Fifth Annual Report.

THE year 1924 has been a definite epoch in the short history of the Beckenham College for Working Women, for it has seen the accomplishment of the Incorporation of the College.

Incorporation. On November 6th, 1924, to be precise, we obtained our Certificate of Incorporation and became officially known to Somerset House as "The Residential College for Working Women, incorporated." It is chiefly to the patient labour of Mr. E. J. Maude that we owe this successful result of somewhat lengthy negotiations, and the many advantages which we hope our new status will bring us. Certain minor changes in the constitution of the College are involved, relating mainly to the method of election of its Council by the votes of the "Members"—that is, those persons who are ultimately responsible for the support and maintenance of the incorporated Body. For the most part, however, the original constitution, so kindly drawn up by Mr. T. R. Hughes, K.C., at the foundation of the College, remains in force.

The Annual Meeting of 1924 was held on Thursday evening, October 2nd, at the University of London Club. The Chair was taken by Mr. J. L. Stocks, President of the Council, and the principal speaker was Mrs. Fawcett, who delighted her audience by her memories of the early struggles for women's education and enfranchisement, and by her stirring hopes for the future. The whole meeting, indeed, was in a mood of hopefulness, not to say elation; for at the outset the President announced the news, received only a few hours before, that the anonymous benefactor who last Autumn had given over £5,000 to the Extension Fund was now about to add a further £5,000 to this gift. The actual position of the Extension Fund up to date will be recorded on a later page; but we hasten to share with the larger circle who will read this Report the same inspiring news which was first announced to that meeting. No words can express our gratitude to this generous friend and to those others who have added substantially to the Fund; but we can and do assure them that every member of the College feels deeply encouraged by their help and by their faith in its work.

Plans for the establishment and extension of the College go forward steadily. So far we have not been successful in finding the actual premises for our new home, though once or twice during the past year we came near to making a choice. There is still ample time before us, and it is fortunate that we are able to proceed with deliberation upon what is so important a matter. Meanwhile the work of the College becomes more widely known and needed; the number of its students, past and present, steadily increases; and there seems every hope that, when the longed-for return of prosperity comes to the trade of the country, there will be a great increase in the demand for further education for industrial workers—a demand which we hope, in some small measure, to be able to meet.

We have had to say good-bye this year, with most sincere regret, to two members of our Resident Staff. At the end of the summer term Miss Birtles, who since the beginning of the College had held the position of Bursar, left us in order to occupy her time more fully with actual teaching, carrying with her the affection and good wishes of every member of the College, past and present. Her successor is Mrs. H. P. Deans, who holds the Teachers' Diploma of Domestic Science, Edinburgh. During the Christmas term the Council have also had to accept, very regretfully, the resignation of Miss Dalzell, who since September, 1921, has been our Resident Tutor, and whose work for the College has been deeply appreciated by her students and by her colleagues. Miss Ida Thomson, M.A., of St. Andrew's, and Diploma of the London School of Economics, has been appointed to succeed her.

As in former years, we have had regular courses of lectures from the following visiting tutors:—

BIOLOGY	Miss Carruthers, M.Sc., Raines' Foundation School, Stepney.
ECONOMICS	Miss James, Economics Tripos, Cambridge (Newnham College).
ELOCUTION	Miss I. V. Holloway, Diploma of Central School of Speech-training and Dramatic Art.
ENGLISH	Mrs. Chaffey, M.A. Lond., formerly Lecturer in English at Darlington Training College.
HANDICRAFTS	Mrs. C. L. Ovenden, B.A. Miss A. V. McKinnon.
MUSIC	Miss Phoebe Walters, A.R.C.M., formerly Lecturer in Music, Royal Holloway College.
PHYSIOLOGY	Miss Shacklock, B.Sc., Tottenham High School.

Coaching in Net-ball has been kindly given to the students by Miss Gwyther Jones and Miss Sinclair. The following single lectures, followed by discussion and questions, have been greatly enjoyed:—

HOUSING	Mr. Douglas Wood
THE WORK OF WOMEN MAGISTRATES FOR THE JUVENILE DELINQUENT	Mrs. Rackham, J.P.
RUSSIAN PEASANT LIFE	Miss Marjorie Rackstraw
GREEK AND ROMAN RELIGIONS	Miss Glover
THE WOMEN OF SHAKESPEARE	Mr. and Mrs. Dabbs
GOETHE'S FAUST	Miss Delp
INDIA TO-DAY	Mr. V. Karandikar
THE PRESS	Mr. Hugh Martin
FOREIGN POLITICS	Mr. E. F. Wise, C.B.
INDIAN WOMEN IN HISTORY	Miss Janet Kelman
JUVENILE OFFENDERS AND THE HOME OFFICE	Miss Wall
PREHISTORIC MAN	Miss Carruthers, M.Sc.
PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION	Mr. Hannan.

