

PRISON LIFE.

t is a strange contrast to go from Com-mist Russia, the highest point yet iched in civilisation, to Holloway Prison, ere one comes in contact with some of It is a miseries resulting from ystem in directive ce saddest the italist system in directive cent he largest and most powerful empire centres world. A term in prison has always nt to me a renewed spur to work for overthrow of the hideous conditions of ant ich prisons are a part.

when I first went to Ho'loway as a "hard abour" prisoner in 1906 for being a Suf-ragette, I passed, as number 12, through he hard mill of the ordinary prison treat-nent of those days, eating the oatmeal rule and bread which then formed the reater part of the diet, sleeping on the cooden plank with the small and strangely and herb-filled mattress and pillow, which till survive. "Don't look about you 12!" ras the cons'ant admonition I got as I passed ith the line of women to chapel each s the constant admonition I got as I passed the the line of women to chapel each rning, or into the exercise yard for half-hour once in three days. But, I did look ut me, and as the result of what I l others saw there, an agitation grew up ich resulted in some minor amelioration conditions for the ordinary prisoners, is agitation, when intensified by the ager strike, secured also improved condi-os for the political prisoners. In 1910 ger strike, secured also improved condi-its for the political prisoners. In 1910 liament approved the making of rule a, under which political prisoners be-be entitled to have their own food sent b them from outside, to wear their own hes, to receive a letter and a visit once weak to have daily newspaper as well write what they pleased during their im-sonment, and to take this out with them expiration of their sentence the

The very modest rights granted by rule 3a were much smaller than those ac-rded to political prisoners in some other untries, and to W. T. Stead and others prisoned here in the days of our fathers. less rights were wrung from the Asquith wernment after a hard struggle. The d George Government has taken them rumoured that ameliorations esta the for the general body of prisoners also to be withdrawn, and that the me Office wishes to "cut out Reform," abolish the hospitals, and make other nges of which I shall write later.

When I went to prison on this occasion did not know whether rule 243a was be granted to me. I addressed a petition the Home Office for the rights granted this rule, and received a negative It was known to the authorities by by. It was known to the authorities by dical evidence produced at my trial that had collitis and other chronic ailments, d in my petition I referred to this, but on the request for the food which might we minimised the injury to my health, ich must inevitably result from six maths' imprisonment, was denied. What I felt much more keenly was being prived of writing materials and the op-rtunities of study and intercourse with trent thought, which rule 243a would we afforded me.

e afforded me.

Those who have not been in prison will t realise that I and the many other poli-cal prisoners, in common with all the thousands of other unfortunates who fill the prisons of this country, are obliged every alternate week, on some unknown day, to submit to the indignity of a "general search," the prisoner's person and cell be-ing simultaneously searched by the officers to see whether they may have in their pering simultaneously searched by the officers to see whether they may have in their pos-session anything they are not allowed to have. Prisoners are punished if they are found to have a pencil or any other such forbidden article, to be wearing more than the regulation number of prison garments, or to have more than the regulation amount to have more than the regulation amount or to have more than the regulation amount of the inadequate bed covering under which they shiver in the cold winter nights, or to have exchanged a library book with a neighbouring prisoner, when both had read their books before the day for book-chang-ing had come round. The last is a very common "offence," a pathetic circum-stance. It is indeed cruel that the craving for mental accumetion fall by these cartives for mental occupation felt by these captives, a large proportion of whom have always been denied opportunities for study, should thus be crushed. Third Division prisoners thus be crushed. Third Division prisoners— and the great mass of prisoners, remem-ber, are in the Third Division—are granted books from the prison library when the first month of the sentence has expired. Then they may have two "library books" every three weeks. Second Division pri-soners have their "library" books changed such their educational books changed Then they may have two "library books" every three weeks. Second Division pri-soners have their "library" books changed each book, their educational books once a fortnight. Educational books, according to the rule card, include "all books of general interest other than novels and magazines." A large proportion of the educational books are small quarto volumes of a hundred or two hundred pages in these little scrappy book series which pretend to give a super-ficial knowledge to the million as it were in tabloid form. Such books, read in a few hours at most, do not deserve to be read several times in succession !

Many women expressed to me their loath-ing of the "general search." 'It degrades you so!" said a hard-working mother of seven, nursing her three months old baby, and serving her first offence. The prisoners are supposed to undress and hand their garments to the officer. The officers pull the coverings off the bed and search every corner of the cell. It is an unpleasant ordeal for them, as well as for the women who have to submit to it.

By SYLVIA PANKHURST

who have to submit to it. Even those reformists who imagine that they can do all that seems to them neces-sary in the way of improving the ordinary human lot within the capitalist system; should surely realise that it is a peculiarly gross scandal that Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Shortt, and the other members of the Coa-lition Government should be able thus to misuse and insult their political opponents misuse and insult their political opponents.

What would have been said of the Rus-sian Communist Government if the British and other Allied counter-revolutionaries, as well as the Russians of that brand, impri-soned in Red Russia, had been subjected to the indignities heaped upon me and my fellow Communists? (The Irish have had to endure the same conditions.) We know that those counter-revolutionaries imprithat those counter-revolutionaries impri-soned in Russia, loud though their com-plaints have been, were allowed to receive visits freely and to have food and comforts supplied to them in prison by friends and sympathisers. In this, as in every other respect the White Terror which is used in the effort to ston progress is infinitely the effort to stop progress, is infinitely more severe than the Red Terror used to maintain the liberties of the masses against the selfish reactionaries, who would re-es-tablish the cruelties and tyrannies of capitalism.

talism. The odious "general search" was per-haps not in force when we were going to prison between 1905 and 1914; cer-tainly I never heard of it. The search on entering the prison was greatly resented by the political prisoners of that period, and the old Suffragettes and their friends will remember that they thought 6 weeks a terribly long sentence in those days! To day we Communists get six months for a speech or an article to which the authori-ties object. But those who stood up for political liberty and free speech when Suf-fragettes were burning buildings seem to be deaf and blind to what is in progress! Was it only the glamour of Albert Hall meetings and smartly-dressed ladies of the middle and upper classes which caused this fervour which was supposed to be animated solely by the love of political liberty? Do the liberty-loving Reformists forget that height being imposed under the ill-omened Defence of the Realm Act, which was rushed into a safeguard the country from foreign in-vasion. The odious "general search" was per vasion.

