of a Committee elected from among the Members.

Wider interest is being shown in the Adult School Union, our delegates to the Council seldom fail to attend and bring back a report of the meeting. We have had a friendly interchange of visits with the Camden School and our attendance at the united meetings held at Lyndhurst Hall has increased. The Total Abstinence Society has been taken over by both divisions of the Kentish Town Adult School. By this means it is hoped a fresh stimulus will be given to the Wednesday Evening Meetings and more earnest temperance work done.

We are now studying the Life of St. Paul and though there is no regular discussion the subject is followed with great attention. Several visitors have addressed our Class during the year and been warmly welcomed.

The membership of the Club has fluctuated in numbers each quarter, much as it did in past years. The Club commenced the year with 200, it fell to 120 at midsummer, and kept gradually falling till October, when it was increased by a contingent from the Lyndhurst Hall Institute. About the same time some Members of the Adult School also joined, making the total 211, and after deducting eleven as lapsed, the year ended with 200 Members.

It was thought desirable by the Lyndhurst Mission Committee to transfer the control of the Men's Club and Institute to the Kentish Town Adult School, so in October last this was formally effected. The Institute will, it is believed, prove of great service to the School in the character of its work, whilst the warm brotherly feeling of the School and its definite religious purpose cannot fail to give a higher tone to the Institute, if the School is faithful to its much enlarged responsibilities.

The Club has well fulfilled its function as a recreative centre in its best sense. The greatest interest has been taken in all the games, and various tournaments have been played. The interest in draughts from some cause rose to fever heat and a knowledge of draughts has induced many of the Members to learn chess.

The Wood-carving Class, under Mr. T. E. Taylor, commenced the year well, but stopped at midsummer. At the beginning of the winter session, some of the old Members recommenced with three new ones added. The work of the older Members is now past the elementary stage.

The Building Construction Class, which began in the spring of 1897, under the direction of Mr. Ibbetson, went on well till May, when it was suspended for the summer term; but it has not been resumed since as there has not been a sufficient number of applicants to warrant the continuance of the Class.

The Ambulance Class is now an established feature and its Members, old and new, meet every Friday evening for practice or lecture. Its First Aid Class opened in November, 1896, and continued to May 21st, 1897, under the direction of Dr. H. Cameron Gillies, who gave no less than fourteen lectures. The result of this was apparent at the examination which was held at Lyndhurst Hall, June 11th, when the whole of the candidates who attended the examination passed, and the Class was complimented on its "intelligence" by the examiner. The new First Aid Class was commenced in November last under the joint control of Drs. H. Cameron Gillies and Owst.

The Debating Class, which used to hold its meetings on Monday evenings, has transferred them to Saturday evenings. Popular subjects are chosen, having often a present day interest. Among other subjects the following have been debated:—"The Indian Famine and the Government," "Education and the School Board Election" and "The Engineers' Lock-out from the Employers' point of view."

The Gymnasium Class, which has been under the charge of Mr. H. F. Carter, has kept well to its work, so much so that it was able to give a special display on Saturday, June 12th. The Class was in October joined by a contingent leaving Lyndhurst Hall Institute, and this has increased the membership to nineteen, all of whom are in active preparation for the forthcoming displays at midsummer.

The Chess Club still holds its meetings in B Room on Thursday evenings, which is a special night for the Club Members; on other week-nights the Members play in other rooms. Tournaments are promoted and prizes awarded.

The Cricket Club, which numbers fifteen Members, secured a ground at Child's Hill for the season. The Club played eighteen matches, winning eight, losing eight and two were drawn.

Miss May's and Miss Mudie's Classes are reported on specially. Below is the present programme of work of the Institute:—

WEDNESDAY WOMEN'S CLASS.

Held at 3 p.m.

President—Miss HARRISON.

Secretary and Treasurer—Miss J. GLANVILLE.

Helpers—Miss TURNER and Miss CORNISH.

The number on our books has risen to 145 and the attendance is very good. Forty-five Members belong to the Provident Club (amount deposited £19 18s. 4d.) and 18 to the Coal Club (amount deposited £5 5s. 8d.).

Early in the year most interesting lectures on Sir Walter Scott, with extracts from his works, were given by Miss Stoddart, and we have had the pleasure of a visit and address from Miss Mead, on more than one occasion.

