NEWS.

WOMEN POLICE.

Carlisle City Council recently turned down a proposal to appoint Women Police, and the Watch Committee having been appealed to decided "after careful consideration" that Women Police were not needed in Carlisle.

We hear that juvenile crime is increasing there, so women intend to continue their campaign and defeat prejudice once more.

QUEBEC.

Did you know that Quebec women had to work for 100 years to regain the vote? 1834 to 1940.

The vote was given to citizens on a property basis, in 1791, and women voted until 1834; when the Assembly passed a law limiting the vote to men. And it took over 100 years to obtain justice.
