POLICY.

This Society demands the vote for Women on the same terms as it is, or may be, granted to men.

It pursues this object by every constitutional means in its power.

It has no party.

At elections it supports the candidate, to whatever party he may belong, who declares himself the best friend to the cause of women. Where all the candidates are equally favourable or equally unfavourable, it takes no sides.

It appeals to the electors to exact a public pledge from the candidates, and to support the cause of justice at the Poll.

It appeals to voteless women to unite in demanding this great reform.

It appeals to everyone, man or woman, to make the Members of Parliament feel that the country has spoken.

ANNUAL REPORT.

YOUR Committee are able to record continued progress made by the Women's Suffrage movement during the past year. Among other signs of this progress may be mentioned the growth and prosperity of the London Society and the striking fact that no fewer than sixty new societies in different parts of Great Britain have been added to the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies.

The General Election of January, 1910, was memorable for the organisation of the Voters' Petitions which had in the previous year played so large a part in by-elections. In 290 constituencies signatures were collected, amounting in all to little under 300,000. In the area of the London Society petitions were organised in fifty-one constituencies and about 28,285 signatures were obtained. Committee rooms were opened by the Society in thirteen constituencies as follows:—King's Road (Chelsea), Lee Road (Greenwich), High Street, Kingsland (N. Hackney), Holloway Road (N. Islington), Church Street (S. Kensington), Harrow Road (N. Paddington), Queen's Road (S. Paddington), East India Dock Road (Poplar), Kentish Town Road (N. St. Pancras), Gt. Smith Street (Westminster), Bond Street (Ealing), High Street, Harlesden (Harrow), and Archway Road (Hornsey). Polling extended over five days in the London boroughs, and for the additional three days during which the Elections continued in County divisions, the Society supplied workers not only to the constituencies within its own area but to other National Union Societies in the Home Counties. The weather throughout the election was very trying; in snow, rain, and hail members day after day held the petition outside polling booths from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and the devotion of these women gave an object lesson which we have reason to believe was not lost upon the electors.

Owing no doubt to the steady pressure in the constituencies the number of candidates who made mention of Women's Suffrage in their Election Addresses showed a very great increase on that of the General Election in 1906, amounting in all to 345, of whom forty-one, exclusive of candidates who declared for Adult Suffrage only, were standing for constituencies within the London area.

It had been intended to present all the Voters' Petitions on the same day in Open House, after the opening of Parliament, but it was found that this could not be arranged, and it was decided, therefore, that they should be handed in by groups of M.Ps. in batches of ten at a time. For about a month the presentation of Petitions from electors brought the question of Women's Suffrage daily before the notice of the House.

Shortly after the Meeting of Parliament there was formed among its members a Committee, known as the Conciliation Committee, of those in favour of the enfranchisement of women drawn from all parties in the House, and having as its Chairman the Earl of Lytton and as Hon. Secretary, Mr. H. N. Brailsford. The first object of this Committee was to ascertain the lines upon which a Women's Suffrage Bill should be drafted to secure the maximum amount of support in the House of Commons. After much inquiry it was found that Women Suffragists of all parties would unite in supporting a measure to extend the Parliamentary franchise to women upon the lines of the municipal franchise which they already possess. The Conciliation Bill was accordingly drafted and was introduced in the House under the ten minutes' rule by Mr. D. J. Shackleton. The text of the Bill was as follows:—

- 1.—Every woman possessed of a household qualification, or of a ten pound occupation qualification, within the meaning of The Representation of the People Act (1884), shall be entitled to be registered as a voter, and when registered to vote for the county or borough in which the qualifying premises are situate.

2.—For the purposes of this Act, a woman shall not be disqualified by marriage for being registered as a voter, provided that a husband and wife shall not both be registered as voters in the same Parliamentary Borough or County Division.