In June a large party from the Sunday and Wednesday Classes made an excursion to Chingford; the weather was all that could be desired and it proved one of our most successful outings.

The meeting was closed as usual during July and August. Shortly after it re-opened, Miss Hobson, who has been trained at the Northampton Infirmary and Great Northern Hospital, gave an address on Nursing of a most useful and practical kind. The subject has been continued at our ordinary meetings and in October Dr. Taylor very kindly began a course of Ambulance Lectures; unhappily these are discontinued for the present owing to his unexpected summons to Turkey, but we look forward to their completion on his return.

We cannot put into words the deep regret felt by all connected with our Sunday and Wednesday Classes at the retirement of Miss Jessie Glanville from the position she has held so long and so well. At our united Christmas Party, in the large Hall, on December 23rd, a tea-service, with an address expressing the warm wishes of both Classes, was presented to Miss J. Glanville. A very pleasant evening was spent with music and recitations, also addresses from Mr. Snowdon Gard and Mr. Tinling, who took Mr. Hamilton's usual place in presiding at the distribution of Christmas gifts.

This Society has held its meetings weekly throughout the year with three exceptions. The attendance at 49 meetings shows an average of 53. The actual results at meetings during the year have been small, 14 pledges only having been given. The loss of Mr. Hamilton who so regularly attended has been greatly felt. The programmes during the year have been of the usual character, songs, recitations, music and addresses. Three lantern lectures have been given and were much appreciated. The fourth Annual Meeting was held on Wednesday, April 7th. The Report given at that meeting showed that the work had not increased but, in comparison with previous years, had decreased. The Annual Social Meeting was held on December 15th, when 58 were present. Miss Harrison presided and Mr. W. G. S. Gard gave the address; songs and recitations followed. This Society has recently become a Branch of the Kentish Town Adult School; a Joint Committee has been formed in conjunction with friends interested in the work, and it is hoped that this change will result in an increased activity and a more effective membership.

Rev. D.W. Vaughan M.A. Minister of Kentish
Town Congregational Church; Victoria Road
Seen at his residence: 31 Dartmouth Park Avenue.

Mr. Vaughan is a tall well built man of about 35. Dark hair and mustache. Keen and capable - strong face. Has been 10 years in the ministry & 4 1/2 years at Kentish Town.

The population is artizan and working class, with some shopkeepers. Has almost entirely changed and the middleclass people have gone - not in his time but the old people talk of the change in the district - it is almost complete now. People are not poor except off the Divices of Wallis Road, where there are some very poor.

The Church has reached the better class working people, clerks, shop assistants and artizans but has not been very successful in reaching the working man e.g. the labouring class. Try to reach them thro' the P.S.A. but altho' they have got some 30 men of this type, Mr V. thinks the P.S.A. has failed in this respect at least of his ideal for it.

Notes on Services

Social Agencies

Vaughan - Congregational

The Congregation is mainly from the district so far as numbers go. The financial strength of the Church however is in 'this neighbourhood' e.g. Dartmouth Park. The attendance is smaller in the morning than at night, the better people mostly coming in the morning & the poorer folk at night, the dinner, distance & other usual causes controlling this matter. Usually 600 to 700 at night; full now & again when anything special attraction.

The P.S.A. now reaches 150 but most are their own church people.

The Christian Endeavour Society has 120 to 140 members. 'The strongest in North London' and from it Mrs. V. gets much of the work done - distributes leaflets, visits &c. Indeed Mr. V. turns to the members if he wants anything done rather than to the deacons.

Social Agencies are active & Mrs. V. is evidently pushing this part of the Church's work vigorously, and this incurs the opposition of the old & conservative section of the church. The Medical Mission was started recently as a 3 months' experiment in ~~deference~~ deference to such opposition but was allowed to ~~continue~~ ^{continue}

He has been asked to join the local committee but has not done so, but on the other hand he has guaranteed amounts towards cases they were relieving.

Church has about 4000 members. Is increasing.

The Free Church Council is about the only way in which the churches co-operate. Is very hopeful of it & regards it as one of the significant things of the time, ^{& the most hopeful movement of non-conformity in the century.} Have united communions &c

Recently the Free Churches had a fortnight's mission, conducted by a Mr G. Clarke. It was held for one week at Mr Vaughan's Church and the second week at the Wesleyan Church, Lady Margaret R. In reply to questions respecting this, Mr V. said that they had large audiences on the week evenings and the chapel was crowded on Sunday evenings. The afternoon meetings were "pretty well" filled.

