Interview with Mr F. A. Balliant :-

38 West. Ferry Road. Millwall.

Mr Balliant is a large employer in Millwall, and does a good deal of philanthropic work there. Though a pleasant, hearty fellow he does not impress me as one who knows the district very deeply, though he has spent his days, and some of his nights there for 15 years.

Millwall is on the whole fairly prosperous; there is little or no great poverty, though there are a great many poor people scattered through the streets. Most of the streets are violet or coloured on our map. The worst part of Millwall is towards the south, here there are a good many Irish, and some very rough characters.

There has been a great increase of temperance within Mr B's memory; not only does he notice it in the streets, but among his own workmen the Housing, Sanitation and Health.

Improvement is great. There is much less stopping out on Monday through drink than there used to be. There is still however an excessive amount of drinking, though Mr. D. has not noticed that it has increased lately with the increasing prosperity.

The people generally are well housed, and few of the houses are jerry-built. The houses for the most part are at least 20 years old and in many cases the drainage was very defective, but this has lately been remedied in almost every case. The Island being below high water mark was formerly notorious for floods, and it was common for the sea to flood up into the ground floors of the houses: owing however to the activity of the County Council this is a thing of the past. They have erected great pumping works which do their work efficiently. Though breezy and open, and in some respects very healthy, yet the Island owing to floods and imperfect drainage used to suffer much from ill health: it was especially subject to throat disease, and largely to rheumatism and chest complaints.

These are still unduly prevalent, but much less so than formerly. Mr P. subscribes to various hospitals and the applications for letters are much less frequent than at one time.

Mr P. had little to say on this, but he certainly had noticed that very youthful marriages were not uncommon among his own people. He not infrequently hears of boys marrying at 18 or even at 17. He thinks that the majority of the girls are not virgins when they marry. The girls on the Island are for the most part a rough lot.

Far the most potent religious force in the Island is the Church; all the other religious bodies are weak, but the Church has been very active. Not as far as getting the people to public worship it has not been very successful. At St. Luke's (Mr P.'s parish) the congregations are very small, though Mr Havelth, the Vicar is a man of great activity. He has however perhaps been too long at the work, and is now getting a little past it.

Charity.

The great centre of activity here has been the work of Mr. Kite and Mr. McKingie in the south of the Island.

What astonishes Mr. B. is the extraordinary quickness with which the people forget what they have learnt at school. It is quite common to find young men who have passed the standards who can scarcely if at all write their names. The letters which he gets from his men asking for help on or other matters are nearly always astonishingly illiterate. A great deal of good however is being done by the evening continuation schools.

Outside the Church Mr. B. appears to be the only centre of charity in the Island. His chief work is Poor Children's Free Dinners; these have been going on since 1888. The number of dinners given in the first year was 11,754; in 1894-95 the great winter, the number was 20,155. This season the ~~number~~ number was 25,814 given at a cost of £40.9.6. Mr D. pointed with some pride to the increase in the number of denials since the start - without any apparent suspicion that this might point to the fact that they were more largely used by those who did not really require them. As gently as possible I suggested the charge of abuse to him: he assured me that he had every reason to believe they were not abused: his instructions were that denials were only to be given to children whose fathers were out of work or in partial work, and that when men returned to work they very generally withdrew their children of their own accord. The denials consist of especially good and ~~the~~ strong Irish stew. Mr D. has noticed, and the Inspector has remarked on the great improvement in the appearance of the children since they were started.

Mr D. is further interested in the Poplar Pancake Society, which appears to be the usual ticket society. He gets so many tickets for his subscription which he distributes partly to the clergy and ministers, and keeps some for himself.

Outside the Church there is little charitable work on the Island. The large employers of whom many are wealthy are very mean, and spend nothing on the Island: only with great difficulty can he induce any of them to contribute to his Dinner fund. The ground landlords are however very generous and support the Church well.

I don't know for certain but should imagine that with the best intentions Mr D. manages to do a good deal of harm in the way of charitable relief.

The Police are very efficient and do their work well. Mr D. has never heard any suspicion that they are open to be bribed by publicans.

The Island is very badly off for places of entertainment: there is nothing nearer than The Queen's Poplar. The result is that the people generally do not get much entertainment of any sort. Mrs. Pultenock used to get up Concerts, but they were probably too good, and were not well attended; what they like best are concerts and sing-songs.

got up among themselves; there are always crowded.

The thing in which the Island is most interested is Football: the Millwall Athletic Club is of course of national reputation and there is much betting on the results of their matches.
Mr D. has not noticed that his men gamble largely apart from this.

Interview with Mr Mattley
Local Sec. Poplar Committee - C. O. S.
134 High Street. Poplar.

Mr Mattley began by saying that in a six year period he could not give comparison between poplar & west. He gave us the names of various old residents, naming especially Dr. Comet, a resident of 40 years standing.

Mr Mattley is going away for about a week, but as soon as possible after return will send as complete a list as he can of charitable, trade, recreative and other corporate agencies. He warns us that it will probably be most incomplete as regards recreative clubs & clubs connected with single large firms.

He made the general remark that Poplar is a remote district. Necessary always to change trains to reach rich districts, except Hackney which cannot be compared with West-London. In Poplar therefore there is "no falling over one another" of agencies as there is in some parts of London.

List of Agencies promised.

Note on the district: "remote"

His own C. O. S. C^{tee} is almost exclusively a local one. The Chairman lives at Hampstead, he is almost the only non-resident member. The Church far more represented than any other section. Even the lay workers generally represent a church. Disables friendly, he does join, or if then join, don't attend. Probably too much pre-occupied, but also their attitude explained by fact that they see our people as a rule as not include many of the class from whom applicants come.

he also said

There are no working-men on the Committee. In opinion and grasp of policy the C^{tee} not a strong one. Half a dozen working-men might therefore find no "counterpoise" on the C^{tee}. A. "You are really opposed to par-take or, etc?" M. "Yes, it amounts to that."

Poor Law Administration:

A single B. of G. for Poplar, Bowley & Bow. A separate "relief committee" for each of following districts:-

- I Bow + half of Bowley
 - II. Other half of Bowley + East-Poplar
 - III. West-Poplar and the Island.
- } Eight-Relieving officers districts.

Lansbury runs No I with the small- but the best-off district has most papers. But Lansbury like others is leaving his lesson.

Crooks makes a good guardian, and in regard to the Poplar Committee, assuming that you are to have one - relief at all, "no serious fault to be found."

Note: on special relief during the three winters of exceptional distress 1891: see C.O.S. special reports for the whole of London. Issues each year.

His matter greatly improved by change in composition & policy of the Board brought about by the Local Government Act of 1894. The change began in 1892, when Crooks and one other labor member were retained. But since 1895 election a much more sweeping change. Lessons in industrial lessons from the old class of workers, and mistakes are being made. But on the whole improvement is seen already resulting. And the new men are making their own traditions; leaving their own lesson. Has great hopes that things will shape themselves for the better. The change of this type applies to various areas ^{p. 49.}

One marked aspect of change is the better administration of the Work-house, "more humane" perhaps "not - period enough"; but "much better". The same tone of the Sick Asylum. Some cases still linger e.g. nursing by pauper not strictly abolished. But disappearing.

No direct first-hand knowledge. McNeil in office on this. Knows a good deal. Told M. he got information mainly by talking with those who had left the force.

Several goods but on the whole well-kept. Beer-houses often change hands. Five or six costs a year generally come to his class of proprietors who have failed.

Has evidence that there is a considerable Bogus Trade in Public Houses carried on. There is a good deal of capital always looking for investment in this direction, & the owners of it are often gulled. Thus, a house is often taken and run on a sham trade for three or four weeks. Advertising. The would-be purchaser calls & perhaps finds house empty. "But let me see your books & see how you are doing." "That's all right as our trade." Invitations go round, free drinking ensues, and at 8 the bar is crowded, full, as the unfortunate purchaser explained days, or a time "as it is on appearance nobody cares."

Drinking Temperance

Influence of Church etc.

Matter

Drinking temperance movement not very active in Poplar, but does not consider that it is an especially drinking district. The Clergy on the other hand does.

The movement was first beyond boundary to take advantage of Luton having a regular occurrence.

Inclined to be more democratic & more in touch with the working-man. He is aware of "too much gaiters" and not hold now. Young clergyman (e.g. the Rector) and more accessible.

Influence of Church thus tends to be stronger, but it is worried considerably by intrusion of ultimate ecclesiastical ends. On the whole, so persistent is this, that it may perhaps be said that the influence of the working-man on the Church is greater than that of the Church on the working-man. And on the whole the clergy are not a really strong set of men.

On high Anglican tendencies of Church of district said that people like the brights, music, incense etc. Poor people thus often attracted by novelty of volume or incense, or if they attached any importance to underlying principles. As compared with that of the Rector, though that the influence of a man like N. L., comparatively inactive though he was.

was more "formative", though numbers influenced smaller, & representing a different sphere of society. ~~The~~ N.E.L works with no accessories, & those that come to him are thus more likely to be under a genuine personal attraction. Hence is greater effectiveness in the sense described.

There are 12 ecclesiastical parishes in the C.O.S. district of this vicar's "area":

- ✓ Chandlers
- ✓ Canoll
- ✓ Bedford
- ✓ Bennett
- ✓ Bevdale
- ✓ Cowen.

The three following are vicariate churches, less active in regard organization, out. r. r. M. satisfaction cells:

John returned to Island, after having been inhibited for 7 years for drink.