When I entered Holloway as a Second when I entered holloway as a Second Division prisoner last November, I was provided with the dietary which has replaced the one time "skilly" and bread of the Third Division and the old Second Divi-sion diet, and which is now supplied to all prisoners not in hospital. This is as fol-lows lows :-

Breakfast.—Porridge without milk or sugar, and bread with a tiny scrap of margarine. Dinner.—Two days a week dried beans, boiled, with about an inch of bacon fat, and potatoes (ch, what potatoes!); 2 days fish (of the horrible fish I shall have more to say presently), and po-tatoes; one day soup; one day stewed meat : one day pressed beef (the meat is in very small quantities and what a quality!); suppar (or tea if fou prefer to call it so; it is at 4 p.m.), scores

THE WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT.

low one for anyone who has to work so hard as those of the prisoners who are d as cleaners and stokers in the Women whose children are born employed in prison are put on this diet and sleep on the plank beds in the ordinary cells a month after the birth of the child. Expectant mothers are also kept thus un-til the latter part of their pregnancy. There are women suckling their babies at 8 p.m. whose last nourishment for the day is at 4 p.m.

I was out on bail whilst awaiting my appeal, and when it was refused and I re-turned to prison on January 5th, I was at once put into hospital where I saw for the first time nurses in prison. There were none in the prison hospital up to the time of my last release in the summer of 1914. I had always advocated their introluction into the prison hospitals as an elementary necessity of hospital management. The officers always treated me with the itmost kindness, and I have none but grateful remembrances of them. My feelings towards the nurses and officers are equally cordial. As a matter of principle, how-ever, I should have thought that every humanely-disposed person would agree that there should be none but nurses in the hospital. To be ill for months at a time in a narrow prison cell, quite cut off from one's home and family, and from the outer world, always seeing those mildew-coloured faded dirty green walls and that door with its spy-hole, should be punishment enough to satisfy the most vindictive judge or magistrate, without any further intensification of the prison atmosphere-without the "general search," and so on.

The hospital dietary is as follows :-

Breakfast.—Bread, at iny bits of margarine, por-ridge, tea, or milk if the doctor orders it. Dimmer.—Stewed meat four days, fish two days, potatoes, milk pudding. Supper.—Bread and a bit of margarine, and tea, cocoa, or bread, as the doctor may order it.

Some prisoners have fish every day, and nursing mothers and other patients have a very irregular ; sometimes it is only a tiny pint of milk extra if the doctor orders it. or, if the doctor orders it, Benger's or Al-lenbury's food and Bovril. These extras chance. Like Oliver Twist's companions, are obtained mainly by the prisoners wor- one doesn't ask for more. rying the doctor persistently, in which case she may get the extra food if she is losing weight. energetically for extras do not get them.

The food is anything but tempting, the hot" milk in the pint mugs is often only lukewarm, and is often sour in the depths of winter. Why is this? Are the utensils unclean? Is the place where the milk is kept unsuitable? Does the milkman supply inferior milk? These are the questions all the prisoners ask. The meat is nasty ; it comes round in dingy tins and has often a rainbow-coloured shine that would make anyone outside prison refuse to eat it. Why is the meat so bad; we all ask that. The potatoes, too, are badly cooked, and are usually very bad potatoes, often half

But it is the fish-and some prisoners get it every day—of which all complain most. We smell it as it comes down the corridor. White fish is often a deep brown colour. It seems to have been only half cooked, then taken out of the boiler or steamer and put in the tins on the top of the stove to keep hot for a long time, so that when it reaches the prisoner it is (Comrades, you would not like that coccal), dried beans and bread five days a week; one day tea and bread and a small piece of cheese. I could not digest such food in my then state of health, and the time I had of it before I decided to appeal against my sen-tence made me quite ill. I contend that it is a highly unsuitable diet for people kept in confinement, and it is a painfully low one for anyone who has to work so satisfied with their food may complain im-mediately after the meal, but frivolous commediately after the meal, but frivolous com-plaints will be punished. I have known prisoners refuse their fish and ask to have it shown to the doctor again and again without being supplied with anything in its place. In spite of the frequent com-plaints the fish continues bad. Who is to blame? Where does Holloway prison do it obcarring? its shopping?

> Rather more than a month before the end of my sentence I was having long attacks of pain after every meal, until the pain became almost continuous. One day I was feeling very poorly when mackerel was brought round. I pointed out to the officer that the fish was all streaked with purplish blood and looked most revolting. "Why is it like that?" I asked. She said "I couldn't eat it: would you like me to show it to the doctor?" I agreed ; in any case I felt too ill to eat it. The lady superintendent passed round im-mediately afterwards. She came to me and said she was sorry. I said : "The fish is hardly ever fit to eat in here." She said: "I have never heard anything about it!" Of course I told her that I had told the doctor many, many times of it, and that I knew that other prisoners were constant-ly complaining—that, in fact, the matter was a by-word amongst the prisoners. I was asked if I would like to have something instead of the fish-as I have said, I was well treated.