General Questions

Vaughan - Congregational

As to the results, about 300 persons passed through the inquiry rooms or bore testimony by letter of the benefit they had received. Does not think they reached many who were outside some church influence; a number of cases of drunkards, people who were in despair & almost frantic and would clutch at any straw; families where the children were attending the Sunday schools: these were the people attracted beyond the attenders of the churches. Mr V. agreed with previous witnesses that these missions were opportunities ^{when} for the young people & others attending the church's services attached themselves definitely to the church.

Looking at the question about the other religious agencies, Mr Vaughan said that he thought their own church was "more highly organized & more active" than any other; adding in an apologetic tone "One cannot help ~~sometimes~~ estimating sometimes the work of one's own church. This estimate is probably correct however as it agrees with the opinion expressed by other witnesses.

Could not speak about poor relief. They do not allow any of their people to go to the parish.

Vaughan Congregational

Thinks the police keep themselves aloof from the publicans. Kentish Town he believes is becoming worse & worse as regards drunkenness, burglary and impurity. His opinion on the first point is based on the constant increase in the value of publichouses. He instanced a publichouse at the corner of Harewood St, which a few years ago was sold for £6000 & has since changed hands at £18000, £23000 & £30000 altho' only an ordinary trade. As to impurity "sometimes it looks as if there were not a pure woman in the street" said he, referring to Kentish Town Road. Also mentioned a house in Kelly street, nearly opposite the Church, which is said to be disorderly.

Marriages of their own people & others, who, he believes attend the church. "There are a great many people, who don't want to be too closely identified with the church. They are afraid of some financial burden".

Health not nearly so good as it might be. Overcrowding & foul air, bad drainage. Does not think the sanitary authorities are to blame as they do their best. It is the high rents &c

In the future, Mr Vaughan believes the church must

must become more socialistic. e.g. look after the poor and become a saving influence to all.

He is evidently trying to work to his ideal in this direction as the new agencies started & the opposition of the older members prove. The Church is gradually moving in the direction he leads. Its attitude to the Temperance movement illustrates this. Asked whether there was any strong temperance feeling, he said "No, but there will be". The older deacons are moderate drinkers but the newer & younger men are total abstainers. The same is true of the Church members. [This seems to point to a similar movement in the church to that taking place in the ministry. The older ministers are mostly moderate drinkers but the younger ministers and over 95% of the ministerial students are abstainers.]

Mr V. is an able and energetic man; full of enthusiasm altho' feeling the opposition of less ardent spirits perhaps a little too keenly. He has some good workers round him & with the possible exception of Rev Wynne Jones's church, Kentish Town Cong^l is probably the most powerful Free Church in the district.

Mr Pollard is a pleasant grey bearded old man of 60 or thereabouts. Talked readily of the Russians & was full of anecdotes about the people. Has been working in Manchester and Belfast, coming here from the latter place 15 years ago. His wife died about 2 months ago & this interview was delayed in consequence.

The men of the neighbourhood are mostly unskilled labourers: the class that can do anything but nothing properly. Lounge about the street, go message, many style themselves painter; he calls them "paint overs" They are not capable of doing any but the simplest work. He had got employment for some of them with a builder but they could not do the work. The women work at the laundries and charing: there is plenty of work for them & he is chary of recommending a woman for work as there must be something wrong if a woman cannot get work. In Litcham Street some of the women keep their husbands at home while they go to work.

Mr Pollard's report gives a brief description of all these meetings & the substance of much that he told me so I give it on the next page.

The only additions needed are:

The Reading room is open every night except Wednesday. They have a membership but no subscription.

He mentioned a curious caste distinction in the Mothers' Meeting. At one time they fused the two meetings and then the Litcham St mothers (the poorer) petitioned that their meeting might be returned to Litcham St. Once a year the two meetings come together for the Annual Tea & then they do not mix. "You come next Tuesday (the date of this re-union) & you will see the Litcham St Mothers sitting at different tables from the Rhyl Street people".

Pleasant Saturday Evening

Pollard - Unitarian Mission

Mr Pollard is not keen on Saturday night "Pleasant Evening" altho' he has one. They were instituted to keep the men from the publichouses. The men get half drunk before they come home & before the P.S.E begins. You don't get the men that would go to the publichouse but the ^{respectable} men who would go home & go marketing with their wives. These men neglect their houses for the meeting & the wives neglect the house in consequence & Mr P. has known cases where the man has gone to drink because his home was neglected.
He has sometimes thought of opening the Mission on Saturday afternoon for the men instead of the evening.