A good deal of "gentle pressure" to go to church put on people by district visitors. This leads to hypocrisy. The motive chiefly expectation. The are very common. Visitors rarely warned by clergy to avoid it.

A considerable number of resident-lying visitors - P. O. P. who come to the district to take up the work.

Much more recreative effort made by the Church than formerly: music, dancing, excursions, entertainments, cricket, athletic clubs etc.

Living ground steadily. Have hit by gradual change in character of district. Middle class very largely worn away. Some Nonconformists.

Mission

Chapels have a reduced staff, though none have actually closed, it is often a great struggle to keep going. Thus the efforts of the minister & others entirely responsible after crowded to holding things together.

Very few missions of any importance except - the City Mission. This has several missionaries at work and six mission rooms. The men are on the whole a poor lot. They administer a certain amount of charity.

There are now no bogus missions. There used to be one run by a man named Fuller with head-quarters in a chapel in Brunswick Place. He succeeded, & with his profits has now started a grocery shop. The chapel is used as M. and we do not know whether or not Fuller has associated himself with any other cause. His character is pretty well gauged by many in the district, but he looks his present business; his customers are ~~not~~ poor people & probably have a true notion of his mission post.

Believes that Education is the influence that we are + is desired to do, most good stem-learn. There is of course danger from limited view, superficiality, & when a little knowledge is applied, from non-recognition of complex of practical problems. But the remedy lies in more education, not less.

A good deal to be hoped for from being continued & over class, & of these many were now there in the past. But there is still but little outside interest shown in these, & the wages are as a rule a poor lot.

Consider that the influence of the schools generally, especially the Board schools, is excellent, & humanizing. It is exerted in many indirect ways & tends to improve the home atmosphere. By the schools the elements of training & discipline are introduced, and a standard, which with many is the first requisite, is often set by them. They are moreover popular, and appreciated by the parents.

In many ways the influence of the schools was forwarding to the state of the churches. In some way or other the schools touch nearly every family.

To religion in the ordinary sense, a wide-spread indifference, & its interest was not stimulated with likelihood of any development. A kind of sublimated Tract Unionism the non-probationary gospel - a vague bias toward that which is believed to be good for men follows on.

Practically there is no overcrowding in Poplar. The streets

On May 7 I had a supplementary interview with Mr. Matter, taking Form E, instead of D, as basis.

Poplar "not a very poor" district. Comparisons for instance, very favourable with adjacent parts of Canning Town. Thus Halls Hill and Custom House are large adjacent areas with which Poplar has nothing to compare.

Character of these parts of Canning Town probably partly explained by fact that, being extra-metropolitan, they have been under less strict sanitary supervision; less "harried". In any case they are very bad districts & locally to describe a family as having gone "over the bridge" implies descent. "Is this more or less than 70% of unemployed?" "I don't say, most of them never will be employed, & will intend to be, in spite of the nature of regular work."

Been well looked in hand in recent years, especially as regards main drainage. Much has been done on the whole, especially by the Pumping Station of the L.C.C.

On the whole local sanitary administration good. A good Medical Officer, and the Sanitary Inspector much

Not much in the district, except violence. Soldiers and anti, sometimes, quarrelling on public-houses. Soldiers often mixed up in it.

But Poplar seems to be more or less a resort of thief people, who for some unknown reasons, was to be low. Probably many are criminals "rotting" elsewhere, e.g. west. There is a well-known receiving-house. He believes in New Common Lane.

a marked growth in amount of women work. Factory

Nursing.

Three agencies:-

St John's House Sisters (Church of E.) The most efficient.

St Francis' Convent Nuns. (Roman.)

Salvation Army Nurses. (Over-land arrivals).

In addition some private nurses.

As far as Central Papua is concerned nursing fairly efficient. But there is only one trained nurse in the island.

General Employment.

The volume tends to vary a good deal from year to year, the various industries connected with shipping being especially fluctuating.

Crooks' care for unpreventable poverty.

Crooks versus Lansbury.

(The above came out in a conversation while Mr Crooks was called away to confer with the head engineers of the Blackwall Tunnel - ^{Mr. Hoie} a man whom he said had earned 30/- a week on the Forth Bridge as a fitter & is now paid £100 per year - 'a regular master's man'.)

Mr Crooks said his great care was for those in poverty thro' no fault of their own. That was his own case. As a child his mother had to sit up all night working to keep them in food. Mother still alive: lives with daughter who is a widow. Himself & brother pay in 'some shillings a week' to help them along. The old lady's memory failing her now, does not always recognize her own sons.

Mr Crooks very glad to give any further information or any help in his power. Had just got Life & Labour Vol IX. but not yet read it.

Some feeling apparently between Crooks & Lansbury, arising to the opening of a Stoneyard for the unemployed in 1895 (not the year of the great frost). Crooks said the Stoneyard was demoralising. Lansbury that it gave many money to the working men who were in need of it.

Crooks denounced it in public tho' it is always a hard thing for a labour man to speak against anything that will put money in the pockets of working men. Indig-nation meeting at Dock Gates against Crooks.
Men said they would tear him in pieces - He went out & spoke to the crowd who hooted him down but did not touch him. The staveyard was carried for Bow.
Lansbury cheered. Crooks visited yard. Not 3% of those working in it were right ones.
Crooks did not ~~once~~ mention Lansbury's name except to say he was cheered on this occasion.

A good many of the poorest have drifted into Canning Town.
The ~~2d~~ toll ^{at the bridge} was a bar formerly & kept them in Poplar. When this was done away they gradually went across. Canning Town has a rough set of men.

Interview - 12 May 1897 ^{notes} with Mr C H Conn. Headmaster British S. Board School. Isle of Dogs.

Mr Conn has been a master in this school for 25 years but is still a young man. He has been mentioned to us as well acquainted with the neighborhood & the people & all the efforts that are being made. He has evidently outlived many illusions & takes a rather pessimistic view but remains energetic. He is a religious man - a dissenter - Wesleyan I think.

Not so much money going as formerly - that is many years back - but an improvement during the last 3 or 4 years work is largely connected with the docks but there are factories & workshops. The dock work better paid but more irregular than the shops & factories where 21/- is the usual weekly wage. Poverty largely the result of drink - the women worse than the men, but this view seemed connected with the result on the children's condition which women of course be more affected by the mother's conduct. Thinks there is less drinking than there used to be but connects it with there being less money. Temperance societies connected with such religious organization especially Bands of Hope. The excessive number of Public Houses an evil.

Poverty.

Drink.

Housing

Sanitation

Health

Early marriages

Mr Conn

Many in bad repair. The landlords not willing to do much partly because if put for sale order the inhabitants soon make them as bad as ever. Chiefly owned by Companies & one or two large owners eg. Lady Charteris & Hobbs etc. - the rent collector is merely a collector of rents - House accommodation is scarce & rents have risen largely owing to the Establishment of Mackenzie's Jam works (moved from Ipswich). Available space is absolutely restricted to the fringe round the docks & is occupied by works to a great extent.

Has been very bad but is being improved by the action of the County Council Surveyor or Inspector - who does good work - quite honest he thought. Health good even bad Sanitation seems not to matter. There is plenty of fresh air & Mr Conn thinks Chemical & manure works are wholesome in their effects.

Marriages are often early because of the results of previous intercourse - not otherwise. Amongst the factory girls conduct is very loose. Those who go with more than one man would probably not marry but go to the workhouse & put out the baby which would be likely die - & they might afterwards marry respectably.

Religious influence

The Catholics attend to their own people & have them well in hand

Mr Conn

71 Mackenzie's factory brought a large number of girls from Ipswich who being without family life ran very loose. Some have suffered severely & some home & gradually the full complement of London girls will be obtained.
But even the London girls who live at home are very free in their movements. Not as late as they please - merely loafers at home. Mr Conn did not know how the parents regarded loose conduct. ~~But~~ in any case they had little influence. Some of the worst girls live at Cannington.

The influence of religion is less than it used to be & in fact very little influence is exercised at all. The Children are sent to Sunday school, but the parents don't come to church. All grades of working men & some above that position, as managers, pilots &c, share this indifference. They have nothing to say against religion even approve - but don't take any part. There is not much bribing to go to church. but a new effort called the New Church Mission - connected in some way with Christ Church Cabot town gives tickets &c to those who attend & in this way gets a congregation. Mr Conn thought never thinks they were doing a good work (Mr Free is the missionary)

Influence of Education -

Miss Price (who we have already seen) works with Mr Free but independently & was here before him. Mr Conn says that neither socially nor religiously do the people get anything much out of the churches. but contradicted himself I thought a little when he admitted that there were no local amusements except such entertainments & as were put up by the religious bodies. There are no clubs. The public house however comes in as a substitute. those who drink find company in that way.

Mr Conn can trace no improvement in behaviour. the children are more difficult to control & supported by the action of the parents who being compelled to send the children to school & paying nothing for it, feel in their right to say plainly that they shall not be touched. Thus discipline becomes difficult. At one time the Board forbade corporal punishment except at hands of head master & the consequence was that the children pushed the under masters to distraction. And so naughtiness was increased & irregular & cruel methods of punishment were adopted. Now the under masters may be authorised by the head master & things are better again.

Charity.

but the influence of 'free compulsory education' has not been good as to behavior.

Local Government

Not much is given. It chiefly takes the form of dinner to the poor children. These are refused at his school all through the winter & are needed. Mr Nalivant has to do with this.

Amusements

No complaint to make.