> As of old, one still has the piece of tin instead of a knife; one is without a fork, but one has a spoon-a metal one instead of the old wooden germ-carrier. So slowly moves Reform ! Oh, boasted humanitarianism of this twentieth century! Prisoners are supposed to have one enamelled plate in the cell. The pudding, nearly cold when it comes as a rule, is put in one of the pint mugs by the officer, who doles it out of the large basin that she brings round. The quantities of food are bit of fish or meat, sometimes double or

No one eats, no one sleeps the first month get the extra food if she is losing Patient people who do not press to the pigeons, and the prison yards and roofs are thronged with birds. Blackbirds and thrushes sang all day by my window. I listened in the earliest dawn to the chirping of little songsters who seemed to wanton in ecstatic joy when the risen sun at last flooded the sky with radiant light. My little window, showing that patch of sky across which the cloud shapes sailed so gorgeously, marred though you were by those ugly bars, and you blithe little birds, how you helped me through those long, grey months! But except in the hospital, the cells have small-barred panes of dull glass, through which one could not see the cloud-shapes, and from some cells one sees only grey walls and not a glimpse of sky. During the first two weeks of my imprisonment, I was in a cell with one of those dull, small-paned windows, and it was so cold that on one occasion the thermometer was only 43 degrees in my cell. There are as you build, Comrades, "we few, was only 43 degrees in my cell. There are many nursing mothers in that part of the

The clothing is fantastically unlike a thing one wears outside, and many won are distressed by that. Worse s it is difficult to get changes. never went more than a forthight without a change of all my in dergarments, but I had to agitate changes, and I know that many in 1 pital were less fortunate. In the pris itself it is a common thing, the wor say, to go five weeks without a change clothing. I heard a cleaner complain one of the officers as she was crossing t yard that she had not had a change stockings for six weeks. I often saw men and babies wearing broken boots.

June 4, 1921.

The lady superintendent told me t venereal disease is rife in the prison. said : "Yes, I am afraid of that." said : "Oh, we take precautions what are those precautions? The bath not disinfected or scrubbed after one p soner uses it and before another steps to it. The entrance examination is o cursory ; at least in most cases. several occasions, refused clothing whi though it had been washed, was less th half clean, and still bore stains left the last wearer.

A woman just sentenced for sell cocaine, whose husband was also new imprisoned for the same offence, was formed that her husband was ill and expected to recover. Her petition to be taken to his bedside was refused. A mother imprisoned for four months for stealing some trifle had served half her sentence when she was informed that her little ch of seven was not expected to live, and th she was being operated upon. She cou not go to see the child, and piteously wail that it would have been kinder not to t

I met in prison a little girl of sixte years, whose crime was kicking a poliman who had arrested her sister. not much older, for some trifling offer This child had been kept in the rema prison for a month, then she was se enced to two, in default of sureties £40. Her mother was a working won unable to find that sum.

(To be continued.)

AN APPRECIATION. Dear Comrades.

I am sure our readers will join with in appreciation of the splendid way which those who have carried on the Dre nought during my absence have do their work. On my return I has received letters from Britain and abro bearing congratulatory testimony to t high Communist standard which the pa has maintained. I want, too, to thank you all for t a want, too, to thank you all for the cordial welcome that you have given to me on my release. I want to tell you that, in those moments of despondence from which you and I and all, who as fighting in the uphill struggle of progre at times suffer, your generous apprecia and warm tokens of affection give me newed courage. I have come out of Holloway with mind brimming with ideas; in fact, I a host of unworked fields of propagar and research which I am confident w yield splendid treasures of impetus to movement

Now for the energy and resources to we them! With faith and goodwill these w be found.

How glad I am to be free. How gla happy few, we band of brothers," soon be few no longer, to join you in build too my little bit of the Red Internation E. SYLVIA PANKHURST

Auno 4. 1921.

INDUSTRIAL JOTTINGS. By WARD NEWTON.

Mining Dispute.

ed Dawn."

Youth and Unity.

RED YOUTH NOTES. ung International.

g International. as manifesto published by the Berlin Congress by P.O.I. enflamed as with torches the hearts any hundreds of thousands of young workers. we months after the Congress the following or-ations had already given their acquisecone to organisation in Lithuania. White Russel, and order countries ; the great organisation in Rus-comprising over 100,000 members; parts in nd, groups in Poland, the organisations in Spain, Switzerland, Belginn, Yugo-Slaviu; ary, Greece, the Young Communist Union in i, the Netherlands, the Free Socialist Youther many, the Young Unions in Sweden, Denmark, ay, and strong groups in France and Czecho-kia. New Young Communist organisations have brought into existence in the United States, a, etc., as well as in the Far East, in Turke-and in Siberia. The Young International en-s the world like a ring. There is no country groups and organisations of jt are not active; puntry wherein thousands of young hearts do eat faster on hearing its name. The first con-and proposition for a victorious realisationg Our Maxim No. 9 Those shalt perform a mission in society by achieving an ideal of a fuller and higher life for all, in the abolition of classes, and by the regular-tion of industry by the Soviet Republic, which shall end the political State.

To Youth.

Louder and louder do we raise our cry, and ever loftier sound our songs: Arise, ye prisoners of starvation ! Arise, ye wretched of the earth, For justice thunders condemnation, A better world's in birth. <text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>

By T. Islwyn Nicholas. the Berlin Congress ith torches the hearts and get something done. with the L.P.S.M. The matter now rests with the E.C. of that body, which we hope will hurry up and get something done.

THE WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT

week's work averaged about four days, but when the call came there was no complaint, no miser-able wail about strike pay-they simply fell into

How Contracts are Lost.