The Christian Union of the College arranged informal lectures also, kindly given by the Rev. J. Frazer, on "James and John"; by Miss Gertrude Madge, on "Buddhism"; by Miss Rainey, on "Confucianism"; by Mrs. Woods, on "St. Paul"; and by Mrs. Parker Crane, on "The Work of the London Missionary Society."

Our musical friends have again been very good to us, so that in addition to the regular course of illustrated lectures given by Miss Walters there have been several opportunities of hearing and enjoying music. Dr. D. C. Hare provided a delightful evening of songs; the Valentine Orde Trio gave a programme of piano-trios with just enough simple explanation to help us towards complete enjoyment; and the Kendal Quartette invited us to one of their concerts.

Our expeditions to London have included visits to the General Post Office, the London Museum, the Guildhall, the British Museum, Kew Gardens, the Rachel Macmillan Nursery, and the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley. We also went to see the South London Pageant at the Crystal Palace, and we attended the coming-of-age garden party given at Bedford College by the Workers' Educational Association. Some students have attended local lectures of the W.E.A., and also local meetings arranged by the organisation known as C.O.P.E.C. Visits to the galleries of the House of Commons, which are, perhaps, among our greatest delights and privileges, have been made possible by the kindness of Lieut.-Col. the Hon. F. S. Jackson, Sir Douglas Hogg, Sir Francis Lowe, Sir Herbert Austin, Messrs. Greaves Lord, K.C., J. Sutton, Will Thorne, J. M. Hogge, and Vivian Phillips.

One of the most valued helps to the College is the offering of hospitality, both for holidays and for half-term week-ends, specially to students whose homes are at a great distance. We desire to thank for this very welcome kindness Mrs. Chaffey, Miss Cox, Dr. Lloyd Williams, Mrs. Yeaxlee, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Midgley, Mrs. Thelwell, Mrs. Ovenden, Mrs. A. H. Gray, Mrs. Gatton, Bedford College, Girton College, Royal Holloway College, Somerville College, and Westfield College. Some students have been welcomed also as working visitors at the Princess Mary Village Homes at Addlestone, where they have profited greatly by the experience as well as by the hospitality given to them. We desire to thank also, for another kind of help, Mr. Allcorn and Mr. Clayton, who contrived a temporary wireless installation for us on the nights of the General Election. The special thanks of the Executive Committee are due to Dr. D. C. Hare, who kindly allowed the use of her room for several meetings; and the Secretary of the College desires again to record her very sincere gratitude to Miss K. C. Hare, whose help with office work and accounts is untiring and quite invaluable.

The original curriculum, which was founded upon the expressed wishes of intending students, has been expanded and modified from time to time in consultation with those who have passed through the College course. The plan of work for the year is arranged as follows, and students make their own selection from it with the advice of the Staff. Those who enter in January begin with the work of the Spring Term and take short courses in the Autumn at the end of the year. This is rendered necessary by the fact that students enter twice in the year.

One Essay is written every week, in connection with the subjects studied.

In one year only the beginnings of further education can be made, and the various subjects are therefore necessarily treated in outline, with a view to showing students their relation to each other and to the whole field of knowledge. The work of the College is not directed towards getting through as much as possible, but to teaching students how to read and think for themselves and how to write and speak, so that they can, after leaving College, continue their studies. Students are expected to manage their own time and arrange their own work, but also to co-operate in discussions with their fellow-students and the Staff.

The College is worked on co-operative lines. All its members share in the work of the house and the garden, undertaking certain duties for a short time each day under the direction of the Bursar. The spirit of equal fellowship and responsibility is carried into the whole life of the community; all the College Societies and Committees are managed by the students, and there are no rules except those made by the members themselves for the common good. The whole life and work of the community is founded on the conviction that the basis of all education is spiritual, and attendance at Prayers and Bible Study is entirely voluntary.

It is satisfactory in these times of serious unemployment to record that nearly all the eighteen students who left the College in 1924 are definitely engaged in work or in courses of further training. The table on page 9 will show their former and present occupations. It will be seen that a considerable number have returned to their former work, while those who are taking further training hope to qualify themselves for such professions as nursing, welfare work, and mission work, for which the College can provide a useful and indeed essential foundation of general education.

The Old Students' Association, which now numbers 78 members, keeps the former students in close touch with the College, and is one of the Bodies which, by the Articles of Association, will take a considerable share in governing the incorporated College. The Honorary Secretary of the O.S.A. is Miss C. Glenister, 97, Albany Street, N.W., who will be glad to answer enquiries.