THE REV. J. POLLARD'S REPORT
 RHYL STREET AND LITCHAM STREET
 (KENTISH TOWN) MISSIONS.

In reviewing our operations in Rhyl Street and Litcham Street for the past twelve months, I am conscious that the recurring attempts to describe the work of the Missions must in some degree be wearisome and monotonous to the readers. I can imagine also that to some it seems an easy thing to prepare a report, and yet I feel how difficult it is to give anything like an adequate representation of the great variety of duties, scenes and experiences peculiar to the homes of the poor and the degraded with which your missionary is brought into contact.

It would be impossible to estimate the amount of good done in the several branches of the Missions: visiting, preaching, lecturing, teaching, and many other kindred agencies, all of which bring forth rich and abundant fruits.

In visiting house after house, I have been both pleased and grieved: pleased to see, here and there, improvement in cleanliness, in virtue and goodness; and grieved to see so much vice, improvidence and drunkenness. During the winter I met with a great amount of suffering arising from long-continued sickness and unusual mortality. The misery and wretchedness confronting me have been more intense than I have known for years. It is here, therefore, that the sympathy and zeal of the Christian Missionary find their truest sphere. It is in this work that the homes under my care have demanded so much of my time. I can say, from my own knowledge, that I have known numbers of the poor who have never fully satisfied the cravings of hunger.

As a typical instance,—One Sunday morning a little girl came and said, "Please, Mr. Pollard, will you come and see mother and father?" On arriving at the home I found both parents ill in bed together, four little children in the room, and not a crust of bread or anything in the way of food in the house. The man had a letter to go into the Hampstead Consumptive Hospital, but was too weak to be moved. I could report on many starvation homes like the above, and on much worse—homes in which not one of the inmates had broken their fast for a whole day.

Sickness, fevers of various kinds, such as typhoid and rheumatic, consumption, &c., have been more than usually severe. These diseases have carried away in a very short period some of my most useful helpers, five mothers, four fathers, and two widows, leaving thirty-one motherless or fatherless children, and eight orphans. Eight of these I have been the means of getting into various homes where they will be cared for. Mrs. B. writes, "Dear Mr. Pollard, I am extremely thankful to you for your many kindnesses to me. I am thankful I ever knew the Mission." Mr. H., "Dear Mr. Pollard, I am sure I cannot give enough thanks to you for being so good to me and my children. I might have been starving but for you. I am getting on very well now. God bless you!"

Many a burden has thus been lifted from sorrowing hearts, who in their poverty have keenly felt the need of some one to help them. If I could clearly set forth the real wants of the many poor around our Missions; if I could adequately draw the picture of the never-ending battle with misery, want and sin, what a great light would dawn upon the darkness which surrounds us! It is little use preaching to such people about their spiritual condition when their physical state is so deplorable. It is really terrible to think in what manner they are compelled to live and sleep, especially where there are big boys and girls. Abject poverty is an evil, and though I never regarded our Missions as designed to annihilate it, neither do I look upon our work as an alms-giving institution, yet I do feel that our Mission has its place in the amelioration of our social system. Our institution has other higher and nobler aims than mere giving, although this will sometimes help to bridge over the gulf of poverty. I will give two cases out of many:—

S.—I was sent for to baptize two children who were said to be dying. The day following the younger died, the other got better. The father was lying sick from a long wasting illness. Here there are eight children. The oldest one, a girl of fifteen, earns about seven or eight shillings per week; another is a messenger boy with part food and 1s. 6d. per week. The man was in no club, and I had to find boots and an old dress before the woman could go out, and the same for the girl, for she was almost naked; I have also given some clothing to the rest of the children. How could I say to such, "Be ye warmed and filled," and leave them in deep misery and want?