It is customary for the suborned press to attri-bute the loss of any contract by a British firm to the greed and turbulence of the British worker, who, we are told, are gradually driving capital abroad and actually helping to kill Bri ish trade and industry. These diatribes against the "lazy, rapacious" British worker contrast very strangely with the statements of writers in trade nances like <section-header><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>

WOMAN'S CONFERENCE AT BERLIN.

WOMAN'S CONFERENCE AT BERLIN. On May 7th in Berlin the delegates of Commu-nist women held a conference. Comrade Hertha Sturm gave a specially interesting report of the availation which was being carried on amongst the women. Many holders of mandates for town and county councils expressed themselves on commu-nistic work inside these bourgeois parliamentary bodies. Without exception the speakers declared for a stricter centralisation, so that the parliamen-rary fractions should work in closer touch with the party, and subordinate themselves to party discipline. Proposals for practi-al reform should only have as their object the exposure of the false-ness of the bourgeois and pseudo-socialist govern-ing, bodies.

THE WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT.

Workers W Dreadnought

Editor : SYLVIA PANKHURST.

All Matter for Publication to be Addressed to the Editor Business Communications to the Manager: Workers' Dreadnought, 152, Fleet Street, London, E.C.4.

	- SUBSCRIPTI	014.1	D .	F	210
THREE MONTHS (13 weeks) SIX MONTHS (26 weeks) ONE YEAR (52 weeks)			Post	"	5/5 10/10

A QUERY AND AN ANSWER.

(From the Silesian "Arbeiter Zeitung.) Everyone to-day is talking about "sanctions." What are these sanctions? Why are they exciting the people so much? What is expected of them? The sanctions are oppressive measures used by the victorious Entents in order to recover the debts which the German bourgeoisie took over by signing the Peace Treaty of Versailles. How did these debts come should. The Private in securing new markets, of in securing outer pos-ple's quartels. "Furthermore, Labour determines to take no or-ders from Downing Street, notwithstanding any ukase or obligation which William Morris Hughes, in the name of the Commonwealth, may see fit to con-tract.

<text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>

tract. "More than that, Australian Labour, instead of being 'a bad advertisement,' now sets the pace, and if workers the world over fall into line there will be an end to international strife. Confined to their own borders the bottom falls out of the mischievous machinations of trade marauders and militarists.

June 4, 1921.

SOUTH AFRICAN VIEWS OF

But where will they get the mone? They prove that they have not get it, and yet they have solved on two hundred milliard marks. Third to that! They will squeeze that sum out of this works? This very simple. Wages are reduced, the hor the recessaries of life (bread and clothing). Taking the recess of labour are increased, the prices are raised for the necessaries of life (bread and clothing). Taxes are raised. Everything is taxed now as far up as the air. Factories which do not "pay" are shut down. In short, they are trying to raise their profits, so that they can push their debts off on to their dupes without being disturbed in their own habits and style of living. 3 But what does this mean for the proletariat? What does this mean for the proletariat? What does this mean for the proletariat? The MEANS THE GRADUAL DEATH OF THE GERMAN PROLETARIAT. All the misery that is already there must increase enormously. The lack of housing and infantile mortality will both in-crease terribly. WHAT SHOULD THE PROLETARIAT DO AGAINST THAT? The bourgeoisie say "Work and weep, becauso Willem of the meiled fit is no length to full the prosent as the solution also will an cound as the regulat fit is no length to be the solution of the right type from going to South Africa. The Mean studies this mean for the proletariat to already there must increase enormously. The lack of housing and infantile mortality by the proletariat for the campaign was to deter people who wer not of the right type from going to South Africa. The bourgeoisie say "Work and weep, becauso Willem of the meiled fit is no lenger here to will sen the world's Buler.

<text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>

THE RED VICAR. Our thanks and congratulations to the Rev. Or rad Noel for his bravery in proclaiming to world that his definition of the teaching of Nazarine is Communism. We thiak he is rig If the Nazarine existed as a man, and his teach is promulgated in the Gospels, then he was a Co-munist, without doubt. Therefore, Christians, your aim is to follow the Christ, nail his colo to your mast, as has the Rev. Conrad Noel.

June 4, 1921.

OPEN LETTER TO COMRADE LENIN.

An Answer to Lenin's Brochure: "'LEFT WING' COMMUNISM: AN INFANTILE DISORDER."

<text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>

THE WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT

TAN ATTACK ON BRITISH TRADE.

7

By HERMAN "Usts every-

<text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>

Note America. To these observations I need only add that into ruin. To these observations I need only add that into ruin. Where I speak of the unity of party and class, that is attained at last, and of the possibility by means of illusions, of the impossible : com-that is attained at last, and of the possibility by means of illusions, of the impossible : com-will be fought in the Third, in communists will go into parlia-in the elections. Instead of parties being founded for Communism, Communism will be used to found parties. But parliamentary compromises with so-cial parties talt parliamentary compromises with so-cial parties. But parliamentary compromises with so-cial parties talt parliamentary compromises with so-cial parties. But parliamentary compromises with so-cial patries talt parliamentary compromises with so-cial patries. The talt is the unity of mass and leader for command will be suppressed, and all good communists expelled. In a word, all the practices of the Second International will come to life again. To this the Left Wing must compose itself : it of the Second International will come to life again. To this the Left Wing must oppose itself; it has to be there, to wage this fight, as it was there in the Second International. Herein the Left Wing must be supported by all Marxists and revolution-aries, also if these are of opinion that in detail the Left Wing is mistaken—for opportunism is our greatest enemy. Not only, as you say (p. 13) out-side, but also within our ranks.

side, but also within our ranks. It would be a thousand times worse, that op-portunism, with its devastating effect on the soul and the strength of the proletariat, should again slip in, than that the Left Wing should be too radical. The Left Wing, even though at times it should go too far, ever remains revolutionary. The Left Wing will alter its tactics as soon as it sees that they are not right. The opportunistic Right will grow ever more opportunistic, will sink ever more into the moras, will corrupt the workers to an ever greater extent. Not in viin have we learnth from the twenty-five years of struggle. Onnortunism is the plazue of the Labour move-

Opportunism is the plague of the Labour move-ment, the death of the revolution. Opportunism has brought about all evils, reformism, the war, the defeat, the death of the revolution in Hungary and Germany. Opportunism is the cause of disaster. And it exists in the Third International.