This Bill fell short of the demand of the Women's Suffrage Societies in that it withheld the vote from women-owners, lodgers, and University graduates, but it was welcomed as based on the principle of the removal of the disability of sex, while at the same time offering the best chance of obtaining a favourable decision. Women Suffragists throughout the country (including many women of the classes which do not come within the scope of the Bill) united in a determined endeavour to obtain this instalment of justice. On June 21st deputations from the National Union and the Women's Liberal Federation waited upon the Prime Minister and urged him to grant facilities for the Bill. Mr. Asquith in reply recognised "that the question was exciting an ever-increasing amount of interest, and even passion, in the country," and admitted further that "the House of Commons ought to have the opportunity of expressing an opinion upon it." On June 23rd the Prime Minister announced in the House that the Government was prepared to give time before the close of the session for a full debate and division on the second reading of Mr. Shackleton's Bill. The date fixed was July 11th, and in the interval strenuous efforts were made to arouse public feeling in favour of the Bill. In London during this fortnight, in addition to the holding of twenty meetings in different localities, the Society organised two large demonstrations. On June 28th Lady Frances Balfour presided at an enthusiastic meeting in the Queen's Hall, at which a sum of over £1,500 was raised for carrying on the campaign. On July 9th a great meeting was held in Trafalgar Square, when thousands of men and women from all parts of England took part in what was admitted to be one of the most impressive demonstrations ever held on that spot. Round three sides of Nelson's Column were the platforms of the National Union and the Industrial and Professional Women Workers, whilst opposite, on the north side of the Square, the Men's League for Women's Suffrage, the Women's Liberal Federation, and the Temperance Women had each a platform to themselves. The beautiful banners designed by the Artists' Suffrage League were now seen for the second time in the streets of London, while a new series of 116 bannerettes specially made for the occasion bore in white letters on a red background the numbers of voters who in different constituencies had petitioned for Women's Suffrage. The decorative effect of the whole was completed by the bunches of green ilex leaves tied with red ribbons to white wands and carried by many hundreds of those present. The resolution was simultaneously put from the six platforms.

The debate took place on July 11th and 12th, and the second reading was moved by Mr. Shackleton (Lab., Clitheroe), seconded by Sir John Rolleston (Cons., Hertford). The following gentlemen spoke in support of the Bill:— The Secretary of State for War (The Rt. Hon. R. B. Haldane), the President of the Board of Education (the Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman), the Leader of the Opposition (the Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour), the Rt. Hon. Alfred Lyttelton, Lord Hugh Cecil, Sir Alfred Mond, Sir Albert Spicer, Messrs. Chancellor, Goulding, Keir Hardie, Kettle, Leach, W. S. B. McLaren, Ponsonby, William Redmond, and Philip Snowden.

The following spoke in opposition:— The Prime Minister (the Rt. Hon. H. H. Asquith), the Chancellor of the Exchequer (the Rt. Hon. Lloyd George), the Secretary of State for the Home Department (the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill), the Rt. Hon. Austen Chamberlain, the Rt. Hon. Walter Long, Messrs. Harold Baker, Hilaire Belloc, Leonard Brassey, S. H. Butcher, J. Annan Bryce, the Hon. Walter Guinness, Messrs. Haviland-Burke, Henry, Harwood, Lyell, Mills, Sir A. Nugent, Earl of Ronaldshay, Messrs. F. E. Smith and Arnold Ward.

The division was taken on the night of July 12th, when the numbers were 229 in favour, 189 against, a majority of 110 in favour of the Second Reading. A motion was then proposed by Mr. Lehmann to refer the Bill to a Committee of the whole House; there voted in favour 320, against 175, being a majority in favour of 145. The effect of this vote was to render the further progress of the Bill dependent upon the Government's giving time for a Committee of the Whole House, which they declined to do. Of the Members of Parliament in the London Society's area, forty-one voted or paired for the Second Reading, and twenty against; thirteen did not vote. Of these one was a supporter and member of the Conciliation Committee and two others had professed themselves in sympathy; one was a supporter of Adult Suffrage only, two were opponents who had promised to abstain from voting in deference to the views of a large number of their constituents, and six others were believed to be opponents who abstained from voting for the same reason. The thirteenth wrote to the Times from abroad to declare himself an opponent of the Bill.

During the past year the Society organised work at two by-elections, in Bermondsey (Southwark), October, 1909, and in St. George's-in-the-East (Tower Hamlets), March, 1910. In both cases propaganda work only was undertaken. In Bermondsey magnificent work was done; the speakers were listened to with deepest interest by large crowds and the workers were treated throughout the election with unvarying respect and sympathy. A very large number of signatures was expected to the Voters' Petition, but the action of the Women's Freedom League in attempting to invalidate the election by interfering with the ballot so altered the position that it was decided to withdraw the Society's workers from the polling stations. The following evening a crowded meeting in the Town Hall passed an almost unanimous vote in favour of Women's Suffrage. A Bermondsey Women's Suffrage Association was formed as the result of the election and several successful meetings have since then been held in the constituency. Conditions in the Tower Hamlets were less favourable to propaganda work owing to the very different character of the population and the large foreign element. The signatures of 360 electors were obtained to the petition, being about one-seventh of those who went to the poll.

