

Broadstone, Wimborne

Dec. 11th, 1906

Dear Mr. Becker

5375

We expected you this afternoon, but I fear now, you must have expected me to write again. I thought it was not necessary unless I could not be at home.

My wife wishes me to say she hopes you will come Thursday or Friday if convenient, - or any day next week, only send us a card the day before.

There is a train from Wimborne at 2.34. and we are $\frac{1}{2}$ a mile from Broadstone Station. There are many evening trains back to Wimborne.

Yours very truly

Alfred Wallace

from A. R. Wallace

5375

A. G. Becker Esq.
Charterhouse
Godalming.

Fawcett Library
27 Wyldred Street
London S.W.1.

2091

Fawcett Library
27 Wilfred Street
London S.W.3.

2091