What do I need many words for ? Look around yon, Comrade. Look into yourself, and into the Executive Committee ! Look into all countries of

Feeble Criticism.

Feeble Criticism.
Read the papers of the British Socialist Party, now the Communist Party. Read ten, twenty numbers of this paper; read the feeble criticism against the K.A.P.D. did NOT agree with these tactics—for the most miscrably opportunistic of reasons. Because it wants to have masses round it, like the Trade Unions and the political parties, no the Left Wing. A comparison between these two will show you that opportunism is approaching the Third International, in immerse masses. Once more (through support of the counter-revolutionary workers) to obtain power in Parliament. A power after the pattern of the Second International. Remember, also, that soon the U.S.P. will enter the find thermational, and numerous other Centre parties to expel Kautsky that a swing the section as it western Europe, that has never ward, these teation, as a whole, from its very origin upward, has conducted the revolution as it should be ordinated the Teated the revolution as it should be blackerists of Europe. And rightly so, taking into account the conditions. Read the brochure about the International the formation and the political parties on the transmerse masse. Once and the second action, which is almost more serious, is the treatment of the K.A.P.D., the ordination as a whole, from its very origin upward, has conducted the revolution as it should be blackerists of Europe. And rightly so, taking into account the conditions. Read the brochure about the International is still.

cone? The entire measure of this explision 14 childish. An innumerable stream of opportunists is approaching ‡-especially since your brockure. Look at the Dutch Communist Party, once called the Bolshevists of Europe. And rightly so, taking into a count the conditions. Read the brochure been corrupted by the opportunism of the Second neural to this day, it has pledged itself to the strence. The once brilliant party has become at any the optimise of equivocality and deceipt. We have the optimise of the K-P.D. during the war, and after it, and even to this day, it has pledged itself to the strence. A support of equivocality and deceipt. The once brilliant party has become at any of equivocality and deceipt. We have the optimise of the K-P.D. during the March days. But fortunately we learnt from your brochure that you did not know the attracted of the K-P.D.-Zentrale, that offered by a poposition to Ebert. Scheidemann, Hilferding and Crispien, but you evidently did not know at the time of writing the brochure, that this happend in the same moment, in which Ebert collected the troops against the Germa proletariat in which the universal strike was still spread all of the Communist mass strove to bring the revolution if not to the victory (perhaps this was hardly possible as yet), but at any rate to a plagher strength. Whilst the mass, by means of the leaders offered parliamentary compromises. In a finite stape (there has never bear of the revolution a finither stape (there has never bear of the revolution if not to the victory (perhaps this was hardly possible as yet), but at any rate to a plagher strength. Whilst the mass, by means of the leaders offered parliamentary compromises. In so doing they supported Ebert against the revolution in the Ruhr region, and the general strike, the leaders offered parliamentary compromises. In so the revolution, it is this one. You see, the is the compromise with the secial-particit and the general strike is the compromise with the secial-particit and the fore the optint is the the

And, Comrade, what has become, already now, of the industrial councils in Germany? You and the Executive of the Third International had ad-vised the Communists to unite with all the other trends, in order to obtain the lead of the Trade Unions. And what has happened? The opposite. The industrial Zentrale has well-night developed into an instrument of the Trade Unions. The Trade Unions are an octopus, strangling everything living that comes within its reach.

THE WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT.

However, if opportunism proceeds thus in Germany, now will it be in France and England ! To see, Comrade, those are the leaders we do not want. That is the unity of mass and leader the we do not want. And that is the iron discipline, the military obedience, submission and service the we do not want. And that is the iron discipline, the military obedience, submission and service Committee, and especially to Radek : The Eventive Committee has had the insolence to define and the the solence of the K.A.P.D. that they should expel works for the K.A.P.D. that they should expel works the the first of the K.A.P.D. that they should expel works the the first of the K.A.P.D. that they should expel the third of the K.A.P.D. S.P. But-it did not depend of the Italian Party that it should expel the Zentrale which, through its offer, was partly responsible for the murdering of Communists in the Ruhr region. It did not demand of the Dutch farty that it should expel Wynkoop and van Resept whe during the war, offered Dutch ships the Kentente. This does not mean to say that by the beginning of the West-European revolution, is so the beginning of

be of no avail. I only point this out to demonstrate by an-other example how fiercely opportunism is raging already in our own ranks. For the Moscow Central Committee has committed this injustice against the K.A.P.D. only, because for her opportunistic world-tactics it did not want the really revolutionary ele-ments, but the opportunistic Independents, etc. On purpose it has used the tactics of Wolfheim and Lauffenberg against the K.A.P.D., although it knew that the K.A.P.D. did NOT agree with these tac-tics-for the most miscrabily opportunistic of rea-sons. Because it wants to have masses round it, like the Trade Unions and the political parties, no matter whether those masses are communistic or no. Two moreo ther sections of the Third Interna-

signs, Comrade. In a word: the Second International is still alive, or again alive, in our midst. And opporta-nism leads to ruin. And because this is so, and because opportunism is very strong amongst us, far stronger that I could ever have imagined, tho Left Wing has to be there. Even if there should be no other good reasons for its existence, it would have to be there as opposition, to counter-balance opportunism.

opportunism. Alas, Comrade, if only you had followed the tactics of the Left Wing in the Third International; those tactics, that are nothing but the "pure" tactics of the Bolshevists in Russia, adapted to the West-European (and North-American) conditions tions! If only, as stipulations and statutes for the Third International, you had proposed and carried through the economic organisation in industrial organisations and workers' unions (into which, if need be, indus-trial unions on a craft basis might have been in-troduced), and the political organisation into par-ties with the rejection of parliamentarism?

ties with the rejection of parliamentarism'! Then you would in the first place have had, in all countries, absolutely firm kernels, parties that could really carry out the revolution, parties that would gradually have gathered the masses around them, through their own example, in their own country, and not through pressure from outside. Then you would have had economic organisations that would have annihilated the counter-revolution-ary Trade Unions (the syndicalistic as well as the free).