H.—I was always pleased to visit this man at home, in consumption; his wife—a little active, pleasant woman, with five little children—going away to work when he was unable, and never wanting any relief. One day I was sent for to come at thers' Meeting for the season successful meeting, when Lady gave a most interesting and rs. June 8th, 105 women ord, with a good tea provided en expressed their thanks for and especially for the great ding her very useful lectures. from the congregation went ernoons with Mrs. Parker, her st enjoyable afternoon was ld, and justice was done to a another meal. of Mr. Slatter, of Brighton, ting went to Brighton. once, and the poor man died soon after I arrived. I thought and said, "Poor woman, what a sad thing to be left in such a condition!" but she replied, "Well, Mr. Pollard, I shall have two or three pounds left after he is buried." I prevailed upon her to let two of the children go to the parish school. And here are extracts from two letters sent to me by the children: "Dear Mr. Pollard, I . . . hope the school is getting on alright. I am getting on alright with my schooling here. I thank you for your kindness to me." The next is from the sister of the above. "My dear Mr. Pollard, I . . . send my best love. I shall be very glad to see you again some day. I am getting on with my lessons well . . . Dear Mr. Pollard, please send me a letter, I do want to see the school." The mother of these two children keeps three, and is such a pleasant, hard-working, cheerful woman that it is a pleasure to see her. I said to her at Christmas, "Would you like to go for a good dinner to Mrs. Mappin for Christmas Day?" and she said, "Well, I should, but I know there are so many worse off than I am, send one of them."

Poor Relief.—The relief of the poor this winter has caused me more anxiety than usual, as sickness has been more prevalent than in previous years. The aged and sick have been helped and cared for. Boys and girls have been assisted with clothes, and in many other ways; but especially girls with clothes, to enable them to make a start, or to better their surroundings at home or in service. Thus the many kind friends who have sent clothing have helped to keep back from society a flood of poverty. A poor woman in W—s, who was deserted by her husband a little after her confinement (he is now dead), and who left her to struggle with four little children, blessed me many a time for my timely help in her deep distress. I took myself three parcels of clothes here, which have been most serviceable to the little ones.

I will now give a sketch of the work of the Missions.

In my many and varied duties, which are ever increasing amongst the neglected poor, I can truly say I am a minister at large, with this addition, that I have a most successful Sunday-school and Religious Service, with as many useful branches for good connected therewith as it is possible for a Christian Church to have.

June, 1896.—Rev. Henry Solly and Miss Solly invited twelve of our poor children from Litcham Street to spend a part of the Saturday afternoon at their house, and on the Saturday afternoon following they entertained twelve more. Both parties enjoyed themselves immensely, besides having a good tea and refreshments before leaving at night. Miss Solly and Miss Wicksteed gave them apples and oranges, for which the children were most thankful. I feel sure that the givers in this case received more than the recipients.

June 2nd.—On closing the Mothers' Meeting for the season there was a tea followed by a successful meeting, when Lady O'Hagan took the chair, and gave a most interesting and instructive address to the mothers. June 8th, 105 women enjoyed a delightful day at Chingford, with a good tea provided by Mrs. Cash, to whom the women expressed their thanks for her kindness to them each year, and especially for the great help they had received from attending her very useful lectures. June 15th, 54 of our elder people from the congregation went to Harrow Weald to spend the afternoon with Mrs. Parker, her family, and some friends. A most enjoyable afternoon was spent in the gardens and the hay-field, and justice was done to a splendid tea, and before leaving, to another meal.

June 22nd.—By the invitation of Mr. Slatter, of Brighton, 41 women of the Mothers' Meeting went to Brighton. All enjoyed themselves greatly. In the Unitarian schoolroom they were provided for generously, and Mr. Slatter was heartily thanked, and also Rev. Mr. Hood and the Committee of the Brighton Chapel and School.

July 1st.—Rhyl Street Sunday-school children had their annual excursion to Chingford, when nearly 600 children and 127 adults enjoyed a delightful and happy time. July 20th, 121 children and 27 adults from Litcham Street spent a charming day at Southend-on-Sea. I trust our friends will send me sufficient funds to take these children to the same place this year. I can assure them that the children are much better for even this brief change to the seaside.

August Bank Holiday.—Thirty-one of our Teachers enjoyed a splendid day at Ascot, through the kind invitation of Miss J. D. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lawrence. For the first time I was prevented from enjoying this pleasant and refreshing event, which, I assure our kind friends, is talked about all through the year, and is a red-letter day to us all.

October 4th & 5th.—Our Annual Harvest Thanksgiving Services were held to overflowing congregations. The morning and afternoon services were conducted by myself, the Rev. W. E. George and Miss Anna Sharpe, and on Sunday evening by Rev. F. H. Jones, of Dr. Williams' Library, and on Monday evening by Rev. W. C. Bowie; the attendance at each service was about 450.