Social Condition

Practically none. The new park much valued & the Band ~~is~~ a great attraction. 5000 or 6000 people will be gathered to gether by it.

There is no prostitution. I did not ask about crime but gathered that the social condition is much working class - not much amiss except drink.

Mr Conn seemed to me rather disillusioned than pessimistic. Sees everything in a matter of fact light Labour strongly represented & it will be more so.

Vestry elections are callous; will not vote: ^{in consequence} Labour men are more & more elected because they know their electors.

Much direct employment. First job done in this way was done so badly that it has now to be done again. Is against direct employment. So many jobs put into jobs nobody's interest to do the work cheaply.

Does not approve of the working men on the Board. These men say honestly & openly 'I vote for the work because it makes work for the working man'. The working man does not have to pay for it.

Crooks has only been seen on the B^d of Works once or twice. Says he is an honest man tho' he disagrees with his ideas.

Improvement of the working-class.

Drink the curse.

Working men pay no rates directly. Landlords are encouraged to pay for their tenants & allowed a 10% remission for so doing, & do so.

Rents have gone down gradually for the last 10 yrs in Poplar so the landlord has got nothing out of the increase of rent.

Poplar is going down. The average is as high as ever, but there is no local aristocracy at least it is leaving. The 'George Green' middle class school feels it very much. In the E India Rd. no apartments were let 10 yrs ago. Now there are great many. Better class is leaving Poplar & going to Ilford & Forest Gate - semi-rural districts.

The working class on the other hand has improved in character. More self respect. Briar pipes used instead of 'cutties'. More care about doors. Improvement due much to Trade Union spirit (say he is sorry to admit this). Much good done by the children. The schools have done a great work.

Drink is the curse. Is no better nor worse. Same amount of drunkenness as ever. Education has no effect on it. Has no opinion about women drunkenness in Poplar but at midday in Ratcliffe St. proper notices ^{the rest he} notices Betting & gambling have increased enormously. Terrible among the Queen's Music Hall - No regular system of amusement. Saturdays

Early marriages not so common. But "there is more sin among young men." Lower classes have begun to think about keeping their families down by artificial means. But early marriages will always be common because labourers earn as much at 21 as ever they will.

Mrs Williams had provided an excellent tea but took no part in it herself, leaving the room as soon as she had brought it up. When any thing was wanted Mr. W rang the bell answered by Mrs W. "My darling a little more milk." or a second time "My dearest just turn up that paper of mine."

Interview with Miss Pica, 327 West Ferry Road.

Miss Pica I have seen twice, the first time with Mrs. On neither occasion has there been a formal interview; on the first occasion Mrs. and I went to lunch and afterwards assisted in waiting at the Factory girls' dinner in the Coffee Tavern; the second time I went to tea and afterwards spent about an hour and a half in the Factory girls' Club.

Miss Pica is a bright, cheery, and eminently sensible little woman. She has been working in the School for seven years, at first with Mrs. Kite and Mrs. Mackenzie, and since their departure unattached. She is a keen high churchwoman and lays great stress on the religious side of her work; none of the work must be entirely secular; efforts must be made to get all to the church or to bible classes; it is a mistake to attempt to carry on such work on purely secular lines. At the same time I could see no signs of any white thrusting religion upon the girls during my two visits. There was no suspicion of good - goodness.

The branches of the work consist of:-

- (1) The Club for Young girls meeting twice a week with about 60 members.
- (2) The Club for Factory girls, twice a week. (I don't know the exact number; about 25 were there the night attended).
- (3) The Club for rough boys meeting on Saturdays.
- (4) The Mothers' Meetings.
- (5) Prudential Park.
- (6) The Coffee Tavern, started only last year.

These are all held in a building of inadequate dimensions in the West-Ferry Road. In the front is the Coffee Tavern, one which Miss Price and two other ladies live; at the

A considerable number bought soup, & marmalade was often better instead of butter. A good many pieces of cake also sold.

107 back is the club room, a barn like structure, long and narrow.

On the day of our visit at the Dinner House the 2 small dining rooms appeared to be full with some 30 girls, but it was on Monday, the emptied day, and as a rule some of them have to dine in the stairs and in the kitchen. The majority of the girls brought meat or fish of some sort with them, corned beef, beans, boaters etc, and bought bread and butter, rice pudding, and tea. Miss Price told me that when the tavern was first opened it was almost impossible to get them to eat wholesome food. They would have nothing but cake, ~~bread~~ cheese-cakes and pastry. Owing chiefly to their food they all looked pale and anaemic.
New habits have effected a great change in their appearance. With one or two exceptions they now certainly looked wonderfully healthy.

After dinner he adjourned to the club room for half an hour; here there was singing and dancing.

At my evening visit to the girls Club the girls for the most part - sat - about - talking, though some danced. Miss Price tells me that they will not play games. Some of them after much coaxing were induced to sing. The behaviour of all was quiet and orderly. Both in the Coffee Tavern and the Club the girls were of the regular factory type, though much more decent in their behaviour, and more scholarly. I noted they are evidently devoted to Miss Price, whose manner to them is ~~not~~ excellent.

Miss Price now always has one girl in the house, whom she trains as a servant. For some time - with the idea of economizing and being able to spend more on the work - she had no servant - but her poor neighbours would insist on helping her in her household, and refused to take any compensation. ("Farey you, Mrs. a lady, making your own plate: my size shall come in and do it for you every day"). But she arrived at the conclusion that it was unwise to do this work when there was other work which there was no one else to do; so now she always has a pile on the premises. Miss Price has a theory that as a rule Factory work is better for girls of the lowest class than service; she thinks that an enormous proportion of fallen women come from among servants.

Miss Gibbs, one of Miss Price's co-workers, told me a curious story illustrating the feeling of this class on the question of death. One of the girls was dying; her friends at in the club who were told that there was no hope of her recovery clustered together before her death to buy a ~~wreath~~ wreath for her coffin; they were exceedingly anxious that she should live long enough to see it and by permission of the doctor went with it in a body to her room.
She was immensely pleased and touched.

Further particulars as to Miss Price's work with to found in her Report. Altogether I should say she is doing admirable work in a a thoroughly wise and practical manner. As she said the main spring of her work is "love, love for Christ and those who are made in his image".

Came on 17th Price on the following afternoon after interview with Baret. Got there a little before 6, & tea going to what we were invited. Mrs Price had been busy, cleaning the floor I think, & one of her rooms, but the conversation turned on dress & the necessity of never looking at an untidy or careless in these matters. Mrs Price herself avoided this altogether she dressed plain & put on a white apron when she got down to serve in the coffee-room. She told a story of Mrs Barry, who is coming down to work in the new ladies' school. When she first appeared in the Island she was decidedly well-dressed, & the girls noticed it, & looked at it. After a few months, having found she had been working in some other poor part, the children were invited to meet Mr Barry at some evening function. Meanwhile her habits as regards dress seem to have changed, & when the girls came back they were full of it. "Oh Mr Price! how Mr Barry has changed! He looks more like one of us!"

Mr Price's firm conviction of the necessity of combining religion with the secular work was again illustrated by his references to the new ladies' settlements. He would be unable to live there, or to work into them entirely as they were "secular" in some of their work. By this he meant that the religious element would not be always introduced, & made a part of every enterprise. The settlement in question is a branch of the Margaret House, the work closely in regard to work in Bethel Green, & in fact, he closely connected with the work of the Church of England. Mr Price's temporary main church is at present in a room of the future Bethel, & they are building a vestry for it in the present room. But in spite of the strength of his conviction, there is no objection in the matter of conducting the service. The office - shop, for instance, is necessarily an entirely secular & mundane institution!

Interview with Mr Radford Sharpe, Sec. of Stepney C.O.S., Purdett Road.

Mr Sharpe has been in the district five years. He is a man of about 35. He gives the impression of being a good opinion and man of business, but rather hard and narrow in his opinions. He looks at everything from the C.O.S. point of view and now so I should say than only a party.

Mr Sharpe's committee only come London in this district and the large part of the interview which applies specifically to Stepney I have not reported here.

The men who sit on the local bodies are a very poor lot of men. There is a great deal of log rolling and jockeying of a sort. A tobaccoist guardian being unable to supply the tobacco for the hookahs the contract was made out in the name of his shopman: a contractor on the notes

Poor Law Administration

Police

seems the contract for his son etc. The working class members are no worse than the old lot, some of them distinctly better, but the general moral tone is very low.

The policy in this Union has hitherto been very strict - but here as elsewhere the cry for "a judicious extension of out-relief" is spreading: so far there is no great change; but in out-relief as in other things it is necessary to create a demand: people don't ask for it of their own accord: they have to be educated up to it. At a 'Guardians' meeting this year taken at random out of 30 applications only one was for out-relief.

The Guardians are distinctly less friendly with the C.O.S. than they were.

The police are too rough and brutal in their treatment of the poor: they knock them about and use too much strong language.

Mr. S. objects to the administration of the Poor Fund at the Police Court: there is too much patronage about it.

Think there is a considerable improvement. Sardon is very strong on temperance. But the Can St. district is still terribly drunken.

The Head Masters of the Board Schools in the district are for the most part good men, especially perhaps like at Thomas St. Fleck at Northey St. and Norton at Casley St. but as a rule they don't know much of their children out of school. A man like Whitworth (see Row book) is quite an exception.

Mr S. warned me that he was an apostate, and perhaps of rather an aggressive type.

