Dearest Amy, * "At Last!" Cartoon by Bernard Partridge, on the winning of the Women's Vote.
So very many thanks to you for our delightful gift. I arrived punctually yesterday about midday & I was puzzled what it could be from till you dear & welcome letter came. Now I must select a very nice place for it to hang. I think it ought to be near Mary Wollstonecraft &

John Stuart Mill. I am sure you would approve of these for neighbours.

<sup>They are a mistake. They have come & are very much alive & well.</sup>
The rose buds ~~have not arrived yet~~ but I will talk to Suey about them & treat them as you recommend. It is very good of you to have added them to your other Mummy present.

I am very glad you are going to see Elsie We feel she has been very brave and good over her great sorrow. She tells us she has set to work again over her painting & hopes she has a commission for a portrait. I wonder if she could make one of G. On Friday June 21 we are going to Derby to spend a long week and with our cousin Miss Bessie Rawlings. We return (at least I return) on Tuesday the 25th. Agnes may be going on into Berkshire to another friend on a few days. but I shall let us know when we are passing thro' we or I will be delighted to see you. I hope you will soon hear again from Jack, but we can well imagine how difficult it must be to write amid all the turmoil of the present crisis.

It is a very anxious time, but the French seem to be doing wonders. With dear love from both of us & ever so many special thanks from me Ever and lovingly
M. C. Fawcett