On Christmas Day I held the usual service, and there were more children and adults present than usual on these occasions.

Christmas Dinners.—Mrs. E. E. Mappin, as in previous years, gave me an invitation to send twenty-four poor families for a Christmas dinner. Each mother received a new flannel petticoat and a dinner, according to the number in the family. Mr. and Mrs. Mappin also sent three lots of rabbits, numbering in all sixty-one, which were thankfully received by the sick poor.

Mrs. A. T. Webb also gave me an invitation to send ten poor families for dinners, and these received dinners in proportion to the number of their family. Another gentleman, a friend, knowing the state of our people, also sent me money to enable me to give a hundred people some relief.

Several friends have been most kind and helpful to me again this year. The sick have been unusually numerous and the work trying. Miss Gould has been most helpful and kind in visiting a portion of the sick. She has not only visited them, but has helped them from her purse, and has also given them nourishment all through their sickness until they have either recovered or gone to rest. I have also to mention here Mrs. Osler and Mrs. Baily, who have been ever ready to help in this work. To these and many others our thanks are due, and I sincerely assure them that I am grateful for their timely assistance.

On December 29 our elder scholars had their annual tea and meeting, when Mr. P. M. Martineau was in the chair. On the 30th our younger children had theirs, when Mr. F. S. Schwann for the fourteenth time took the chair; and on the 31st the Litcham Street Sunday-school children had theirs, when the Rev. S. Fletcher Williams took the chair. All these parties, as in previous years, were successful, and all passed off well and satisfactorily. The usual prizes were presented by these gentlemen to those who had won them by regular and punctual attendance and good conduct through the year.

On New Year's Eve I held the usual watch-night service, assisted by Rev. W. E. George, which was, as in previous years, a great success. At the close of the service a woman more than half-drunk asked to see me alone. I called her into the vestry, when she said, I had convinced her that she was wicked woman. I let her sign the Temperance pledge and then prayed with her. I am happy to report that this woman, like many others I could name, has kept her pledge, and is now doing well. Her children are better clad and better fed, and the home is happier.

Visits.—I have paid nearly 1,000 visits to the sick this year and over 2,000 ordinary visits to various families, besides Hospital and the Infirmary.

I have held Communion Service four times this year with a fair attendance.

Band of Hope meetings both at Rhyl Street and Litcham Street are held once a week through the season, and they have both been fairly well attended, as also has the Band of Mercy.

I have had thirty-five baptisms this year, thus bringing the number now registered in the baptismal book to 543. We have had a greater number of deaths during the same period than usual.

Sunday.—Sunday-school at 9.45 A.M., and at 2.45 P.M., Sunday School Savings Bank at 4.15. In this branch there are so many depositors that I am assisted by Miss Bland and Mr. Albert Bland. At 11 A.M. there is a Children's Service which is attended (according to the Secretary) by an average of 275 children and 20 teachers. The Evening Service for Parents and Adults is most encouraging, both in point of numbers and also in religious devotion. The numbers upon our Sunday-school books are: Rhyl Street Scholars, 733, and Litcham Street 121; total 854. These consist of: girls 481, boys 373, besides 23 teachers in the morning and 36 teachers in the afternoon. There is an occasional prayer meeting after the Sunday evening service.

Monday.—At 2.30 Mothers' Meeting, to which is joined the Litcham Street Mothers' Meeting. The attendance all through the year has been good and encouraging. These meetings have been carried on by Mrs. Pollard, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Read and Mrs. Bland. From 2.30 until about 5.30 I have a Mothers' Provident Savings' Society and a Coal Club. From 6 to 7 P.M. Sunday-school Library, at 7 the Band of Hope Meeting at Litcham Street, which has been fairly well attended, and at 8.30 Entertainments and Lectures at Rhyl Street, which have been given by various ladies and gentlemen, including Mr. George and myself.

Tuesday.—At 7 P.M. Band of Hope Meeting at Rhyl Street: well attended. At the same time the Cadets of Temperance. At 8 Sick and Benefit Society and Sharing-out Club, and at 8.30 Sons and Daughters of Temperance, Sick and Burial Society, all in different rooms.

Wednesday Evening.—Religious Service. These services are fairly well attended and much appreciated. After this service there is a Choir practice, etc.