In spite of all their efforts he thinks the influence of the religious bodies is not increasing, and chiefly because their foundations are based on sand. As long as they refuse to move more rapidly into the advance of thought they can do no permanent good. The best work is done in the Voluntary Schools, which certainly turn out a better brand and more respectable class of children than the board schools.

As to the ~~the~~ men in the district individually:-
Gordon :- is a very sensible man, doing good work: gets hold of good workers: is a successful preacher: on good terms with R.C.'s and other bodies. But even he lays too much stress on "the Church": in the matter of relief his decision is always influenced by the fact whether or not the applicant is a churchman.

Hope :- rather a poor creature: shows his difficulties over to us and leans them
Haden, St John's :- keeps very much within her own borders: is a hard worker and has worked up his district well: keen on temperance work: has a low standard of relief.

Want of Amusements

Originally Glass Works (failed, strike, foreign competition) used to cover half the place. Works himself for the Calvinised. Iron works built partly on site of old glass works. His men have improved. Has known 2 or 3 to be actually through drink. Managers must peg away. Some don't care. He does, would rather have a steady man at 30/- than a ^{small drunkard at 20/-} Labourers 21/- to 30/- per week. Not much piece work. No particular seasons. The oil cake works are busy in winter.

Shd. be a bridge over to Canning Town. That would relieve the orchard house.

Both Cmsr & Secd wd. shut the public houses. Men that live opposite their work are generally those that arrive the latest. is strongly in favour of distributing the working man. don't let his live near his work.

Does not much believe in Dwellings though they are better than the slums.

Almost total ^{absence} ~~absence~~ of means of amusement. The only thing is a 'Judge & Jury' business of a Sunday night, at Pubs. a 'mat cut' causes men to lose time in the morning. It is a sort of free easy smoking concert.

The extra 2 hours to pubs given by a Conservative govt.

publican that he must make a profit somehow.

There is no clean temperance place. I once tried to start a home is quantity. Teach said finance these places instead of turning it to the long-run. Pubs infinitely cleaner

WANTED £50. £30 for outstanding Debts; £20 for Christmas Teas, Rent of the Welcome, Gas and Rates of Club Room.

AS it is nearly fourteen months since we started our Coffee Tavern for Factory Girls, we find that many kind subscribers expect an account of the work; so we are sending a short paper now instead of waiting till Christmas for the yearly report.
The large number of girls who have come in for dinner, and tea when working overtime, has far exceeded our expectations. For three months after Christmas we were very slack owing to there being little work in the jam factory, where most of our girls come from, but all through the summer crowds poured in at dinner time; more than we can conveniently accommodate, and now that we are obliged to let the girls sit on the stairs and in the passages, it has become a very serious question, What can we do? We have no other room to spare, and yet it seems better to give up anything rather than turn them into the public house, as the one place where they are welcome. We have only lately been told by the girls, that at 1 p.m. there is a general rush for the Welcome, and some of the late comers, seeing no room, retire to the public houses for their dinners, after casting longing and envious looks in here. However it has just been given out that room will be found somewhere, rather than have this happen again. Some of our readers will perhaps wonder how we managed this time last year. Well, we had another house where two, if not three ladies lived, but finding subscriptions came in slowly, and the business account at the bank was "nil," we were obliged to give up the house, and reduce the number of our workers. Since then our regular staff has consisted of only three resident ladies and two servants; this has again been reduced to two ladies.

We do most earnestly appeal for funds to enable us to have a larger regular staff, so that we can accommodate the overflow in the Club Room or elsewhere. These girls are not like men; they must have someone always in the room with them, and though they have improved in manners, dress, and cleanliness since they first came, and those who sit in the shop are very quiet, yet, it must be remembered that the new ones have to be civilised, as at first they make a great noise and sometimes are unruly. I expect some of our readers will say, if such crowds come in it should be self-supporting;—everyone who has had no practical experience in Coffee Tavern work would say the same, but those who have tried it know that it cannot be so while it is only for girls. Boys are only allowed in at certain times (more of that hereafter). As a rule we take on an average 1 3/4d. per head, though some only spend 1/2d. as they bring their own food. Threepence is considered the most that a factory girl should spend on her dinner. In fact this is the regulation money given by mothers when they do not send a meal from home. Then we give as much as we can for the money, all is good, wholesome food, and the profits are small, but with careful management, we believe, when we are busy, they pay for the gas, and part of the cook's wages, but not for the work and rent.

People who have had many years experience in the business tell us that even in this small place, if we could open at 5.30 a.m. and allow anyone to come in during the day (except from 1 to 2 p.m.) it would be entirely self-supporting. But it is quite impossible to do this while the lady-in-charge is the head of four different Clubs for girls, a Boys' Football Club, and Mothers' Meetings, besides being housekeeper, secretary and treasurer for the Coffee Tavern.

We trust that after Christmas we shall be able to get Church Workers to undertake the business, whose evenings will not be entirely engaged with Clubs, and in the meantime we must do the best we can to keep the Classes and Coffee Tavern open for our girls and boys. Another reason why it cannot be self-supporting is that we not only had to learn our business, but we had to teach our girls what to eat. This year has taught us much about the unwholesome food of the poor, and, as a doctor one day said, that instead of being surprised that so many girls die in Consumption, he wondered that so many escaped, as their food (especially ~~that~~ of those without mothers) is most unwholesome.

When we first opened they bought chiefly tinned salmon, rabbit, and corned beef, very cheap cake and unwholesome pastry; of this latter they would buy large quantities, but we have trained them by degrees to eat good soup and stew thickened with pearl barley, rice or haricot beans; tapioca, maccaroni, baked and boiled rice, cornflour blancmanges (of these last we make from 70 to 100 per week), and bread and syrup, instead of the cheap pastry, which we have entirely done away with as we find there is no demand for it.

Many sad cases have come before us of girls having insufficient food. One who was thin and always shabby would frequently ask for a thick slice "'Cause I'm 'ungry.'" We discovered that she was nineteen years old, had two children and her husband was out of work, so she had to support four people with her small wages. Another, all through the win-hours, as it is not allowed. Unfortunately it is, if they work on fruit or fish. We are told the law is so uncertain. On page 181 of "The Law relating to Factories and Workshops," we find "Nothing in the principal Act as amended by this Act shall apply to the process of cleaning and preparing fruit on the arrival at a factory or workshop during the months of June, July, August and September. Again, section 100 of Act 1878, (page 146 of same book): "Nothing in this Act shall extend to the process of gutting, salting, and packing fish immediately upon its arrival in the fishing boats. Therefore an employer may keep girls of any age up till 10, 11, or in fact any hour. We have heard of a factory where they were worked until 5 a.m. on Sunday morning. Many girls (some only 14 years old) have to walk home late at night, and are sometimes stopped or chased by foreigners off the ships. People think that working girls are so well looked after now, but there are sad exceptions, and the sooner those working on fruit and fish are under the Factory Act the better. A doctor who attends many of them, said he wondered that any law allowed young persons to work from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. standing, with only one hour for dinner. "What do you think of keeping them until 10 or 11 p.m.?" The answer was:—"No girl can stand it for long."

Many thoroughly good Christian people tell us that the fish and fruit would spoil, and the employers must be considered. In short, the employers' pockets come before the lives of our girls and the mothers of the next generation. Women are plentiful, factory girls are rough and accustomed to it, and if they don't like it why don't they go to service? and they need not work over unless they like. So they quiet their consciences and let the matter rest. It is quite true that fresh fish and ripe fruit spoil quickly, but there are employers who manage without this excessive overtime; year after year they have women and girls only too ready and thankful to earn a little extra money; and when fish or fruit are expected in, a crowd of these anxious, hard-working people will be ready. Many who could not go regularly all the year round can manage to go in the busy time, and we believe that some families have been kept from starvation through the mother getting work as a casual hand in the fruit or fish season. One of our best employers once told us that any master who could work his girls for three weeks, night after night, stood in his own light, as it was impossible to get the right amount of work out of them.

It is quite true that our girls are accustomed to hard work, they do not trouble the rate-payers, they would rather die at their post than receive parish relief. It is a remarkable thing that in two workhouses, where the Women's Industrial Council sent to find out the former trades of the inmates, there was only one factory girl. Again, these are not the girls who fill our refuges, penitentiaries, &c. Many experienced workers would be surprised how few factory girls are in these homes. We are all so ready to conclude that service is and must be the best, but alas, it is from these classes that most of our rescue homes receive their inmates; so that we must be very careful before even advising a girl to leave a factory for service. Besides this how are they to be trained? They are seldom fit for a gentleman's house at once, and to send them to small places first, is generally to make them thoroughly disgusted. Seldom will anyone give a respectable factory girl free training without 5/-, 7/- or 8/- a week being paid for the time she is there. There is no difficulty when once the girl has fallen, then there are plenty of homes open to receive her. No doubt the Rescue Societies are doing excellent work, but it does seem hard on girls who beg for the same training and for a helping hand to enable them to fly from the temptations around them, that for this, someone must pay the money, which they are seldom able to procure, and which those who are fallen get free.

"They need not work unless they like!" If they stay away they are afraid of being dismissed. We had a case one night where a lad had no money for his tea; some of the girls tried to persuade him to come here and ask for it on trust, but this he refused to do. However, hunger must have overcome his patience, and he just looked in saying, "Good-night girls, I'm off home." Immediately there was a chorus of "Oh don't, you'll get the sack, you know you will. Miss --- will trust you. Oh do come in," and two ran out and dragged him in by force. It is delightful to be able to say that we seldom have to remind anyone of their debts, which are generally promptly paid.