And then with ONE stroke you would have cut off the way for all opportunists. For these can thrive only where there is plotting with the coun-ter-revolution.

Then, likewise—and this is by far the most im-ortant point—you would have educated the work-rs into independent fighters to a very high de-ree, as far as it is possible in the present stage. gree, as far as it is possible in the present stage If you, Lenin, and you, Zinoviev, Bucharia and Radek, had done this, had chosen these tactics, with your authority and experience, your strength and genius, and if you had helped us to eradicate the faults that cling to us as yet, and to our tactics, then we would have got a Third Internally, and un-shakable externally, an International which would gradually have gathered the entire proletariat around it, through the force of its example, and which would have erected Communism. It is true there are no tactics without defeat. But these would have suffered least defeat, and would But these would have suffered least detect, and would most easily have recovered from it; they would have gone the quickest way, and would have won the quickest and surest victory. Yours lead to repeated defeat for the proletariat. However, you have rejected this, because, instead of conscious, steadfast fighters, you wanted partly or wholly unconscious masses.

June 4, 1921.

of conscious, steadfast lighters, you wanted partly or wholly unconscious masses. CONCLUSION. Finally I have to make a few observation re-garding your last chapter: "Conclusions," the most important, perhaps, of your entire book. Again I was delighted with it, as long as I thought of the Russian revolution. But over and over again the thought came into my facad: the tac-tics that are brilliant for Russia are bad here. They lead to defeat here. You assert here, Comrade (pp. 68-74), that in a certain stage of development the masses, must be attracted, millions and millions of them. The propaganda for "pure" Communism, that collected the avant-garde, and educated it, suffices no longer in that stage. Now is the time . . . and next follow once more your opportunist methods that I have already refuted: the profiting of "rifts," of small bourgeois enements, etc. Comrade, this chapter also is altogether wrong. You judge as a Russian, not as an international Communist who knows the real West-European capi-talism.

talism. Every word almost of this chapter, wonderful though it may be for the knowledge of your re-volution, is wrong for the great industrial capital-ism, for the capitalism of the trusts and monopo-lies. I will demonstrate this here: first in small mat-

Still need for Propaganda.

<text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>

A sect, therefore, says the Executive Committee. Certainly, a sect, if thus you wish to call the kernel of a movement that conquers the world ! (To be continued.)

In Halle, one day alone, 500,000 new members came under leaders which only a short while be-fore they themselves had recognised to be worse than the Scheidemann lot. And in Tours three-quarters of the French Socialist Party joined, which until quite recently were for the greater part so-cial netries.

June 4, 1921

INTERNATIONAL NOTES

Crecho-Slovakia in the World Revolution. On May 16th and 16th the Communist Party of Czecho-Slovakia will be founded. A long process, rich in dramatic events, reaches its turning-point. The movement, which had its rise in the Southern ty, and so the southern part will lose its ori-ginal importance. The natural position is here. The Czech proletariat of Ctecho-Slovakia. What is prow the nart which the Renthlic has to an illustration of what I mean, we take the United States of America. the south, the wealth was mostly proalth was produced by wage slavery; nce wealth was more abundant.

WHY THE NEW RUSSIA MUST WIN.

world. I would like to draw the reader's atten-tion to Eugene Varga's article in April 16th issue—an article well worth reading were In your article with the significant title The Future World War.—Act. I.", I no-iced with some surprise that Lloyd George as been saying some nice things concern-ng Russia. "What evil have I done that this bad han speaks well of me," is a quotation hat come's mind as L read his and re-reading, so important it is and very far-seeing. Eugene Varga says :--- be, has not always the power to give them work. Probably to most of the readers of the "Dreadnought" it is plain that Soviet Russia is more free, hence produces greater wealth, so that sooner or later Russia must become a dominant factor in Europe. Hence field for the dest three ware without suc a the south, the wealth was mostly pro-ed by "chattel slavery," whereas in the rthern States where men were freer the the men were freer the men were free the the men were free the men were free the the men were free the m alth was produced by wage slavery; me wealth was more abundant. Just as the two systems could not live de by side in America, neither can the apitalist System live side by side with te Workers' Republic of Russia. In this connection it is interesting to note hat Sylvia Pankhurst says in her very forming narrative, "Soviet Russia as I

THE WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT.

PERSIAN ATTACK ON BRITISH TRADE. "The Times" of Saturday, May 21st, under the above headlines, published some remarkable state-ments from their special correspondent in the Mid-dle East. There are some very pertinent remarks and observations that we think Communists everywhere should note, and we give them with our own comment. "The Times" says: "The Persian Government has cancelled the concession to the Persian Trans-port Company, a well-known British concern (the italics are ours, as a comment on the name Persian, when owned by British). "The action by British.