Thursday.—At 7 P.M. Band of Mercy Meeting at Litcham Street, and at 7.30 Rhyl Street Girls' Sewing Class, under the management of Mrs. Pollard, Mrs. Bland, and Miss Baily, with their teachers, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Goslin, Mrs. Love, Mrs. Aston, Miss Bland and Miss Burnhill. At 8.30 Mutual Improvement and Debating Society.

Friday.—At 8 P.M. Mrs. Cash meets her women to give them her instructive, useful and interesting Lectures, which still continue to be well attended.

Saturday.—"The Lucy Summer Rogers' Free Kindergarten Class," which is carried on every Saturday at Rhyl Street from 10 to 12, with an attendance of from 60 to 80. This Class is entirely under my superintendence. The children have greatly benefited by this Class. This year they are better and tidier than in any previous year, under their present teacher, Miss Bland, who pays great attention to them. Miss Clara B.

Rogers, who founded this class to the memory of her late sister, though she resides in America, still takes great interest in the Class, and makes all inquiries about it.

The Saturday Pleasant Evening for Adults at Litcham Street is still kept open from 8 to 10 or 10.30 P.M., but with very poor results this year.

I have been the means of getting nine children, who were either orphans or fatherless, into various Industrial Schools.

Savings' Bank.—During the year there have been over 6,000 deposits by over 400 depositors; amount deposited during the year 1896 was £108 18s. 9½. Balance from 1895 £78 8s. 8d.; total £187 7s. 5½d. Amount withdrawn during the year 1896, £146 10s. 9d. Balance for 1897 £40 16s. 8½d.

I can truly say I strive to keep the objects of the Mission ever before me, and I am by no means satisfied with a full school and church and the zeal of my helpers. I am constantly trying in various ways, direct and indirect, to carry out the aims of the Mission, and to show that religion is the source of all real happiness; indeed, to show that religion is best either for the rich in their gilded rooms, or for the poor shivering before a fireless grate, suffering from sickness, hunger, and want. During the year I have made special efforts to rouse the spirit of hope, and have persuaded some to try to make a change. My fervent desire is that those who read these yearly reports may all become more cheerful givers and helpers.

In return for all the kindness and help my wife and I have received, I can only most sincerely thank everyone, and press on, trying to be more useful in the service of God and man.

I wish here to express my hearty appreciation of the services of the Rev. W. E. George, B.A., who has been with me again this year, as the Missionary Fellow from Manchester College, Oxford. In the midst of many duties outside the Missions, Mr. George has done what he could to lighten my burden by his willingness to co-operate with me in the Mission work at both Rhyl Street and also at Litcham Street. I am thankful to him, and I wish him every blessing and success in the future.

The many calls I have outside the limits of our actual Mission nearly double my work.

As years go on duties increase, greater activity is required, applicants for almost every necessary of life, as well as to be admitted into our schools, are ever at the Mission door, and, conscious that I cannot entirely be a minister at large, I feel that the things accomplished have often been far less than those hoped for; that devotion itself has often been nearly in vain, and sin so often has proved too strong.

Convalescent Work.—Just a word for this useful and beneficent work. If every family of means would try the experiment of taking one poor sickly family to the seaside or country, when they go for a change of air, and engage some little room for them for two or three weeks, they would then see such a benefit from the change in the recovery of health, and checking the progress of disease, and restoring the otherwise shattered frame, as would amply repay the cost and slight trouble it would be. The advantages would be at once so evident that it would become a universal desire to take some poor sick and ailing family, or pay someone else to do the charitable action for them. The advantages of these little changes to the weak and ailing, both to body and mind, are past the power of the pen to describe. The great good which is done cannot be realised.

In conclusion, I commend the Missions to their generous supporters. I appeal to all who would wish the Missions to do their duty in crowded and poor neighbourhoods, to assist them more and more in carrying out the active and warm sympathy of Christian love and help to the neglected poor.

I beg most thankfully to acknowledge the encouragement and help of the general Committee, also the aid of various needle-work Guilds and working parties for the poor from whom I have received parcels of new and old clothes, and that of all individual helpers and sympathisers who have sent clothes, books, and magazines. My thanks are also due and are heartily tendered to all who have assisted me in any way, and also to the undermentioned contributors for their generous subscriptions and donations to the Poor's Purse, and the various parties in connection with the Missions.