What do they get for overtime? 1 1/4d., 1 1/2d., 1 3/4d. or 2d. per hour, after 8 p.m., but it must be remembered that there are some on piece work who earn very good money in the busy time.

It is a real pleasure to do this work, as one and all are grateful, and the only drawback is that our place is so very small that we cannot take half of those we should like. The men have asked for one for themselves, as they express it:—"Miss --- has done what she can to unite rich and poor, and to show us that the latter can have their meals just as comfortably as the former (I fear the well-to-do would not call it comfort here), and we want her to do for us what she has done for the girls." We are assured that many would come in instead of going to the Public Houses. Then our boys think it a terrible disappointment if we do not open on Saturdays for them. They come with long tales of woe if our doors are shut, police are after them, they are sure to get into mischief and be taken up, and they are cold, tired and hungry. We now have them in directly after football, and again from 7 to 9 p.m., but alas, it is difficult to turn them out. They are much easier to please than the girls, and will always take whatever we have. After tea, coffee, or cocoa, bread and butter, cake, &c., they sit and have games. Some of these lads have histories which make our hearts ache for them. Three brothers, total abstainers, had a very drunken mother; when she died a lad of fourteen was left in charge of the house, having to do all the housework and cooking for his father and three brothers; the father is often sober for weeks, and will save up, then he begins to drink, and all his savings are spent. The boys always look thoroughly uncared for; one says he hates to stay indoors, as everything he does is wrong, his greatest pleasure is to keep the Club Room door for us, especially when there is music upstairs. Another lad has an Atheist father, a man, who, when his wife was alive, would thrash her and turn her out all night. When this place was first opened, the lady who was then in charge found this poor woman early one Sunday morning asking where she could get a cup of coffee, having been out all night. She has since died, and as, in the other case, a young lad, supposed to be in consumption, and too ill to work in a factory or iron-yard, is the housekeeper and servant. It was said that the lad who comes here had never known a happy hour in his life. One night when a boy was told that it was only ten minutes to nine, he said, "Oh, then I can live for another ten minutes." We have another boy who comes here for nearly all his food. He has a very bad, drunken mother, who never gets him a proper meal. A little while ago he was out of work, and we began to think that all he had was a piece of cake and a cup of tea twice a day, which he bought here. A lady gave us money to spend in food for him, but the difficulty was how to give it without offence. We had to send for him two or three times before he would come in, and then he blushed like a girl when we asked him to have a meat pudding; but when once his pride was forgotten, how he enjoyed his dinner! and we wish his kind friend could have seen his bright, happy face.

The newspapers have lately said much to make out that our Island is the most dismal spot in London, and the lives the factory girls lead, the most terrible, but I feel sure our girls and boys are as honest, hard working, clean, and as moral as in any parish in East London, and more grateful I think than anywhere else; for instance, through the kindness of the Rev. D. Cowan, we have been able to start two new clubs in his parish, one for older girls, which is so large, though quite in its infancy, that we have to consider seriously if we can take in any new members; in fact, we have to admit girls over 16 into the junior club, as there is not room in the senior. The latter pay most willingly 1d. a week, and were quite delighted with the idea of paying something towards the gas, (we have the room rent free). They assured us that they did not mind how much they paid if they only had their club, they looked forward to it so much, but they did wish it could be open twice a week.

Dear friends, will you help us with your money, old or new clothes, books, games, Christmas cards, and old sweet boxes, to brighten a few sad and dreary lives? God has given to some the power and strength to work, to others the pleasure of giving; many can spare a little,—we do not mind how small it is,—if every reader would send 1/-, how it would help! We want anything and everything, especially flannel. A doctor, talking about consumption, said 'they never hardly wear flannel until it is too late.' Our rope girls have a long walk soon after 6 a.m., and are beginning to feel the cold very much. We would be grateful even for pieces of warm material. Then we want personal help. Ladies who will undertake to come once a week, either for the whole afternoon, or from 1 to 2 p.m. We also need people to undertake to send magazines to one factory girl once a month. The Sunbeam Society has given endless pleasure here among the children, and Mrs. Battiscombe, the Head, knows and is willing that we should try and do something the same for our older girls. Her Society is for the younger ones. No one can realise the pleasure of something coming by post, and the delight when a friend writes to them. Then we want flowers and berries,—oh, how many are left to die that might be brightening the homes of East London.

Please do not hesitate to send us anything, we shall be especially glad of new clothing suitable for prizes: the large number of marks made by the various members of Classes rather frightens us, as all over a certain number, get a prize, and they much prefer under garments to any thing else.

I cannot conclude without one illustration of what 3s. 3d. will do. Members of our roughest class, and a few mothers were invited for a cup of tea and a piece of cake. These mothers enjoyed themselves so much that one or two had tears running down their faces. One by one, as they went out, they thanked us, saying, we did not expect to enjoy ourselves like this; we seldom get any pleasure, it has been such a change.

Finally:—The Annual Report will not be printed till January, (when a full list of Subscriptions and Expenditure will be published) instead of December, as we shall be so very busy now until after Christmas. All our friends will be glad to hear that we have paid off the debt on the start, all but £15; we have a few outstanding accounts, but £50 would leave us quite free from debt, and what a relief it would be to be able to start the New Year with no bills to pay. We are deeply grateful to all those who have so kindly helped us with money, clothes, magazines, &c., and especially to those ladies who have so unselfishly come one day week after week to help us in the dinner hour.

THE ENGINEERS' STRIKE.

What is it doing for our girls and women? Making them work harder than ever: while the men are out for 8 hours a day, they work 10, and often 11, 12, and 13 hours. Their labour becomes cheaper, and their masters more independent. If the girls complain, or ask for higher wages, there are plenty outside waiting, and anxious to be taken on for what they can get.

We must live! is often a remark we hear, and in the very fight for bread many are preparing for themselves an early grave.

We have been told on good authority, that often the girls' work is better than the men's; for instance, the join in a tin, cannot be made as neatly by men's hands as by women's, yet the latter are paid half, or often even one third of what the men would get. Last Winter a man was paid off in one of the factories, and a girl put in his place. She received 5d. for exactly the same work for which the man had 11d. One woman whose husband had come out because the Engineers came, (he received none of the Union pay) went to work in a factory, and paid a woman 3/- to mind her children. On Saturday, when she went to receive her money, she had 1/- given her for work from Tuesday. They said they were keeping two days' money in hand, but even then 1/- for working from Tuesday to Thursday was absurd. It is only fair to say that she had more given her at the beginning of the next week, but in the meantime money had to be borrowed, and clothes pawned to buy food for the starving children at home. The girls who worked beside her did (as they always do) what they could, one giving her a pair of boots, some money, and some food. Talking to a master who takes every care of his girls, and in whose factory there is a comfortable dining room, with everything they can want, we mentioned overtime and said we heard he was never allowed to work them over (Rope Grounds) and that the girls would occasionally be glad of the extra money, but we believed the Factory Acts were very strict where the goods were not perishable. He replied that if he were allowed to work them over at all, he would do so every night till 11 or 12, as their wages were so much smaller than the men's, but as it was now he had to keep the men, and sometimes was obliged to have two sets as occasionally they had to work all night. So you see after all, perhaps, it is a very good thing that we are not allowed.

Non-conformists:- Wesleyan last had mission:
good band of workers from spiritual side with strong antagonism to church. Give a great deal of relief in living.

Mr Daniel, Lowdale Chapel, Congregational very small but good work.

Pomson's Chapel, Wesleyan: also small.
Roman Catholics:- Father Highy: very poor a good, active man: ready to meet other religious bodies fully: very kind on getting hold of the children

Father Gordon Thomson:- gives much indiscriminate relief says "he must help loafers and cadgers: it's right to help these people: even if it does them no good, it is good for the poor."

The district is fairly well covered with agencies. Mr S. gave me a list of the best and most solid bodies of the various societies

Charitable Relief.

Among applicants to the C.O.S. Thrift does not seem to increase; comparison between 1874 and 1892:-

1874	1892
15 p.c. in society	15 p.c. in society
73 p.c. remain in society	70 p.c. remain in soc.
12 p.c. lapsed	15 p.c. lapsed

At times of pressure a great stream of money is poured into the district, and most of it is badly administered by the clergy and ministers. The S. was formerly in the south of London, and things were not so bad then.

The C.O.S. committee is very non-serious. There are working men members and evening meetings. The influence of the C.O.S. permeates slowly; the clergy start-which committees; they propose to work on C.O.S. lines, but don't. However the meetings in the long run have an educative effect.

Mr. Bolton Smart, 2 Portland St. is a member of the Board of Guardians for Stepney, & a prominent worker in the Rev. P. Johnson's East End Wesleyan mission. His house adjoins the Tabernacle.
A youngish man, very active & capable, & free of the work of the mission.
He has been 8 years in the district, to wh. he came during the great work struggle. Was previously engaged in mission work in the provinces for 7 years.

Mr Smart acted as ^{district} Secy of the Mansion House Fund in connection with the Abbey Mills experiment for 3 years. He has all the case papers ~~in~~ there, & will be glad to let us see them. The fund was very carefully worked, & did a good deal of benefit with a minimum of evil. They attempted to deal thoroughly with each case, so as to produce permanent improvement. One case cost them £90, but the people were now doing well in Canada. The man lost his work owing to the failure of the sugar industry, & then got casual employment at the docks, but was thrown out by the re-organization of Dock labour.