7

<image><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>

cially embatrassed monarces or politicials in pre-past." As we quote from "The Times," we feel safe from attention by Scotland Yard, but let each reader carefully note the "Imperial bluft"-and the fact that words "imprisoning of 200 Persian aristocrats," and "making Teheran go 'dry," and "providing almshouses for street beggars," are por-tents which the wise man will ponder.

of individuals, she was bound to lead the world.

What evil have I done that this bad han speaks well of me," is a quotation hat comes into one's mind as I read his tords. However, some of his words are literally rue; but not in the sense he means them. These are the words I refer to: "That ountry (Russia) is not going to remain is it is; that country." Assuredly so! The teaching of history on its economic the greater its weal the more dominant are they in world af-tars. Wat evil have I data whilst Communist and Capi-talists governments exist side by side, war may break out at any moment." Remember there is no unemployment in Russia. Ah! says some, it is one huge chain of slavery. Are not all able-bodied people forced to work? These people forget that in order to live somebody MUST work, and they have not sais goes to show that the greater is the the more dominant are they in world af-tars. However, some of history on its economic the work on their masters' terms; even then the master, however kind-hearted he may work. However with the prester is to work. However is the more dominant are they in world af-tars. However is a quotation the solution of slavery. However, and the greater is the pro-the work on their masters' terms; even then the master, however kind-hearted he may work. However is a not always the power to give them work. However is a solution in the sense is the more dominant are they in world af-tars. However is a solution in the sense is pro-the solution is a not always the power to give them how the master, however is the power to give them how the more dominant are they in world af-tars. However is a quotation is a solution in the sense is the products without in the least inquiring whether these products how the the products to what Lloyd George

THE WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT.

June 4, 1921

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY IN SOVIET RUSSIA. By A. M. Lyubovich.

8

<text><text><text><text>

Number of Wireless Stations.

Number of Wireless Stations. Throughout Soviet Russia there are to-day 250 radio receiving stations, in addition to 47 stations belonging to the War Department, which are at the disposal of the Commissariat of Post and Telegraph. This makes a wireless system of about 300 units, which is the most powerful information agoney on the Continent. The number of radio transmitting stations, excluding those on ships, is 47, which puts Soviet Russia first on the list of European countries in this respect.

47, which puts Soviet Russia first on the list of European countries in this respect. Thus radio telegraphic tentacles are now reach-ing out from the centre to the most distant and re-mote corners of the Republic. Untrammeled wire-less telegraphy afforded the possibility of man-taining close communication between the cities and provinces surrounded by the enemy, where the am-couraging messages coming from the centre and carried through the air-waves all over the vast area of Russia, were spread through the local press and the posters of the Russian Telegraph Agency, imbuing coefidence, enthusiasm and strength in the hearts or the fighters. During the civil war wireless telegraphy did excellent service. It enabled the Soviet Government to keep in constant touch not only with Tashkent, Uralsk, Baku and the Ukraine, but also with Soviet Hungary and with Germany, and afforded the op-portunity of intercepting wireless messages from the hostile camps of Paris, England, Italy and Constantionple.

Civil and Military Uses.

Civil and Military Uses. Thus reconstructed on a new basis and brought home to the wide masses of peasants and work-men wireless telegraphy became a powerful agency of propaganda and agitation in the hands of the Soviet Government. The installation of wireless stations and the development of wireless commu-nication would proceed at a much greater speed if it were not for the necessity of diverting the most skilled workers and most of the equipment for the needs of the war, and were it not that the production of wireless equipment does not keep pace with the work of installation. The present abnormal conditions, when the work-the needs of the war, and were it not that the production of wireless equipment does not keep in the work of installation. The present abnormal conditions, when the work man, holing the hammer in one band, must grap be and before has issued a decree providing for the instantiant estation between the council of Labour in the work. Nevertheless the Council of Labour interview is the station between the statistic of graph of the wireless stations. The present able to send waves all over the graph of the station be the work of a new type of very high frequency—twenty thousand original produce extensive reforms in the matter of meas-ting onglitude for purposes of marigation and provide extensive reforms in the matter of meas-ting onglitude for purposes of marigation and provide extensive reforms in the matter of meas-ting onglitude for purpose of marigation and provide extensive material and possi-bilities as an agency of information, it will also of this station will compel the radio stations of the work of calculation and construction from the work of calculation and constructions of interviolotim, in a member of the Laboratory of interviolotim, in a member of the Laboratory the end of 1918 and in this bief period it has suc-ceeded in making considerable contributions of printer of a new type of interstiction which here of a new type of interstiction when the prepa-tion of a new type of interstiction when the prepa-tion of a new type of interstiction when the prepa-tion of a new type of interstiction when the prepa-tion of a new type of interstiction when the pre-pation of a new type of interstiction when the pre-pation of a new type of inter the Council of Defence the laboratory started upon the preparation of a number of radio-telephonic stations through the application of positive relay. A model of this has been worked out by engineer M. A. Bonch-Bruyevich, one of the specialists working in the laboratory.