The financial background and support of all this work is of course a matter of great importance; and, if it were not for the generosity and enthusiasm of the friends of the College, it might well be a great anxiety. Education that is worthy of the name cannot be carried on without cost, and it seems likely that the annual expenditure of the College will increase rather than diminish as we learn better how to do our work. We shall therefore depend increasingly upon the steady help of those who, as givers of bursaries or as contributors to the general fund, are good enough to send annual subscriptions to the "Working Women's College Fund." The Auditor's statement as to the present position of this Fund will be found on page 10, and the list of subscriptions and donations for the past year on page 12. All those who belong to this large "family," whether they subscribe as individuals or as members of schools, colleges or other bodies, are asked to familiarise themselves with the work which is carried on at Beckenham, and to make it more widely known among their friends.

The Extension Fund, as will be seen on page 16, is also a matter for the greatest thankfulness and encouragement. We have always believed that the extension of the work was necessary, and justified by its progress up to the present time; but we should not have dared to hope, a year ago when our first plans for extension were being made, that by the end of 1924 we should be so nearly in sight of our proposed goal of £15,000.

It is a great pleasure to record that the present total of over £13,000 has been reached not only by the large sums already referred to, and by the interest on investments which these have enabled us to make, but also by the numerous donations, ranging from 2/6 upwards, which represent that width of support and confidence which we so much desire and for which we feel such sincere gratitude. Our hope is that the Extension Fund may be actually completed, within a comparatively short time, by an appeal which is now being carried on, addressed chiefly, as the whole appeal of the College has been from the first, to those who really know the work and who have a real belief in its possibilities. Papers dealing with the Extension Fund Appeal in greater detail and containing recent photographs of the College, can be obtained from the Secretary, who will be very glad also to send them to the address of anyone likely to be interested. The present Report has been somewhat shortened, and is published without illustrations, in order that we might more easily afford the production of the necessary appeal literature; and we therefore hope that all friends of the College will help us to make the fullest possible use of the little book called "Beckenham College for Working Women," and to accomplish the aim which it has in view.

Gifts to the College.

BOOKS The Misses Anderson (Encyclopaedia Britannica), the late Miss W. A. Duncan, Mr. H. Harrison, Miss Johnson, Miss Martindale, Mrs. Pym, Mrs. Steward, Miss Street, Miss M. E. J. Taylor, Miss Wall, The Society of Friends, the Girton College Library, the Sarah Hall Trustees, and the Residuary Legatees of the late Mrs. Hart.
PICTURES Miss King, Miss Walters.
HOUSEHOLD Miss Horsfall (Dinner-wagon), Mr. A. C. Powell, (Electric lamp), Miss Stevenson.
EQUIPMENT Miss Bowyer, Miss Courtauld (Microscope), Mr. Mackenzie, Mrs. Street, Mrs. Valpy (Barograph), Miss Walters.
GARDEN Mr. Clark, Mr. Strike.
PERIODICALS Miss Eardley-Wilmot, Miss Hare, Mr. Maude, Miss Powell, Miss Scott-Moncrieff, Mrs. Stocks, Mrs. Street, Miss Walters, Mrs. Yeaxlee, The Staff, the Fellowship of Reconciliation, the W.E.A.

We gratefully record that all the special things for which we asked last year have been given to us, and some of them have been offered twice over.

In our present house we cannot accept gifts which take up space, though we always welcome lists of pictures, books, and gramophone records from which we may select. In addition to our splendid list of periodicals we would like to have the reversion of one good weekly illustrated paper such as the Illustrated London News or the Graphic, not only for its immediate interest but also to form part of the collections of illustrations which we are gradually making in connection with the various courses of study.

We should be glad to hear of some teacher near at hand who could take, in the Autumn Term, a course of Handicraft; among the courses asked for are bookbinding, carpentry and house-repairs, and the principles of cutting-out.

Finally, in our new home we shall need and have room for many things. Already we can foresee the need of a wireless installation, a small grand piano, and also a "dulcitone" for hard wear and for use out of doors. Large couches, and pictures, and equipment for games such as tennis, and garden seats will also be desirable. It is because we know by happy experience how carefully our friends study our list of needs, that we venture to print this provisional selection in good time.

FEES. £80 per annum, payable in three instalments, each term in advance, inclusive of board, residence, tuition, books, educational visits, laundry and medical attendance. (The total cost to the College is considerably more than this, but the balance is paid by the General Fund).

BURSARIES. Any sum of not less than £40 a year constitutes a Bursary, to which a name may be attached by the donors. The Secretary is prepared to advise as to sources whence the balance of the fees may be secured.

ADMISSION OF STUDENTS. Forms of Application and all particulars may be obtained from the Principal of the College. It is desirable that enquiries should be made in good time; if Bursaries are needed, applications should be completed by the end of March or the end of September, for admission in September and January respectively.

DATES OF TERMS, 1925. Jan. 9th to April 3rd; May 1st to July 24th; Sept. 25th to Dec. 18th.