A considerable number of people were assisted to emigrate, & some did very well, but others were great failures. The complete change of life came too suddenly upon them & they were quite unprepared for it. Attempts were made to get them a year's preliminary training on English farms, but there were great difficulties in the way.

He believes, from this experience of the Atty Mills test, that the great majority of those dealt with were quite willing to work, but were helpless & demoralized, partly as a result of what had been going on for years at the dock gates.

Next to drink, casual labour is the most demoralising influence existing in East London.

Mr Smart spoke at length of the work of the Wesleyan Mission in East London. It has 6 centres, but is conducted, apparently, as one by centralised organization combining religious, social, & temperance work. There is a medical mission, & 24 sisters are permanently at work amongst the poor. There are foot temples, lodges, bands of hope, women's meetings, workgirls parlours, sewing classes, &c. at each centre.

He thinks they succeed in reaching a lower stratum of the population than any other organization, & in proof of this gave me a number of instances (three cases I expect) of men who were awful drunkards & bad characters at one time, but were now leading very respectable & good-living lives. These included the chapel keeper & office assistant & clerk here, both of whom I saw at work.

A particular difficulty wh. they have to meet with here is that the better class are constantly quitting the neighbourhood, leaving the sediment behind. He does not think the East End has yet touched bottom in this respect.

The process wh. they find goes on is as follows:- A family living in some court or alley having come under the influence of the mission, in a short time moves into a pleasant street or building, & continuing to attend the Janon's meetings at the Tabernacle, hears from others what they have done, & the advantages that are to be had from being a little way out. So, as soon as they are able, they in turn move to Forest Gate or Upton Park. In this way he thinks they lose quite 100 of their people last year.

They try to counteract this lowering tendency of the locality by having resident mission sisters, & have broken through the 3 years rule in order to give permission to their ministers.

There is a good deal of immorality going on in the neighbourhood, but no more than might be expected having regard to the circumstances under which the people live. The difficulty in regard to sexual relationships often crops up in connection with their mission work. People who have been regular attendants at the Tabernacle for a long time are suddenly discovered (or confess) never to have been married, & there is perhaps a great obstacle to such marriage in the shape of a runaway husband or wife.

Instances of a child being baptised & parents married on same day, & of a marriage being postponed owing to confinement of the bride.

Dr Stokham (med. officer to guardians) could give valuable information on the question of sexual immorality & early marriages.

It is a choice of evils, & he hardly knows sometimes wh. is the worst. Instances even of a woman applying for relief, who was a fraudster at 34.

One great inducement to early marriage is the fact that the girls earn money. Lads who would not think of marrying on their own earnings are tempted by the 10/- or so wages of the girl to think they can get along all right, & the time when she will not be able to work is not thought of.

The facts as to immorality, &c., are not so worse, he thinks, than in many provincial places, particularly where there are factories.

Sewing is systematically & thoroughly taught by the agencies of the mission. The work is graded, & paid for according to quality, in order to encourage good work & effort. This work is sold to mothers meetings & in other ways.

~~No attempt~~ They have no systematic teaching of cooking or domestic work for girls who attend the ordinary mission agencies, but the girls get some idea of tidiness & order by each taking it in turn to arrange, dust & prepare the rooms in wh. the young women's guilds are held. These rooms are furnished as decent parlours, & several of the girls vie with each other in seeing wh. can make the room look best.

There is a training home at Blackheath to wh. such of the girls are sent as show desire to get away from their present rough life & surroundings. Here they are properly trained for domestic service.

[Mr. Smart having another engagement, we had to break off here. He is just going away for a week. Will work up case papers on his return, & pleased to see us again. A great deal could be got from him about the mission work.]

Mr F.C. Wills, J.P. 38 Albert Square E

I called upon Mr Wills ostensibly to get his views about Local Government & Poor Law administration, he being a member both of the Lincolnshire B. of Works & Stepney Guardians. On neither of these questions, however did he seem willing to say much, nor is he enamoured of magisterial work. At first he says it was "good fun" there being excitement in regard to the licensing question, but now the magistrates are pretty well agreed as to restricting these as much as possible, & he very rarely takes his place on the bench. Does not care about the criminal law - was educated as a barrister but gave it up. Did not care either for the work or the Society, met with

As to the Guardians, he agrees with their policy. Thinks it the only reasonably feasible plan in such a locality as this. They would otherwise be overrun with applicants. Has a high opinion of Mr Stoneham - used off: to Guardians. He could tell me all about the class of applicants for relief & such questions as health, morality, & early marriage.

Mr Wills is a short spare man in early middle life perhaps; has a kindly disposition & an impediment in his speech. Reminded me, in manner, etc. of Mr. Norman Grosvenor. Apparently a bachelor with a moderate independence, his great hobby is in providing amusement for the children & lads - in this his whole heart is centred. He has been a Board School manager for 14 years. Says what struck him ~~most~~ when he came into the district was that the children did not know how to play. They quarrelled & fought more than anything else. He has set himself to organise amusements for them. For several years he has had a lads club in Broad St. Ratcliff. He invited me to go round to see this, & afterwards go on with him to a sports prize distribution at the Highway Board Schools. As we proceeded on our way, the terms on which he is with the children was soon evident, for several of them came running up to him, & there was a pleasant word for each in quite the "hail fellow well met" style. The club has capital gymnasium, with rooms for bagatelle, draughts &c. There are now 70 or 80 members but several ~~thous~~ hundreds have passed through. They are admitted from 13 to 18. & it is often a job to get rid of them at the latter age, Mr. W. says. He notes down in a book the occupation of them all when they join the club - many are printers boys, err and boys &c. I suggested it would be interesting to know their after careers

& he at once fell in with the idea & undertook to trace a number of them. He said he had many times observed the difficulty these lads had in getting suitable work when they got to be 18 or so. He had himself got better places for several of them. Many up to that age, were not getting more than 10/- to 12/- a week & were learning no trade. Casual labour or the Army were no doubt the last resorts of such lads. Of any 10 of his lads he guessed roughly that 2 would get into a skilled trade, 2 would become regular dock or wharf employes, 1 would die, 2 would drift into casual labour, 2 would become soldiers or seamen, & 1 get permanent employment in another way.

At the Highbury school some 80 or 90 boys received us with great applause. The occasion was the presentation of prizes won at the St. Georges - in the East Football sports, as set forth in subjoined programme. [for programme see next page]. Half a dozen Board Schools in St. Georges are concerned together in these sports & form a Football League, & the special feature of the day was the handing of the football challenge shield to the team of the Highbury School - quite a handsome trophy which has now been held by

The Prizes will be presented by Sir CHARLES ELLIOTT, K.C.S.I., at the Highway School, on Friday, May 28th, 1897, at 4.45 p.m.

The Chair will be taken by the President, the Rev. PREB. TURNER, M.A.

3 or 4 of the schools in turn. Quite proud & happy evidently were the winning team. & I was struck with the cordial cheers with which they were received by the boys from the rival schools - quite the ring of true sportsmanlike feeling. Most had a prize - a cricket bat or ball, the game of bat, trap & ball, or apparatus for a like game, & one or two watches - Poorly dressed boys, some very so, but none the less pleased. Rev Probs Turner was in the chair & Sir Chas Elliott gave away the prizes & afterwards made a pleasant little speech. W. Wells & some of the schoolmasters (one of whom was present from each school with his contingent of boys) added words in which they emphasized the friendly ^{feeling} between the schools & the efforts of the best teachers who had trained the boys. Then came cheers for down, chairman, & everybody concerned & so brought the proceedings to an end.

I was afterwards introduced to Miss Kightley who has a club for the roughest class of girls at London St. Ratchiff, & is to the girls what W. Wells is to the Boys. They are both agreed that the B-schools are the finest & most active centres for local work & both believe in giving the children scope to enjoy themselves - places at which they can exude their animal spirits beneficially to themselves & without injury to others.

On our way back we passed through Irvine Court Cable Street. The houses have been newly done up but the occupants are still very poor (& "quite harmless" Mr. Willb says). Nearly a score of youngsters were at play & about half of them bare footed, altho' the day was rather wet & very windy.

Back at Mr. Willb's house. I met a Mr. Warboy (so I understood the name), a short fair whiskered man, who came in armed with a hand camera, with which he had, he said, been trying to get one or two snap shots. Mr. W. is connected with the C.O.S. in the district & is very much of that school. - There are far too many agencies at work among the people he thinks. Their self reliance is being capped. He spoke of the brick of destitution on which the great bulk of the people here live, & of the very serious results of a few days frost &c.

The great fault of any sensational appeal to public charity apart from the general evil of attracting loafers, spasmodic giving &c, is that the help always comes too late - when the money comes the immediate need for it has gone. What is wanted is a reserve fund, & a thoroughly well thought out scheme, so that when exceptional distress arises it can be immediately & properly met. He thinks the East End parishes might combine in good times like the present to frame a thorough & judicious plan of action against the next bad period - Referred to various pieces of waste land which might be drained & cultivated work which might well be done & would be of public utility when carried out.

There was some further talk in which the National Friendly Deposit Society was mentioned as having some peculiar system of pensions, the depositor having option of withdrawing the money after a certain period.

Mr Warbey says A.C.H. Graham of the Labour Electoral League to Kirbey St Poplar is worth seeing.

In leaving I promised to call to see Mr Mills club in full working.