In addition to the numerous meetings, averaging sometimes as many as six daily, in connection with these by-elections, forty public meetings were organised by the Society during the year in the following localities: Bermondsey, Chelsea, Chiswick, City of London, Clapham, Ealing, Enfield, Esher, North Hackney, South Hackney, Hampstead, Highgate, Kensington, Kingston, Kew, Marylebone, Newington, Paddington, Pinner, Richmond, St. Pancras, Stanmore, Surbiton, Sutton, Walton-on-Thames, Walworth, Westminster Willesden and Windsor. An important meeting for the discussion of "Women and the Franchise" was also held at the Women's Congress at the Japan-British Exhibition on June 9th, when the arrangements were placed in the hands of the London Society, and Lady Frances Balfour took the Chair, with Mrs. Fawcett as the principal speaker.

For reasons of space the meetings of every kind which have been held under the auspices of the Society cannot here be enumerated. A special feature of the year's work has been the popular social gatherings for working people, at which recitations and songs are provided in addition to the Women's Suffrage speeches. Many of these meetings have been held with great success in different parts of London. Another form of meeting which is becoming increasingly popular is the lecture on historical or other subjects connected with the woman's movement, by means of which instruction is imparted in an unobtrusive manner. A delightful lantern lecture by Miss Bertha Mason, on the history of the Women's Suffrage movement has been given several times with great success. The decline of the Anti-suffrage debater who was so valued an assistant at former meetings must be recorded with regret. It is rarely now that debates can be arranged between suffrage and anti-suffrage speakers. On the other hand there has been a very striking increase this year in the number of out-of-door meetings held all over London. Apart from the hundreds of street meetings organised during the General and by-elections, over eighty open-air meetings are recorded at the office and many more were arranged locally without communication with headquarters.

The number of leaflets distributed during the year forms quite a record, 190,000 having been given away during the General Election alone. The sales of literature also show a remarkable advance, the amount received having risen this year from £151 5s. 11d. to £217 os. 4d.

Three receptions were held in the Doré Galleries and one in the Society's offices, in addition to a large and very successful evening reception given in the Winter Garden of the Great Central Hotel in honour of the representatives of the National Union Societies at their annual meeting on March 19th, 1910.

The work of the Society has continued to expand without hindrance throughout the year. Three organisers have been added to the staff, which consists now of five workers in the office and six outside it. The activity of the Society is reflected in the revenue account of the year, which shows an increase in receipts over the previous year's of over £1,200 and an increase in expenditure of over £1,300. It is gratifying to record that the proportion of the receipts expended upon central administration shows a marked decrease as compared with former years. With the help of untiring efforts on the part of local Committees a large sum was collected to enable the Society to meet the expenses of another General Election. At the National Union's Annual Meeting in March, 1910, it was resolved that Women's Suffrage candidates should be run in suitable constituencies. After that time the London Society's Committee had the choice of a constituency and candidate under careful consideration and they closed the financial year in the confident hope of being able to carry out the instructions of the National Union Council without being obliged to apply to them for financial help. The Committee record with regret the resignation of Miss McKee from the office of Hon. Treasurer. Miss McKee's financial knowledge and the constant attention she has devoted to the duties of her office during the four years of her treasurership have been of the utmost value to the Society.

Your Committee with deep regret have to record in a year of national mourning the death of those distinguished pioneers of the Woman's movement, Florence Nightingale, Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, and Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, and of the eminent surgeon, Mrs. Stanley Boyd, M.D. They have also to lament the loss of their valued friend and colleague Miss Lucy Jenner, whose remarkable abilities and energies were devoted throughout her life to forwarding the interests of women in every field of work.

