Dear Madam

I think that a small pamphlet containing expressions of opinion favourable to the cause of Woman's Suffrage from distinguished and representative women & men would be a valuable means of Propaganda. I mean of course expressions of opinion which in their entirety should form a reasoned & persuasive exposition & defence of the Suffrage movement dealing with all the questions involved.

Thus it would be necessary both that the names of Contributors should be of weight to commend their opinions to the attention of the public, and the contributions themselves of weight to attract & persuade the public.

I should be happy to undertake the issue of such a pamphlet as my wife of the London Committee was prepared to furnish the material.

I am dear Madam

Sincerely yours