1. Poverty. Always with us to a considerable extent among the labourers, casual workers etc. Not acute at present as work is good. Mechanics as a rule can find work.
- 1^b Not a drunken district. The poorer & more depraved the district or street the more given to drink are the inhabitants. Among the very poorest class both men & women are intemperate.
- 1^c Knowing much better than 10 or 15 years ago. Now good. Grosvenor Buildings Poplar, a fine block of model dwellings, now stands where rookeries formerly existed. Sanitation & Health well looked after by a vigorous local Board well backed up by capable & vigilant officers.
2. Marriages in the district do not strike men as early.
3. As a rule the young people are moral & well behaved. Even the very poor though coarse in jest & & behaviour could not be accused of immorality as a rule.

4. Religion exercises strong influence - Many flourishing Churches & Chapels. Nearly all have well organised classes, Temperance Societies, Guilds, Young Peoples social gatherings etc - But with all this a large percentage of the population rarely or never attend a place of worship.

5. Education, decidedly a splendid effect. The wastrels now as a rule are those who in their youth evaded attendance officers or were confirmed truants.

6. Several local charities administered by Churchwardens & overseers as a rule. The Poplar Benevolent Society which celebrated its jubilee (50th year) last year does great good among the poor & deserving. Supported by Voluntary Contributions - The Jubilee Chairman was Mr. Sidney Smith, Secretary Mr. W. Raymond. The George Green School was a Grammar School was founded by Mr. Green.

1. A rate making & money controlling body called the Trustees of Poplar. All persons rated at £26 or over. (2) Popularly elected Vestry who manage public baths & library (3) Board of Works elected by Vestry of Poplar, East Bowley -

2. Very few except evening concerts to be at home call etc of which there is no lack. Great improvement made during last year or two, by Laming County Council Band, Police Band etc, play about twice a week in Poplar Recreation Ground. Much appreciated.

Good local professional football club (Millwall Athletic) sprung up during last few years. Four or five thousand people usually attend the Saturday afternoon matches.

People as a rule very fond of music & will listen to anything from a street singer or concert player to a good concert or band.

Blackwall Tunnel will open up a walk (not a good one at present in Poplar) to get a breath of air on other side of Thames.

Blackwall Pier usually crowded on summer evenings. - our solitary promenade in Poplar except main road (East India St) which is equally crowded, especially Sunday evenings.

A town of working class people. No rich (practically) except a few professional men & better off tradesman. Well behaved law abiding community. Trades unions strong, labour representative (W. W. Crooks) on County Council. People a bit fond of demagogic orators & banners but little of the extreme socialistic element. Great hands at excursions bean feast etc. The neighbourhood rings with them during summer months.

Trade in neighbourhood reviving new industries springing up in place of the old ship yards. Still considerable amount of iron ship building (Tarrow, Green etc) & engineering done in the district. More permanent hands & less casual labour at Dockworks - a distinct improvement

Whitsun Tuesday, June 8th

Sister Maude, of the Nursing sisters of St John the Divine, Poplar branch, 1 Bow Lane, Poplar, E.

Started in 1880 in Poplar

Mother home in Drayton Gardens where the private nurses live: these nurses have all been trained in their private hospital at Lewisham. They are trained at hospital for 13 months as a minimum.
They have also a maternity hospital in Chelsea and other branches in Deptford & Lewisham.

- Work in the districts of
- St Gabriel's
 - St Stephens
 - St Michaels
 - All Saints
 - All Hallows
 - St Fridaides
 - St Saviours

General nursing is not done in St Saviours because they have no midwifery in all. St Fridaides also have a trained mission nurse

Staff in Poplar

Nursing done by other sects

Lack of night nurses.

S^r Trideswides have recently started a nurse of their own

Sister in charge & 2 or 3 nurses + sometimes a lady pupil who all live here. As a rule the working community does not number more than 4. All the clergy or doctors send to them when wanted now people are beginning to come of themselves.

Undenominational nursing: no distinction made between one creed and another or no creed.

Romans as far as she knows have no nurses: she has never seen any. The priests comes around occasionally but they often have to nurse Romans.

At All Saints they have a mission nurse who does not nurse but gets up Bible classes & working classes for girls & visits in the district

Rilban sister working at St Michaels does not nurse but visits in the district: she also undertake some "chronic" but really does not undertake general nursing

Illness comes in rushes. Just now much influenza & pneumonia & are very busy. They could do with a larger staff. Nurses for night work are what are especially wanted

Division of work.

They visit cases sometimes as much as 3 times a day & occasionally but of very rarely sit up all night with them

Lying-in cases.

Drink

Poor Streets.

Providence Place facile princeps.

Probationers paid after the first month. The terms of engagement & payment can be had from Drayton Garden. Always 2 for general work & 2 for midwifery and one sister in charge. This is the division of work in Poplar. Lying-in cases are much better conducted in their own homes both medically & morally. Women retain influence over their husbands & children.

Dr Charlotte's, receives anyone really for the experience that the cases give their nurses.

Drunk gets no better. It is the ruin of homes down here. Woman yesterday drunk a pint & a half of whiskey. Her husband is respectable but this was a little too much & he has now gone off to sea.

Providence place, Norfolk St, Wells Street, Cottage St; are poor rough places. Many Irish.

Providence Place out of Ashta St is especially bad.

Sophia St & Riverside Road St are very poor but not nearly so bad as Providence Place. When children have no shoes, women always quarrelling; have just been minding a woman's head which had been kicked open by her husband. Everyone dirty & disreputable.

Bank Holiday

Changes in Poplar.

Payment for nursing

Religion

Great deal of drunkenness, this last Sunday & Monday. people don't just stop before 12 & are in the morning. Up till then there is a noise & a riot.

Poplar hardly the same place as 16 yrs ago: it is so much better now. So many are working & so much has been done.

People have to pay nurses 5/- for each confinement this includes attendance for 9 days after. People value it much more if they have to pay. For small things there is no charge.

When cases can afford it they are made to pay something towards the dressings: otherwise not. Give same medicines as well tho' they are not supposed to do it.

Kinross also is allowed here cheaper than people can buy it in the shops because they buy it wholesale. Besides in the shops such awful stuff is sold, not kinross at all.

Don't undertake religion. They always send for the clergy for the part. When a case is very near death they will speak to him if no clergyman is present.

Nursing among Dissenters

Rice in Poplar.

No saving

Sanitation

Books read.

Dissenters don't do any nursing. Sometimes they keep a Bible woman but not always. If she ^(the Bible woman) nurses she does very little of it & she is never a properly trained nurse.

The East London Mission has no nurse here though it has ^{one} at Limehouse.

Nurses, boarded for houses & clothed for nothing. It does not make any difference to the nurse's wages whether she is at Deptford, Poplar, Much rice, many sailors.

People won't save, stevedores make good money but they spend it again, mostly on drink.

Sanitation much better than it used to be. I am always meety the sanitary authorities inspecting the houses

People are very fond of books. Have a small lending library. Irish people read a good deal. Men especially fond of reading. Very rarely see a daily newspaper

Effect of Board School Education

Poor relief.

Marriages.

about but very often there is Tit-bit & scraps even more often than these 'Answers'. Children are certainly much cleaner than they used to be but.
Boys worked very hard at schools: many came for spectacles I trace eye weakness to overwork at school. This has undoubtedly increased. Education has often spoiled the "People are pretty well looked after" | manners of the children:
they are less respectful to their parents than they used to be.
Parish out-door relief difficult to get. Is in favour of out-door relief for respectable old people. "It seems very hard that such as these should have to go into the home". C.O.S. takes such a time to enquire into their cases

Many early marriages. "more often 19 or 20 than later sometimes even at 16 or 17."

Miss Smith. Deaconess in charge of the Bromley Training Institute of mission nurses in connection with Harley House (Dr. Frattan "Quinero").
In charge of Training Home for Missionary nurses.
Is the nursing branch of Dr. Frattan "Quinero's" institute.

Have 4 nurses and 9 deaconesses here (7 now).

Nurses trained solely in maternity cases from the district. Come here to get L.O.S. diploma working under a trained maternity nurse. Quite interdenominational the nursing. Many of the patients have no creed at all.

Anyone in a training home is a deaconess if she is engaged in spiritual work among the people.
All the deaconesses are training for foreign missions.

Nurses take a 3 months course here. Nurses are constantly constantly changing but the work goes on without omission.

Seemences are here for 2 to 3 years.

Many Romans in the neighbourhood "at least they call themselves so, but in reality are nothing".

The majority would here as the very poor working class.
Employed many in the docks, Casworks, factories.
Many factory girls. Much of their work lies among them. Bells Bryant & May, Berger starch.
Jute, Far Farmed Cake, Laundry work.

Jute jobs the roughest but match girls also very rough.
Very rough, very wild, very dirty but not by any means the worst class of factory girls.

Not many slums round here. All show an attempt at respectability.

There are one or two bad streets off St Leonard's Rd. esp
one court between Byrom St & St Leonard Avenue

Romans.

Classes in the neighbourhood

Jute & match girls

Object of work.

Indifference & too much religion

Other nursing societies

Ritualists

of the St. Leonard's Rd. when they were last Sunday evening conducting a service - preaching - hymn.

Some visiting. "all with the object of giving people to Christ."

All leave. This is a training for foreign work by means of home work.

People indifferent. They have had too much of religion. "You can hardly find a person who has not heard of the gospel but who at the same time have not accepted the way of salvation". "We don't seek to unite people with any church but simply to preach Christ to them".