It is obvious that the work briefly outlined in this Report could not have been carried through without the devoted support of a considerable body of voluntary helpers. Many of these volunteers have given up so much of their time and thought to the service that they have become experts in different departments and to their zeal and efficiency is largely due the successful progress of the Society's work. It is no longer possible to mention by name the many friends who have worked together during the year, and the Committee must be content to acknowledge in general terms the magnificent support received during the past year from the local Hon. Secretaries, the members of local Committees and many members of the Society. Whether working in their own localities or in the central office, whether helping with tongue, pen, needle, or purse; whether organising and addressing meetings, canvassing householders, enrolling new members, or helping in dull clerical work, they have performed their varied tasks with admirable efficiency and despatch. It is needless to urge these gallant comrades not to relax their efforts as the goal is approached, but the less active members of the Society may be reminded that while success may fairly be said to be in view, much remains to be done before it can be finally achieved.

October, 1910.

N.B.—Attention is requested to the date of the foregoing Report. The Committee much regret the delay in publication, due to the great pressure of work caused by the General Election in December, 1910.

RULES.

- I.—The title of this Society is “THE LONDON SOCIETY FOR WOMEN’S SUFFRAGE.”
- II.—The object of the Society is to obtain the Parliamentary Franchise for Women on the same terms as it is, or may be, granted to men.
- III.—The Society shall consist of the present Members and Associates and of all persons who have signified in writing (a) their approval of its object, (b) their adherence solely to lawful and constitutional methods of promoting this object, and (c) their loyal acceptance of the election policy adopted by the National Union of Women’s Suffrage Societies at its Council Meetings. (A) Annual subscribers of any amount not less than a shilling shall be Members and entitled to vote, (B) Non-subscribers shall be Associates. The Executive Committee shall be empowered to refuse subscriptions from any Member or Members who in the opinion of the Committee shall have acted in a manner at variance with or prejudicial to the object or methods of the Society, provided always that such action be not taken except at a meeting of the Executive Committee, with not less than eight days’ notice, such notice to specify the business to be taken.

IV.—The officers of the Society shall be a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, Chairman of Committee, Local Hon. Secretaries, and a Secretary.

V.—The current business of the Society shall be conducted by an Executive Committee, consisting of the President and Treasurer of the Society, and eighteen other persons elected by ballot at the annual meeting. The Committee shall elect its Hon. Officers, the Vice-Presidents, and the Local Hon. Secretaries of the Society annually at its first meeting. It shall also appoint its paid officers.

VI.—The Ordinary Meetings of the Committee shall be held monthly, on a fixed date, to be determined at its first meeting, which shall be called by the Secretary, as soon as convenient, after the annual meeting of the Society.

Special meetings shall be called at the request of not less than four members. Five shall form a quorum at all meetings.

VII.—The ballot papers for the election of the President, Treasurer, and other Members of the Executive Committee shall be given to each Member of the Society, in exchange for the counterfoil of his or her ticket of admission to annual meeting, at a polling station within the precincts of the hall. The voters will be required to mark their ballot papers, when they receive them, inside the polling station, and to place them at once in one of the sealed ballot boxes provided. The polling station shall be open from 3 to 8 p.m. on the day of the annual business meeting.

VIII.—Any person may be proposed for election or re-election as President, Treasurer, or Member of Committee, provided always that such person should be pledged to put the interests of the Suffrage before party considerations, and to adhere solely to legal and constitutional methods of agitation, on the nomination of two Members of the Society, to whom the Candidate is personally known, such nomination to reach the Secretary at least twenty-one days before the Annual Meeting. Lists of nominations of President and Treasurer and Members of the Executive Committee of the Society, together with names of proposers and seconders and a table of attendances of Members standing for re-election, shall be sent to each Member of the Society at least fourteen days before the annual meeting.

IX.—An annual general meeting of the Society shall be held as soon as convenient after September 30th in each year:—

- (1) To receive the report, and the financial statement, which shall be duly audited.
- (2) To elect the President and Treasurer of the Society and the Executive Committee.

(3) To appoint the returning officer and tellers for the ballot voting.

Not less than twenty-eight days' (preliminary) notice of the meeting shall be given to each Member.

X.—Special general meetings of the Society may be called at any time by the Executive Committee, and shall be called by the Secretary within forty-two days, on the requisition of not less than one-fifth of the number of Members appearing in the last annual report. No resolution passed at the Annual Meeting shall be rescinded before the next Annual Meeting, except by a two-thirds majority of a general meeting. A special general meeting shall discuss only such matters as are mentioned in the notice calling such meeting. Fourteen days' notice shall be given of general meetings to all Members.

XI.—The Rules shall not be altered except at a general meeting of the Members of the Society. The nature of the proposed alterations must be stated in the notice calling the meeting.
