Dear Mrs. Bentinck,

I am afraid that the difficulty about permits will continue. I agree that the requirements are silly.

The whole world is full of permits and control of people; I am afraid the old ones such as I fall to have to put up with much.

I see you are back at Marley House. I fear you will not be able to hear the Prime Minister opening on Saturday the Memorial for Beatrice. I shall not manage to go the small distance from here to Pasture Wood, as I should have wished to do.

Yours truly,