People stolid. "Don't see the need of being woken up."

The Sisters of St. Michaels (who have a lady doctor) do a good deal of visiting & are very good to the people. A so-called protestant sisterhood "But they are very high indeed."

There is being done by the Ritualists than by the Romans. Has had R.C. patients, at least they called them selves

Qualified good done by education

Berger Hall congregations

Baptists the predominant sect.

So, but when you come to enquire of what they really know it was absolutely nil!

Educational work is good but it often makes children think they know too much & they become careless of religion.

Spiritually the district between E.S. Rd & Bow Rd. is well looked after

In Empson St. they have about 800 in the evening & 400 in the morning

The Tabernacle is fairly attended: this is an odding church work. Berger Hall on the other hand is mission work & touches the poorest of the poor. Of Wesleyans just round here are none but there are one or 2 congregationalists

Baptists predominate over any other sect here if you take in the East London Tabernacle Believer's Baptism is the real test of religious belief. This is followed by total immersion: strictly in accordance with the practice of the Gospels.

Early marriages.

Increasing influence of the Romans.

Books read by factory girls

Payments for maternity cases.

Early marriages a cause of much poverty. Majority marry between 20 & 21. Not a large proportion don't marry though perhaps the character of the work w^d prevent their coming in contact with them.

Influence of the Romans is increasing everywhere. Perhaps not so much about here as elsewhere.

Factory girls are great readers of novelettes. - Horner's penny stories 'which seek to give them the right thing wrapped up' are widely read. Factory girls mostly know about religion but they won't have it most of them.

£- is paid for maternity cases by the patients: some pay more & some ~~are~~ less if they can't really afford it.

St John nurses do a good work. - District Nurses connected with Churches. Has never come in contact with any of the Roman nurses.

On leaving. Miss Smith. "You have asked me so many questions may I ask you one?"
G.H.D. (unsuspecting) Certainly, anything I can do etc. Miss S. after a pause 'are you saved?'
G.H.D. another pause. Afraid I don't really know. Even if I thought so I sh^d hardly like to say it.
Miss S. If you were saved you would know it w^d say so... Very long pause. G.H.D. looks hard at the door & Miss Smith takes the hint.

Visit to Miss Brodie, 15
Dock Road, 399 East-India

Miss Brodie is the Branch Sec. of the Girls' Friendly Society in the parish of All Hallows. I called on her with the object of seeing how far it was desirable to see local representatives of this Society even when not specially mentioned to us, and came to the conclusion that there was no reason to do so. Any information we wish to obtain as to the work of the Society it would be better to obtain from head quarters.

Miss Brodie gave me the report of the East-London Committee of the Society, and I append the report of the All Hallows Branch:-

ALL HALLOWS, EAST INDIA DOCKS.

Branch Secretary—Miss BRODIE, 399, East India Road, E.
Club Room—37, Culloden Street.

All through the year 1896, this Branch has continued to be worked in the same way as usual. Very few changes have taken place. Twenty-eight new Members have been admitted, nine have been commended to other Branches, one has died, one has married, three have withdrawn from the Society, and two have gone away without leaving any address.

The Club Room is open four days in the week. Various Clubs and Classes are held, to all of which G.F.S. Members are admitted. Three Bible Classes are held on Sunday afternoons. Forty Members attended the Annual Service at St. Paul's Cathedral, in June.

Eight Members have been helped by the East London G.F.S. Sick Fund, and one girl was given a grant of £3 to enable her, with the co-operation of the Poplar Branch of the Charity Organization Society, to go to Torquay for the winter. Two Members have been adopted by other Branches. By a grant from a donation kindly given by Lady MEATH, several Members were able to go with a Bible Class excursion to Clacton.

Number of Members, December 31st, 1896—96.
Probationers—10.

as to visiting which throws some light on the meaning of house to house visitation

Mr Gale has been connected with the school for 32 years. He went there as a scholar at the age of 7 and has been head master for 17 years. Had spent 3 years with the London School Board before he was appointed head master.

There are 318 children on the books. A very small percentage of the children of Wesleyans. A large number whose parents are connected with other denominations and even some Jews and Roman Catholics. The children are largely those of tradesmen and the better class artisan class. Come from the High Street, St Pauls Road and the Abbott Estate.

Fees 3^d to 5^d - were 6^d at first; then school became too full & they raised fees in higher classes to 4^d rather than ^{than} ~~quitting~~ a larger school. Directly the Day school does not benefit the Church but

Church & School

Personal Influence lacking or weak

What Scholars become.

Wesleyan Church Items

indirectly it does. Children attending the day school become accustomed to the place and more readily join the Sunday school. Some of these as they grow up will go to the church and come under its influence.

The missing link between the Church and the young people is not at school age but just above that - at 15 to 16 years of age. What is needed then is the formation of a personal attachment & the Wesleyans are rather unfortunate in this respect the ministers not having time to attach the young people to themselves or if they do, they are removed & their influence lost.

Most of the lads as they leave school go to work; the place they take being determined more by what offers than the likes or dislikes of the lad. But few are apprenticed. Some - too many - go in for clerkships & of these a few who become dissatisfied may be apprenticed - a few thro started by the East London Apprenticeship Fund.

In connection with the Wesleyan Church, they have

Reading Room

Cycle, Cricket Clubs etc.

Conditions as to Work

Wealth

a reading room for young men 3 or 4 nights a week. They pay 1^d a week. At first it went with a great spring then flagged. Now the Young Men's Bible class has taken it up. There are also Cycle, Cricket + Football clubs connected with the church. The church's great weakness is the want of workers.

Church social is held once a quarter. Music singing etc.

We then turned from school + church matters ~~and~~ to general topics taking Form E as the basis of conversation.

Ship building trade is not very flourishing on the Island - mainly small repairs. Engineering trade is taking its place. Men become sea-going engineers because it pays better. For skilled workers, he does not think there is much difference between present and past. The drift of the middle class people is however impoverishing the district. Taking the district as a whole the average is lower than formerly.

Drunk

Early Marriage

Relation of Sexes

Religious Influences

Mr G. is an abstainer. Thinks abstinence is spreading altho' so many scholars do not belong to bands of hope, ^{as formerly} On the whole the district is improving.

Early marriages do not take place amongst the people of the chapel. Amongst outsiders some marry at 18.

Relation between the sexes is not as it should be amongst a certain section of the people. At Ricardo Street (large board school) they frequently have women bringing children to school. When asked the name they say "I don't know. Put it down Brown" &c.

Mrs Chandler and St Friedswydes' are most active. All Hallows. intimately connected with Oban Road School. Several curates, go over and watch the children's games and play with ~~with~~ them. Have clubs & classes for fret work etc.

Non-conformists do not do much this way. The non-conformist to spiritual work & the Church (Anglican) to social work.

Education

C.O.S.

Poor Law Administration

Amusements

Education has had a good effect. It is at a higher level than it was. Boys are more ~~intellectual~~ intellectual than they were - have been drawn out. They train the boy's intelligence now rather than give him facts. Taught to be much more careful and thrifty. Many of my boys have accounts in the Savings Bank.

C.O.S. has not got a good name but does good work. Ex. An ex-pupil teacher got a new cork leg through them for about £3.3.-

Mr G. does not approve of the Poor Law as administered at Poplar. They give abundance of help where it is not needed. Especially mentioned the outrelief, which he thinks is given on wrong principles. Poor careful people, who have retained their furniture & their home cannot obtain help whilst the thriftless and improvident can.

A great growth in outdoor amusements, yet large numbers still lounge about the streets.

Prospects of Young People.

Dangers of Pernicious Literature

How counteracted.

Opinion of Mr. Gale

As a whole he regards the rising generation here very hopefully. Numbers attend the Technical classes during the winter; some going to them straight from work. As a rule they will only take up that a subject that will directly benefit them "Will it benefit me?" is the question they ask.

They take a great pride in their personal appearance and also in mental development.

One of the great dangers is the cheap trashy literature - Comic books etc. If he finds one of his boys with them in school he would take it away but on the whole tries to establish a healthy tone amongst the boys. They are reading the Penny editions of great authors (Stead etc) in school. He buys them first & sees if they are ~~so~~ suitable. Then a little quiet ~~ridicule~~ ridicule of the trashy books as opportunity offers is very effective.

~~Mr~~ Gale impressed me very favourably. A quiet self-possessed man. Still young or only in early middle life, he ~~also~~ showed a keen and sympathetic interest in his boys and appeared to think of their interests in ~~so~~ wider spheres than the daily school routine.

EAST-END BOY BATTALIONS.

Following the example of the warlike youth of Clerkenwell, the boys of the East-end have formed revolver corps, and carry on guerilla warfare in the streets. A brisk engagement took place on Monday night in Upper North-street.

Two detachments of juvenile sharpshooters came into collision, and hostilities began immediately. They exchanged revolver shots and volleys of stones, and then engaged in hand-to-hand combat with large sticks. The panic-stricken tradesmen in the street hastily ran up their shutters, and for a time anarchy reigned.

At this juncture 563 K came on the scene. But the belligerents were in no humour for arbitration. One of them, named Thomas Likeness, dealt him so hearty a blow on the shoulder with his stick that the weapon flew into three pieces.

Yesterday Likeness and a comrade in arms, named Charles Emmins, were placed in the dock at the Thames Police-court. They listened to a severe lecture from Mr. Dickinson, who fined Emmins 40s., or a month, and sentenced the other youth to six weeks' hard labour.
