My dear Darwin,

I am delighted to hear of your new enterprise, and wish you every kind and degree of success in it. If my name as reference is any use to you I should be only too glad to lay it at your disposal, and if ever opportunity occurs it will be a pleas-pleasure to testify as to my impression of your capacity. You have overcome new pain through a long time of chill in classes, which ought to bear fruit.

So good luck to you on every ground, and may you have a long roll of students.

I have been away for a few days, and only came back late last night. For the next few days I am rather busy, but then I hope to make a fresh descent on your home -

Yours aff^{ly}

Alivi Stoppard Green.