The Wireless Telephone.

working in the laboratory. The Wireless Telephone. Moscow already has a radio-telephonic station of this type, which can carry the human voice over a distance of over 3000 miles. The Clitta station has reported that it has beard voice messages from Moscow. Similar reports have been received from Irkutsk Tashkent and Semipalatinsk. The author of these lines, assisted by the Ministry of Posts and Telegraph, carried on experiments in Berlin to establish the possibility of carrying the haman voice from that city and Moscow. The main wire-less station of Gelthoff was placed at our disposal for that purpose. The investigation was carried on in the presence of Count Orko, one of the most prominent scientists and inventors in the sphere of wireless telegraphy; Dr. Ruhkopf, the chief of the experimental station of the "Tele-funken Co."; Dr. Gruznichka, a physicist who had come from London by invitation of Comrade Kras-sin, and the engineers and technicians of the Gel-lowed was so distinct that I could recognise the voices of the persons speaking from Moscow. The impression produced was overwhelming. One of those present said to me : "How was it possible to achieve such wonderful progress in a country, where, as our newspapers inform us, everything is in a state of destruction and anarchy ? Whom are we to believe after this?" I advised him to be-lieve the facts. The German Ministry of Posts and Telegraph

In a solid of userate this?" I advised him to be-lieve the facts. The German Ministry of Posts and Telegraph being greatly interested in the experiment, ordered its laboratory expert. Engineer Vrazka, to verify it. As a result it was established that the audibjility is sufficient for carrying on regular telephonic com-munication between Berlin and Moscow. Even reducing the power to one half it is possible to carry the human voice over the distance between Berlin and Moscow. This leads to the conclusion that the conversation from Moscow was heard by all the most important radio stations in Europe, a fact which was actually confirmed by messages received a few days after that from some European stations.

stations. Thus the experiment in wireless telephony has proved a complete success, and this is the result of the scientific labours of the Soviet experts during the two years of their complete isloation from their colleagues in the West. The radio telephonic station in Moscow is en-tirely the work of the Soviet Government. It has been installed and equipped by Soviet workers from the simplest screw to the most complicated apparatus.

COMPLIMENTARY BREAKFAST.

It was a larger company than that, of those who actually sat down at the table which greeted Comrade Pankhurst at the breakfast given to her on the drizzly mornbreakfast given to her on the drizzly morn-ing of her release. The absentees—some in prison, others kept away by the slender purse of unemployment or by the factory whistle—were nevertheless there in spirit, and to these, too, go our thanks. The breaking of bread and the partaking of salt with the returning friend and com-relation on account automatic training rade is an ancient custom : it signifies comradeship, community of interests, and comradeship, community of interests, and unity of purpose. A De Vincian figure at the long table of the quaint Eustace Miles' Restaurant, pale, frail, yet flushed with happiness at being out of prison and amongst friends, Comrade Pankhurst spoke briefly of her prison life, without hatred, in a voice mel-bard by corrore lowed by sorrow. In years to come these little personal, al most insignificant incidents—now lost in the great class-struggle going on around us— will come back to us, bright unden the light of memory.

Ight of memory. The small, almost devotional party which last Monday sat at that breakfast, ere years are numbered many, will see its faith, its hopes accepted and shared by thousands who are now distant or hostile. Wagedom and Capitalism will go. A society based on justice and work will be activated to communice be established : Communism. We shall reach it—by a road along which many will falter and fall. Yet we shall reach it.

OUR BOOKSHELF.

"PARLIAMENT AND DEMOCRACY."

J. Ramsay Macdonald. The National Labour Press, Manchester and London. 75 pp. 2s. 6d. (By net.))

Ramsay Macdonald is a past-master in gentle apalissian art of writing, with the smooth out-ok of a superficial mind, on things that nq mger matters.

He assumes the pose of a debater and argues on subjects which are now passed and accepted by common agreement and by the general trend of public opinion.

He poles as an advanced Socialist and, totally unaware of doing so, he displays a bourgeois men-tality, vaguely coloured by moderate Liberalism. He sees Parliament as a permanent institution, and, what is worse, talks about it theoretically, in a detached, schoolmaster way, even forgetting its own personal experience of the intrigues car-ried on at the House.

There is no sign of class-consciousness in this book of 75 pages, written by the Secretary of the Second-and-a-Half International, and intellectual leader of our programmeless Labour Party.

He so misreads the purposes of the Communist Party that he writes :

"The 'Dictatorship of the Proletariat' as used in Russia, though not used by Marx, is far more akin to the spirit of old-fashioned Toryism with the House of Lords as its citadel than it is to popular government."

It is obviously unjust to judge a book by a In-tence, but the above in the closing chapter, "To-wards Democracy," is characteristic of the spirit that animates both the book under review and its author.

"YOUNG WORKERS" MOVEMENT. LONDON.

Camberwell.—Branch recently formed. Mer badly needed. Secretary: A. E. Cotton, Pellatt Road, S.E. 22. Members

Southwark.—Meets at 4. Browning Street (late York Street), Walworth Road. Active members had-ly needed. Full particulars from the Secretary, J. F. Daly, at the same address.

Wembley.-Meets at 24, Copland Road, Wemble Middlesex. Tennis and Cycling. Secretary F. A. W. Gillies. Wembley, Leeds.—A further amalgamation brings us another branch. Lectures, classes, etc. Full particu-lars from the Secretary, G. Bloom, 32, Elmbranch. Lectures, lars from the Secr wood Street, Leeds.

Prospective members residing in any of the above districts, please communicate with local secretary.

Branches to be started at Croydon. Fulham, Kent-h Town and Poplar. Comrades desiring to join lease communicate with the National Organiser, oung Workers' League, "The Young Worker" Of-ce, 152, Fleet Street, E.C. 4. please eas. oung 152, Comrades willing to assist in formation of branches in other districts, or having information regarding possibilities of forming same, please communicate as above also.

BADGES.

SOVIET ARMS, in gilt on red enamel, 1s. 3d. and 9d. each, 12s. and 6s. per dozen.—Apply, Manager, "Workers' Dreadnought," 152, Fleet Street, E.C. 4.

SMALL ADVERTISEMENTS-1d. a Word.

FURNISHED FRONT ROOM for two or three TRUE Communists. Library in different lan-guages at disposal.-58, Fortess Road, Kentish guages at Town, N.W.

Published by E. Sylvia Pankhurst at 152, Flect Street, London, E.C. 4, and printed by S. Corio B.C. 4, B.C. 4, Elect Street, London, R.C. 4,