1st June 1928.

Dear Mrs. Acres,

I am afraid I must not accept your kind suggestion that I should preach at the Service which is going to be held in St. Martin's when the Royal Assent is given to the Equal Franchise Bill. You possibly know something of what has been for me the quite inordinate pressure of work during recent weeks, and the days you mention (the last week of June) are those on which it is probable that the Prayer Book Measure, if it passes the House of Commons, may be debated in the House of Lords. At any rate my hands will then be more than full, and I dare not undertake to attend the Service in question.

I am

Yours very truly,

Wendell Landow