Pollard- Unitarian Mission

'Not very much' charitable relief in the year. The amount spent from the 'Poor Fund' in 1897 was £71. Mr P. tries to make his help effectual. Has set up several in little businesses, at a cost sometimes of £12, retaining an over sight of them. Never acts "on the principle of keeping them poor." nor does he believe in the policy of sending a family into the workhouse & thus breaking up the home. It is far better to give a temporary allowance relief for a certain time; the allowance does not make them depend upon it.

A large number of children and adults are sent to country & convalescent homes & to this extent of this the parents and others contribute. £130 was spent in this way in 1897-98. See Report on next page

Many agencies are working in the district now. Of these Lyndhurst Hall is the chief. They give a great deal; have a nurse and lady visitors. [I am not a great friend of lady visitors. They are worked upon too much.]. Have 6 or 7 societies, each with funds of its own for relieving the poor. Overlapping results.

Wesleyans do not do much here nor do the Primitive Methodists.

Convalescent Fund Report

RHYL STREET MISSION
CONVALESCENT FUND.

REPORT, 1897-98.

OWING to two special cases at the close of the financial year, the fund is not in so satisfactory a condition as hitherto, for whilst there has been a falling off in the subscriptions to the extent of £6 15s. 4d., and the amount realised from payments by parents and offertory was £1 3s. 2½d. less, the expenditure has increased by £3 14s. 5d., leaving a deficit of £10 2s. 5d. upon the year's working. This has, however, been reduced by a £3 donation from Mrs. Buckton. It will be necessary, therefore, unless new subscribers come to our assistance, to curtail the work during the year before us. We deeply regret that the death of Mrs. Frankau has taken from us one of our oldest subscribers, who from the first took great interest in the work. The total number assisted has been 507, of whom 102 were adults. These were sent as follows, railway expenses only being charged to the fund:—

By Major-General Brooke, 50 children for 3 weeks.
„ Sunday School Society, 53 „ for 2 weeks.
„ Mrs. Webb . . . 50 „ } for 2 weeks.
and 4 adults

Convalescent Fund Report

Of those sent at the Fund's expense entirely, 81 went to St. Albans, 87 to Enfield and Romford, 58 to Deal, 50 children were sent to Watford, Rickmansworth, and other places in the country; 27 adults and 4 children were sent to Convalescent Homes, and 43 adults were assisted to various places. It will be seen, therefore, that the money received is the means of doing great good, and we earnestly hope that in the year before us new helpers may come to our assistance. We desire to thank all those through whose interest and help the health of so many has been maintained.

Subscriptions or donations will be thankfully received and acknowledged by

District has improved

Drunk

Immorality

Crime

Overcrowding

Pollard - Unitarian Mission 177

Mr B. thinks the "area of respectability" in the district is increasing. Attributes this result to the influence of the half dozen missions that are now working there. The people use their money better. Not quite so much drinking, altho' he does not think any more money is coming in.

The drunk is still a great curse but has decreased very much. The women have changed and now drink more privately than formerly. This testimony being the exact opposite of nearly all previous witnesses.

He "sees so much of it" referring to prostitution, said Mr Pollard, but from his subsequent talk I gathered that he meant rather the loose morality of the women and their want of self respect and respect for their children. An absence of the decencies of life.

Not very much crime; chiefly petty things; street stealing from stalls & shops. A few are 'put away' occasionally, but nothing like Hoxton or St Lukes.

The great evil is the overcrowding, much of which he attributes to the increase after people come into the houses. A couple start with two rooms.

They have to pay 4/6 a room if the rooms are good. The wife goes to the laundry. As the children come, they are less able to pay the rent & cannot afford extra room. If they are turned out they must go to a place where the people do not mind children, & if they leave a bad shed they must go to one equally bad.

Most of the houses are farmed & let in rooms, even in Rhyll Street. & the value of houses there has gone up £200 since he came, as a result of the increased rents.

As an example to of the crowding, he said that when the mission room at Lillham St was enlarged, he had to turn a family out of one of the rooms. It consisted of a man & wife, two sons aged 27 & 21 and two daughters 21 & 18!

Mr Pollard has no doubt done a good work at Rhyll St & knows the district exceptionally well. His increasing years and the death of his wife have told upon him & altho' still in harness, he evidently feels the need of rest, & must have somewhat relaxed his efforts lately.
