My dear Husband,

I have received the £30 through the India Office and thank you for it. I shall now be able, with the dividends which come in in October, to go on for three or four months.

 Has Mr. Michol sent you word about the cost of the bells. Do not fret about Noel's certificate of birth. You must never apologise for writing to the children instead of to me. I can understand too well now, alas! how they and the dead past, and those of your own family, seem to you, in this sort, the most near and precious things. In the lowers when I lie awake at night I seem to see so vividly the altered future and past. Those letters were a strange revelation to me.

Filian seemed much interested and impressed with her letter.
I took her and Mabel on Monday to have their photographs taken, together, and when we get them I will send you one. They ought to make a pretty picture. Both the children are writing to you so I do not need to add much.
I had a letter from Clavie yesterday to say he had shipped four cases of books and apparel. I am having some more shelves put up in the schoolroom to be ready for the books. It will soon be quite a library
