My dear Mrs Harvey

Your very kind invitation is just like yourself, and I shall be delighted to accept it. I do not think that I shall go to the afternoon Conference, but that will depend upon the "orders" I receive from the Legislation League, but I imagine they will let me off, and so I shall come only for the evening meeting, I think, and if I may come straight to you in the afternoon I shall be very glad. I will write my train later. Your dear kind words are always an encouragement to me, and you are one of those among our British Women who have never failed me and to whom I am always grateful.

Believe me,

Yours affectionately,

Labe Dorrett
