

"Seed-lives"

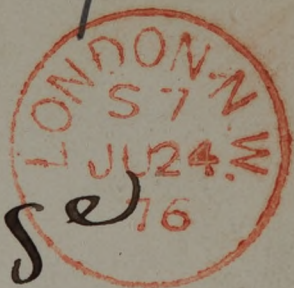

AL/1454

I have to thank you very earnestly for consulting my wishes & not publishing my name or the name of the place where I work etc. etc.
Equally have identified me, & I know you will continue to do so.
I see you do not disapprove of ladies publishing the results of their work; I confess I do; I sh^d. consider it as bad for myself, & decidedly bad for the young converts. I am sure it is hard enough as it is to keep oneself & them quiet & simple & natural remembering the wise caution of Paul, "If any man thinketh he is something when he is nothing he deceiveth himself." And it seems to me that we need to remember the great Distinction there is between letting our light shine, & making our light shine: that our light should be like the tranquil light of a star that cannot keep shining as it moves about its silent tasks of light, not an earthy bonfire that must be fanned up into a blaze. Miss Nightingale has set us an excellent example in this & I do desire earnestly I walk in that quietness & confidence which is sympathetically a woman's strength & helps her in the most noble & exceptional work: still to be the handmaiden of Him who did not strive nor cry nor cause his voice to be heard in the street. The work at — has got on better than ever with more of visible results. — G. H.
